The catalog of the University comprises four issues: General Information, the Undergraduate Catalog, the Graduate Catalog, and the Law School Catalog. Each issue is available from the Office of the Registrar.

The Undergraduate Catalog is published in August of even-numbered years; the Graduate Catalog is published in August of odd-numbered years; the Law School Catalog is published in February of even-numbered years. These issues contain regulations and degree requirements that apply to undergraduates, graduate students, and students in the School of Law. Regulations are valid only for the period given on the title page; for an explanation of the period for which degree requirements are valid, see “Graduation under a Particular Catalog” in each issue. The list of courses to be offered in the following sessions is preliminary and is superseded by the Course Schedule, published online each semester and summer session.

General Information, published every August, contains current and historical information about the University and regulations that apply to all students during the academic year given on the title page. General Information is meant to be used along with each of the other issues; each student must be familiar with the regulations given there and with those given in the issue that covers his or her degree program.

The catalog of the University is the document of authority for all students. Any academic unit may issue additional or more specific information that is consistent with approved policy. The information in the catalog supersedes that issued by any other unit if there is a conflict between the two. The University reserves the right to change the requirements given in the catalog at any time.

Catalogs are published both in print and online at http://registrar.utexas.edu/catalogs/. The information in the online catalog may reflect changes to policy approved after the printed catalog is published, and supersedes the information in the printed catalog if there is a conflict between the two. Printed catalogs may be ordered by visiting the Office of the Registrar Catalog Store at TXShop, http://utdirect.utexas.edu/txshop/; by calling (512) 475-7555; or by writing to The University of Texas at Austin, Office of the Registrar, Catalogs, P O Box 7216, Austin TX 78713-7216.

Assistance in obtaining information about the University, including costs, refund policies, withdrawal, academic programs, the faculty, accreditation, and facilities and services for disabled persons, is available from V. Shelby Stanfield, Registrar, at (512) 475-7510 and at The University of Texas at Austin, Office of the Registrar, P O Box 7216, Austin TX 78713-7216.

The benefits of education and of useful knowledge, generally diffused through a community, are essential to the preservation of a free government.

Sam Houston

Cultivated mind is the guardian genius of Democracy, and while guided and controlled by virtue, the noblest attribute of man. It is the only dictator that freemen acknowledge, and the only security which freemen desire.

Mirabeau B. Lamar

Where liberty has arisen, learning must be cherished—or liberty itself becomes a fragile thing.

Lyndon B. Johnson

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The idea of a university for Texas is as old as the state itself. The Declaration of Texas Independence includes in its indictment of the government of Mexico the charge that it “has failed to establish any public system of education, although possessed of almost boundless resources (the public domain), and although it is an axiom in political science that, unless a people are educated and enlightened, it is idle to expect the continuance of civil liberty or the capacity of self-government.” In accordance with the doctrine thus proclaimed, the first Constitution of the Republic declares it to be the duty of Congress “to provide, as soon as circumstances will permit . . . a general system of education.”

Attempts to establish a University of Texas were made by the Congress of the Republic and then by the state legislature in 1837, 1839, 1858, and 1866, but the times were unpropitious and the idea failed to become a reality. The Constitution of 1876 again called for the organization and maintenance of “a university of the first class to be located by a vote of the people of this state, and styled ‘The University of Texas,’ for the promotion of literature, and the arts and sciences, including an agricultural and mechanical department.” This constitution also established an endowment of one million acres of land in west Texas, which was increased in 1883 to two million acres. In 1881, the legislature again called for the organization and location of the University and for the appointment of a Board of Regents to be entrusted with its establishment and government. Among the provisions of the act were the limitation of the matriculation fee to $30, the admission of men and women on equal terms without charge for tuition, and the injunction that no religious qualifications should be required for admission to any office or privilege connected with the University and that no sectarian instruction should be given therein.

By popular election in September 1881, the Main University was located at Austin and the Medical Branch, at Galveston. The academic and law departments were organized, and on September 15, 1883, the University was formally opened in the incomplete west wing of the old Main Building.

Over the next century, work in other fields was added to that offered by the academic and law departments. The College of Engineering was added in 1894; in 1906, the School of Education; in 1909, the Division of Extension; in 1910, the Graduate School; in 1922, the School of Business Administration; in 1924, the College of Physical Activities; in 1938, the College of Fine Arts; in 1948, the Graduate School of Library Science; in 1950, the Graduate School of Social Work; in 1951, the School of Architecture; in 1965, the School of Communication; in 1970, the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs; and in 1976, the School of Nursing. The current organization of the University is described earlier in chapter 1.

Until 1895, the chair of the faculty was the chief executive officer of the University. Professor J. W. Mallet was chair for the opening year, 1883–1884; then Professor Leslie Waggener until the summer of 1894; then Professor Thomas S. Miller for 1894–1895. In 1895, the office of president was created, and has been filled as follows:

GOVERNMENT

The University of Texas System is governed by a board of nine regents, selected from different areas of the state, nominated by the governor, and appointed with the advice and consent of the senate. Subject to supervision of the Board of Regents and the authority it has vested in administrative officers, the governance of the University of Texas at Austin is the responsibility of the General Faculty. A complete statement of the duties of the officers and a description of the organization and authority of the General Faculty, the faculties of the colleges and schools, divisions, and departments, is published in the Rules and Regulations of the Board of Regents.

SUPPORT

As a public institution, the University receives part of its income directly from the state. The state constitution prohibits any appropriation from the general revenue for the construction of buildings, but appropriations for equipment and operating expenses have been made by each legislature since 1889. An additional source of income is the Permanent University Fund, which consists of revenue from the two million acres of land in west Texas granted to the University and its branches in 1876 and 1883. The land has been leased since 1884 for grazing and other purposes; since oil production began there in 1923, income from mineral leases and royalties has also been added to the fund. Income earned by the Permanent University Fund is called the Available University Fund. One-third of the Available Fund is dedicated to the support of the Texas A&M University System; two-thirds are dedicated to The University of Texas System for operating expenses and permanent improvements.

Tuition paid by students is a third source of income, and the proceeds of endowment funds donated by individuals and organizations provide important additional support to research and teaching at the University.
BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

The grounds of the University consist of the original forty-acre campus just north of the state capitol and additional land acquired by gift and purchase. The main campus now covers more than 350 acres. Also part of the University are the J. J. Pickle Research Campus, a 476-acre tract eight miles north of the main campus that houses research organizations in engineering, science, and the social sciences; the Brackenridge tract, 445 acres bordering Town Lake where research is conducted in the life sciences; and the Montopolis Research Center, 94 acres located in southeast Austin. In addition, the University owns the Marine Science Institute at Port Aransas, the McDonald Observatory near Fort Davis, the Stengl–Lost Pines Biological Station near Smithville, the Winedale museum and conference center near Round Top, the Bee Cave Research Center west of Austin, the Sam Rayburn Library in Bonham, the John Nance Garner House and Museum in Uvalde, and J. Frank Dobie’s ranch, Paisano.

2. Admission

A comprehensive college education depends on a robust exchange of ideas, exposure to differing cultures, preparing for the challenges of an increasingly diverse workforce, and acquiring competencies required of future leaders. The University handles a very large number of applications and must select from among this highly qualified pool only the number of students it can accommodate. In addition to an assessment of the academic strength of an applicant’s record, admission decisions result from an individualized, holistic review of each applicant, taking into consideration the many ways the academically qualified individual might contribute to, and benefit from, the rich, diverse, and challenging educational environment of the University.

The procedures and criteria for admission given in this chapter are effective as of the date of publication but are subject to change by action of the Texas Legislature or the Board of Regents. The information here is intended for use by students applying for admission for the 2011–2012 academic year.

UNDERGRADUATE ADMISSION

The Office of Admissions is responsible for the admission and readmission of undergraduate students to the University. Application procedures for freshman, transfer, former, international, and transient students are outlined later in this chapter.

Prospective students are encouraged to apply early for the enrollment period in which they are interested. Although no preference is given for early application, beginning the process early allows ample time for applicants to assure that their applications are complete by the deadline.

Because there are more qualified applicants than can be instructed by the faculty or accommodated in the facilities, it is often necessary to admit a limited number of applicants from among those who are qualified. Information about additional admission requirements for some undergraduate programs is given on pages 28–34.

An applicant who has undertaken coursework at another collegiate institution (including freshman, transfer, reentry, and international applicants) may not disregard any part of his or her academic record. Such coursework must be reported on the appropriate section of the ApplyTexas application. Applicants who fail to report all college coursework or who otherwise falsify any part of their application or the documents required to complete the application process are subject to disciplinary action. Disciplinary action will include a one-year ban on enrollment and a permanent statement on the student’s record about the failure or falsification. Action may include expulsion and loss of credit for work taken subsequently at the University, as well as appropriate action by the dean of students.
In compliance with the Federal Student Right-to-Know Act, information about graduation rates and crime statistics is available from the Office of Admissions.

Questions about undergraduate admission may be addressed to the Office of Admissions by telephone or by e-mail. The Office of Admissions may also be contacted by mail at The University of Texas at Austin, Office of Admissions, PO Box 8058, Austin TX 78713-8058.

Application deadlines. For undergraduate admission in 2011–2012, application materials must be received in the Office of Admissions by the following deadlines.

Application processing fee. A nonrefundable fee of $60 is required with each application for undergraduate admission. International applicants (those who are not United States citizens or permanent residents) must submit a nonrefundable fee of $90.

To request an exemption from the application processing fee, an applicant must submit a copy of one of the following:

1. A financial award letter (for undergraduate transfer applicants and Graduate School applicants)
2. An approved test fee waiver from the ACT, SAT, GRE, or GMAT
3. The applicant’s parent’s or guardian’s income tax returns for the past two years or the applicant’s own returns, if he or she was not claimed as a dependent by another taxpayer
4. A financial aid transcript from an institution the applicant previously attended
5. Documentation from a high school counselor showing financial need. For example, the counselor might submit a statement that indicates the applicant’s free-lunch status.

Enrollment deposit. Any applicant admitted to the University as an undergraduate for the summer or fall must pay an enrollment deposit of $200 to indicate that he or she accepts the offer of admission. The deposit is applied to the payment of tuition when the student enrolls. Students who demonstrate financial need may qualify for assistance to cover the amount of the deposit. Enrollment deposits are refundable only until the May 1 enrollment deposit deadline.

Incoming students with college course credit. The University awards college credit to some incoming undergraduate students for designated scores on Advanced Placement and International Baccalaureate exams, for dual credit courses the student took while in high school, and for courses that are transferable from other colleges and universities. More information about transfer credit is given in the section Transfer Application Review Process, page 23.

The University also awards college credit to incoming veterans as described in the section College Credit for Military Service, page 27.

Promoting Undergraduate Admission

The Office of Admissions offers a variety of services and resources to assist prospective students with the undergraduate admissions application process. Undergraduate applicants are encouraged to use all available resources, especially consultation with the University’s admissions counselors and the resources of the University’s admissions centers.

The University’s regional admissions centers provide detailed information about and assistance with the freshman and transfer admissions processes through consultation, information sessions, and local events. Regional admissions centers are located in Dallas, Harlingen, Houston, Longview, Lubbock, and San Antonio; a full-time admissions officer also works out of New York City to serve the northeastern United States.

The Freshman Admissions Center is located in John Hargis Hall on the University campus. Each day the center welcomes prospective freshman students and their families for campus visits; tens of thousands of visitors come through the center each year. Admissions counselors serving the Austin area are also housed in the center.

Transfer admissions counselors are available for consultation by phone or in person in the main admissions office in the Main Building. Transfer counselors meet with prospective students on a walk-in basis during regular office hours; no appointment is necessary. When speaking with a counselor, prospective transfer students may request printed information about the application process and ask questions about their individual situations.

Recruiting Students and Promoting Admission

The Office of Admissions participates in a variety of activities and efforts designed to recruit prospective freshman and transfer students.

- Collaborating with junior and community college officers across the state and with high school counselors in Texas and in other states.
- Hosting counseling and information sessions and conducting campus tours for prospective freshman and transfer students.
- Hosting meetings with representatives from UT Austin admissions, student affairs, and academic affairs offices for prospective transfer students visiting the campus.
- Hosting on-campus events for prospective freshman and transfer students.
- Participating in community college recruiting events across the state and visiting community colleges and business and industry locations to provide information for prospective transfer students.
- Participating in college nights and college fairs across the state and the nation to provide information to prospective freshman and transfer students.
• Working with academic and student affairs offices and departments across campus to assist students in their transition to UT Austin.
• Working with alumni and outreach centers across the state and nation to facilitate student recruiting through information distribution, events, and activities.

Online coursework resources and tools. The University also provides several online resources and tools to help prospective students make sound decisions about coursework.

• Transfer guides (http://www.utexas.edu/student/admissions/tccn/) provide detailed information about how transfer coursework from Texas community colleges applies to UT Austin degree requirements.
• The Automated Transfer Equivalency system (http://www.utexas.edu/student/admissions/ate/) lets prospective students from higher education institutions across Texas search for equivalent coursework at their current institutions or at UT Austin.
• The IDA Planner (https://utdirect.utexas.edu/nrida/sint.WBX) allows prospective students to estimate how courses from other institutions might apply to UT Austin degrees.

Freshman Admission

Freshman applicants should take advantage of the detailed information and resources available through the Web site Be a Longhorn, http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/freshmen/. The site offers the latest details about freshman admission application requirements; information about the factors considered in making admission decisions; secure access to personal information like application status and admission decisions; details about academics, financial aid, housing, and more; event information and registration for freshman applicants; and an online Counselor Finder.

High School Preparation

To be eligible to apply for freshman admission to UT Austin, an applicant must be on track to graduate under the high school coursework requirements defined in the state’s Uniform Admission Policy. Applicants must complete at least the Recommended High School Program; the Distinguished High School Program is also an option. The recommended program requires students to complete at least 26½ units of high school credit in grades nine through twelve. The Uniform Admission Policy is defined in sections 51.801 through 51.809 of the Texas Education Code.

Exemptions are available for students who are not able to complete the Recommended High School Program even though they attend schools that offer it and for students who attend high schools that do not offer the program, including private Texas high schools and high schools outside Texas. Achieving certain benchmarks on either the SAT or the ACT may also serve as an exemption. An applicant claiming an exemption must (i) submit a certification/exemption form completed by a high school counselor; and
(2) meet UT Austin’s minimum high school coursework requirements. No student is exempt from the University’s minimum coursework requirements.

Additional information, including details about coursework requirements and exemptions and printable certification/exemption forms, is available online at http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/freshmen/admission/hc-courses/.

Admission Deficiencies

Some applicants who claim an exemption from the high school preparation requirements above may be required to complete the University’s deficiency process in order to meet UT Austin’s minimum coursework requirements. Applicants who appear to be deficient after applying for admission are notified by the Office of Admissions that they must submit additional information through an online process. Notified students who fail to complete the deficiency process will not be considered for admission.

Admitted students must complete the coursework required to remove a deficiency before they enroll at the University. A deficiency in foreign language must be removed by earning credit for foreign language or classical language courses numbered 506 and 507 (or the equivalent) or by earning a passing score on the appropriate placement examination given by the University. A deficiency in mathematics must be removed by earning credit for Mathematics 301 (College Algebra) or 303D (Applicable Mathematics) or an equivalent transfer course. For all other subjects, one semester of college credit is required to remove a deficiency of one year or less of high school credit.

Freshman Application Procedures

To be considered for admission as a freshman, the applicant must submit the following items by the deadline given on page 12:

1. A completed US Freshman ApplyTexas Application (submitted via http://applytexas.org/), including at least two required essays, and a senior course schedule. Either essays A and B or essays B and D are required. Applicants who wish to provide additional information about their special circumstances may submit essay C as well. Essay C may not be submitted in place of essay A, B, or D.
2. An official high school transcript showing rank and class size and coursework through the junior year; or a transcript and a statement from the high school that it does not rank its students; or a transcript and a statement from the high school showing the applicant’s class rank and the class size. In order for a student to qualify for automatic admission, the high school must report the student’s rank as prescribed by section 51.803 of the Texas Education Code.
3. Documentation showing that the applicant is on track to meet high school coursework requirements or that the applicant is requesting an exemption; applicants who claim an exemption must submit a certification/exemption form as described above.
4. An official test score report for the SAT Reasoning Test, including the student-written essay, or for both the ACT Assessment and the ACT Writing Test. Scores must be sent directly from the testing agency (see the section Admission Tests below) to be considered official.

5. The application processing fee or a request for an exemption, described in the section Application Processing Fee, page 12.

A freshman applicant may not disregard any part of his or her academic record, including college credit earned as dual credit. Such coursework must be reported on the ApplyTexas application, and the applicant must submit official transcripts of the coursework.

Admission Tests

All applicants for freshman admission must submit scores on either the SAT Reasoning Test, including the student-written essay, or both the ACT Assessment and the ACT Writing Test. Official scores must be sent directly from the testing agency; a photocopy of test results and results listed on a high school transcript are not acceptable.

Information and registration materials are usually available from the student’s high school counselor. Information about SAT tests is available at http://www.collegeboard.com/. Information about the ACT is available at http://www.actstudent.org/. Online test registration is available at these sites.

Applicants seeking admission to the Cockrell School of Engineering must submit appropriate scores indicating calculus readiness by the application deadline. Details are given at http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/freshmen/admission/majors/engineering/.

Most applicants to fields other than engineering are not required to take SAT Subject Tests or other exams for admission purposes. However, students admitted to majors that require precalculus or calculus courses must take the aLEKS exam before registering for classes in order to assure appropriate placement. Information about required and optional placement tests is given on pages 88–91.

Freshman Application Review Process

Freshman admission decisions are dependent on the applicant’s academic strength and an individualized, holistic review of all submitted applications. As required by state law, class rank is a deciding factor for some applicants.

Texas high school graduates eligible for automatic admission. Section 51.803 of the Texas Education Code defines the rules that govern automatic admission to Texas universities. The automatic admission law was established in 1997 through HB 588; in 2009, through SB 175, the state legislature modified the rules that govern automatic admission to UT Austin.

The 2009 modifications require the University to use automatic admission to fill at least 75 percent of the spaces available to Texas residents in each entering freshman class, beginning with applicants to summer/fall 2011. Each September, the University must inform school districts of the rank that will be required to earn automatic admission to the University in the next application cycle. On September 15, 2009, the University notified
Texas school districts that it will automatically admit students in the top 8 percent of their high school classes to the 2011 entering freshman class.

To be eligible for automatic admission, applicants for freshman admission must submit a complete application for admission by the deadline and must meet the other eligibility requirements defined in section 51.803 of the Texas Education Code; this section also defines the way an applicant’s high school rank is to be reported.

Automatic admission does not guarantee admission to the applicant’s requested major. Some of the University’s most competitive programs restrict automatic admission to the program for students automatically admitted to the University. The way decisions are made for restricted majors is described on page 28.

Applicants to the Cockrell School of Engineering must meet the calculus-readiness requirement described at http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/freshmen/admission/majors/engineering/. To be considered for admission to another math-intensive major (mathematics, business, physics, or computer science), an applicant who is otherwise eligible for automatic admission must demonstrate math proficiency by the application deadline. Math proficiency can be demonstrated by high school credentials that show current enrollment in or successful completion of mathematics coursework at the level of precalculus or above; by an SAT Reasoning Test math score of 600 or above or an ACT math score of 26 or above; or by documentation of concurrent enrollment in dual-credit precalculus or calculus. Applicants who do not meet the math proficiency requirement are not eligible for admission to math-intensive majors, but they are eligible for automatic admission to the University.

Texas high school graduates not eligible for automatic admission, homeschooled students, and all graduates of out-of-state high schools. To be considered for freshman admission, applicants who are not eligible for consideration under the provisions of section 51.803 of the Texas Education Code must normally have graduated from high school and have met the high school preparation requirements described on pages 14–15.

Applications received by the deadline are evaluated individually. No specific class rank, test score, or other qualification by itself—other than automatic admission based on section 51.803 of the Texas Education Code—ensures admission. Admission decisions are based on an assessment of the following:

1. Class rank
2. Strength of academic background
3. SAT Reasoning Test or ACT scores
4. Record of achievements, honors, and awards
5. Special accomplishments, work, and service both in and out of school
6. Essays
7. Special circumstances that put the applicant’s academic achievements into context, including his or her socioeconomic status, experience in a single parent home, family responsibilities, experience overcoming adversity, cultural background, race and ethnicity, the language spoken in the applicant’s home, and other information in the applicant’s file
8. Recommendations (although not required)
9. Competitiveness of the major to which the student applies
Admission decisions are made on the basis of the information submitted as part of the student’s application. Applicants who believe that supplemental items will help convey information about their qualifications are encouraged to submit such items with their applications. Supplemental items often included with applications are expanded résumés of accomplishments and extracurricular activities, letters of recommendation, and letters addressing an applicant’s special circumstances.

As a state-assisted institution, the University reserves a majority of its spaces for Texas residents. Consequently, the admission of nonresidents is highly competitive.

Enrollment pressures at the University may not permit admission of all who qualify for certain academic programs. When this occurs, the Office of Admissions will, within applicable law, admit those students who are judged to be most able to contribute to and benefit from the University’s rich, diverse, and academically challenging environment. The Office of Admissions may also use a wait list to help manage the enrollment process. Details about restrictions on automatic admission to some majors are given on page 28. Additional admission requirements for some undergraduate programs are described on pages 28–34.

The director of admissions may admit recipients of bona fide scholarships designated by the president.

Before applying for admission, homeschooled students should review the information available on Be a Longhorn (http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/), including details about the information that should be submitted with the student’s application.

Under Texas law, graduates of unaccredited high schools may seek admission to the University.

Students who did not graduate from high school. Texas residents who did not graduate from high school may seek admission through special consideration. In addition to all application material, the student must provide a copy of GED results. It is important for the student to provide as much information as possible in support of the application. Some important indicators of the student’s academic competitiveness are SAT Reasoning Test and SAT Subject Test scores, evidence that the student completed Advanced Placement or International Baccalaureate courses, and grades in college-level courses the student took while in high school.

Admission Decisions

When making admission decisions, admissions representatives initially consider individual applicants for their first-choice major for the requested semester. Applicants not admitted to their first-choice major are then considered for their second-choice major. Applicants who do not qualify for admission to either their first- or their second-choice major because of space limitations are then considered for admission as undeclared majors in the School of Undergraduate Studies, the College of Liberal Arts, or the College of Natural Sciences for the requested semester.
The Coordinated Admission Program. A Texas resident who meets the University’s high school preparation requirements and completes an application for admission by the required deadline, but is not offered regular admission for the fall, is eligible to participate in the Coordinated Admission Program (CAP). (Nonresidents are not eligible to participate in CAP.) CAP students spend their freshman year in residence at a participating University of Texas System component institution other than UT Austin. Students who are offered participation choose from a list of institutions open to them when they complete the CAP agreement.

To receive guaranteed admission to UT Austin following CAP participation, a CAP student must meet these requirements:

1. Complete at least thirty hours of approved coursework with a grade point average of at least 3.20 in residence during the fall and spring semesters at the participating UT System component institution at which the student enrolls.
2. Complete at least one mathematics course beyond college algebra from the list of approved courses as part of the required thirty hours.
3. Complete requirements 1 and 2 by June 1 of the year in which the student participates in CAP.

Although applicants offered CAP participation do not need to apply to the UT System component institution, they must meet the admission requirements of the institution they choose to attend. UT System institutions participating in CAP may establish additional requirements for students enrolling in the program.

Students who meet the CAP requirements are guaranteed admission to the University of Texas at Austin as regular students in the fall semester of the following year. Students are guaranteed admission into the School of Undergraduate Studies, the College of Liberal Arts, or the College of Natural Sciences. CAP participants may request admission to other colleges and schools, but they are guaranteed admission only to undergraduate studies, liberal arts, or natural sciences. (Because some of the University’s colleges and schools have made their admission decisions for the fall by the time CAP participants complete their first-year requirements, some programs may not accept applications from CAP students.) Students who request admission to another program do not jeopardize their admission to the School of Undergraduate Studies, the College of Liberal Arts, or the College of Natural Sciences.

CAP participants who do not complete the program requirements may seek admission to the University for a subsequent semester by applying for transfer admission. Such applicants are evaluated as part of the competitive transfer applicant pool; all college-level coursework, including that completed during CAP participation, and any dual credit work completed during high school are considered when transfer admission decisions are made.

Whenever admissions through CAP exceed 60 percent of total external undergraduate transfer admissions, a review of the CAP requirements for entry into UT Austin will be conducted, and new requirements will be established as appropriate.
Transfer Admission

Prospective transfer applicants should take advantage of the detailed information and resources available through the Web site Be a Longhorn, http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/transfer/. The site offers the latest details about transfer admission application requirements; information about the factors considered in making admission decisions; secure access to personal information like application status and admission decisions; details about academics, financial aid, housing, and more; event information and registration; and contact information for transfer admission counselors.

Eligibility to Apply

To be eligible for transfer admission consideration, an applicant must
1. Have graduated from high school or earned a GED
2. Have enrolled in an institution of higher education following high school graduation or receipt of the GED
3. Have completed or have in progress the final coursework toward at least thirty semester hours of transferable credit

Transfer applicants to most programs may apply for admission while working to complete the last of their required thirty semester hours of transferable coursework. In such cases, all items required to make the transfer application complete, including official transcripts of already completed coursework, must arrive in the Office of Admissions by the deadline. The applicant must then submit official transcripts showing completed coursework for the current semester as soon as the semester is completed and no later than June 15 for summer/fall applicants and January 15 for spring applicants. The Office of Admissions evaluates such applications only after receiving documentation that shows all of the required thirty semester hours of coursework.

Transfer applicants to the School of Architecture and the Department of Art and Art History must have completed thirty hours of transferable coursework by the deadline to apply for fall semester admission. Transfer applicants to the Cockrell School of Engineering must have completed or have in progress the equivalent of Mathematics 408C.

An applicant who is ineligible to continue at a previous institution for academic or disciplinary reasons is not eligible for admission to the University. There is no probationary or provisional admission for transfer applicants.

Who Should Apply as a Transfer Student

Students who are or have been enrolled at another institution of higher education are considered prospective transfer students and should complete the ApplyTexas US Transfer Application at https://www.applytexas.org/. In particular, the following students should apply for transfer admission:

1. Students who attended UT Austin as visiting students in fall 2005 as a result of a hurricane disaster and wish to enroll for a fall or spring semester
2. United States citizens and persons holding resident alien visas who have graduated from high school, have attempted college coursework, and wish to apply for admission as degree-seeking undergraduates
3. Students who participated in the UT Austin Coordinated Admission Program at a UT System component institution but did not complete the program requirements
4. UT Austin graduate students who are interested in taking undergraduate courses and who have never attended UT Austin as undergraduates
5. Students who have previously taken only correspondence or extension courses at UT Austin
6. Students who have taken only summer courses under transient status at UT Austin
7. Holders of undergraduate degrees from other colleges and universities who wish to take additional undergraduate coursework at UT Austin without seeking an additional degree. These students should select the nondegree option when completing the admission application.
8. Staff members who have not previously attended UT Austin and who wish to use the staff educational benefit for undergraduate work

The following applicants are not considered prospective transfer students and should not apply for transfer admission. Admission requirements and procedures for these applicants are given elsewhere in this chapter.
1. Former students who have attended the University as regularly admitted students and have had their enrollment interrupted for at least one long-session semester. These students should apply for re-admission.
2. Students who enrolled in college coursework only before high school graduation. These students should apply for freshman admission.
3. International students
4. Applicants to the Law School
5. Applicants to the Graduate School

Transfer Application Procedures

To be considered for transfer admission, the applicant must submit the items listed below by the application deadline given on page 12. Official transcripts and test score reports submitted to the Office of Admissions will not be duplicated or returned to the student. Faxes of transcripts and applications are not accepted.
1. A completed ApplyTexas US Transfer Application, including the required essays and statement of purpose. Either essays A and E or essays D and E are required. Applicants who wish to provide additional information about their special circumstances may submit essay C as well. Essay C may not be submitted in place of essay A, D, or E.
2. Separate, official transcripts (not duplicated or faxed copies) from each college attended, including any at which the applicant enrolled while in high school. Every college-level course the student took must be reported on a transcript from the institution at which the student enrolled in the course, even if it also appears on the transcript of another institution that accepted it for transfer credit. Summer and fall applicants must submit official transcripts of all coursework undertaken through the previous fall; spring applicants must submit official transcripts of all work undertaken through the previous summer.
3. The nonrefundable application fee or a request for an exemption, described in the section Application processing fee on page 12
4. An expanded résumé that provides information about the applicant’s previous five years of academic, extracurricular, community, and work activities, honors, and awards

Required for Enrollment

Before enrolling at the University, admitted transfer students must submit an official high school transcript. The transcript is used to verify completion of the units in foreign language and mathematics that are requirements of many University degrees. Although the high school transcript is not required for admission, applicants are strongly encouraged to submit it with other admissions credentials by the deadline.

Required for Some Applicants

1. Permanent resident alien applicants must submit a photocopy of the front of the permanent resident card or temporary evidence of I-551 in the passport.
2. Transfer applicants (both United States citizens and permanent residents) who have undertaken a significant amount of their college coursework in a country in which English is not the only language spoken must show proficiency in English by presenting a score on either the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or the International English Language Testing System (IELTS).
   A transfer applicant who meets any of the following conditions is usually exempted from this requirement:
   a. Earned three years of United States high school English credit, excluding ESL courses
   b. Resided in the United States for ten years or more
   c. Earned a bachelor’s degree at a United States institution of higher education
   d. Attended a United States institution of higher education immediately prior to enrollment at UT Austin
   e. Graduated from a United States high school

During the application review process, applicants who appear to have an English deficiency will be given specific instructions about the ways in which they can satisfy the deficiency. Although applicants are not required to satisfy this deficiency by the application deadline, their admission decision will not be rendered until the deficiency is satisfied.

Automatic Admission for Eligible Transfer Applicants

Section 51.8035 of the Texas Education Code establishes criteria for automatic admission to the University of qualifying transfer applicants who began their studies at a Texas community or junior college following high school graduation. These criteria were added to the education code in 2009 by SB 175.
To qualify for automatic admission under section 51.8035, a prospective transfer student must

- Have met the qualifications for automatic admission to a Texas college or university at the time he or she graduated from high school.
- Have completed the core curriculum at a public junior college or other public or private lower-division institution of higher education with a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.5 on a four-point scale, or the equivalent.
- Submit a complete application for transfer admission by the deadline.
- Not have first enrolled in the community or junior college earlier than the third academic year before the academic year for which he or she is seeking admission to the University.

To take advantage of the automatic admission option, the applicant must submit to UT Austin, in a timely manner, information that "expressly and clearly" claims entitlement to admission under this provision.

Transfer Application Review Process

All applications for transfer admission are reviewed and evaluated individually and holistically. Admission decisions are made after careful consideration of the strength of the applicant’s academic background; his or her record of achievement and accomplishment, both in and outside of the classroom; and related factors reported by the applicant in writing.

The Office of Admissions considers the following items when looking for evidence of a strong academic background:

1. Substantial coursework from a challenging academic institution or program
2. Required courses for specific areas of study
3. Evidence of a positive academic trend

The following items form the basis for evaluating an applicant’s record of achievement and accomplishment:

1. Indications of a superior level of achievement in a particular area, or particular attributes that would be an asset to a department or college
2. Letters from deans, department chairs, or faculty members that attest to the applicant’s qualifications for their respective programs
3. Information on a personal résumé that attests to the applicant’s skills, abilities, experiences, or background
4. Performance at an audition or the quality of a portfolio, when required for the applicant’s proposed major
5. Scores on the Test of English as a Foreign Language or the International English Language Testing System, when required
6. Other special circumstances, including socioeconomic standing; educational goals; cultural background; employment, internships, etc.; race or ethnicity; personal experiences and hardships; personal responsibilities; and any additional information submitted by the applicant

Enrollment pressures at the University may not permit admission of all who qualify for certain academic programs. When this occurs, the Office of Admissions will, within applicable law, admit those students who are judged to be most able to contribute to and benefit from the University’s rich, diverse, and academically challenging environment. Additional admissions requirements for some undergraduate programs are described on pages 28–34.
Grade point average computation. A transfer applicant’s grade point average on transferable college coursework is a significant indicator of the applicant’s academic strength. Because the Office of Admissions considers academic background as a factor when making transfer decisions, the grade point average can play an important role in an applicant’s final admission decision.

The admission grade point average is computed on all transferable college coursework the student has undertaken, whether passed, failed, or repeated. The following values are used:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Letter grade</th>
<th>Grade points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A+</td>
<td>4.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>4.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A-</td>
<td>3.67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B+</td>
<td>3.33</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>1.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>

The grade point average is derived by dividing the total number of grade points the student has earned by the total number of semester hours he or she has undertaken. Credit hours and grade points earned on the quarter system carry two-thirds the numerical value of those earned on the semester system.

A normally transferable course in which the student earned a grade of D+, D, D-, or F is included in the admission grade point average, but it is neither counted in the total number of transferred hours nor applicable toward degree requirements. All grades and hours for a repeated course are included in the admission grade point average, but transfer credit for the course may be counted in the total number of transferable hours only once.

Plus/minus values for transfer coursework earned during the fall 2009 semester and beyond will be entered on an enrolled student’s University record when available.

Transfer and evaluation of credit. Applicants for transfer admission must submit official transcripts of all coursework taken at all other institutions for evaluation by the Office of Admissions. This evaluation determines whether the coursework could in any circumstance qualify for transfer credit at the University, but it does not constitute approval of the credit for use toward a degree; such approval is solely within the jurisdiction of a student’s academic dean.

Policies governing the evaluation of transfer credit include the following:

1. Transfer credit is generally awarded for academic course credit earned from regionally accredited institutions, or from institutions that are candidates for regional accreditation if the course credit was earned during the candidacy period. In rare circumstances, course credit earned at other institutions may also be accepted in transfer.
2. Workforce (vocational) courses, developmental and remedial courses, and courses classified as below freshman level by the institution at which the student took them are not transferable and will not count toward a degree.

3. Transfer credit is awarded for some kinds of military training; details are given at Transfer Credit for Military Training and Experience (http://www.utexas.edu/student/admissions/ate/problems/military.html). Credit awarded for military training usually does not count toward the thirty hours of transferable credit needed to apply for admission.

4. Junior and community college courses transfer as lower-division (freshman or sophomore) credit. Undergraduate courses from senior colleges transfer at the level (lower- or upper-division) at which the student took them. Graduate-level coursework is not transferable as undergraduate credit.

5. No limit is placed on the total amount of course credit accepted in transfer from either junior- or senior-level institutions. However, use of transfer credit toward a degree may be limited by the student’s academic dean.

6. Credit earned by examination at another institution is treated as transfer credit only if the sending institution records the credit on the student’s transcript with regular catalog course numbers and with a grade of at least C, the symbol CR, or a similar designation representing credit earned without letter grade.

7. All academic courses except developmental courses, whether passed, failed, or repeated, including those in which the student earned a grade of D+, D, or D-, are used to compute the applicant’s grade point average for admission purposes. However, a course in which the student earned a grade of D+, D, D-, or F is not transferable and will not count toward a degree.

8. Grades earned at other institutions are not averaged with grades earned at the University to determine the student’s internal University grade point average.

9. Transfer credit evaluations.
   a. University course numbers may be modified in transfer credit evaluations to reflect more or less credit than is normally provided by the course at the University. For example, Mathematics 301, a three-semester-hour course, is rendered as Mathematics 401 when the student completed a four-semester-hour course at another institution.

   Course numbers may also be modified to accommodate sequences not normally offered at the University. For example, Mathematics 301 may be rendered as Mathematics 601A and 601B when comparable content is taken as two three-semester-hour courses at another institution; the A and B suffixes each denote half of the complete course Mathematics 601.

   b. Course numbers not in the current undergraduate catalog may be used in awarding transfer credit. For example, Mathematics 304E is no longer taught at the University but is routinely assigned in transfer evaluations because its equivalent is still commonly taught at other institutions and because it may be used to satisfy degree requirements.
c. Courses at other institutions often have no direct University equivalents but may be accepted in transfer. If such a course is in a discipline offered at the University, credit is awarded without a specific course number. General elective credit may be awarded when no equivalent discipline exists at the University; use of elective credit toward a degree may be limited by the student’s academic dean.

d. In some disciplines, transfer credit is not assigned specific University course numbers. Instead, undesignated credit is assigned and the student’s academic dean determines the specific credit to be allowed for degree purposes on a substitution basis.

e. Transferred credit in music performance may not be counted toward a degree in music until the student has completed additional music performance coursework at the University.

10. If the University refuses to accept lower-division credit earned at another Texas public institution of higher education, the student and the sending institution will be given written notice that transfer credit was refused. If nontransfer of credit is disputed, the University will attempt to resolve the matter with the student and the sending institution according to applicable rules and guidelines of the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board. If the dispute is not resolved to the student’s or the sending institution’s satisfaction within forty-five days of the initial notification, the University will notify the Coordinating Board of the refusal of the transfer credit and the reasons for refusal. The Coordinating Board will resolve the dispute and notify the parties of its findings.

Catalog eligibility for Texas transfer students. A student who transfers from another Texas public institution of higher education has the same catalog choices that he or she would have had if the dates of attendance at the University had been the same as the dates of attendance at the other institution. However, the student’s choice of major may affect whether or not transferable coursework may be counted toward a degree. Rules about catalog choice are given in the undergraduate catalog in the section Graduation under a Particular Catalog.

Coursework-in-residence requirement. Candidates for all undergraduate degrees must complete at least sixty semester hours of coursework in residence at the University. A transfer student who has completed a substantial amount of transferable, degree-applicable coursework may be obliged to take more courses at the University than his or her degree program requires, simply to meet the residence requirement. Prospective applicants for transfer admission to some majors who have earned more than sixty hours of transferable credit are considered to have excessive hours. Students considering transfer after earning more than sixty hours of transferable credit should carefully review their options and the possible ramifications of the coursework-in-residence requirement before transferring.
Transient Admission (Summer Only)

Undergraduate students who are pursuing degrees at other US colleges and universities and wish to continue their studies at the University during the summer only may be admitted to some undergraduate programs as transient students. A transient student who then wishes to be admitted to the University on a regular basis must apply for admission as a transfer student.

A transient student may not register in the Graduate School but may take graduate courses if qualified. If the student is subsequently admitted to the University as a regular student, credit earned as a transient student may be used to meet undergraduate degree requirements but may not be used to fulfill the requirements for a graduate degree.

Students who attend the University as transient students and then are admitted on a regular basis are immediately subject to the University’s academic regulations. In particular, such a student will be placed on scholastic probation upon enrollment if his or her grade point average for work undertaken as a transient student at the University is below 2.00.

Fresh Start

Section 51.931 of the Texas Education Code provides that a resident of Texas may apply for admission to the University as an undergraduate student without consideration of course credit or grades earned ten or more years prior to the semester the applicant plans to enroll. To be admitted, the applicant must meet the admission standards in effect at the time of application. Students admitted under the fresh start option may not receive credit for any coursework taken ten or more years prior to enrollment.

Additional information about the fresh start option is available from the Office of Admissions and on Be a Longhorn, http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/.

College Credit for Military Service

Military veterans who enroll at UT Austin and meet certain requirements are eligible to receive undergraduate college credit for the time they spent in the service. Eligible veterans who enroll at the University receive college credit for up to twelve semester hours of elective coursework. Eligibility requirements are defined in section 51.3042 of the Texas Education Code.

To be eligible to receive credit for military service, a veteran must

- Have graduated from a public or private high school accredited by a generally recognized accrediting organization or from a high school operated by the United States Department of Defense.
- Have completed at least two years of service in the armed services (unless he or she was discharged because of a disability).
- Have been honorably discharged from the armed forces.

Credit for military service is available to all entering undergraduates—those applying for transfer admission, freshman admission, or readmission. The credit is awarded for having served, not for any college-level courses that the veteran may have taken while in the military.

Admitted students who may qualify for credit for military service should speak with a representative of the Office of Admissions upon enrollment at the University.
Enrollment as a Nondegree Student

A student who holds a bachelor’s degree from an accredited institution, including the University, may apply for admission as a nondegree student in one of the undergraduate colleges or schools. Students seeking nondegree admission follow the process for undergraduate transfer applicants and are considered on a competitive basis with transfer applicants for the same semester. Some undergraduate majors are not open to nondegree students; applicants must select from available nondegree majors.

Nondegree students are subject to the rules that apply to other undergraduates. With the approval of the director of admissions, nondegree students may change to degree-seeking status in an undergraduate college or school.

With the approval of the instructor and the graduate adviser, a nondegree student may take any graduate course for which he or she meets the prerequisite. However, graduate courses that a student takes while enrolled as an undergraduate nondegree student may not later be counted toward a graduate degree.

Exchange students. A student who is admitted to the University through a reciprocal exchange program is also classified as a nondegree student. An exchange student may not register for more than two long-session semesters and one summer session. The transferability of academic credit to the student’s home institution is determined by the home institution.

An exchange student may later apply for admission to the University as a degree-seeking student, but only after completion of the exchange period. If the student is admitted as a degree-seeker, credit that he or she earned as an exchange student may be counted toward a University degree only on a limited basis and only with the approval of the student’s dean.

Additional Requirements and Restrictions for Some Freshman and Transfer Applicants

Texas law ensures automatic admission to the University for eligible freshman applicants. Each year the Office of Admissions must determine the high school rank an applicant will need to be automatically admitted. Generally, applicants who are eligible for automatic admission are admitted to the major of their choice. However, certain academic programs have more competitive admission standards and are under enrollment management policies to prevent overcrowding. In such cases, freshman applicants who qualify for automatic admission to a restricted major are admitted to the affected program in order of class rank until all spaces set aside for automatic admission are filled. The remaining spaces are filled competitively. Details are given at http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/freshmen/after-you-apply/automatic-admission/.

As of summer 2010, the following academic programs are functioning under the restrictions described above: all programs in the McCombs School of Business, the College of Communication, and the Cockrell School of Engineering; the Department of Kinesiology and Health Education in the College of Education; and the School of Nursing.
The calculus readiness requirement for engineering majors is described on page 16; the math proficiency requirement for other math-intensive majors is described on page 17. In addition, some academic programs enforce specific application and admission requirements on incoming undergraduates. These requirements are described below. With appropriate approval, other academic programs may impose similar restrictions when necessary. Be a Longhorn (http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/) includes a complete list of academic programs that have implemented such restrictions and details about special requirements for individual academic programs.

School of Architecture

Admission to the School of Architecture is based on standards similar to but higher than those for admission to the University. Newly admitted students must begin their studies in a fall semester. Transfer applicants must have completed thirty hours of transferable coursework in another architecture program by the application deadline for the fall semester.

All undergraduate applicants to the School of Architecture must choose a specific topic for one of the two admission essays. In addition, all transfer applicants must submit a portfolio of their work. Details about the essay and guidelines for creating the portfolio are given on Be a Longhorn, http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/.

McCombs School of Business

Admission to the McCombs School of Business is based on standards similar to but higher than those for admission to the University. Newly admitted students must begin their studies in a fall semester.

Applicants for transfer admission to the McCombs School must have completed microeconomics and macroeconomics (Economics 304K and 304L) and calculus I and II (Mathematics 408K and 408L or Mathematics 408C and 408D).

College of Communication

Admission to the College of Communication is based on standards similar to but higher than those for admission to the University. Newly admitted students must begin their studies in a fall semester.

Journalism. Students who seek to study journalism are admitted to the University as prejournalism majors. To continue in the major, each student must be admitted to a concentration or sequence within the major. Information about concentrations and sequences is given in the undergraduate catalog. Students apply for admission to a concentration or sequence while taking or upon completing Journalism 315. Admission decisions for each concentration or sequence are made by the head of that area.

To enroll in upper-division journalism courses, a student must have a University grade point average of at least 2.25.
College of Education

Department of Kinesiology and Health Education. The College of Education restricts admission to all majors in the Department of Kinesiology and Health Education, including the athletic training and sport management majors. Students interested in athletic training enter the University as pre-athletic training majors; those interested in sport management enter as physical culture and sports majors. After completing a series of courses, students enrolled at the University may apply for admission into one of these professional programs. Admission to either program is based on academic performance, completion of the required coursework, evidence of commitment to the field, and space availability in a given semester or year. Because admission to majors in the department is so competitive, automatic admission for eligible Texas applicants is restricted to the most qualified applicants.

Cockrell School of Engineering

Applicants seeking admission to the Cockrell School of Engineering as freshmen or transfer students must meet the school’s calculus readiness requirement.

Options to meet the requirement for freshman applicants are explained on Be a Longhorn, http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/freshmen/admission/majors/engineering/.

Transfer applicants must submit proof that they are taking or have completed a course that is equivalent to Mathematics 408C, Differential and Integral Calculus. The Automated Transfer Equivalency system, http://www.utexas.edu/student/admissions/ate/, lets applicants find equivalent courses at most other Texas colleges. Applicants who have completed the equivalent of Mathematics 408C by the application deadline receive priority consideration. Applicants with more advanced credit in math and science also receive priority consideration.

College of Fine Arts

Department of Art and Art History. To major in the Department of Art and Art History, a student must have the approval of the Art and Art History Admissions Committee. Information about admission requirements, procedures, and deadlines is available from the office of undergraduate studies in the department. Transfer applicants must have completed thirty semester hours of transferable coursework by the March 1 application deadline to be considered for admission.

All applicants to the department must choose a specific topic for one of the two required essays. Details about the art and art history essay are given on Be a Longhorn, http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/. Freshman and transfer applicants who wish to major in design, studio art, or visual art studies must also submit a portfolio of their work.

Students admitted to the design major must pass annual performance reviews to continue in the major.

Newly admitted students in all majors in the department must begin their studies in a fall semester.
Butler School of Music. To major in music, a student must meet University admission requirements and must pass an audition conducted by the Butler School of Music. A student who does not pass the audition may not major in music, even if he or she is admitted to the University. At the discretion of the school, a student who fails an audition may audition a second time.

Department of Theatre and Dance. Admission to programs in the Department of Theatre and Dance requires the approval of the Theatre and Dance Admissions Committee. Information about requirements, procedures, and deadlines is available from the office of undergraduate studies in the department.

Newly admitted theatre and dance students must begin their studies in a fall semester.

Jackson School of Geosciences

The Jackson School of Geosciences admits freshmen and a limited number of transfer students in fall semesters only.

The Bachelor of Science in Environmental Science, the Bachelor of Science in Geological Sciences, and the Bachelor of Science in Geosystems Engineering and Hydrogeology all require at least one calculus course. Prospective freshman applicants considering a major in the Jackson School are advised to take a full four years of mathematics in high school, preferably concluding with calculus. Transfer students are advised to complete at least precalculus before they enroll at the University.

Students admitted to the Jackson School who seek the Bachelor of Science in Geological Sciences or the Bachelor of Arts in Geological Sciences are initially designated undeclared geosciences majors (J00100).

Environmental science. Freshman and transfer applicants who plan to seek the Bachelor of Science in Environmental Science with a major in geological sciences should apply for admission to the entry-level major in geological sciences. They may apply for admission to the major in geological sciences when they have met the requirements given in the undergraduate catalog.

College of Liberal Arts

Environmental science. Freshman and transfer applicants who plan to seek the Bachelor of Science in Environmental Science with a major in geographical sciences should apply for admission to the entry-level major in geographical sciences. They may apply for admission to the major in geographical sciences when they have met the requirements given in the undergraduate catalog.

Plan II Honors Program. Plan II admits new freshmen in fall semesters only. Admission is extremely competitive and requires additional application materials. Plan II freshman admission decisions are based on the applicant’s essays, extracurricular activities, high school curriculum and performance, test scores, and information submitted via the required online honors application and in optional teacher recommendations. Prospective applicants to Plan II should visit Be a Longhorn (http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/freshmen/honors/) for details about applying.

Admission to Plan II is quite competitive. Few transfer applicants are admitted, and transfer applicants from other colleges and universities compete for space with internal transfer applicants from other UT Austin majors.

College of Natural Sciences

All students entering the College of Natural Sciences are expected to be prepared to meet the mathematics requirements of the courses in which they will enroll. All degrees in the college require completion of a college-level calculus sequence. Prospective freshmen considering a major in the college should take at least four years of math in high school, preferably concluding with calculus. Transfer applicants are strongly encouraged to have completed the calculus sequence before enrolling at UT Austin.

Entering natural sciences students are also required to take a calculus proficiency exam called ALEKS before they register for classes. The purpose of the exam is to test each student’s current knowledge, regardless of Advanced Placement and dual credit the student has earned. The college sends information about ALEKS to students after they are admitted.

Natural sciences students are admitted to the entry-level major for the field they wish to study. After completing some of the courses required for the degree, each student selects the major and the option he or she plans to pursue. For example, a student who plans to study physics applies to and is admitted to the entry-level physics major. After completing entry-level courses, the student chooses to pursue either the Bachelor of Arts with a major in physics or the Bachelor of Science in Physics with one of several options.

Computer science. All students entering the Department of Computer Science are admitted as entry-level computer science majors. After completing certain courses, students may apply for admission to one of the computer science degree programs. Admission may be highly competitive, and selection is based on a student’s overall academic performance, particularly in computer science and math courses. The admission process and requirements for each program are described in the undergraduate catalog.

Coordinated Program in Dietetics. Freshman and transfer applicants who plan to enter the Coordinated Program in Dietetics (CPD) should apply for admission to the entry-level major in nutrition. They may apply for admission to the CPD when they have met the requirements given in the undergraduate catalog.

Public health. Freshman and transfer applicants who plan to major in public health should apply for admission to the entry-level major in public health. They may apply for admission to the major in public health when they have met the requirements given in the undergraduate catalog.

Textiles and apparel. Freshman and transfer applicants who plan to major in textiles and apparel should apply for admission to the entry-level major in textiles and apparel. They may apply for admission to the major in textiles and apparel when they have met the requirements given in the undergraduate catalog. The major includes a field experience program, normally completed in the senior year. Students must apply for admission to the field experience program as described in the undergraduate catalog.

School of Nursing

Admission to the School of Nursing is based on standards similar to but higher than those for admission to the University.

Students who wish to major in nursing begin their studies by taking prerequisite course requirements as prenursing majors. During their final semester of preprofessional sequence coursework, they may apply for admission to the professional sequence in nursing. Admission to the professional sequence is competitive. Applications are accepted only from students who are enrolled in their last semester of required prerequisite coursework. Admission is offered only to the most qualified applicants. Academic performance is the primary criterion, but other factors are considered.

The student applying to the professional sequence must submit a non-refundable processing fee of $50 with the application. More information about admission to the professional sequence in nursing is given in the undergraduate catalog and on the School of Nursing Web site (http://www.utexas.edu/nursing/).

College of Pharmacy

A student who wishes to pursue the Doctor of Pharmacy (PharmD) degree must first complete a related curriculum in the College of Natural Sciences. The student’s application to the professional curriculum offered by the College of Pharmacy is considered on the basis of his or her overall academic performance and additional factors. The student must submit a non-refundable processing fee of $100 with the online PharmD application. More information about admission to the professional curriculum in pharmacy is given in the undergraduate catalog.

School of Social Work

A student who wishes to pursue a degree in social work must complete a pre–social work curriculum that includes supervised volunteer service with clients in a human services organization. The student's application to the professional curriculum is considered on the basis of his or her academic performance and commitment to and suitability for generalist social work practice. Students usually apply to the professional curriculum in the second semester of the sophomore year or the first semester of the junior year. Applicants should contact a social work adviser for more information at (512) 471-5457.

School of Undergraduate Studies

Freshman and transfer applicants to the University who choose not to select a major when they apply for admission may apply to the School of Undergraduate Studies. In addition, applicants who are not admitted to either their first- or their second-choice major may be admitted as undeclared majors in the School of Undergraduate Studies.

Specially trained advisers assist students enrolled in the school to explore the many undergraduate programs available at the University and to find a path toward graduation in one of the University’s degree-granting colleges or schools.

While enrolled in the school, students take core coursework that will count toward any undergraduate degree. Students must transfer to a degree-granting program by the time they have completed four long-session semesters in residence in the School of Undergraduate Studies.

 Admission to Upper-Division Work

In addition to the requirements outlined above, some academic programs have established minimum standards for admission to upper-division or professional sequence courses. The student should consult the undergraduate catalog and departmental advisers about eligibility to register for upper-division coursework.

INTERNATIONAL ADMISSION

The applications of prospective students from countries other than the United States are reviewed on an individual basis, and admission may not be offered to every applicant who meets the minimum requirements. Academic background and curriculum are important considerations in decisions on admissibility.

International student applicants must submit (1) an application for admission, including two essays; (2) official transcripts of previous academic work; (3) standardized test scores when required; (4) Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or International English Language Testing System (IELTS) scores; (5) evidence of sufficient financial support while studying in the United States; (6) the application processing fee, which is not refundable; and (7) any other documents required by the program the student seeks to enter.
READMISSION OF FORMER STUDENTS

Former University students who were not enrolled the previous long-session semester must apply for readmission. Students who completed the requirements for a degree from the University in the previous semester or summer session must also apply for readmission. (Former graduate students who have never been enrolled at UT Austin as undergraduates and who wish to take undergraduate courses must apply for undergraduate transfer admission.) Application materials must be submitted by the deadline for former students given on page 12. To be eligible to reenroll, a former student who has subsequently attended another college must submit an official transcript from each college showing a grade point average of at least 2.50 on a 4.00 scale for all transferable coursework he or she has undertaken since leaving the University. (Students who have taken only one transferable course in their absence must earn at least a 2.00 on that course.) This requirement does not apply to work taken during a summer session that falls between consecutive spring and fall semesters in which the student is enrolled at the University.

A student who leaves the University on scholastic probation will be on scholastic probation when readmitted, even if he or she has attended another institution in the interim.

Former students who wish to enter the School of Law, the Graduate School, or the graduate program of the McCombs School of Business for the first time must meet the requirements and deadlines given in the appropriate section of this chapter. Additional information about graduate and law programs is given in their respective catalogs.

All graduate students are expected to enroll and pay tuition by the twelfth class day of the fall semester and the spring semester of each academic year until they graduate. A student who does not do so must apply for readmission in order to return to the University. He or she must submit an Application for Readmission by the deadline for former students given on page 12 and must pay the graduate application fee. The fee is waived if the student has received an official leave of absence. The student must also obtain the approval of the graduate adviser in the program in which he or she was last enrolled; readmission to the program is not guaranteed. A former graduate student who was in good standing when he or she left the University is not required to submit official transcripts unless they are requested by the student’s graduate program.

To change to a different major, the student must submit an Application for Admission to Another Graduate Major; additional information is given in the section Application to Another Graduate Major (Change of Major) in the graduate catalog.

In accordance with section 51.9242 of the Texas Education Code, a student who withdraws from the University in order to perform active military service will be readmitted for any semester or summer session that begins within a year after the student’s release from active service. The student is not required to apply for readmission or pay an application fee. However, he or she must submit the Notification of Intent to Re-Enroll. This form allows the University to prepare for the former student’s return. If the form is submitted late, the student’s registration may be delayed. To prevent a delay, the former student should submit the form at least two weeks before he or she expects to register for classes.
This policy applies to students who withdraw for service with the United States armed forces or the Texas National Guard; however, it does not apply to students who withdraw solely to perform one or more training exercises as members of the Texas National Guard.

HIGH SCHOOL PARALLEL ENROLLMENT PROGRAM

Austin-area high school students who are Texas residents, have demonstrated superior academic achievement in a subject area, and have completed high school calculus, may be considered for admission to the High School Parallel Enrollment Program (HSPEP). Mathematics, foreign language, and computer science courses are available in the current program.

Students who have completed the tenth grade, have a high school grade point average of at least 3.50 or the equivalent, and have exhausted the course offerings in their subject area, may be considered for admission in either the fall or the spring semester. Students must submit the HSPEP Application, available from the Office of Admissions. SAT or ACT scores, a statement of goals, and teacher recommendations are required and are considered in determining admission to the program. A student must pass all parts of the Texas Higher Education Assessment (THEA) before registering for coursework offered through HSPEP. Application deadlines are the same as those for regular admission. Concurrent attendance at an accredited high school with the intent to graduate from that school is required. Participants in the HSPEP pay regular tuition and have a regular University record.

To remain in the program, the student must earn grades of at least C- in all courses. Students are not subject to the normal scholastic probation and dismissal rules while in the program, but credit and grades earned are counted in any future determination of hours undertaken, passed, or failed and in the computation of the student’s University grade point average.

A participant in the HSPEP who wishes to enter the University following high school graduation must apply for admission in the usual way and meet the required deadlines. Additional information is available from the coordinator of the High School Parallel Enrollment Program at the Freshman Admissions Center, (512) 475-7440.

GRADUATE ADMISSION

A summary of the general requirements, application fees, deadlines, and procedures for graduate admission follows. Prospective students should refer to the graduate catalog for further information.

Requirements

General requirements for admission to the Graduate School are
1. A bachelor’s degree from a regionally accredited institution in the United States or proof of equivalent training in a foreign institution.
2. A grade point average of at least 3.00 in upper-division (junior- and senior-level) coursework and in any graduate work already completed.
3. An official score on the Graduate Record Examinations General Test (GRE), unless otherwise specified by the graduate program to which the student is applying. The McCombs School of Business requires master’s and doctoral degree applicants to submit a satisfactory score on either the GRE or the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT). Applicants to dual or combined degree programs with the School of Law must submit a satisfactory score on the Law School Admission Test (LSAT) as well as on the GRE or GMAT.

4. Adequate subject preparation for the proposed major. Evidence of adequate preparation varies by program, but examples include letters of reference, auditions, samples of work, and personal statements.

5. A recommendation for acceptance by the Graduate Studies Committee for the proposed major area.

International students whose native language is not English must also submit scores on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or the International English Language Testing System (IELTS). Applicants should consult the graduate adviser for the program of interest to learn which test the program requires.

Applicants may apply simultaneously to more than one graduate program, but they may enroll in only one program (with the exception of those admitted to dual degree programs). All complete applications are forwarded to the Graduate Studies Committee(s) to which they are directed. Admission decisions are based on a careful review of all aspects of the applicant’s file. Scores on standardized tests such as the GRE are not the sole criterion for making an admission decision or ending consideration of the application. Each applicant’s test scores are compared with those of other applicants of similar socioeconomic status. Information about admission criteria for each graduate program is available from the graduate adviser.

When there are more qualified applicants than can adequately be instructed by the faculty or accommodated in the facilities, the Graduate Studies Committee for the proposed area may deny admission to students who have met the prescribed requirements. All admissions must be approved by the graduate dean.

Applicants who feel that their grade point averages or test scores are not valid indicators of ability should explain their concerns in a letter to the graduate adviser of the program to which they are applying.

Admission tests. The Graduate Record Examinations General Test (GRE), the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT), and the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) are offered at testing centers throughout North America and at selected international sites. Current information about GRE and TOEFL test dates, locations, and registration procedures is published by the Educational Testing Service at http://www.ets.org/.

Similar information about the GMAT is published by the Graduate Management Admission Council at http://www.gmac.com/gmac/thegmat/.

The International English Language Testing System (IELTS) is administered in more than 120 countries and is available off-site in additional countries. Information about IELTS test dates, locations, and procedures is published at http://www.ielts.org/.
The Law School Admission Test (LSAT) is administered by the Law School Admission Council. Information about the LSAT is published by the council at http://lsac.org/.

Graduate School Select Admission Program

The Graduate School Select Admission Program allows graduate programs to recommend academically outstanding University undergraduates for admission to seek a graduate degree. Students are normally nominated in the junior year, and programs are encouraged to limit their nominations each year to one or two outstanding undergraduates.

Nominations are forwarded to the Graduate School by the program's graduate adviser or graduate admissions office with the recommendation of the Graduate Studies Committee. Undergraduate candidates may be extended an offer of admission and financial aid as early as the junior year, conditional upon completion of the baccalaureate degree. Application and transcript fees are waived; some graduate programs may waive submission of GRE scores. Admitted students may enroll in graduate courses at undergraduate tuition rates during the senior year and reserve the courses for graduate credit.

Additional information about the Graduate School Select Admission Program is available at http://www.utexas.edu/ogs/admissions/select.html, in the Office of Graduate Studies, and from the graduate adviser of the nominating graduate program.

Conditional Admission

Almost all of the students who are admitted to the Graduate School have qualifications equal to or better than the minimum standards outlined on pages 36–37. However, a Graduate Studies Committee may recommend, with the consent of the graduate dean, that a student be admitted to the Graduate School with conditions. The Graduate Studies Committee may require the student to maintain a certain grade point average or to take a certain number of semester hours of coursework. A conditionally admitted student may also be required to remedy deficiencies in undergraduate preparation by taking upper-division or graduate courses. The graduate adviser notifies the student of these conditions at the time of admission. The Graduate Studies Committee petitions the graduate dean for removal of conditions once the conditions have been met.

A student who does not fulfill the conditions within the specified time may be barred from subsequent registration in the Graduate School. If the student changes his or her major before the conditions have been fulfilled, the conditions remain in effect unless the graduate adviser for the new program, on behalf of the Graduate Studies Committee, petitions the graduate dean and receives approval for them to be changed.

Students admitted with conditions are not eligible to be graduate student academic employees, except under rare and unusual circumstances and with the approval of the graduate dean.
Admission as a Nondegree Student

A person who would like to take graduate coursework without becoming a candidate for a graduate degree may apply for admission to a graduate program as a nondegree student. The applicant must submit an application and transcripts of all college coursework; Graduate Record Examinations scores are not required. Admission must be recommended by the Graduate Studies Committee for the program and approved by the graduate dean. Admission as a nondegree student is not available in all graduate programs. Enrollment as a nondegree student is normally limited to one year. Nondegree students are not eligible to be graduate student academic employees.

A graduate nondegree student who wishes to seek a graduate degree must submit an application for admission by the program’s deadline and must pay the usual application fee. A degree-seeking student may petition to have applied to the master’s degree up to six semester hours of graduate credit earned while he or she was a graduate nondegree student.

Exchange students. A graduate student who is admitted to the University through a reciprocal exchange program is classified as a nondegree student. An exchange student may not register for more than two long-session semesters and one summer session. The transferability of academic credit to the student’s home institution is determined by the home institution.

An exchange student who wishes to take a graduate course must obtain the approval of the instructor and of the graduate adviser for the program that offers the course, must meet all course prerequisites, and must meet any other requirements affecting nondegree students. An exchange student may later apply for admission to the University as a degree-seeking graduate student. To do so, he or she must submit the usual test scores, application fee, and other required material by the graduate program’s deadline.

Exchange students admitted as graduate nondegree students. If a graduate nondegree exchange student is later admitted to the Graduate School as a degree seeker, the Graduate Studies Committee may ask for the graduate dean’s approval to include on the student’s master’s degree Program of Work up to six hours of graduate coursework that he or she completed as a graduate nondegree exchange student. All requirements related to courses that may be counted toward graduate degrees apply, including rules concerning courses counted toward another degree.

Exchange students admitted as undergraduate nondegree students. If an undergraduate nondegree exchange student is later admitted to the Graduate School, graduate courses that he or she took as an undergraduate nondegree exchange student may not be counted toward a graduate degree.

Recommended Application Dates for Graduate Study

Each graduate program sets its own application deadline. Many programs have deadlines as early as December 1 for the following fall semester. Few graduate programs admit new students for the spring semester; those that do have deadlines no later than October 1. It is the applicant’s responsibility to meet the deadline set by the graduate program. A list of program deadlines is published by the Office of Graduate Studies at http://www.utexas.edu/ogs/admissions/programs.html.
International students. International students should apply as early as possible. The international student’s record of work (including the score on the Test of English as a Foreign Language or the International English Language Testing System, earned within the past year) will be evaluated by Graduate and International Admissions and then forwarded to the appropriate Graduate Studies Committee and the graduate dean.

Financial aid. The Office of Student Financial Services offers financial assistance in the form of gift aid, which includes grants and scholarships, and self-help aid, which includes student employment programs and long-term loans. To apply for these programs, all applicants are encouraged to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). More information about these programs and deadlines for filing the FAFSA are published by Student Financial Services at http://finaid.utexas.edu/. Information is also available by mail from The University of Texas at Austin, Office of Student Financial Services, P O Box 7758, Austin TX 78713-7758.

Individual graduate programs may also offer financial assistance to their students. For more information about these programs and deadlines for applying to them, applicants should contact the graduate program of interest. Financial aid decisions are made soon after program application deadlines, and applicants whose materials have not been received may not be given full consideration.

Fellowships

University fellowships, which are administered through the Graduate School, are awarded to both new and continuing graduate students in most academic areas. Students must be nominated by their graduate advisers for any fellowship administered by the Graduate School. Additional information on University fellowships is published by the Office of Graduate Studies at http://www.utexas.edu/ogs/funding/fellowships/.

University recruiting fellowships for entering graduate students are awarded on the basis of scholastic excellence and adequate preparation for graduate study in the student’s chosen field, as shown by his or her academic record and letters of recommendation. University fellowships for continuing students are awarded on the basis of the student’s record since entering the Graduate School, including performance in relevant coursework and research or creative activity, letters of recommendation from University faculty members, and the endorsement of the graduate adviser; financial need is also considered. There are additional specific qualifications for many of the competitive fellowships awarded by the University and by graduate programs.

Generally, fellowships require no service from the recipient. Major fellowships provide for payment of nearly all tuition in addition to the stipend.

Application Processing Fee

All applicants to the Graduate School must submit a nonrefundable application processing fee along with their credentials. Applicants may apply simultaneously to more than one graduate program with no additional fee.
When more than one fee is applicable, only the higher one must be paid. An applicant may be eligible for a waiver of the fee on the basis of documented financial need.

US citizens, permanent residents, and University undergraduates. The fee for applicants to the Graduate School is $65. The fee for applicants to the Master of Business Administration (MBA) program is $125. The fee for applicants to the Master in Professional Accounting (MPA) program, including students in the integrated BBA/MPA program, is $80.

International applicants. The fee for applicants who present academic credentials from any country other than the United States is $90. The fee for applicants to the full-time MBA program is $175; the fee for applicants to weekend and evening MBA programs is $125. The fee for applicants to the MPA program is $100.

Enrollment Deposit

Some graduate programs require students to pay a nonrefundable enrollment deposit upon admission to indicate that they accept the offer of admission. For students applying to dual degree programs, one deposit serves to confirm the student’s intention to enroll in both programs. When both programs require a deposit, only the higher fee is required. The deposit is applied to the payment of fees when the student enrolls. Students who demonstrate financial need may qualify for assistance to cover the deposit.

An enrollment deposit is assessed in the following graduate programs:

Law School Admission

To be considered for admission to the School of Law, each applicant (1) must have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university; (2) must have a minimum undergraduate grade point average of at least 2.20, as calculated by the Law School Admission Council; (3) must have attained a reportable score on the Law School Admission Test (LSAT); (4) must follow all instructions in The University of Texas School of Law Application; and (5) must submit all mandatory attachments described in the application. An applicant who meets the minimum requirements is not assured of admission, because the number of qualified applicants each year usually exceeds the number of new students the school may admit.
The law school provides full-file review to all complete applications. No admission decision is based on numerical criteria alone. In addition to the LSAT score and cumulative undergraduate grade point average, the Admissions Committee reviews each application in its entirety. Among the criteria considered are the following:

- Rigor of the undergraduate course of study as reflected by the applicant’s college transcripts
- Graduate study
- Demonstrated commitment to public service
- Work experience
- Leadership experience
- Extracurricular or community activities
- History of overcoming economic or other disadvantage
- Race and ethnicity
- Personal experiences with discrimination
- Overcoming disability
- Disadvantaged socioeconomic background
- Geographic diversity (particularly underrepresented regions of Texas)
- Diversity of experience and background
- Maturity
- Ability to communicate well, exceptional writing skills
- Foreign language proficiency
- Honors and awards
- Service in the Armed Forces
- Publications
- Any other personal characteristics or experiences that would contribute to the diversity and overall enrichment of the law school

The goals of the admission process for the School of Law are

- To identify those students with the greatest probability of success in law school, giving due weight to proven predictors (LSAT score, grade point average, the applicant’s undergraduate school and major) and appropriate weight to all other factors in the applicant’s file
- To identify students who exhibit a demonstrated commitment to public service, leadership, and other qualities valuable to the legal profession
- To identify students whose background, experience, and other qualities are likely to be of value in the classroom and in the law school
- To provide a service to the state of Texas by educating its citizens from underrepresented regions of the state and disadvantaged socioeconomic backgrounds

The application process is described below. Additional information about admission to the law school as a new student, a transfer student, or a transient student is given in the law school catalog, The University of Texas School of Law Bulletin, and on the law school’s Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/law/depts/admissions/.
Application Procedures

Applicants must take the LSAT, which is administered by the Law School Admission Council (LSAC). The LSAT is given four times a year at designated locations in the United States and at several international test centers. Registration materials and complete information about the LSAT are available at http://www.lsac.org/.

Applicants must submit completed credentials to the law school by the deadlines given below. Law school admission information and application forms are available at http://www.utexas.edu/law/depts/admissions/ and from The University of Texas School of Law, Admissions Office, 727 East Dean Keeton Street, Austin TX 78705-3224, (512) 232-1200.

Finally, applicants must register with LSAC’s Credential Assembly Service. The service compiles applicants’ transcripts, computes grade point averages, and transmits the information to the law school. Additional information is available from the Law School Admission Council.

Application processing fee. A nonrefundable application processing fee of $70 is required of each applicant and must be submitted with the required credentials. An applicant who completed undergraduate work at a school outside the United States must have his or her transcript evaluated and the evaluation sent to the law school.

Deadlines

New students are accepted for full-time study in the fall semester only; admission for the spring semester or summer session is available only for transfer and transient students.

Early decision admission. Applicants for early decision admission in fall must submit a complete application to the law school, postmarked by November 1. They must take the LSAT no later than the October test administration and should register with the Credential Assembly Service by October 10. Applicants who fulfill the requirements for an early decision will be notified of their admission status by the end of January. Early admission is not binding.

Regular decision admission. Applicants for regular decision admission in fall must submit a complete application to the law school, postmarked by February 1. They must take the LSAT no later than the December test administration and should register with the Credential Assembly Service by January 10.

Enrollment Deposit

Applicants admitted to the law school must submit a nonrefundable deposit of $200 by credit card, cashier’s check, or money order to indicate that they accept the offer of admission. The deposit is applied to tuition for the fall semester when the student enrolls; otherwise, the deposit is nonrefundable.
RESIDENCY REGULATIONS

Under state statutes and Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board rules interpreting them, a student or prospective student is classified as a resident of Texas, a nonresident, or a foreign student. A person who has lived in the state under circumstances specified in the Coordinating Board rules is eligible for classification as a Texas resident. A citizen, a national, or a permanent resident of the United States who does not meet resident criteria is classified as a nonresident. An alien who is not a permanent resident of the United States and has not been permitted by Congress to adopt the United States as domicile while in this country is classified as a foreign student. A person classified as a nonresident or a foreign student may qualify, under certain exceptions specified in the rules, for resident tuition rates and other charges, while he or she continues to be classified as a nonresident or a foreign student. Information about the Coordinating Board’s rules on residency is published by the board at http://www.collegeforalltexans.com/.

A student entering the University for the first time, or reentering after an absence of more than one semester, should carefully review the Coordinating Board rules in order to be prepared to pay the required tuition. Information and advice on residency status is available from the University’s Office of Admissions, (512) 475-7408 or (512) 475-7407. Information about establishing residency is published by the Office of Admissions at http://www.utexas.edu/student/admissions/residency/.

Effect of absence from the University. Students returning to the University after an absence of more than two semesters may be required to file a residency form.
3. Registration, Tuition, and Fees

REGISTRATION

Students at the University register for classes online; instructions are given in the Course Schedule. The only way to enroll in a class is to register for it through the proper registration procedure or to add it after the initial registration. The instructor receives the student’s name only by official notice from the registrar. A student may not receive credit for a course for which he or she is not registered.

By registering, a student enters a college or school of the University and, except in matters of conduct, is under the jurisdiction of the dean of that college or school. The dean has jurisdiction over the student’s program of study and degree requirements. A student pursuing simultaneous majors in two colleges is subject to the regulations of both colleges. Students taking a course in a college or school other than the one(s) in which they are registered are subject, so far as that course is concerned, to the regulations of the college or school in which the course is given. In matters of conduct, all students are under the jurisdiction of the dean of students.

ACADEMIC ADVISING

Academic advising is available to all students before registration. In many degree programs, students must be advised before they may register. Advising requirements and locations are given in the Course Schedule. However, the University recognizes that academic advising is more than course selection. A description of the broader goals of the advising process is given in chapter 4, Academic Policies and Procedures, page 75.

REGISTRATION PERIODS

Freshman and transfer students entering the University in the fall semester are encouraged to attend an orientation session, during which they will be advised and will register for classes. Information about orientation for new students, including graduate and international students, is available from the Office of the Dean of Students at http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/nss/ and in Student Services Building 4.400.

Continuing and readmitted students may register during each semester and summer session for the following term. Registration periods for the fall semester and the summer session usually begin in April; those for the spring semester, in late October or early November. Detailed information about registration is given in the Course Schedule.
Paying Tuition as a Part of Registration

A student is not registered or entitled to attend classes, participate in class-related activities, or use University facilities and services until his or her tuition bill is paid in full or in accordance with an approved installment plan. A student who has an overdue debt to the University may not register until the debt is paid.

Late Registration

Students are expected to register at their earliest opportunity. A student who registers late is charged a fee to defray the cost of the extra services necessary to effect the late registration. Late registration periods are identified in the Course Schedule each semester and summer session. Students may register after the fourth class day in a fall or spring semester or the second class day in a summer term only with the approval of the department chair, the student’s dean, and the registrar. Registration after these dates is approved only in unusual circumstances.

Texas Success Initiative

Undergraduate students who have not fulfilled requirements of the Texas Success Initiative (TSI) may be subject to enrollment restrictions or may be barred from registration. TSI is described in chapter 4, Academic Policies and Procedures, pages 77–78.

Concurrent Enrollment at the University and Another Collegiate Institution

Prior written approval of a student’s academic dean is required to assure that a course taken at another institution while the student is concurrently registered at the University will count toward the student’s degree. Concurrent enrollment policies of the colleges and schools are given in the undergraduate catalog. Information about fees for students enrolled concurrently at two institutions is given on page 59.

Continuous Registration of Graduate Students

All graduate students are expected to enroll and pay tuition by the twelfth class day of the fall semester and the spring semester of each academic year until graduation. If the student has been admitted to candidacy for the doctoral degree, registration in the dissertation course or the equivalent or in international study and research is required. The only alternative to continuous registration is a leave of absence, discussed below. In order to fulfill the continuous registration requirement, doctoral candidates who are readmitted must register retroactively and pay tuition for all semesters that have elapsed since they were last enrolled.

If a student who is not on approved leave fails to register by the twelfth class day, he or she may not return to the University without applying for readmission. The student must apply for readmission both to the University and to the graduate program and must pay the general application fee.
The application is reviewed by the Graduate Studies Committee, which may choose to readmit the student or to deny readmission.

Leave of Absence for Graduate Students

Graduate students may apply for a leave of absence of no more than two semesters. Requests for a leave of absence must be approved in advance by the graduate adviser and the graduate dean. Applications from students who have been admitted to candidacy will be approved by the graduate dean only in rare and unusual circumstances.

A student on approved leave must apply for readmission in order to return to the University, but readmission during the approved period is automatic and the application fee is waived.

A student on leave may not use any University facilities; nor is he or she entitled to receive advice from any member of the faculty. A leave of absence does not alter the time limits for degrees or coursework.

Registration in the Graduate School Following Graduation

Graduate students who wish to continue enrollment beyond the semester in which their degree is awarded must be admitted as nondegree students or as degree-seeking students in a new degree program. Students must request a change of major or degree-seeking status from the Graduate School.

In Absentia Registration

A candidate for a degree who has completed the requirements for graduation and needs to register only for the purpose of having a degree conferred, may register in absentia. In absentia registration is not permitted for any other purpose; for graduate students, in absentia registration is allowed only at the end of the summer session for fall graduation as described below. The fee for in absentia registration is $25.

Undergraduate Students

After registering for classes, an undergraduate may change to in absentia status only with the approval of his or her dean. The classes for which the student is registered should be dropped and the in absentia registration added through the normal add/drop procedure. If the change is made during the first twelve class days, the student's tuition is refunded, minus the amount of the in absentia fee. After the twelfth class day, no refund is made and no additional charge is assessed for the in absentia registration. No refund is available for the cancellation of an in absentia registration.

Graduate Students

Graduate students must be registered for the semester in which they graduate and must apply for graduation by the deadline published in the academic calendar. There are no exceptions to this policy for fall semester and spring semester graduation; a student who fails to complete all degree requirements or misses the deadline for acceptance of the thesis, report, recital, dissertation, or treatise must register and pay tuition the following semester or summer session in order to receive the degree.

An exception is made for students who apply to graduate in the summer session but miss the deadline for acceptance of the thesis, report, recital, dissertation, or treatise. In this case, the student will be registered in absentia for the fall semester, only for the purpose of receiving the degree, by degree evaluators in the Office of Graduate Studies. The thesis, report, recital, dissertation, or treatise must be accepted by the deadline for in absentia registration, which falls before the beginning of the following fall semester. The student will be registered in absentia only once.

Transfer from One Division to Another Within the University

Students in any undergraduate college or school of the University may transfer to any other college or school within the University only under the general procedures and conditions described below.

1. To transfer, students must obtain the appropriate form at the office of the dean of the new college or school. Transfer procedures must be completed by the end of the eighth class day in the fall or spring or the fourth class day in the summer for the transfer to be effective in the current term.

2. Students who transfer to a new college or school retain the same University probationary status, if any, that was in effect at the time of the transfer.

3. Students who are dismissed under University-wide regulations from one college or school are ineligible to transfer to another college or school.

4. Restrictions based on credit earned:
   a. Students who have completed forty-five or fewer semester hours of college credit may transfer between colleges and schools regardless of their University grade point average, provided they satisfy all conditions and procedures that apply to students who enter the same college or school, and any program thereof, when first admitted to the University.

   b. Students who have completed more than forty-five semester hours of college credit must have a University grade point average of at least 2.00 to qualify for transfer between colleges and schools. Generally, students with more than forty-five semester hours of credit and a grade point average less than 2.00 may not transfer to another division within the University and must enroll in courses approved by their current college or school. All colleges are authorized to allow such students to register for courses required for the students’ potential new majors, provided the normal prerequisites are met.

   c. Students may not transfer to another college or school after they have completed sixty semester hours of coursework in residence. A student who wishes to seek an exception to this rule should petition the dean of the college into which he or she would like to transfer.
5. Students may not transfer to another college or school after they have completed four long-session semesters in residence, regardless of the amount of credit they have earned. A student who wishes to seek an exception to this rule should petition the dean of the college into which he or she would like to transfer.

6. Transfer students from other institutions of higher education are eligible to transfer between colleges and schools within the University upon completion of their first long-session semester or summer session at the University, regardless of the number of semester hours accumulated, provided they satisfy all conditions and procedures that apply to students entering the same college or school, and any program thereof, when first admitted to the University.

7. Students who are readmitted to the University after not enrolling for one or more long-session semesters are readmitted to the college or school in which they were last enrolled. They may then transfer to another college or school, provided they meet the general conditions for transfer given in this section and any special admission requirements of the college or school to which they wish to transfer.

8. Graduate students not previously admitted to the University as undergraduates may transfer from the Graduate School to an undergraduate college or school under the general conditions for transfer noted in items 1 and 2 only if they (a) satisfy any pertinent admission requirements for that undergraduate college or school, and (b) have the additional approval of the director of admissions.

Auditing a Course

Permission to audit a course entitles the student to attend class but not to hand in papers, take part in discussion, or receive evaluations. An auditor does not receive University credit for the course audited.

A law student may not audit a law course.

A University student who wishes to audit a course should obtain a Class Auditor Permit from the Office of the Registrar and secure the consent of the course instructor and the student’s dean. A nonstudent must obtain the Class Auditor Permit and the consent of the instructor. Nonstudents under the age of sixty-five are charged an audit fee of $20 a course.

Auditors are permitted only when space is available. An instructor or dean may refuse any request to audit a course. Nothing in these rules prohibits an instructor from permitting guests and visitors in a class.

Tuition and Fees

Policies governing the payment and refund of tuition, fees, and other charges are approved by the Board of Regents of The University of Texas System and comply with applicable state statutes. All charges are subject to change by legislative or regental action and become effective on the date enacted. For clarification of any matter relating to payment or refund of charges, a student should contact the office or administrative unit that originated the charge or refund.
Financial Responsibility

Students are expected to meet financial obligations to the University when they are due. Tuition is due on the date given in the academic calendar, and students are not entitled to attend classes unless the tuition bill has been paid in full or in accordance with an approved installment plan. Failure to comply with tuition payment deadlines may result in the cancellation of registration. Other charges are due within ten days after the bill is issued by the University, or according to any payment instructions on the bill. If the student does not pay the amount owed by the due date, the University may bar the student from registration and may withhold official transcripts and diplomas.

Payment of registration fees, for the exact amount due, may be made by personal check, by electronic funds transfer, or by credit card. Payments for larger amounts, the difference to be paid in cash to the student, cannot be accepted. All checks must be drawn on United States banks in United States dollars; collection charges that result from checks drawn otherwise are charged to the student.

Returned Checks

When a check or an electronic payment (referred to in this section as a check) is returned to the University, a $25 service charge is assessed. The student has ten days from the date of the notice to make full payment by cash, credit card, cashier’s check, or money order. Failure to comply will result in refusal by the University to accept future personal checks. If the returned check was for the tuition bill or to clear a registration bar, the student’s registration will be canceled; a service charge of $25 and a late charge, if applicable, are assessed for all other returned checks.

The University will not accept a check from an individual who previously had a registration canceled because of a returned check; who wrote a bad check to clear a bar; who, after writing a bad check, was not responsive to requests for payment; or who habitually writes bad checks, even though restitution is made promptly. Once a student is barred from writing a personal check, the bar remains in place for at least one year. After the year has passed, the student may submit an appeal to the Returned Check Section of the Office of Accounting to have the bar lifted.

Payment Plans

Tuition for the fall and spring semesters may be paid in full or according to the following three-payment plan. The student must choose the three-payment option, sign an installment plan promissory note, and make the first payment by the date given in the academic calendar. A nonrefundable $15 service charge is required. If subsequent payments are not made on time, a late fee of $25 is added to the amount due.

First payment. The first payment is one-half the amount of tuition plus the full amount of optional fees and, if applicable, the international student health insurance program fee, the general deposit, and the late registration fee. The first payment is due by the date given in the academic calendar. The installment plan note must be signed before the first payment will be accepted.

Add/drop transactions may increase the total amount the student owes after the first payment has been made. In this case, payment for added classes is due by the date given in the academic calendar.

Second and third payments. Each payment is equal to one-quarter of the originally billed tuition, with adjustments for adds and drops. The second payment is due prior to the sixth week of classes; the third, prior to the eleventh week. Payment deadlines are given in the academic calendar.

A student who withdraws from the University after the first four weeks of class is responsible for the full amount of tuition and must continue to make installment payments as scheduled. A student who fails to make full payment on time, including any late fees, is subject to one or more of the following actions, at the University’s option: (i) bar against readmission to the institution; (2) withholding of grades, degree, and official transcript; (3) all penalties and actions authorized by law.

Financial aid recipients must apply any aid received to the unpaid balance of the tuition bill at the time the aid check is released.

Specific information about paying the tuition bill is available in each semester’s Course Schedule.

Admission Application Processing Fees

Each applicant for admission to the University must submit a nonrefundable application processing fee. The amounts of these fees for undergraduate applicants are given on page 12; for graduate applicants, on pages 40–41; and for law applicants, on page 43.

Applicants to the professional sequence in nursing must pay the nonrefundable processing fee given on page 33; applicants to the professional curriculum in pharmacy must pay the nonrefundable processing fee given on page 33.

Tuition

The flat rate tuition for each program covers the student’s academic program costs, including tuition, mandatory fees and charges, and college and course incidental fees. It does not include the general deposit, the international student health insurance fee, the international student orientation fee, or fees for extended field trips that require students to live off campus.

Flat rate tuition for fall 2010 and spring 2011 is given in the tables on pages 53–58. After selecting classes for a future semester, the student may view his or her tuition bill at the Student Accounts Receivable Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/business/accounting/sar/. Flat rate tuition for summer 2011 will be published on the same Web site.

The tables show tuition for students enrolled in a single college. Undergraduates with simultaneous majors in more than one college are charged only the higher college rate. Tuition for graduate dual degree programs is unique to each program; amounts are available from Student Accounts Receivable.
The information in the tuition tables is not intended to be comprehensive and is subject to change. Tuition, fees, and charges are subject to change by administrative, legislative, or regental action, and changes become effective on the date enacted. This information should be used only as a guideline for estimating charges. In accordance with the legal requirement that students be informed of tuition rates prior to registration, the following 2010–2011 tuition rates were approved by the Board of Regents in March 2010.

Nonresident Tuition for Resident Students

Because the University is a state-assisted institution, tuition rates are lower for Texas-resident students than for nonresidents, including both out-of-state and international students. Information about residency is given in chapter 2, Admission, page 44. In the following circumstances, a student who is classified as a Texas resident may be charged nonresident tuition.

Undergraduates. State law allows colleges and universities to charge a Texas-resident undergraduate the nonresident tuition rate if the student has attempted an excessive number of hours beyond the number required for his or her degree. In addition, a higher tuition rate may be charged if a student enrolls again in a course he or she has completed.

As of the academic year 2010–2011, the University does not charge undergraduates additional tuition for an excessive number of hours or for repeated courses.

Graduate students. A student who has earned more than ninety-nine semester hours of credit at the doctoral level is subject to the nonresident tuition rate, even if the student is a Texas resident or holds an appointment that would normally entitle the holder to pay resident tuition. This policy, sometimes called the ninety-nine-hour rule, is authorized by section 54.012 of the Texas Education Code. More information about charges for excessive graduate coursework is available from the Office of Graduate Studies at http://www.utexas.edu/ogs/student_services/academic_policies/99in99.html or (512) 471-4511.

Additional Fees

Flat rate tuition covers most program and service-related costs. The following fees are charged to defray the costs of specific programs and services.

Affiliated studies registration fee. The fee of $400 per semester or summer session defrays costs associated with registration, record keeping, and certification for students participating in sanctioned study abroad programs.

Concurrent enrollment. When a student registers at two public Texas institutions of higher education at the same time, section 54.011 of the Texas Education Code provides for the following tuition procedure:

1. The student must register first at the institution with the lower minimum tuition and pay the full tuition charge.
2. Normally, only the hourly rate is paid at the second institution. However, if the minimum amount is less at the first institution, the student must pay the difference in the two minimums to the second institution, but not less than the hourly rate.

Other required and optional fees are billed by each institution at its regularly authorized rates.

A student who registers first at the University (if the University is the institution with the lower tuition rate) and then at a second public institution must complete a Request for Concurrent Enrollment form. The form is available in the Office of the Registrar, Main Building 1.

Duplicate fee receipt. A charge of $1 is assessed for a duplicate fee receipt. The charge must be paid to the Office of Accounting Cashiers when the application for a duplicate receipt is submitted. The application must be submitted by the student whose name appears on the fee receipt.

Field trip fees. Students in courses that include a field trip are assessed a fee to defray transportation and related costs of the trip.

Freshman summer orientation fee. A fee of $125 is assessed all first-time freshmen who attend summer orientation to defray costs associated with this program.

General deposit. A fee of $10 is assessed every student in the first semester of enrollment to help offset the cost of property loss or damage and non-payment of any University billing. The deposit, less outstanding charges, is returned on request when the student leaves the University with no intention to return. Applications for refund are available online at http://www.utexas.edu/business/accounting/hbp/forms/gpd.pdf and in Student Accounts Receivable, Main Building 4. A general deposit that remains without request for refund for four years from the date of the student’s last attendance at the University is forfeited to the Student Property Deposit Scholarships.

In absentia fee. The fee for in absentia registration is $25.
International student health insurance fee. International students holding nonimmigrant visas are assessed a fee that reflects the actual cost of the premium for health insurance. The fee varies, matching the premium for approved UT System student insurance plans.

International student orientation fee. International students in their first semester of enrollment at the University are assessed a fee of $51.50 to defray the costs associated with orientation, advising, and registration.

International study and research registration fee. The fee of $400 per semester or summer session defrays costs associated with registration, record keeping, and certification for students enrolled in international study and research (ISR).

Joint and cooperative program fees. The University has agreements with several other University of Texas System institutions that allow students to enroll in courses at the other institution. Tuition and required fees for full-time students are normally paid at the degree-granting campus and allocated by that unit to the other institution involved. Graduate students enrolled at the University may apply for admission to another University of Texas System institution through the appropriate dean’s office at that institution. Evidence of support from the University should include the approval of the graduate dean. Programs are available only where formal agreements exist between institutions.

Late registration charge. A student who registers late is assessed a charge to defray the cost of the extra services required to effect the late registration. Late registration periods are identified in the Course Schedule. The late registration charge is $25 through the fourth class day of a semester, $50 from the fifth through the twelfth class day, and $200 after the twelfth class day. In the summer session, the late registration charge is $25 through the second class day, $50 from the third through the fourth class day, and $200 after the fourth class day.

Matriculation fee. The $15 matriculation fee is charged when a student withdraws prior to the first class day and receives a full tuition refund. It is also charged when the student is withdrawn by the University because of a returned check.

Reinstatement fee. A fee of $50 is assessed to defray the cost of correcting student and accounting records after repayment of a check for tuition and fees that was returned.
Tuition Exemptions

Tuition exemptions are issued only for the period in which a student is currently enrolled; therefore, unless otherwise stated, applications must be submitted no later than the date of Commencement at the end of the spring semester or the official graduation date at the end of the summer session or fall semester. Tuition Adjustments

Refunds are applied to any current and outstanding debts owed to the University. Section 54.006(d) of the Texas Education Code requires that the University refund tuition paid by a sponsor, donor, or scholarship to the source, rather than directly to the student, if the funds were made available through the University. All refund orders are cashed at the Office of Accounting Cashiers in Main Building 8.

Students who withdraw from the University receive a refund of a percentage of their tuition. The percentage varies as shown below according to the student’s effective withdrawal date.

Withdrawal refunds are based on the student’s schedule on the effective date of withdrawal; adds and drops are included in the calculation. In some cases, a student may receive two refund checks, one based on dropped courses and one based on withdrawal percentages for remaining courses. Students withdrawn by the University because of a returned check are charged the matriculation fee described on page 60. A student withdrawn by the University for scholastic reasons, class cancellations, or other reasons receives a full refund; the matriculation fee is not charged.

A student who withdraws as a result of being called to active military service may choose to receive a tuition refund. More information about withdrawal for active service is given on page 95.

A student who withdraws after receiving any cash payment from the Office of Student Financial Services may be required to make full or partial repayment. Funds received through the Federal College Work-Study Program are not subject to repayment. Students should contact the Office of Student Financial Services for information regarding repayment obligations.

Student Accounts Receivable initiates refunds for all eligible students who submit approved withdrawal petitions to the Office of the Registrar as described in the section Withdrawal, pages 95–96. A refund is issued no earlier than thirty days after the date the student paid the initial tuition bill. The refund is sent to the address specified on the withdrawal petition.

Adjustments for Added and Dropped Classes

Charges for added classes must be paid by the end of the twelfth class day in the fall and spring semesters and by the end of the fourth class day in the summer. Failure to pay for added classes may result in the cancellation of the student’s entire registration. Students can determine what they owe by visiting the Student Accounts Receivable Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/business/accounting/sar/.

The University will refund tuition for classes that a student drops (i) during the first twelve class days in a fall or spring semester; (2) during the first twelve class days of a whole-session class in the summer session; or (3) during the first four class days of a first-term, second-term, or nine-week class in the summer session. No refunds are made for classes dropped after these dates. Refunds are issued the week after the twelfth (or fourth) class day. They are mailed to the student’s local address or deposited into the account the student has designated if an electronic funds transfer authorization is in effect. The student may contact Student Accounts Receivable at (512) 475-7777 to verify account information.
Optional Fee Refunds

Parking permit refunds may be requested at the Parking and Transportation Services office.

Tuition Rebates for Certain Undergraduates

An undergraduate may be eligible for a tuition rebate of up to $1,000 if, at graduation, he or she has attempted no more than three semester hours beyond the minimum number of hours required for the degree. The student must meet the following eligibility requirements.

1. The student must not have been enrolled at any institution of higher education before the fall semester 1997.

2. At the time he or she earns a first undergraduate degree, the student must have attempted no more than three semester hours beyond the minimum number of hours required for the degree. Hours attempted include all courses the student has undertaken, such as transfer credit, courses the student dropped or from which the student withdrew after the date the official enrollment count was taken, developmental courses taken for credit, optional internship and cooperative education courses, courses the student failed, and courses the student repeated. If the student has earned credit by examination for more than nine hours of coursework, the hours in excess of nine are also counted as hours attempted.

   Courses dropped for reasons that are determined by the institution to be totally beyond the control of the student shall not be counted.

   Beginning with degrees awarded on September 1, 2007, or later, course credit is not counted if the student earned it to meet ROTC requirements but it is not required for the degree.

   If the student earned a bachelor’s degree and a Texas teaching certificate concurrently, required teacher education courses are not counted as hours attempted if they exceed the number of hours of free electives allowed in the bachelor’s degree program.

3. The student must have been a Texas resident and must have been eligible to pay resident tuition at all times while pursuing the degree.

4. If the student received a bachelor’s degree in architecture, engineering, or any other program that is determined by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board to require more than four years to complete, then the student must have graduated within five calendar years after first enrolling in a Texas public senior college or university. If the student’s degree is in a field other than those that have been determined to take more than four years to complete, he or she must graduate within four calendar years after that first enrollment.

   Requirement 4 applies only to students who enrolled in a public Texas senior college or university for the first time on or after September 1, 2005.

   A student who was unable to meet requirement 4 because of a hardship may seek an exception to this requirement from his or her dean.
An eligible student should submit a request for a rebate in the dean’s office when the student files an application for graduation; the request must be submitted before the official date of graduation. If the student’s request for a rebate is denied, he or she may appeal to the provost. The rebate may be reduced by the amount of any outstanding student loan owed to or guaranteed by the State of Texas.

Tuition rebate policies are governed by section 54.0065 of the Texas Education Code and by the rules of the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board.

If a student does not qualify for a tuition rebate only because of study abroad coursework that exceeds the number of hours required for the degree, then the student may be eligible for an institutional award from the University in place of the tuition rebate. Students who are interested in this institutional award should apply for a tuition rebate; they will be considered for the institutional award if they are eligible.

Short-Term Loans

The University provides short-term tuition loans and emergency cash loans to students. Tuition loans have a one- to three-month repayment period and are applied directly to the student’s tuition bill. Emergency cash loans are due in full one month from the date of issue. Any subsequent refund of tuition is applied to a tuition or emergency cash loan balance, regardless of the due date of the loan.

Payment of Fees for Students with Disabilities

The Texas Department of Assistive and Rehabilitative Services (DARS) offers payment of tuition and other services to students (normally nonveterans) who have certain disabilities, if the student’s vocational objective is approved by a representative of the agency. Application for vocational rehabilitation should be made to DARS, Office of Deaf and Hard of Hearing Services.

Optional Fees

Students may select the following optional fees when they register. Those who select an optional fee for the fall semester pay the academic year rate. The spring semester rate is available only during the spring semester.

Analecta fee. The fee of $10 entitles the student to a copy of Analecta, the University’s literary and arts journal, published annually by the Senate of College Councils and the journal’s editorial and readers staff. Each issue includes works of fiction, nonfiction, drama, art, and poetry by students from the University as well as other universities worldwide. The year’s issue is mailed to the student’s permanent address upon publication.

Cactus fee. The fee of $85 entitles the student to a copy of the University yearbook.
Department of Theatre and Dance fee. The fee entitles the student to a specified number of tickets to major season productions at no additional cost as long as tickets are available. The fee is $45 for the academic year or $22.50 for the spring semester.

Longhorn All-Sports Package. The fee allows a student to draw one ticket to regular-season home events for men and women in intercollegiate baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, soccer, softball, swimming and diving, tennis, track and field, and volleyball, and one discounted ticket to the Texas-Oklahoma football game. The fee is $80 for the academic year or $40 for the spring semester.

Parking permit fee. A C or M parking permit purchased in the fall semester enables the student to park in any appropriately designated lot or area for the academic year; a permit purchased in the spring is valid through the summer session. The fee for a C (surface student) permit is $115 for the academic year; the fee for an M (motorcycle/moped/motor scooter) permit is $69 for the academic year. Both fees are prorated for permits purchased after September 30.

Only C and M permits may be purchased during registration. Information about other parking permits available to students is given on pages 133–134, along with more information about C and M permits.

Texas Performing Arts Package. The fee enables a student to purchase tickets for professional touring events presented by Texas Performing Arts at a 10- to 50-percent discount, as long as tickets are available. The fee is $30 for the academic year or $15 for the spring semester.

Student Speaker Series fee. The fee of $2 a semester supports the Student Endowed Centennial Lectureship. The endowment is used to bring speakers to the University to lecture, teach, or meet with students.

Rules for Use of the ID Card for Purchasers of the Longhorn All-Sports Package

Purchase of the Longhorn All-Sports Package implies agreement to abide by the following rules.

1. The fee is valid only for the original purchaser and is nontransferable. Penalties for presentation of an ID by anyone other than the owner, or other misuse, are described in paragraphs 7 and 8 below. Other proof of identification may be required when the ID is presented.

2. The identification card is void if mutilated or altered. A mutilated card may be replaced on return of remnants of the original card and payment of the appropriate replacement fee. A lost student, faculty, or staff card may be replaced upon payment of the appropriate fee. A lost dependent ID card indicating payment of the fee may not be replaced, but a second fee may be purchased upon signing an affidavit of loss.
3. Purchase of the Longhorn All-Sports Package entitles the owner to the services described above. Purchasers of the optional dependent package may participate in student drawings for event tickets. If an improper ticket is presented with an ID card, admission will be refused.

4. Special admission rates may be available to fee purchasers for reserved seats. No guarantee is made as to the availability of such admissions.

5. Admission will be granted only on presentation of the identification card and event ticket or, where appropriate, the identification card only.

6. The fee is valid throughout the long session for which it was purchased. A refund is available only on termination of enrollment or employment with the University or, in the case of the dependent fee, the termination of enrollment or employment with the University by the owner’s spouse or parent. All refunds will be prorated based upon the face value of tickets already drawn.

7. Presentation of an identification card by anyone other than the owner, or other misuse, may result in confiscation of the card and forfeiture of fee privileges.

8. Fraudulent use of an identification card may result in disciplinary action or prosecution of the guilty parties.

9. The replacement fee for an identification card that has been confiscated because of misuse is $10 plus the amount of the original fee, or $10 if the owner surrenders the right to fee privileges.

10. The replacement fee for an identification card that has been confiscated because of misuse is $10 if the identification card did not reflect payment of the optional fee.

Student Insurance

Student Health Insurance Program. The Student Health Insurance Program is an optional health insurance plan available to currently enrolled University students who are not covered through other insurance programs. The plan is fully insured and underwritten by UnitedHealthcare. Information is available at (512) 471-1040 and from a representative of UnitedHealthcare in the Cashier/Insurance Office at University Health Services. Additional information about the Student Health Insurance Program is available from UnitedHealthcare at http://www.uhcsr.com/utexasaustin/.

International student health insurance. The Student Health Insurance Program described above is mandatory for international students; the cost is included in the student’s tuition bill each semester. Additional information about international student health insurance is given on page 124.

Student liability insurance. Students must show evidence of student liability insurance when enrolled in field experience courses that use off-campus facilities, if such facilities require the insurance.
IDENTIFICATION CARDS

Student identification cards. Every student is required to have a University photo identification card. The photo ID card is required for many purposes, including use of the libraries and University Health Services and access to residence halls and other University buildings. ID cards may also be used for purchases at stores that accept Bevo Bucks and for admission to athletic and other special events.

The identification card is intended to be used throughout the student’s enrollment at the University. It is not replaced unless changes in data are required or the card is lost or stolen. A $10 to $20 fee is charged for each identification card, original or replacement, depending on the type of card required. Lost or stolen cards should be reported to the ID Center at (512) 471-4334; found cards should be returned to the ID Center, Flawn Academic Center 102.

University community members are expected to maintain control and possession of their photo ID cards and to have them in their possession whenever on University grounds. The ID card should not be loaned to others, and its benefits are not transferable. Those who lend their cards or use them for fraudulent purposes are subject to disciplinary action.

Faculty/staff identification cards. The ID Center provides all faculty and staff members with an official University ID card. The card allows access to certain buildings and can be used as a campus library card. Cards must be returned to the ID Center upon termination of employment. More information about faculty/staff ID cards is available at http://www.utexas.edu/its/idcenter/ and from the ID Center, which is centrally located on the first floor of the Flawn Academic Center.

FEES FOR NONSTUDENTS

Auditor’s fee. A fee of $20 a course is required of individuals not registered at the University who wish to audit one or more courses. In accordance with section 54.210 of the Texas Education Code, a person sixty-five years of age or older may audit a course without paying the fee if space is available. More information about auditing a course is given on page 49.

Library card fee for non-University borrowers. Libraries are open to the public for use of materials. Adult Texas residents who are not members of the University community may borrow materials for home use by purchasing aCourtesy Borrower Card. More information about the Courtesy Borrower Card is given on page 141.

Longhorn All-Sports Package for dependents. The package is available only to the spouses and children of students, faculty members, and staff members who have purchased the Longhorn All-Sports Package. The fee of $93.00 for the academic year or $46.50 for the spring semester allows the purchaser to draw one ticket to the events listed in the section Longhorn All-Sports Package, page 70.
Recreational and facility use fees. Recreational Sports memberships, which allow access to University recreational facilities, are available to current faculty and staff members and to the spouses or adult exercise partners and dependent children of currently enrolled students and current faculty and staff members. The recreational facilities are Gregory Gymnasium, the Gregory Gymnasium Aquatic Complex, the Recreational Sports Center, Anna Hiss Gymnasium, Bellmont Hall, the Commons Recreational Area at Pickle Research Campus, Clark Field and Clark Field Basketball Courts, and Whitaker Fields and Tennis Courts. Below are RecSports membership fees. Applications are available from the Division of Recreational Sports Membership and Guest Services Office, Gregory Gymnasium 2.200. 4. Academic Policies and Procedures

The University of Texas at Austin views sound academic advising as a significant responsibility in educating students. Academic advisers assist students in developing intellectual potential and exploring educational opportunities and life goals. Many people in the campus community contribute to the advising process, including faculty, staff, student, and professional advisers. Through the relationship established between adviser and student within a friendly, helpful, and professional atmosphere, a student has the opportunity to learn about educational options, degree requirements, and academic policies and procedures; clarify educational objectives; plan and pursue programs consistent with abilities, interests, and life goals; and use all resources of the University to best advantage.

Ultimately, the student is responsible for seeking adequate academic advice, for knowing and meeting degree requirements, and for enrolling in appropriate courses to ensure orderly and timely progress toward a degree. Frequent adviser contact provides students with current academic information and promotes progress toward educational goals. The University supports that progress and encourages effective academic advising campus-wide.

CREDIT VALUE AND COURSE NUMBERS

The semester hour. The credit value of courses is expressed in semester hours. Most courses are designed to require approximately three hours of work a week throughout the semester for each semester hour of credit given; that is, for each hour a class meets, an average of two additional hours of preparation is expected of the student. The time requirement in the laboratory, field, or studio varies with the nature of the subject and the aims of a course, so there is no fixed ratio of laboratory to class hours.

Most courses meet three hours a week in the fall and spring semesters and have a credit value of three hours. In a six-week summer term, courses meet seven and a half hours a week for three semester hours of credit. Fall and spring semester classes that meet on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday are scheduled for an hour (fifty minutes with a ten-minute interval between classes); classes that meet on Tuesday and Thursday are scheduled for an hour and a half (seventy-five minutes with a fifteen-minute interval between classes). Monday/Wednesday/Friday classes normally begin on the hour and are dismissed after fifty minutes; Tuesday/Thursday classes normally begin on the hour or half-hour as appropriate and are dismissed after seventy-five minutes. Summer session classes normally are scheduled every day for an hour and a half (seventy-five minutes with a fifteen-minute interval between classes).

Course numbers. Each field of study taught at the University is identified by a name and a one-, two-, or three-letter abbreviation. Lists of fields are included in the undergraduate and graduate catalogs. Each course in the field is identified by a number made up of three digits or three digits and a letter. The first digit of the course number indicates the credit value of the course in semester hours. Courses numbered 201 through 299 have a value of two semester hours; 301 through 399, a value of three semester hours; and so on. A zero as the first digit indicates that the course is non-credit. Except in the School of Law and the College of Pharmacy, the last two digits indicate the rank of the course; if they are 01 through 19, the course is of lower-division rank; if 20 through 79, of upper-division rank; and if 80 through 99, of graduate rank.

Two courses that have the same abbreviation and the same last two digits may not both be counted for credit unless the digits are followed by a letter. For example, Mechanical Engineering 136N and 236N may not both be counted because they are substantially the same; however, English 325 and 325K may both be counted.

The letter A following a course number designates the first half of a two-semester course; B, the second half. For example, Music 612A is the first half of Music 612; Music 612B, the second half. A student who completes half of a two-semester course earns half the semester-hour value of the course; for example, Music 612A has a value of three semester hours. The letter X following a course number designates the first third of a three-semester course; Y, the second third; and Z, the last third. Each third of the course has one-third the semester-hour value of the course as a whole.

CLASSIFICATION OF STUDENTS

Undergraduate students are classified as freshmen, sophomores, juniors, or seniors, based on the number of semester credit hours passed and transferred, regardless of the hours’ applicability toward a degree. Semester hours used to determine classification include coursework completed in residence, transferred credit, and credit by examination, extension, and correspondence. A student is a freshman until thirty hours have been accepted; a sophomore until sixty hours have been accepted; a junior until ninety hours have been accepted; and a senior until graduation. Freshmen and sophomores are referred to as lower-division students; juniors and seniors, as upper-division students.
The Texas Success Initiative (TSI) is a state-mandated program designed to improve student success in college. There are two components of the program: (1) an assessment to diagnose students’ basic skills in reading, mathematics, and writing; and (2) developmental instruction to strengthen academic skills that need improvement.

All students are required by law to take an assessment approved by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board. The University encourages students who are not exempt to take the Texas Higher Education Assessment (THEA), offered by National Evaluation Systems. Alternative assessments are ASSET, COMPASS, and ACCUPLACER, and MAPS if the student took it before September 1, 2003. It is the responsibility of the student to see that scores are sent to the University by the testing institution.

A student is exempt from all TSI requirements under any one of the following conditions:

- The student has earned a bachelor’s degree or an associate’s degree.
- The student is serving on active duty as a member of the armed forces of the United States, the Texas National Guard, or as a member of a reserve component of the armed forces of the United States and has been serving for at least three years preceding enrollment.
- The student was honorably discharged, retired, or released from active duty as a member of the armed forces of the United States or the Texas National Guard or served as a member of a reserve component of the armed forces of the United States on or after August 1, 1990.
- The student is a non-degree-seeking or a non-certificate-seeking student.
- The student has attended another institution and has been determined to have met readiness standards by that institution.
- The student has transferred to the University from a private or independent institution of higher education, an accredited out-of-state institution of higher education, or an international institution of higher education and has completed college-level coursework.

A student is exempt from one or more TSI requirements under the following conditions. SAT I and ACT scores used to support an exemption must be less than five years old; TAKS scores must be less than three years old.

- A student with an SAT I score of at least 1070 and a math score of at least 500 is exempt from the math requirement.
- A student with an SAT I score of at least 1070 and a verbal score of at least 500 is exempt from the reading and writing requirements.
- A student with an ACT composite score of at least 23 and a math score of at least 19 is exempt from the math requirement.
- A student with an ACT composite score of at least 23 and an English score of at least 19 is exempt from the reading and writing requirements.
- A student with a TAKS math score of at least 2200 is exempt from the math requirement.
- A student with a TAKS English/language arts score of at least 2200 and an essay score of at least 3 is exempt from the reading and writing requirements.

1. The name of the SAT I is now “SAT Reasoning Test” ; the verbal portion of the test is now called “critical reading.” Both old and new total, math, and verbal/critical reading scores that are less than five years old may be used to meet TSI requirements as described here. The essay section of the SAT Reasoning Test may not yet be used to meet TSI requirements.
Students may register for the THEA at http://www.thea.nesinc.com/. For further information, students may visit the Texas Success Initiative Office Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/ugs/tsi/ or call (512) 232-8400.

QUANTITY OF WORK RULE

The policies described in this section apply to undergraduates and graduate students. The quantity of work rule for law students is given in the law school catalog.

FULL-TIME AND HALF-TIME ENROLLMENT

A student’s enrollment status is determined by the number of credit hours for which the student is enrolled in residence in a semester. University Extension coursework taken in the classroom is included in the total along with in-residence coursework. The following table shows the minimum number of hours required.

A student is also considered to be enrolled full time if he or she is enrolled in a cooperative engineering course, is taking a reduced course load because of a documented disability, or is enrolled in a specific course that carries no hours of credit. An undergraduate enrolled in at least six hours of coursework in his or her semester of graduation may also be considered full time; the student’s dean must submit a request to the registrar’s office that the student’s enrollment status be changed from half time to full time.

MAXIMUM HOURS IN THE FALL AND SPRING SEMESTERS

Undergraduates. An undergraduate student may not register for more than seventeen semester hours in any long-session semester without the approval of his or her dean, unless the degree plan published in the undergraduate catalog for the student’s major specifies otherwise.

Graduate students. The maximum course load for a graduate student is fifteen semester hours. A heavier course load must have the recommendation of the graduate adviser and the approval of the graduate dean. It is permitted only under exceptional circumstances.
Maximum Hours in the Summer Session

Undergraduates. Except as permitted by his or her academic dean, no undergraduate student may register for more than fourteen semester hours in a twelve-week summer session or for more than eight semester hours in either six-week term. A student whose maximum period of summer registration is nine weeks may not register for more than ten semester hours except as permitted by his or her academic dean.

Graduate students. The maximum course load for a graduate student is twelve semester hours in a twelve-week summer session. A heavier course load must have the recommendation of the graduate adviser and the approval of the graduate dean. It is permitted only under exceptional circumstances.

Minimum Hours in the Fall and Spring Semesters

Undergraduates. An undergraduate student may not carry fewer than twelve semester hours of coursework without the approval of his or her academic dean. Failure to obtain approval for a reduced course load may jeopardize the student’s continuance in school. A student who is a minor must present a written statement from a parent or guardian accepting the conditions under which permission to carry a reduced course load is granted.

An international undergraduate student must have written permission from the International Office as well as from his or her dean to carry fewer than twelve hours.

Graduate students. Course load requirements for graduate student academic employees are given below. Graduate students who are not also academic employees are not subject to minimum course load requirements.

An international graduate student must have written permission from the International Office as well as from his or her dean to carry fewer than nine hours.

Minimum Hours in the Summer Session

There is no minimum course load in the summer session.

Undergraduate Student Employees

An undergraduate student’s combined University employment and semester-hour course load may not exceed forty hours a week in any semester or summer term. Any academic unit may require a lower work-study load of students in the unit who are employed by the University. A student who wishes to exceed the maximum work-study load set by his or her college must have the approval of the dean of the college.
Graduate Student Academic Employees

A “graduate student academic employee” is a graduate student who is also employed by the University under one of the following titles: assistant instructor, teaching assistant, assistant (graduate), academic assistant, graduate research assistant, and tutor (graduate). To hold one of these positions, a student must have no unfulfilled conditions imposed by the Graduate School, must be in good academic standing, and must be making satisfactory progress toward a degree. Graduate student academic employees must be registered for at least nine semester hours in a long-session semester or at least three semester hours in a summer session, in any combination of summer terms.

Student employment at UT Austin in any title, academic as well as nonacademic, may not total more than twenty hours a week during the student’s first two fall or spring semesters of enrollment or more than thirty hours a week during subsequent fall or spring semesters. International student employment may not total more than twenty hours a week during any fall or spring semester without the approval of the International Office and the graduate dean.

Graduate student academic employees may not accept payment from a student for tutoring services, except on the recommendation of the department chair and with the approval of the graduate dean. If approved, the student may tutor only in a course with which he or she has no connection.

EVALUATION

Faculty members are free to develop their own methods of evaluating the performance of students in their classes, both undergraduate and graduate, but they are required to make the methods of evaluation to be used known in writing before the end of the fourth class day each semester and the second class day each summer term. Responsibility for assuring adequate methods of evaluation rests with departmental faculties and is subject to administrative review. In courses with multiple sections, departments should provide for necessary coordination. Materials used in evaluating a student’s performance must be collected by the instructor at or before the regularly scheduled final examination. The final examination is a common method of final evaluation in courses.

Grades

Letter grades are used to record the instructor’s evaluation of students’ performance in a course. The following grades are used: A, A-, B+, B, B-, C+, C, C-, D+, D, D-, and F.

To receive credit for a course, an undergraduate student must earn a grade of at least D-. To include a course in the Program of Work for a graduate degree, a graduate student must earn a grade of at least C. More information about the Program of Work is given in the graduate catalog.¹

Grades are given by semester; however, in a course extending through two or three semesters, credit is not counted toward the degree until all semesters have been completed.

¹ In addition to earning adequate grades in courses, undergraduates must have a cumulative University grade point average of at least 2.00 to maintain satisfactory progress toward a degree; graduate students must maintain a graduate grade point average of at least 3.00. Information about these requirements is given in the section Scholastic Probation and Dismissal, pages 99–102. Computation of the grade point average is explained on page 85.
Members of the faculty are not authorized, without the academic dean’s approval, to withhold a final grade or to defer reporting a final grade at the end of the semester other than by the use of the symbol X, described below. If a grade is withheld without the dean’s approval, the grade may not be added to the official records later without the written approval of the academic dean.1

After a grade has been reported to the registrar, it may not be changed unless an error was made by the instructor.

Symbols

Under specific conditions, instructors may use a symbol rather than a letter grade to report a student’s standing in the semester’s work. The following symbols are used:

- CR Credit
- NC No credit
- Q Course was dropped
- W Student withdrew from the University
- X Temporary delay of course grade
- I Permanent incomplete
-  Course is continuing
- S Satisfactory
- U Unsatisfactory
- # Grade was not submitted in time for this report
- Z Student is registered on the pass/fail or credit/no credit basis

Symbol X: Temporary Delay in Reporting the Final Course Grade

A student is expected to complete a course, including a self-paced course, in a single semester, summer term, or summer session. If the course is not completed as expected, the student normally will not be given additional time to complete it, or to do additional work to achieve a better grade. In rare instances, for nonacademic reasons and at the discretion of the instructor, a temporary delay of the final course grade, symbol X, may be recorded.

Improper uses of the symbol X. A student must not be assigned the symbol X to provide (1) the opportunity to raise a grade for any reason other than the approved reasons cited below; (2) time to prepare coursework in addition to that assigned the entire class; or (3) time to repeat the entire course.

Approved uses of the symbol X. The symbol X is not issued for student or faculty convenience; it may be issued for one of the following reasons only in the case of compelling, nonacademic circumstances beyond the student’s control.

1. Missing the final examination. The student is unable to take a final examination because of illness or for another nonacademic reason. A physician’s statement or other satisfactory verification is required.
2. Incomplete classroom assignment. The student has not been able to complete the required class or laboratory assignments for a reason other than lack of adequate effort. A request for temporary delay of the final course grade because of incomplete class or laboratory work can be made only if the student has a passing average on the classwork or laboratory work already completed and has taken and passed the final examination (unless a final examination is not given in the course or the student is unable to take the examination for reasons indicated in the previous paragraph).

3. Reexamination petition. Only a student who has a grade average of at least C- on all classwork and laboratory work submitted before the final examination may request a temporary delay of the final course grade because he or she failed the final examination, which is the examination given during the final examination period as defined in the official examination schedule. If the instructor denies the student's reexamination petition, the student's final course grade remains as originally determined. If the instructor grants the petition, and the student earns a grade of at least C- on the reexamination, then the instructor substitutes the reexamination grade for the original examination grade in determining the student's final course grade. If the instructor grants the petition, and the student earns a grade on the reexamination of less than C-, then a final course grade of F must be recorded.

Assignment of the symbol X by the registrar. If a faculty member fails to report a grade for a student, the registrar enters the symbol X; an X is also entered for a student who is given the symbol CR by the instructor when the student is not registered for the course on the pass/fail or credit/no credit basis. In either case, the student should contact the instructor promptly so that a final grade may be reported to the registrar. If no final grade is reported, the symbol X is converted to a grade of F or the symbol I as described in the following section.

Replacement of the Symbol X with a Grade or the Symbol I

Undergraduates. If an undergraduate student receives the symbol X in a course, the student must complete the requirements for the course and the instructor must report a final course grade by the last date for grade reporting in the next long-session semester, or an F will be recorded as the final grade in the course. The symbol X will also remain on the record. The period for completion of the coursework may be extended only for unusual circumstances beyond the student’s control, as recommended by the instructor and approved by the student’s academic dean. A student who has received an X in a course may not register for that course again until a final grade has been recorded, unless the course is one that may be repeated for credit.

The registrar will notify the student when a grade change is recorded.
If the symbol X appears on a student’s record, the course for which the symbol is recorded is not included in the student’s University grade point av-average. When the final grade has been recorded as described above, then the course is included in the student’s grade point average. More information about the grade point average is given on page 85.
Graduate students. If a graduate student receives the symbol $X$ in a course, the student must complete the course requirements by the last class day in his or her next long-session semester of enrollment; the instructor must report a final grade by the end of the grade reporting period in that semester. If these deadlines are not met, the symbol $X$ is converted to the symbol $I$ (permanent incomplete). If the student is not enrolled during a long-session semester for twenty-four months following the end of the semester in which the $X$ is reported, and the instructor does not report a final grade, then the symbol $X$ is converted to the symbol $I$. The symbol $I$ cannot be converted to a grade. When the symbol $I$ is recorded, the symbol $X$ also remains on the student’s record.

The period for completion of course requirements may be extended only under unusual circumstances beyond the student’s control and only upon the recommendation of the instructor and the approval of the graduate dean.

The registrar will notify the student when a grade change is recorded.

A course for which the symbol $X$ or $I$ is recorded is not included in the graduate grade point average and may not be listed on the student’s Program of Work. If the symbol $X$ is converted to a grade as described above, the course is included in the graduate grade point average and may be listed on the Program of Work. More information about the graduate grade point average is given on pages 85–86; more information about the Program of Work is given in the graduate catalog.

Symbols CR and NC

Some courses must be taken for a letter grade; others must be taken on the pass/fail or credit/no credit basis. These courses are identified in the undergraduate catalog, the graduate catalog, and the Course Schedule. If registration for a course is not limited to the letter-grade basis, then the student may choose to register for credit rather than for a grade. Undergraduates register on the pass/fail basis and earn either the symbol $CR$ (credit) or a grade of $F$; graduate students register on the credit/no credit basis and earn either the symbol $CR$ or the symbol $NC$ (no credit).

The student should choose the pass/fail or credit/no credit option at the time of registration and may not change the grading basis in a course after the deadline given in the academic calendar on pages vii–xiii. Undergraduates may not change the grading basis in a course more than once.

Coursework requirements and methods of evaluation in a course must be the same for students registered on the pass/fail or credit/no credit basis as they are for students registered on the letter-grade basis.

Pass/Fail

Rules affecting registration on the pass/fail basis apply to all courses taken by an undergraduate.

An undergraduate who registers for a course on the pass/fail basis and earns a grade of $D-$ or better is awarded the symbol $CR$ for the course; if the student fails the course, a grade of $F$ is awarded. If the student receives the symbol $CR$, the course is not included in the grade point average; if the student receives a grade of $F$, the course is included in the grade point average.
Provided the following conditions are met, an undergraduate may take a limited amount of coursework on the pass/fail basis as part of the hours required for the student’s degree. Other regulations may be imposed by the student’s college or school.

1. The course must be in an elective subject outside the student’s major field.
2. The student must have received at least thirty hours of college credit before registering for any course on the pass/fail basis, unless the course is offered only on the pass/fail basis.
3. The student may take no more than two courses a semester on the pass/fail basis.

Students in the Colleges of Liberal Arts and Natural Sciences may take up to sixteen semester hours of classroom or correspondence work in elective courses on the pass/fail basis. Plan II students may take up to nineteen semester hours in elective courses on the pass/fail basis. All other undergraduates may take up to five one-semester courses, including correspondence courses, on the pass/fail basis.

If a student decides to major in a subject in which he or she has taken a course on the pass/fail basis, it is the prerogative of the department to decide whether or not the course will count toward degree requirements.

Each department may offer as many as two courses in its major entirely on the pass/fail basis.

Credit by examination. Undergraduates may earn credit by exam on the pass/fail basis in required courses. Accepting credit by exam with the symbol CR does not reduce the number of elective courses for which the student may register on the pass/fail basis. (More information about credit by examination is given on pages 87–91.)

Credit/No Credit

Rules affecting registration on the credit/no credit basis apply to all courses—undergraduate, graduate, and professional—taken by a graduate student.

The student must have the graduate adviser’s approval to take a course on the credit/no credit basis. There is no limit on the number of courses a graduate student may take on this basis. However, no more than 20 percent of the hours on the Program of Work for a master’s degree may have been taken on the credit/no credit basis, and no more than a comparable portion of the Program of Work for a doctoral degree. (Additional information about the Program of Work is given in the graduate catalog.)

Performance at the level of C or above is required to earn credit (CR) for a course taken on the credit/no credit basis. Courses taken on the credit/no credit basis are not included when the grade point average is computed.

Symbols S and U

The symbols S (satisfactory) and U (unsatisfactory) are assigned only in developmental studies (DEV) courses. These courses are not included in the student’s grade point average.
Repetition of a Course

If a student repeats a course and has two or more grades, all grades and all semester hours are used to calculate the University grade point average and to determine the student’s scholastic eligibility to remain in school. The official grade in a course is the last one assigned.

A student enrolled in any of the following colleges and schools may not repeat for credit a course in which he or she has earned a grade of C- or better: the McCombs School of Business, the College of Communication, the Cockrell School of Engineering, the College of Liberal Arts, the College of Natural Sciences, the School of Nursing, and the College of Pharmacy.

Computation of the Grade Point Average

While a student’s performance in a course is represented by a letter grade, a grade point average is used to represent his or her academic performance more broadly. For undergraduates, the official grade point average is called the cumulative University grade point average; the official grade point average for graduate students is called the graduate grade point average. Official grade point averages are calculated by the registrar and appear on the student academic record maintained by the registrar.

The following numerical equivalents of letter grades are used in the calculation of both the cumulative University grade point average for undergraduates and the graduate grade point average:

Undergraduate Students

The cumulative University grade point average for an undergraduate includes all work undertaken at the University of Texas at Austin (including credit by examination, correspondence, and extension) for which a letter grade is recorded. Courses in which the symbol I, Q, W, X, S, U, or CR is recorded are excluded.

Graduate Students

The graduate grade point average includes all upper-division undergraduate and graduate courses in which the student earns a letter grade while he or she is enrolled in the Graduate School; the following are excluded: undergraduate courses taken through the University’s Division of Continuing and Innovative Education; courses for which the symbol Q, W, X, I, CR, or NC is recorded; graduate or undergraduate courses the student took

at the University before enrolling in the Graduate School; credit earned by examination; and courses taken at other institutions. The graduate grade point average also excludes grades in all undergraduate courses the student took from fall 1999 through summer 2008; upper-division undergraduate courses he or she took as a graduate student before fall 1999 and after summer 2008 are included.

CORRESPONDENCE WORK BY RESIDENT STUDENTS

Correspondence courses are not intended to be taken by students enrolled in residence except in unusual circumstances. A student who enrolls at the University must drop any correspondence work in progress or obtain the approval of his or her academic dean to continue the correspondence work. A student enrolled in residence must have the prior approval of his or her dean to count correspondence work toward degree requirements. Correspondence courses taken from the University of Texas at Austin and used toward a degree at the University are subject to the same pass/fail rules that apply to courses taken in residence; information about pass/fail registration is given on pages 83–84.

CENTER FOR TEACHING AND LEARNING

The Center for Teaching and Learning (CTL) coordinates University testing programs, including examinations for course credit and placement, and serves as a test center for many examinations offered worldwide, including the College Level Examination Program, the Medical College Admissions Test, the Texas Educators Certification, the Graduate Record Examinations General Test and Subject Tests, the Law School Admission Test, the Miller Analogies Test, and the Praxis Series (Professional Assessments for Beginning Teachers). Information about academic placement and credit by examination as well as worldwide test programs is available at the CTL Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/academic/diia/, by e-mail at diia-testing@utlists.utexas.edu, at the CTL office at 2616 Wichita Street, or by mail from The University of Texas at Austin, CTL, P O Box 7246, Austin TX 78713-7246; (512) 232-2662, fax (512) 471-3509. Those writing for information should include a daytime telephone number.

CTL works closely with University faculty members, staff members, and administrators to assure classroom and program success. Through consulting and support services, the center assesses student learning, analyzes instructional methods, conducts educational research, evaluates programs, and determines the effectiveness of instructional technologies. CTL also provides extensive training and workshops to enhance assessment practices on campus.

CTL also manages the Course Instructor Survey (CIS) process, the University’s primary tool for soliciting feedback from students about their courses and the faculty members who teach them. The center administers the CIS at the end of each semester for most courses and helps faculty members and administrators interpret the results.
Course Placement and Credit by Examination

Students at the University may earn credit and determine course placement by examination. Some exams are required for enrollment in certain courses, while others are optional; most serve as a basis for course credit.

Any current, former, or prospective University student may attempt to earn credit by exam for any required or elective undergraduate course, provided the student has neither passed nor failed that course at the University or at any other collegiate institution. (There is one exception to this policy: When a student has received transfer credit for a course with fewer semester hours than the corresponding University course carries, the student may earn credit by exam for the University course.) Additional eligibility requirements may be established by the academic department awarding credit, with the approval of the dean of the college or school. Information about additional requirements is available from CTL and from the academic department.

Credit earned by examination satisfies degree requirements in the same way as credit earned by passing a course, except that it does not count as credit earned in residence. Credit earned by examination does not jeopardize eligibility for scholarships that require freshman standing. The student’s official transcript does not reflect unsuccessful attempts to earn credit by examination.

A student’s academic dean may approve an exception to the course placement and credit by exam policies for compelling academic reasons. If the exception involves the student’s eligibility to be tested or to receive credit by exam in a particular course, the exception must also be approved by the department in which the course is offered.

All tests administered at the University for course placement and credit by exam require a fee. Information, including the testing schedule, eligibility requirements, test descriptions, sample questions, and the amount of test fees (including a $15 nonrefundable test registration fee), is available at the CTL Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/academic/diiia/.

Claiming placement and/or credit. A student who has earned a credit-eligible score by exam has the option of using the score as a course prerequisite by claiming “placement only,” or of claiming “credit only.” If the student claims credit, CTL reports the credit to the registrar’s office and the credit becomes part of the student’s academic record. If the student wishes to use the test score as a course prerequisite without claiming credit, he or she may use the qualifying score, after consulting his or her academic adviser, to enroll in the sequent course. In this case, the course does not appear on the student’s academic record. A student who uses a test score for placement may later petition for course credit, but once the score has been used for course credit it may not be changed to placement only.

A fee is assessed for using the test score for either placement or credit. The CTL Web site (http://www.utexas.edu/academic/diiia/) gives complete instructions for petitioning and paying for placement and/or credit.

Although prospective students may take examinations to establish their eligibility to receive credit or placement, credit is awarded only to officially enrolled students and former students. Enrollment on the twelfth

5. The placement-only option will be available effective spring 2011.
6. Credit by examination cannot be reported to the registrar for former students who are prohibited from enrolling in Texas public colleges and universities due to noncompliance with Texas Success Initiative regulations.
class day of a semester or the fourth class day of a summer term constitutes official enrollment.

In deciding whether to claim credit by exam, students should consider the impact of the credit on their eligibility for a tuition rebate (pages 68–69); the possibility that they will charged additional tuition if they have excess credit (page 52); and the possibility that they will be ineligible for Texas B-On-Time loan forgiveness if they have excess credit.

Examinations required or recommended for course placement. Most of the tests mentioned below are given on the University campus immediately before each semester and before the first summer term, during most summer orientation sessions, and at least once each fall and spring semester. The School of Journalism Grammar, Spelling and Punctuation Test and the Word Processing Test are given on campus on an ongoing basis. The SAT Reasoning Test and the ACT Writing Test are administered at various sites nationwide.

1. Placement in rhetoric and writing. Before enrolling in Rhetoric and Writing 306, a student must have a score on the ACT Writing Test or the writing section of the SAT Reasoning Test, since the score is required for placement at the appropriate level in lower-division rhetoric and writing courses. A student who earns a satisfactory score on either test is eligible to receive credit for Rhetoric and Writing 306. A score on the Advanced Placement (AP) Examination in English Language and Composition or transfer credit for Rhetoric and Writing 306 may also be used for credit and placement. Additional information is available from CTL.

   International students whose native language is not English must submit satisfactory scores on the Internet-based Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL iBT) for admission to a lower-division rhetoric and writing course.

2. Placement in languages. Students with transfer credit in a foreign language are strongly encouraged to take the placement test before enrolling in further coursework in that language; however, in most languages, students with transfer credit are not required to take the placement test.

   Students without transfer credit but with knowledge of American Sign Language or a foreign language, however acquired, must take the placement test before enrolling in a course in that language.

   Foreign language placement tests serve not only to determine the level of work appropriate for students but also as the basis for credit by exam, which normally may be earned in lower-division courses. Credit by exam may be used to absolve a high school unit deficiency or to fulfill degree requirements. Language credit that exceeds degree requirements often may be used as elective credit.

   For course placement and credit by examination, the University uses the University of Wisconsin College-Level Placement Test in French; the SAT Subject Test in German with Listening plus UT Austin supplemental items; the SAT Subject Test in Korean with Listening plus UT Austin supplemental test; and UT Austin Tests for Credit in Chinese, Hindi, Japanese, Russian, and Spanish. Information about the language tests and sample questions are available at the CTL Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/academic/diia/, and from the CTL office.

Students who have taken either a College Board Advanced Placement (AP) Examination in Chinese, French, German, Japanese, or Spanish or any International Baccalaureate (IB) Examination in a foreign language do not need to take the corresponding required placement test, because the AP or IB examination results can be used for placement. Students should contact CTL for information about foreign language tests not listed in this section.

3. Placement in chemistry. The UT Austin Test for Credit in Chemistry 301 is required of students who are seeking the Bachelor of Science in Chemistry or the Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering, who studied chemistry in high school, and who do not have credit for Chemistry 301 or the equivalent. The test is recommended for students in physics and selective engineering majors (with the exception of electrical and computer engineering majors) who have studied chemistry in high school and who do not have credit for Chemistry 301 or the equivalent. Information about the chemistry test, including eligibility requirements and sample questions, is available at the CTL Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/academic/diia/, and from the CTL office.

4. Placement in mathematics. Most entry-level courses in mathematics and statistics and scientific computation have as a prerequisite a minimum score on the ALEKS Web-based placement exam in mathematics. Course prerequisites are given in the undergraduate catalog. Information on ALEKS scores required for particular courses is available from the Department of Mathematics and the Division of Statistics and Scientific Computation.

   Students whose degree programs allow credit for Mathematics 305G may take the SAT Subject Test in Mathematics Level 1 or Level 2 to earn credit. Students outside the Cockrell School of Engineering who wish to enroll in a calculus course must take the ALEKS exam. Information about options for engineering students is available from the Cockrell School Office of Student Affairs at (512) 471-4321. Students in the College of Natural Sciences should contact the college’s Division at (512) 471-4536.

5. Prerequisite for journalism. Students must have satisfactory scores on the Grammar, Spelling and Punctuation Test and the Word Processing Test in order to register for Journalism 315 and most upper-division journalism courses. Students with transfer credit for Journalism 315 must have satisfactory scores on both tests prior to enrolling in more advanced journalism courses at the University. A student who believes he or she should be exempted from either test should contact the School of Journalism. Students may take the tests a maximum of three times. The tests do not serve as a basis for course credit.
Optional examinations. The following optional tests serve as bases for credit by examination at the University.

1. UT Austin tests for credit in biology, chemistry, computer science, government, Hindi, history, Latin, physics, and Polish. Eligible students can earn credit for specified courses in these fields. Descriptions of the tests and test schedules are available at http://www.utexas.edu/academic/diia/ and from the CTL office.

2. College Board SAT Subject Tests. In addition to the Mathematics Level 1 or Level 2 Test, the University grants credit on the basis of the SAT Subject Tests in German with Listening, Korean with Listening, Latin, and Physics.

3. College Board Advanced Placement (AP) Examinations. Credit is granted to students who have earned satisfactory scores on the College Board Advanced Placement Examinations in art (art history and studio art), biology, chemistry, Chinese, computer science, English, European history, French, German, human geography, Japanese, Latin, macroeconomics, mathematics, microeconomics, music theory, physics, psychology, Spanish, statistics, United States government and politics, United States history, and world history. The AP Examination in government and politics is supplemented with test items on Texas government; these additional items are administered only at the University. Advanced Placement Examinations are different from the SAT Subject Tests and are offered only once each year, in May, at specific high schools across the country. More information about AP Examinations is published by the College Board at http://www.collegeboard.com/student/testing/ap/about.html.

4. College-Level Examination Program (CLEP). The CLEP examinations in American government, American literature, calculus, college algebra, English literature, principles of macroeconomics, principles of microeconomics, introductory psychology, and introductory sociology are used as bases for credit by examination. The tests in American government, American literature, English literature, and college algebra are supplemented with items prepared by University faculty members; these items are available only on the University campus. Information about locally prepared items may be obtained from CTL. All CLEP examinations used by the University as a basis for credit by exam are given on campus on an ongoing basis. The University also serves as a national testing center for other CLEP examinations.

5. International Baccalaureate (IB) Higher-Level Examinations. Credit is granted by the University to students who earn satisfactory scores on the IB Higher-Level Examinations in Arabic, biology, chemistry, Chinese, computer science, Danish, Dutch, economics, English, French, geography, German, Hebrew, Hindi, history (concentrations in Africa, the Americas, Europe, and Islamic history), Italian, Japanese, Korean, mathematics, Norwegian, philosophy, physics, Portuguese, psychology, Russian, social and cultural anthropology, Spanish, Swedish, and visual arts.

6. International Baccalaureate (IB) Diploma. In accordance with section 51.968 of the Texas Education Code, credit by exam is awarded as described below to students who have earned an IB diploma and who are admitted as freshmen.
a. All students who submit satisfactory scores on the IB Higher-Level (HL) Examinations listed in item 5 above receive credit by exam, whether or not they have also earned the IB diploma.
b. Students who submit scores of 4 or higher on HL exams in the subjects listed in item 5 or in other IB subjects receive credit by exam if they have also earned the IB diploma.
c. Students who submit scores of 4 or higher on IB Standard Level (SL) Examinations receive credit by exam if they have also earned the IB diploma.

Students who have earned an IB diploma are awarded credit based on scores of 4 or higher on IB HL and SL examinations as described by Texas Education Code section 51.968. Before claiming the credit, students should consider the impact of these hours on their eligibility for a tuition rebate (pages 68–69); the possibility that they will be charged additional tuition if they have excess credit (page 52); and the possibility that they will be ineligible for Texas B-On-Time loan forgiveness if they have excess credit. Each student is strongly encouraged to discuss these issues with an academic adviser in his or her college before claiming credit. The student and adviser should also discuss the student’s academic preparation for sequent courses based on IB test score.

7. Other credit by examination. With the approval of the appropriate academic dean and department chair or program director, a student may take an examination in any undergraduate course offered by the University for which he or she has reason to feel qualified. A candidate may apply to take course examinations only after registering as a student at the University. Exams are given at the convenience of the administering department. A student who earns a satisfactory score will receive credit for the course.

Application forms for course exams are available at the CTL office. A student who intends to apply for an exam over a first-year course should obtain a course outline from the department that offers the course; only students who have the equivalent in knowledge or training of that presented in the outline should apply for the exam.

ADDING AND DROPPING CLASSES

Procedures for adding and dropping classes are given in the Course Schedule. Each student is responsible for properly initiating and completing adds and drops. Information about tuition adjustments resulting from adds and drops is given on page 67.

Adding a Class

The addition of a class is governed by the following requirements: (1) the student must obtain all required approvals; (2) the student must be eligible to take the class, and there must be space available in the class; and (3) the student must remain in conformity with the quantity of work rule given on pages 78–80.
Subject to these requirements, a registered student may add a class through the twelfth class day of a long-session semester or the fourth class day of a summer term. Through the fourth class day of the semester or the second class day of the summer term, the approval of the chair of the department offering the class may be required; after these dates, the approval of the chair is required for undergraduates; for graduate students, the approval of the instructor, the graduate adviser, and the graduate dean is required. In some colleges and schools, the approval of the student’s adviser and college dean are also required. The student must consult the regulations of his or her college or school before adding a class.

Although a college or school may permit the addition of classes through the twelfth class day of the semester or the fourth class day of a summer term, the student is expected to be settled in his or her classes by the fourth class day of the semester or the second class day of the summer term. After the twelfth class day of a semester or the fourth class day of a summer term, the student may add a class only in rare and extenuating circumstances as approved by the student’s dean and the chair of the department offering the class.

Dropping a Class: Rules for Undergraduate Students

In general, an undergraduate may drop a class through midsemester in a long-session semester and through the last class day in a summer term. However, the student must meet the conditions described below and must abide by the quantity of work rule given on pages 78–80. The dates of the deadlines discussed below are given in the academic calendar, pages vii–xiii.

In addition to other required approvals, international students must have the written consent of the International Office to drop a class.

On the recommendation of the instructor and with the approval of the student’s academic dean, a student may be required to drop a class at any time because of neglect or lack of preparation.

Limitations

In accordance with section 51.907 of the Texas Education Code, a student may drop no more than six classes for academic reasons during his or her undergraduate career. This rule applies to all students who entered a public Texas institution of higher education as first-time undergraduates in the fall semester 2007 or later.

A dropped class is counted toward the six-drop limit if the student dropped it from the thirteenth class day through midsemester in a long-session semester or from the fifth through the last class day in a summer term, and if the student did not drop the class for a substantiated, nonacademic reason as defined below.

Nonacademic Reasons for Dropping a Class

A dropped class will not be counted toward the six-drop limit if it occurs for a nonacademic reason such as those listed below. The student’s dean will decide, at the time the student drops a class, whether the reason for the drop is academic or nonacademic.
1. A severe illness or other debilitating condition that affects the student’s ability to satisfactorily complete the course
2. The student’s responsibility for the care of a sick, injured, or needy person if the provision of that care affects the student’s ability to satisfactorily complete the course
3. The death of a person who is considered to be a member of the student’s family or who is otherwise considered to have a sufficiently close relationship to the student that the person’s death is considered to be a showing of good cause
4. The active duty service as a member of the Texas National Guard or the armed forces of the United States of either the student or a person who is considered to be a member of the student’s family or who is otherwise considered to have a sufficiently close relationship to the student that the person’s active military service is considered to be a showing of good cause
5. A change of the student’s work schedule that is beyond the control of the student and that affects the student’s ability to complete the course

Procedures

Through the twelfth class day. From the first through the twelfth class day in a long-session semester, and from the first through the fourth class day in a summer term, a student may drop a class through the registration system. If the dropped class must be taken in conjunction with another class, the student must drop the second class as well. Each student should meet with his or her adviser before dropping a class.

A class dropped during this period is deleted from the student’s academic record. It does not count toward the six-drop limit described above.

From the thirteenth class day through the deadline to drop a class for academic reasons. From the thirteenth class day through the deadline to drop a class for academic reasons in a long-session semester, and from the fifth through the last class day in a summer term, a student may drop a class only with the approval of his or her dean. The student first must obtain the instructor’s signature on the form Add-Drop for Undergraduate Students, which states the student’s current grade in the course and the basis for calculating the grade. In some colleges and schools, the approval of the student’s adviser is also required. If the student is allowed to drop, the class remains on the student’s academic record with the symbol Q, which identifies a drop without academic penalty. In addition, the student’s dean determines whether the student is dropping the class for an academic or a nonacademic reason. If the dean determines that the reason is academic, the drop is counted toward the six-drop limit described above.

After the deadline to drop a class for academic reasons. After the deadline to drop a class for academic reasons has passed, a student may drop a class only with the approval of his or her dean and only for urgent, substantiated, nonacademic reasons. Drops that occur during this period are not counted toward the six-drop limit described above.
Dropping a Class: Rules for Graduate Students

With the required approvals, a graduate student may drop a class through the last class day of the semester or summer term; after the twelfth class day of the semester or the fourth class day of the summer term, the graduate dean’s approval is also required. If the student drops the class by the twelfth class day of the semester or the fourth class day of the summer term, the class is deleted from the student’s academic record.

If the student drops the class from the thirteenth through the twentieth class day of the long-session semester or from the fifth through the tenth class day of the summer term, the symbol Q appears on his or her academic record to indicate a drop without academic penalty. After these dates, if the student is registered on the letter-grade basis, the class instructor assigns the symbol Q or a grade of F; if the student is registered on the credit/no credit basis, the symbol NC is recorded.

A student who is in warning status for failing to maintain a 3.00 grade point average may not drop a class without the recommendation of his or her graduate adviser and the approval of the graduate dean.

International students, in addition to obtaining the required approvals, must be advised by the International Office before dropping a class if their remaining course load will be fewer than nine hours.

Students appointed as graduate student academic employees may not reduce their course load to fewer than nine hours during a long-session semester or fewer than three hours in a summer session (in any combination of summer-session terms) without the written recommendation of the graduate adviser and the approval of the graduate dean.

Changing Registration To or From The Pass/Fail Basis or The Credit/No Credit Basis

Some courses must be taken for a letter grade; others must be taken on the pass/fail or credit/no credit basis. These requirements are given in catalogs and the Course Schedule. If registration in a course is not restricted to a specific grading basis, the student may choose to register either for a letter grade or for credit.

An undergraduate student may change registration in a class from the pass/fail basis to the letter-grade basis or from the letter-grade basis to the pass/fail basis until the deadline given in the academic calendar, pages vii–xiii. The basis of registration for a course may be changed only once.

A graduate student may change registration in a class from the credit/no credit basis to the letter-grade basis or from the letter-grade basis to the credit/no credit basis until the deadline given in the academic calendar, pages vii–xiii.
A student who wishes to withdraw from the University after completing registration for a semester or summer session must secure the dean’s approval. A student who is a minor must present a written statement from a parent, guardian, or sponsor indicating that the responsible person knows of the student’s intent to withdraw. In addition, international students must have permission from the International Office to withdraw. The dean’s permit to withdraw must be submitted to the registrar, where the student may request a refund of tuition in accordance with University policy. These policies are given on pages 66–69. No refund will be made to anyone other than the payer, except on the payer’s written order.

After the last day for withdrawing (approximately midsemester), an undergraduate student may petition for withdrawal only for urgent, substantiated, nonacademic reasons. Nonmedical withdrawal by an undergraduate student on scholastic probation may affect the student’s scholastic standing. Information about scholastic probation and dismissal is given on pages 99–102.

A graduate student in good standing may withdraw with the approval of the graduate dean through the last class day of the semester. A graduate student who is in warning status may not withdraw without the recommendation of the graduate adviser and the approval of the graduate dean.

Withdrawal for military service. A student who withdraws as a result of being called to active military service may choose (1) to receive a refund of tuition for the semester; (2) if eligible, to be assigned an incomplete (symbol X) in each course as described on pages 81–82; or (3) at the instructor’s discretion, to receive a final grade in courses where he or she has completed a substantial amount of coursework and has demonstrated sufficient mastery of the course material. Policies affecting students who are absent for military service but do not withdraw are given below.

Medical withdrawal. A medically ill student whose condition precludes class attendance may be withdrawn from the University as of the date and under the conditions specified at the time of the withdrawal. A student who requests medical withdrawal must submit copies of medical records from each medical and mental health care provider treating the condition. The medical records must include the date of onset of the illness or injury, dates of care, and diagnosis and prognosis. If the withdrawal is approved, the registrar and other appropriate officials will be notified. Specific information about the medical withdrawal process is available at http://healthyhorns.utexas.edu/medicalwithdrawals.html.

Retroactive withdrawal. A student who wishes to leave the University for nonacademic reasons is expected to withdraw during the current semester as described above. Requests to withdraw after the semester is over are considered only if the student was somehow unable to withdraw. For example, students who were hospitalized or incarcerated, called away at the end of the semester because of a family crisis, asked to perform military service, or seriously debilitated by mental illness may be unable to withdraw during the semester in which they are enrolled.

In these cases, students may discuss the situation with the dean or an academic adviser in the dean’s office. If there is sufficient and compelling documentation, and if the request for retroactive withdrawal is submitted to the dean’s office during the next long-session semester, the dean or the dean’s staff will review the request and consider approval of a retroactive withdrawal. Appropriate documentation could include written recommendations from University Health Services and the Counseling and Mental Health Center.

A college or school may approve an appeal for retroactive withdrawal for a semester long past, but only for the most compelling nonacademic reasons.

ATTENDANCE

Regular attendance at all class meetings is expected. Instructors are responsible for implementing attendance policy and must notify students of any special attendance requirements.

Special regulations of colleges and schools, required by the unique nature of their programs of study, may be enacted through the normal approval process. These special regulations may not conflict with University regulations on class attendance and absence.

Religious holy days. A student who misses classes or other required activities, including examinations, for the observance of a religious holy day should inform the instructor as far in advance of the absence as possible, so that arrangements can be made to complete an assignment within a reasonable time after the absence.

Absence for military service. In accordance with section 51.9111 of the Texas Education Code, a student is excused from attending classes or engaging in other required activities, including exams, if he or she is called to active military service of a reasonably brief duration. The maximum time for which the student may be excused has been defined by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board as “no more than 25 percent of the total number of class meetings or the contact hour equivalent (not including the final examination period) for the specific course or courses in which the student is currently enrolled at the beginning of the period of active military service.” The student will be allowed a reasonable time after the absence to complete assignments and take exams. Policies affecting students who withdraw from the University for military service are given above.

CLASS SYLLABI

Each instructor must provide students with a syllabus on the first day that the class meets. The syllabus must include the following:

- The course number and title
- The instructor’s name, office location, and office hours
• If there are teaching assistants for the class, their names, office locations, and office hours
• An overview of the class, including prerequisites, the subject matter of each lecture or discussion, and the academic/learning goals for the course and how they will be assessed
• Grading policy, including whether attendance is used in determining the class grade
• A brief descriptive overview of all major course requirements and assignments, along with the dates of exams and assignments that count for 20 percent or more of the class grade
• A list of required and recommended materials, such as textbooks, image collections, audio and audiovisual materials, supplies, articles, chapters, and excerpts as appropriate, identified by author, title, and publisher
• Final exam date and time (when available)
• The class Web site, if any
• A notice that students with disabilities may request appropriate academic accommodations from the Division of Diversity and Community Engagement, Services for Students with Disabilities
Additional advice for faculty members on the preparation of syllabi is provided by the Center for Teaching and Learning.

EXAMINATIONS

The final examinations for each semester and summer term are scheduled by the registrar. Classes that meet at the same time during a semester also have a common examination time. An index of these examination times is included in the Course Schedule. Near the end of each semester and term, the complete examination schedule is distributed to academic offices and published in the Daily Texan; the examination schedule for a specific class is available through the registrar’s Web site, http://registrar.utexas.edu/students/exams/. Students may access their examination schedules through this site.

Examinations should begin promptly at the scheduled hour and should not continue beyond the three hours allocated in the official schedule.

No final examinations may be given before the examination period begins, and no change in time from that printed in the official schedule is permitted without approval. An instructor with a compelling reason to change the time of an examination must obtain the approval of the department chair and the dean of the college or school in which the course is taught before announcing an alternative examination procedure to the students. No substantial examinations may be given during the last class week or during the reading days and the no-class days preceding the final examination period. An examination is considered to be substantial if it counts for more than 30 percent of the final course grade. A change in the room assignment for a final examination may be made only with the approval of the registrar.

The no-class days preceding final examinations are not to be used as dates on which papers are to be turned in, examinations are to be given, quizzes are to be scheduled, or for any other class-related activity, other than office hours. In addition, the final examination period is reserved for scheduled final examinations. No other class-related activity, with the exception of office hours, may be scheduled during the final examination period.

With the approval of the department chair, an instructor may choose not to give a final examination. However, if an examination is given, all students must take it and no exemptions may be allowed except pursuant to a uniform exemption policy announced to the class.

For good cause, an instructor may give a student permission to take an examination with a different class section than the one in which the student is registered.

For good cause, a student may petition his or her academic dean for permission to change the time or place of an examination from that specified in the official schedule. If permission is given by the dean and the instructor, no penalty (such as a reduction in grade) may be assessed.

In a course extending over two semesters, when the subject matter is continuous, the second-semester final examination may include the subject matter of the first semester.

A student may address complaints related to the final examination procedures in a course to the chair of the department or the dean of the college or school in which the course is offered, or to the Office of the Ombudsperson.

The following instructions govern the conduct of final examinations as well as other examinations given during the semester:

- Students must be informed that all written work handed in by them is considered to be their own work, prepared without unauthorized assistance.
- Students should be asked to cooperate in maintaining the integrity of examinations and encouraged to inform the instructor, without specifying the offenders, when cheating goes on in class.
- Instructors are responsible for advising students of the rules governing examinations and for supervising examinations in their respective classes. They, or their representatives, must remain in the examination room and take necessary actions to ensure an orderly examination and minimize the temptations and opportunities for cheating.
- Students are expected to (a) remain in the examination room until the test is completed; (b) refrain from talking; and (c) leave all notes and books where they are not accessible during the examination unless otherwise directed by the instructor.
- An instructor who suspects academic dishonesty must report the case to the Office of the Dean of Students.

SEARCHES

General searches of a student’s personal papers and belongings may be conducted at the discretion of an instructor only when there is reasonable suspicion that the student has engaged in misconduct in violation of the rules on student discipline and conduct given on pages 201–216. In addition, the instructor must believe that the search is necessary to maintain the academic integrity of an examination or to maintain an environment in which learning can occur.

AVAILABILITY OF CLASSWORK TO STUDENTS

A student has the right to have all written materials that are submitted to meet the requirements of a course returned or made available for review. To be “made available” does not ensure the right to a photocopy, but the materials may be examined in the office of the faculty member or the academic department. Written materials that are not returned to the student must be retained by the faculty member or the department for at least one long-session semester following the completion of the course.

REPORTS

Semester reports from the registrar. Grade reports are available to all students, except students in the School of Law, at the end of each semester and summer session at the registrar’s Web site, http://www.registrar.utexas.edu/students/grades/.

Intrasemester reports from the deans. About the middle of each semester (but not in the summer session), faculty members report undergraduate students doing work below the passing grade of D- to the deans, and the offices of the deans forward the reports to each student.

SCHOLASTIC PROBATION AND DISMISSAL

Undergraduate Students

An undergraduate must maintain a minimum cumulative University grade point average (GPA) to remain academically eligible to register for the subsequent semester or summer session. The cumulative University grade point average is calculated on the basis of all work undertaken at the University, including credit by examination, correspondence, and extension, for which a letter grade was given. Courses for which the symbols Q, S, U, X, W, CR, and NC were given are not included.8 Grades earned at any institution other than the University are not included in the University grade point average, but semester hours of transfer credit accepted by the University are added to hours taken at the University to determine the total college hours undertaken.

As shown in the following table, the minimum grade point average required varies with the total number of college credit hours the student has undertaken.

8. Since September 15, 2006, the University has awarded only the symbol CR, rather than a letter grade, for credit earned by exam. As a result, credit earned by exam and recorded since that date is not included in the student’s cumulative University grade point average. Through September 15, 2006, students chose either a letter grade or the symbol CR for credit earned by exam; credit by exam that was recorded with a letter grade is included in the student’s cumulative University grade point average.

Probation and dismissal. The following rules govern scholastic probation and dismissal.

1. Change of scholastic status. Scholastic status is determined when grades are reported at the end of each fall and spring semester and at the end of the summer session. Although a student’s University grade point average may change between these grade-reporting periods (because a final grade has been recorded in place of an X, for example), the student’s scholastic status is not changed until the next official grade-reporting period during which the student is enrolled at the University.

2. Effect of grades in courses repeated. All grades earned in University courses, whether repeated or not, count in a student’s grade point average. However, in counting grade points for any semester, a student who earned a grade of at least C- in a course taken in a previous semester may not use grade points earned in that same course in the current semester to meet the minimum requirements for continuance given below without written permission from the dean.

3. Scholastic probation. (a) A student whose cumulative University grade point average falls below 2.00 at the end of a grade-reporting period is placed on scholastic probation. Probationary status is reflected on the student’s permanent academic record. (b) Any student returning to the University after a period of scholastic dismissal returns on scholastic probation. (c) Under exceptional circumstances, the director of admissions may admit a student to the University on scholastic probation.

4. Quantity of work while on scholastic probation. A student on scholastic probation must maintain a course load of at least twelve semester hours in a long-session semester, unless the student’s dean approves a reduced course load in writing before the student registers. Permission to take fewer than twelve hours is based on extenuating circumstances and is not routinely granted. In the summer session, no minimum course load is required of a student on scholastic probation.

5. Removal from scholastic probation. A student on scholastic probation who achieves a cumulative University grade point average of at least 2.00 at the end of a grade-reporting period during which he or she is registered at the University is removed from scholastic probation. Removal from probation is reflected on the student’s permanent academic record.
6. Scholastic dismissal. Under the conditions noted in items a, b, and c below, a student is subject to scholastic dismissal at the end of a long-session semester. A student is not placed on scholastic dismissal at the end of a summer session unless the dismissal is the result of a previous condition prescribed by his or her academic dean. Scholastic dismissal is reflected on the student’s permanent academic record.
   a. Any beginning student, freshman or transfer, who has not earned previous credit in residence at the University and who fails twelve or more semester hours of coursework in a long-session semester is subject to scholastic dismissal without a prior probationary period.
   b. To be subject to scholastic dismissal, a student, except the beginning students described above, must first be placed on scholastic probation. A student on scholastic probation is subject to scholastic dismissal under either of the following conditions:
      i. At the end of a long-session semester, a student on scholastic probation who fails to attain the cumulative University grade point average shown in the Table of Scholastic Standards above will be dismissed from the University.
      ii. A student on scholastic probation who withdraws from the University after the first four weeks of classes in a long-session semester will be placed on scholastic dismissal, unless the withdrawal is under exceptional conditions approved by the student’s dean.
   c. When a student who has been dismissed from the University returns, he or she reenters on scholastic probation and may be subject to dismissal under the policies stated in (b)(i) and (b)(ii) above.

7. Student responsibility. A student who is dismissed from the University after completing registration for the next semester will have his or her registration canceled and may not attend classes. The student is responsible for knowing his or her scholastic status and may not appeal the cancellation of registration based on lack of such knowledge.

8. Length of scholastic dismissal.
   a. First dismissal—One long-session semester and any intervening summer session.
   b. Second dismissal—Three calendar years; readmission must be approved by the student’s dean.
   c. Third dismissal—A student dismissed for the third time will not be readmitted.

9. Effect of scholastic dismissal on correspondence courses or registration in another institution. A student who is dismissed from the University for scholastic reasons is not prohibited from taking courses by correspondence or from enrolling in another institution. The period of dismissal will not be decreased as a result of coursework completed while on dismissal.
10. Exceptions permitting continuance in the University. Normally, a student subject to dismissal will be dismissed; however, each college and school within the University has an appeals procedure administered by the Office of the Dean. A student who wishes to appeal should contact the office of his or her academic dean for procedures and deadlines. In unusual circumstances, a student may be allowed to continue subject to conditions prescribed by the dean. Approval to continue will not be given, regardless of the circumstances, unless the dean believes that the student has a reasonable chance of attaining a degree.

11. Special college regulations. Each college and school of the University determines its own policies regarding the minimum academic standards required of its students. Any college or school may require a higher minimum grade point average than is required to avoid scholastic probation under University-wide rules. In addition, a college or school may restrict enrollment because of the limitation of instructional resources. A student may be ineligible to continue in a particular college or school while remaining eligible to transfer to another; however, no student on scholastic dismissal from the University may be enrolled in any academic program of the University.

Graduate Students

To continue in the Graduate School beyond the first semester or summer session, the student must make satisfactory progress in absolving any admission conditions that were imposed, meet any requirements made in writing by the Graduate Studies Committee, maintain a graduate grade point average of at least 3.00, and receive the approval of the student’s Graduate Studies Committee.

Graduate Studies Committees are responsible for evaluating the students in their programs to ensure that they are making satisfactory progress toward a degree. If the Graduate Studies Committee finds that a student is not making satisfactory progress, it may recommend to the graduate dean that the student’s program be terminated.

A graduate student whose cumulative graduate grade point average falls below 3.00 at the end of any semester or summer session will be warned by the Office of Graduate Studies that his or her continuance in the Graduate School is in jeopardy. The student must attain a cumulative graduate grade point average of at least 3.00 during the next semester or summer session he or she is enrolled or be subject to dismissal. During this period, the student may not drop a course or withdraw from the University without the approval of the graduate adviser and the graduate dean.

A graduate student who has been dismissed may be readmitted for further graduate study only by petition of the Graduate Studies Committee in the student’s major area or by the Graduate Studies Committee of another program that will accept the student. The petition must be approved by the graduate dean.

Academic dismissal is reflected on the student’s permanent record.
HONORS

Except as noted, the following opportunities are open to all qualified undergraduates. Honors available through the colleges and schools, and the interdisciplinary activities offered by the University Honors Center, are described in the undergraduate catalog.

Honor Societies for Freshmen

Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma are national honor societies that recognize scholastic attainment during the freshman year. Members are chosen each fall and spring. Membership is offered to students who earn a grade point average of at least 3.50 during the first semester of their freshman year while completing at least twelve semester hours of coursework. Students who do not qualify during the first semester may become eligible by earning a grade point average of at least 3.50 for the first two semesters of work combined.

Phi Beta Kappa

Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest honorary society in America, was founded by students at the College of William and Mary in 1776; the Alpha of Texas chapter was organized at the University in 1904–1905. Eligibility is limited to upper-division students who achieve distinguished scholastic records in disciplines that Phi Beta Kappa designates as liberal arts and sciences. The student must have completed at least sixty semester hours of coursework at the University.

Elections to Phi Beta Kappa are held in the fall, spring, and summer each year. Alumni members are occasionally selected from among graduates of at least five years’ standing who have won appropriate distinction since graduation; honorary members are selected for special merit.

Phi Kappa Phi

Founded in 1897 at the University of Maine, Phi Kappa Phi is the nation’s oldest, largest, and most selective honor society for all academic disciplines. The University chapter was established in 1962. Membership is available by invitation only to the top 7.5 percent of second-semester juniors, the top 10 percent of seniors, and graduate students with a grade point average of 4.00. Students are eligible for membership if they have completed at least seventy-two semester hours of coursework at the University and have the required grade point average. Elections to Phi Kappa Phi are held in the fall and spring.
Mortar Board

Mortar Board is a national honor society that recognizes college seniors for distinguished ability and achievement in scholarship, leadership, and service. It was founded in 1918 by representatives from Cornell University, the University of Michigan, the Ohio State University, Swarthmore College, and Syracuse University. The University chapter was founded in 1923. Membership is a nationally recognized distinction earned by outstanding students across the country. Members of Mortar Board are chosen each spring through an application process.

British Marshall, Rhodes, and Truman Scholarships

British Marshall scholarships allow young Americans of high ability to study for a degree in the system of higher education of their choice in the United Kingdom. Each scholarship offers two years or more of postgraduate study. Up to forty new awards are offered every year in the United States. Students should apply in their senior year. Applications are due in the Liberal Arts Honors Program office in early September.

Rhodes scholarships are for outstanding United States citizens who are between eighteen and twenty-four on October 1 of the year of application. Students should apply in their senior year. Each scholarship offers two years or more of postgraduate study at the University of Oxford. Thirty-two scholarships are assigned annually to the United States. Applications are due in the Liberal Arts Honors Program office in early September.

The Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation awards sixty to sixty-five $30,000 merit-based scholarships annually to college students who wish to attend graduate school in preparation for careers in government or elsewhere in public service. Applicants must be in the top quarter of their class, with a grade point average of at least 3.80, and must be United States citizens or nationals. Truman Scholars receive leadership training, graduate school counseling, preferential admission and merit-based aid at some premier graduate institutions, and internship opportunities with federal agencies. Students who will be seniors the following academic year should apply to the Liberal Arts Honors Program office in September.

Junior Fellows Program

The Junior Fellows Program provides recognition for outstanding students who have completed four semesters, or about sixty semester hours of coursework. Chosen annually from the best students across the campus, junior fellows are given the opportunity to do independent study and research with distinguished professors of their choice and to have that research supported by small grants, if necessary. The program is administered by the College of Liberal Arts, but undergraduates in all colleges and schools are eligible to take part. Students who wish to be considered should apply in February. Application forms are available in the Liberal Arts Honors Program office.
College Scholars

On Honors Day each spring, the University designates outstanding students as College Scholars and Distinguished College Scholars, on the basis of registration and grade point average requirements for courses taken in residence at the University, as specified below. Students who are eligible for recognition receive invitations to the Honors Day convocation about three weeks before Honors Day.

To be designated a College Scholar, a student must meet all of the following requirements:

1. The student must be registered as an undergraduate in the current semester. Students who hold an undergraduate degree or are registered in-absentia are not eligible.
2. The student must have completed at least thirty semester hours of coursework in residence at the University, and at least sixty semester hours of college coursework, including transferred work and credit by examination.
3. The student must rank in the top 20% of their class in each college or school in which he or she is pursuing a major, based on in-residence cumulative grade point average.
4. The student must have an in-residence University grade point average of at least 3.50.

To be designated a Distinguished College Scholar, a student must meet all of the following requirements:

1. The student must meet the first, second, and fourth College Scholar requirements stated above.
2. The student also must rank in the top 4% of their class in each college or school in which they are pursuing a major, based on in-residence cumulative grade point average.

University Honors

Each fall and spring semester, undergraduates who complete a full course load and earn outstanding grades are recognized by inclusion on the University Honors list. Each time a student is included on the list, his or her official record also shows the award of University Honors for that semester. The list is compiled at the end of each fall and spring semester; it is based on the student’s work in that semester only. To be included, a student must earn at least forty-five grade points and a grade point average of at least 3.50 on courses completed in residence and must have no incomplete grades (symbol X).

Students are notified on the semester grade report of their inclusion on the list.
Graduation with University Honors

To be eligible to graduate with University honors, an undergraduate must have completed at least sixty semester hours at the University of Texas at Austin. Graduation with University honors is based on the average of all grades earned in courses taken in residence at the University, whether the courses were passed, failed, or repeated. Courses taken pass/fail are counted in the sixty-hour minimum, but only letter grades (including Fs in pass/fail courses) are used to determine the grade point average.

The faculty of each college or school determines the percentage of the graduating class of that division to receive honors, high honors, and highest honors and the minimum grade point average for each category, subject to the following requirements:

1. No more than 20 percent of the May graduating class of each college or school may receive honors, high honors, and highest honors. No more than 10 percent of the class may receive high honors and highest honors. No more than 4 percent may receive highest honors.

2. Honors graduates must have a grade point average of at least 3.30 in courses taken in residence at the University.

The faculty may adopt college- or school-wide standards or may designate grade point average and percentage requirements for each program within the college or school, but the percentage of the college or school class receiving honors, high honors, and highest honors may not exceed those above.

Percentage requirements are not applied to August and December graduating classes. The grade point averages established for May graduates are applied to the following August and December classes to determine honors, high honors, and highest honors.

9. Each grade point average is the minimum required for graduation with honors, high honors, or highest honors. Because only a certain percentage of the class may receive honors, the average required for each category may be higher.

10. To graduate with University honors, a student in the McCombs School must have completed at least sixty semester hours of coursework in residence at the University.

11. To graduate with University honors, a student in the College of Communication must have completed at least sixty semester hours of coursework toward the degree.

12. To graduate with University honors, a student in the Cockrell School of Engineering must have completed in residence at the University at least sixty semester hours of coursework counted toward the degree. A student may receive only one bachelor’s degree with University honors from the Cockrell School.

13. To graduate with University honors, a student in the College of Fine Arts must rank in the indicated percent of students graduating that semester from his or her academic unit (art and art history, music, or theatre and dance) and must have no outstanding delay of grade (symbol X). He or she must have completed at least sixty semester hours of coursework in residence at the University. A student may receive only one bachelor’s degree with University honors from the College of Fine Arts.
TEACHER CERTIFICATION

The University conducts a large, field-based educator preparation program leading to certification for future teachers, administrators, and educational support personnel. This program is evaluated each year by the State of Texas and by the federal government. The results of these evaluations attest to the high quality of educator preparation at the University. For the academic year 2008–2009, 655 students were enrolled in the Professional Development Sequence of courses in the teacher certification programs. Teacher preparation requires extensively supervised field experiences, with most programs requiring eight hundred hours in the field. Of the 599 University students who took an educator certification exam in 2008–2009, 98 percent passed. This passing rate ranks in the highest quartile for all educator certification programs in Texas; the statewide average pass rate was 82 percent. Based on certification exam pass rates for all applicant demographic groups, the Texas State Board for Educator Certification (SBEC) rated the University educator preparation program “accredited,” its highest rating.

The University recommends students for teacher certification to SBEC. To be recommended for a certificate to teach in elementary, middle, or high school, an undergraduate student must earn a degree as well as complete an approved teacher certification program. Students complete the following requirements for approved programs in conjunction with degree requirements:

1. Enrollment. Students seeking certification to teach at the elementary school level (option a below) must register in the College of Education and major in applied learning and development, an interdisciplinary program.

   Students seeking middle grades (option b below), high school (option c), or all-level (option d) certification must earn a degree from the college or school that houses the academic program in their prospective teaching field. Students should be advised by both an adviser in their academic department and a teacher certification adviser to confirm that the courses for which they register are applicable to their certification program.

   Students who are seeking teacher certification should select from the following options:
   a. Early childhood through grade 6: Generalist or bilingual generalist
   b. Grades 4 through 8: Math, science, English/language arts/reading, or social studies
   c. Grades 8 through 12: Math, science, computer science, English/language arts/reading, history, or social studies
   d. All-level: Special education, art, music, theatre, kinesiology, or languages other than English

2. Admission to the Professional Development Sequence. All students seeking teacher certification must complete a sequence of professional development courses. Admission to the Professional Development Sequence is restricted, and students must apply for admission to it. Academic performance, completion of prerequisite courses, documented evidence of proficiency in reading and in oral and written communication, and the number of hours needed to complete the program may be factors in the admission decision.
For students seeking early childhood through grade six or all-level generic special education certification, admission to the Professional Development Sequence requires a minimum University grade point average of 2.50 and course grades prescribed by each program. To progress within the sequence, the student must maintain the minimum grade point average for the program. In addition, when they enter the Professional Development Sequence, students seeking early childhood through grade six and all-level generic special education certification may lack no more than twelve semester hours of coursework outside the sequence. Additional information about these requirements is available in the Office of the Dean, College of Education.

For students in other teacher certification programs, requirements for admission to and continuation in the Professional Development Sequence are set by the college in which the student majors.

3. Certification exam. An individual seeking certification is required to achieve a satisfactory level of performance on the appropriate Texas Examinations of Educator Standards (TExES) test to be approved for initial or additional certification. Students who do not apply for their teaching certificate within three years of completing apprentice teaching may be required to complete additional fieldwork hours and coursework before applying for the certificate.

4. Legal questions. In accordance with state law, the commissioner of education may suspend or revoke a teaching certificate or refuse to issue a teaching certificate for a person who has been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor for a crime that directly relates to the duties and responsibilities of the teaching profession. Information about other legal issues is available from the teacher certification officer, George I. Sánchez Building 216, (512) 471-3223.

For students who hold a bachelor’s degree, separate programs are available that lead to teacher certification at all levels. The requirements of these postbaccalaureate programs may be different from those of the undergraduate certification programs.

For more information about teacher certification programs, students should see a certification adviser in the dean's office of the College of Education, George I. Sánchez Building 216.

CAREER SERVICES

Through testing and counseling, the Sanger Learning and Career Center helps students make decisions about their career goals; the center's services are described on pages 121–122. Assistance with job searches is provided by career service offices within individual colleges and schools; in addition, some departments have career advisers or offices. Many of these career services are described in the undergraduate catalog; more information is available in the deans' offices and on the college and school Web sites.
TRANSCRIPTS

With proper identification, a student may purchase an official transcript in person, by mail, by telephone, or online for $10 a copy. The transcript includes only the academic record accumulated at the University of Texas at Austin. Unofficial copies of transcripts from other institutions are furnished by the registrar in accordance with the Texas Open Records Act, for a fee of $10. A transcript is a comprehensive record of an individual’s academic progress at the University; it contains all the significant facts about a student’s admission, academic level, and scholarship. The contents of an official transcript are listed in subchapter 9–400 of the Institutional Rules, page 198. No partial or incomplete record (such as a record with grades of \( F \) omitted) will be issued. A student who owes a debt to the University may be unable to obtain an official transcript until the debt is paid. Additional information about requesting a transcript is published by the registrar’s office at http://registrar.utexas.edu/students/records/transcripts/.

Texas law provides criminal penalties for forgery of a transcript or similar document.

The registrar’s office also provides official certifications to students and others for health insurance, loan deferment, and other reasons. A $5 charge is assessed for on-demand emergency certifications.

DIPLOMAS

University diplomas display the student’s legal name, graduation date, and degree, along with the name and seal of the institution and the signatures of University and University of Texas System officials. If the student has graduated with University honors as described on page 106, this accomplishment is indicated. The diploma shows the title of the degree the student has earned, such as Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science in Chemistry, or Doctor of Philosophy; it does not include the student’s major(s).

Diplomas are mailed about six weeks after the student’s graduation. A student who owes a debt to the University may be unable to obtain a diploma until the debt is paid.

A graduate may purchase a replacement diploma if the original has been lost or destroyed. If purchased more than one year after the original diploma was issued, the replacement will bear the reissue date below the date the degree was awarded. The signatures of University and University of Texas System officials may not be the same as those on the original diploma, since the signatures of former officials are not maintained on file. Additional copies of an original diploma also may be purchased at the time of issue. Orders should be submitted to the Office of the Registrar with a $50 fee for each diploma.

A student who requests a new diploma based on a change of name must pay the replacement fee, unless the name change was submitted by the deadline set by the registrar or a postponement of the deadline was granted.
PERSONAL RECORD INFORMATION

Name change. The University maintains educational records under the student’s full, legal name. Official documents such as diplomas and transcripts will not be issued bearing any other name.

A currently enrolled student may change the name on his or her permanent academic record by presenting a certified copy of the appropriate documentation to the registrar. To correct the spelling or the proper sequence of the name requires a copy of the student’s birth certificate. To change the name, the student must present a notarized request and a copy of the signed court order showing the new legal name. To assume the spouse’s name following marriage, a student must present a notarized request and a copy of the marriage certificate. A student who wishes to discontinue use of the married name and resume use of the original family name, or adopt another name, must present a divorce decree or signed court order showing restoration of the original name or assignment of another name.

The University maintains student records under the name the student had when last enrolled. A former student may not change the name on his or her permanent academic record except by presenting a notarized request and a certified copy of the signed court order showing the authorized name change.

Change of address, telephone number, or e-mail address. The student must give correct local and permanent postal addresses, telephone numbers, and e-mail address to the Office of the Registrar and to the office(s) of the student’s dean(s) and must notify these offices immediately of any changes. Official correspondence is sent to the postal or e-mail address last given to the registrar; if the student has failed to correct this address, he or she will not be relieved of responsibility on the grounds that the correspondence was not delivered.

SUMMONS TO ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICES

A summons to the office of any administrative officer must be observed. Failure to respond to a summons may result in suspension from the University. A summons to the dean may be sent by post or by e-mail, so it is important that the student keep both the dean and the registrar informed of all current addresses.

OFFICIAL COMMUNICATIONS WITH THE UNIVERSITY

Students are expected to attend to business matters with the University during regular working hours, Monday through Friday. A student who is unable to conduct business personally should contact the appropriate office by mail or telephone. For purposes of proper identification and clarity, written communications should include the student’s name, public user name (UT EID), and local address (if applicable).

Electronic mail, like postal mail, is a mechanism for official University communication to students. Policies on the use of e-mail for official communication are given in Appendix M, pages 271–272.
5. Student Affairs

The vice president for student affairs administers the Division of Student Affairs, which encompasses the Counseling and Mental Health Center; the Office of the Dean of Students; Student Financial Services; University Health Services; the Division of Housing and Food Service; the Sanger Learning and Career Center; the Division of Recreational Sports; the Office of the Registrar; and the University Unions. The vice president shares administrative responsibilities for Texas Student Media with its Board of Operating Trustees. The vice president serves as liaison between the president of the University and the directors of these units, and provides leadership in the development of programs that supplement the classroom experience and enrich the quality of campus life.

OFFICE OF THE DEAN OF STUDENTS

The Office of the Dean of Students is an inclusive environment that fosters individual growth and social responsibility through student-centered programs and services.

Greek Life and Intercultural Education serves as liaison to the Interfraternity, National Pan-Hellenic, Texas Asian Pan-Hellenic, Latino Pan-Hellenic, and University Panhellenic Councils and affiliated organizations. The area also works to build partnerships and collaborations that promote diversity, social justice, and social responsibility. Legal Services for Students provides advice, representation, access to mediation, and other services to students with legal problems. The area also offers seminars, workshops, and presentations to student groups and classes to educate students about legal issues before conflicts arise. New Student Services administers the pre-semester and summer orientation sessions for new students, events at the beginning of the fall semester, and various programs, activities, and services for students in their first year on campus. Program Safety Education Services coordinates risk management and safety programs and resources for student organizations. These services are designed to minimize potential harm and ensure student well-being during co-curricular activities. Student Activities and Leadership Development registers student organizations; provides facilities, information, leadership training, and other administrative services for student organizations and activities on the campus; and manages the Student Organization Center. Student Emergency Services provides immediate professional assistance to students who are faced with emergencies. Emergencies include, but are not limited to, interpersonal or sexual violence, missing students, student death or serious injury, weather-related disasters, and loss of residence due to fire. Student Judicial Services Student Affairs implements and interprets University regulations related to student behavior and works with faculty members regarding academic dishonesty. Student Government and the Senate of College Councils are advised and supported by Legislative Student Organizations.

RECREATIONAL SPORTS

The Division of Recreational Sports develops and conducts programs through which students, faculty members, and staff members may participate in recreational activities. Intramural tournaments and events are scheduled throughout the year for individual, dual, and team participation. The tournaments and events are organized to provide separate competition among coeducational teams, teams for men, and teams for women. Sport clubs provide an opportunity to participate in a single sport on a continuing basis. About forty clubs, ranging from aikido to lacrosse to sailing, are active each semester. Outdoor Recreation provides equipment rental and supervised trips in a variety of activities such as backpacking, camping, canoeing, riding, kayaking, nature hiking, and rock climbing. Opportunities through Fitness and Wellness include group fitness and mind/body classes, personal training, and massage services. The Instructional Program provides safety education and aquatics classes.

In addition to structured sports programs, the division promotes the concept of informal recreational use of athletic facilities through the Informal Recreation Program. A reservation service is available for most activity areas, and facilities are supervised to enhance the enjoyment of participants.

Programs, activities, and facilities are open to all currently registered students as well as faculty members, staff members, and the spouses and children of students, faculty members, and staff members who purchase membership in Recreational Sports. Facilities are available to children at designated times only.

Participants may check out sports equipment at the Recreational Sports Center and Gregory Gymnasium. The Gregory Gym store sells sports equipment, clothing, personal hygiene items, and snacks. Gregory Gymnasium provides an additional service to participants by renting outdoor equipment at the Outdoor Center.

DIVISION OF HOUSING AND FOOD SERVICE

Students at the University may choose to live on or off campus. The University does not extend approved housing status to any residential unit except those that are owned and operated by the University. The Division of Housing and Food Service will not be a party to the enforcement of any contract between students, parents, and landlords of privately owned student housing; however, Legal Services for Students may provide assistance with tenant-landlord disputes.
Both undergraduate and graduate students are eligible to live in University-owned housing. Freshmen are encouraged to consider living in University residence halls. The experience of many students indicates that adjustment to University life is often easier for those who live on campus. Research has shown that students who live in residence halls are more fully involved in academic and extracurricular activities, earn higher grade point averages, more frequently exceed predicted levels of learning and personal development, and more frequently complete their college education within four years than students who live off campus.

A brief description of University housing follows. More information about housing is available at http://www.utexas.edu/student/housing/ and from The University of Texas at Austin, Division of Housing and Food Service, P O Box 7666, Austin TX 78713-7666. Institutional rules on University-owned residences are given on pages 174–177.

Applying for housing in University residence halls. Students may apply to live on campus after they have completed the admission application. Contracts are offered to incoming freshmen who are admitted to the University and have paid the enrollment deposit. More information about the housing application process is available at http://bealonghorn.utexas.edu/.

University-owned residence hall for men. The University residence hall for men is Creekside Residence Hall, which can accommodate about 200 students.

University-owned residence halls for women. The University owns and operates two residence halls that accommodate 896 women: Kinsolving and Littlefield. Freshman women who apply for housing with Littlefield as their first building choice are given priority consideration for assignment to Littlefield.

University-owned residence halls for men and women. Jester Center, Whitis Court, San Jacinto Hall, Almetris Duren Hall, Brackenridge Hall, Prather Hall, Moore-Hill, and Roberts Hall accommodate 5,372 students. Andrews, Blanton, and Carothers honors residence halls accommodate about 530 students.

University-owned apartments. The University Apartments, located in off-campus areas that have shuttle bus service, are open to families, single parents with children, single graduate students, and single undergraduates who have completed at least thirty semester hours of coursework. Gateway Apartments and Colorado Apartments have a total of about four hundred air-conditioned, unfurnished units; Brackenridge Apartments have about three hundred one-, two-, and three-bedroom, air-conditioned, unfurnished units. Rates for Colorado Apartments include gas and water. Rates for all other units include only water. Residents pay for electricity in all units. Apartment contracts may be signed up to sixty days before move-in. More information about University apartments is available at http://www.utexas.edu/student/housing/ and from The University of Texas at Austin, University Apartments, 3501 Lake Austin Boulevard, Austin TX 78703-5533.
Privately owned housing. A wide range of privately owned housing is available for men, women, and families in the University community. Arrangements for living in these residence halls, rooming and boarding houses, cooperative houses, apartments, and private homes are made directly with the management of each residence. The Division of Housing and Food Service maintains a list of Web sites that list available residences. The list is available through the link “Related Sites” at the Housing and Food Service Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/student/housing/.

The University accepts no responsibility for the terms of rental or the accommodations offered and will not be a party to the enforcement of contracts between students, parents, and landlords for privately owned housing.

STUDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES

The Office of Student Financial Services offers financial assistance to students who might otherwise be unable to attend the University. Financial aid awarded through the office may be gift aid, which includes grants and scholarships, or self-help aid, which includes student employment programs and long-term loans. Most financial aid is based on documented financial need. Financial need is the difference between the cost of attending the University and the financial resources available to the student.

To apply for financial assistance, a student must complete a need analysis form each year. The office requires the student to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) at http://www.fafsa.ed.gov/ to be evaluated for financial need. The need analysis helps the office assess available family resources and determine eligibility for specific aid programs.

Students who attend the University only in the summer session are not eligible for financial aid through the Office of Student Financial Services.

Estimated costs. The following are estimated typical costs for tuition, fees, room, board, books, travel, and personal and miscellaneous items for a new single student living in University-owned housing for the long session (fall and spring semesters) 2010–2011. The tuition amounts included in these figures are based on an average course load of fifteen semester hours for undergraduates and nine semester hours for graduate students.

Application dates. The University strongly recommends that all students complete the FAFSA by the University’s FAFSA priority date. More information about the FAFSA priority date and financial aid is published by Student Financial Services at http://finaid.utexas.edu/. This information is also available by mail from The University of Texas at Austin, Office of Student Financial Services, P O Box 7758, Austin TX 78713-7758. A student may apply for financial aid before being officially admitted to the University, but the awarding of aid is contingent upon admission. Aid cannot be disbursed until the student is officially enrolled.
Prospective freshmen apply for scholarships by completing the freshman scholarship application in ApplyTexas, https://www.applytexas.org/, the online admission and scholarship application. Continuing and transfer students may apply for annually awarded scholarships by completing the online continuing and transfer scholarship application, http://www.texasscholarships.org/apply/continuing/CSA.html. More information, including deadlines, is published on the Office of Student Financial Services Web site, http://finaid.utexas.edu/.

Course load requirements. Most financial aid programs are based on a minimum full-time enrollment of twelve hours for undergraduate students and nine to sixteen hours for graduate students, depending on the student’s academic program. Students may receive financial aid for less than full-time enrollment with the approval of their financial aid counselor. Some aid programs require that assistance be reduced proportionately for less than full-time enrollment. To receive financial assistance for the summer session, students must enroll for classes in a six-week term, the nine-week term, or the twelve-week term.

Changes in financial circumstances. Students are responsible for reporting to the Office of Student Financial Services any change in their financial resources that occurs after the initial application for aid is submitted. A documented decrease in resources may provide for an increase in financial aid if funds are available; an increase in resources may result in a reduction or cancellation of financial aid funds or a requirement to repay awards already released to the student.

Satisfactory progress. To be eligible for financial assistance, a student must maintain a satisfactory academic record. A satisfactory academic record is measured by quality, progress, and quantity. The quality measurement requires undergraduates to maintain a grade point average of 2.00 and graduate students to maintain a grade point average of 3.00. Progress means completing the appropriate number of hours for the semester, as determined by the Office of Student Financial Services; for example, an undergraduate must usually enroll in and complete twelve hours a semester. The quantity measurement allows a maximum of 150 hours for an undergraduate degree (175 hours for majors in pharmacy and architecture) and between 40 and 160 hours for a graduate degree, depending on the program.

Types of Financial Aid

A student who submits a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) is considered for all federal, state, and institutional funds that are administered by the Office of Student Financial Services on behalf of the University. A student’s award package usually is a combination of gift aid and self-help aid. The composition of the aid package depends on the characteristics of the student, including program eligibility and degree of financial need, as well as on the availability of funds.
Gift Aid

Students who apply for financial help by the priority deadline are considered for all gift aid awards administered through the Office of Student Financial Services. To be considered for a Federal Pell Grant, a student must be an undergraduate and must not have received a bachelor’s degree. Most scholarships and grants awarded through the FAFSA process are based on financial need. The office also administers some programs based on merit. In addition to specific qualifications for competitive undergraduate scholarships and fellowships awarded by the University, the committee or agency responsible for selecting recipients for a given scholarship or fellowship may consider such factors as the following in designating recipients:

- Standardized test scores
- Class rank
- Grade point average
- Leadership and extracurricular activities
- Status in national academic competitions
- Academic performance within a major and other performance criteria
- Financial need
- Socioeconomic background
- Educational level

Self-Help Aid

Long-Term Loans

Federal loan programs are available to assist students who show financial need. These programs have interest rates that may be adjusted annually and do not require repayment of principle or interest until the student has graduated or is no longer enrolled at least half-time. In addition, the loans offer a grace period between the time the student leaves school and the time repayment begins. Deferment or cancellation of repayment is available for situations such as military service, periods of unemployment, or teaching service in designated schools.

Federal and state loans are also available both to students and to the parents of students who do not show financial need. Interest rates on these loans are set by federal and state law. Under certain conditions, repayment of these loans may be deferred while the student is enrolled in school.

Employment

The Work-Study program provides jobs for students who show financial need and want to earn part of their educational expenses while attending school. The majority of Work-Study jobs are on campus, though some may be with off-campus nonprofit agencies. Depending on their education and experience, students may choose from a variety of employment opportunities. Most jobs require fifteen or fewer hours of work a week.
Special Services for Financial Aid Recipients

For aid recipients who show a high degree of financial need, these services are available: (1) orientation fee waivers and (2) tutorial assistance programs. Information is available from the Office of Student Financial Services.

Other Services Not Based on Financial Need

Short-term loans are available to students for emergency expenses related to educational costs. In addition, the Office of Student Financial Services helps students find part-time, temporary, or full-time employment through Hire a Longhorn, http://www.hirealonghorn.org/. Employment is usually off-campus, and there is no charge to the student or the employer. Information about these services is available at the Office of Student Financial Services.

Requirements for Student Borrowers

Mandatory counseling sessions. Prior to receiving the first disbursement of a Federal Direct Subsidized or Unsubsidized Loan or Federal Perkins Loan, student borrowers must complete a loan counseling session, in which they receive information about their obligations, rights, and privileges as borrowers. In addition, before withdrawal or graduation from the University, student loan recipients under these programs must complete an exit interview to receive additional information about their repayment obligations and about the consequences of failure to repay.

Identification and release of official transcript. Records of students who have received loans are identified to the Office of the Registrar. Students may not obtain official academic transcripts if they fail to repay federal, state, or University loans under the terms and conditions to which they agreed when they applied for the loans.

Tuition Refunds and Repayment of Financial Aid

Students who are awarded financial assistance for a specific semester but withdraw prior to the beginning of classes are required to repay the University all funds released. Students who withdraw after the beginning of classes may be required to repay at least some portion of the funds received. The amount to be repaid is calculated according to a repayment policy determined by the Office of Student Financial Services in accordance with federal regulations. Repayment varies depending on the amount and type of funds received and when the student withdraws. Any refund of tuition due to a student may be used to meet the aid repayment requirement.

Students who received financial assistance may have all or part of the calculated refund credited to the student aid programs from which the student was paid. The remaining refund, if any, will be disbursed to the student.
Federal regulations require that refunds due to student aid programs be credited in the following order: (1) Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan; (2) Federal Direct Subsidized Loan; (3) Federal Perkins Loan; (4) Federal Direct Grad Plus; (5) Federal Direct Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students (PLUS); (6) Federal Pell Grant; (7) Federal Academic Competitiveness Grant; (8) National SMART Grant; (9) Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant; (10) other federal student aid programs; (11) nonfederal student aid programs. Nonfederal student aid programs are refunded in the following order: (1) state grants; (2) institution grants; (3) state loans; (4) scholarships, if specified by donor.

OFFICE OF THE REGISTRAR

The role of the Office of the Registrar is to create, maintain, certify, and protect the University’s records of courses, degrees, and students. Among the office’s core functions are to maintain the official course inventory; to publish catalogs, course schedules, final exam schedules, and the academic calendar; to coordinate the use of classrooms; to register students for classes and to manage the add/drop process; to ensure the accuracy and privacy of student academic records; to collect grades and determine students’ scholastic status; to issue diplomas, transcripts, and certifications of enrollment status; to determine and certify students’ academic progress; and to identify, adopt, develop, and deploy technological services related to the core functions of the office, the student service needs of the University, and the higher education community in the United States.

A detailed description of the items included in the academic record and on the transcript is given on pages 196–198. More information about the registrar’s office, including contact information for each section, is given on the office’s Web site, http://registrar.utexas.edu/. The Web site also provides easy access to the Course Schedule, online catalogs, and academic calendars, and to secure sites where students may register for classes, update their personal information, request and view degree audits, and order transcripts.

UNIVERSITY HEALTH SERVICES

University Health Services, located in the Student Services Building, is a fully accredited ambulatory health care facility. It provides medical and health promotion services for currently enrolled students and for some nonstudents who are officially enrolled in certain University programs.

The medical staff includes physicians who are board certified in family practice, internal medicine, pediatrics, and sports medicine. University Health Services has its own pharmacy, laboratory, and x-ray facilities. Students are encouraged to choose a member of the medical services staff as their primary care provider to ensure continuity of care while at the University.

For nonurgent health concerns, students are required to schedule appointments by calling (512) 471-4955 between 8:00 AM and 5:00 PM on weekdays. Students who have conditions that need immediate medical attention for non–life-threatening illnesses or injuries, as determined by the University Health Services clinical staff, may be seen in the Urgent Care Clinic. The Urgent Care Clinic is open from 8:00 AM until 5:00 PM Monday through Friday and from 11:00 AM until 3:00 PM on Saturday and Sunday during the long session. Operating hours for summer, holidays, and between semesters are posted on the University Health Services Web site, http://healthyhorns.utexas.edu/.

A student who has a medical emergency should go directly to an emergency facility or call Emergency Medical Services at 911.

The Nurse Advice Line, (512) 475-NURS (475-6877), is available twenty-four hours a day to offer advice about illness or injury. Medical treatment during the hours University Health Services is closed must be obtained from a community health care service and must be paid for by the student.

Health promotion services are designed to encourage healthy lifestyles and contribute to optimal lifelong well-being. Programs cover a variety of health-related topics, including alcohol and drug education and counseling, sexual health, methods of contraception, nutrition education, smoking cessation, travel health education, stress management, and general health information. Audiovisual and printed materials on a variety of health issues are available through the Health Promotion Resource Center, (512) 475-8252.

Charges apply for most services provided at University Health Services, with the exception of many educational services offered by the Health Promotion Resource Center. These charges are generally lower than charges for comparable services in the community. Students who miss a clinical appointment without canceling at least two hours in advance and those who miss an appointment with a registered dietician without canceling at least twenty-four hours in advance will incur a no-show charge. The University Health Services Web site, http://healthyhorns.utexas.edu/, has general information about charges and additional information about policies and procedures.

Students sometimes are affected by medical conditions beyond the scope of services offered by University Health Services. Payment for services at other medical and psychiatric facilities is the sole responsibility of the student; therefore, every student is advised to purchase student health insurance or to have sufficient insurance coverage under an existing policy. Additional information about the student health insurance plan is given on page 71.

Students decide at the end of each appointment whether they want University Health Services to file an insurance claim for them. However, University Health Services cannot guarantee that the student’s insurance company will pay for any charges incurred. Students are responsible for any co-pay, co-insurance, or deductible required by the insurance company. The University Health Services Pharmacy accepts most major prescription drug insurance plans.

University Health Services clinicians do not provide written excuses for patients who miss classes or assignment deadlines due to illness. Any accommodations for absences or missed deadlines are strictly between the student and the instructor. Students may request a Visit Verification Form at the time of a visit to University Health Services. The form verifies only the date and time of the visit. It does not provide any information about the reason for the visit. However, a student with special medical circumstances may apply to Services for Students with Disabilities for a letter to the appropriate authority on the student’s behalf to request a course load reduction, medical withdrawal, or other accommodation. The application and additional information are available at http://healthyhorns.utexas.edu/medicalwithdrawals.html.

COUNSELING AND MENTAL HEALTH CENTER

The Counseling and Mental Health Center assists students in coping effectively with aspects of their personal, social, and psychological growth so they may realize the full academic benefit of their college experience. Services include short-term individual counseling; group counseling; walk-in and telephone crisis counseling; psychiatric evaluation and medication, if indicated; and programs designed to assist students in personal growth and development. The Integrated Health Program offers a self-paced MindBody Lab for stress reduction and biofeedback, and various classes on stress management and mindfulness. The Voices Against Violence Program works with issues of relationship and sexual violence and stalking. It provides counseling and advocacy services, as well as outreach and training.

The Counseling and Mental Health Center is staffed by counseling and clinical psychologists, psychiatrists, social workers, and professional counselors. It is approved by the American Psychological Association for internship training and cooperates with the Departments of Psychology and Educational Psychology and the School of Social Work in training intern and practicum students.

The center is committed to the promotion and affirmation of diversity in its broadest sense. Its mission requires that people of every background be able to use its services with the expectation of respectful treatment. The center’s Statement on Diversity is published online at http://cmhc.utexas.edu/diversity.html.

The center believes in the importance of students using their University experience to gain skills needed for effective functioning in a complex society. Programs focus on the motivational, social, and emotional development of students; provide support systems where necessary; address problems that can affect day-to-day living; and generally prepare the student to respond more effectively to the challenges of University living. The center also provides support to the University community following traumatic events affecting University students. Prevention and outreach services are extended to the University community through educational and consultative programs.

The Counseling and Mental Health Center, located on the fifth floor of the Student Services Building, 100-A West Dean Keeton Street, is open 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM weekdays. The telephone number is (512) 471-3515. The Web site is http://cmhc.utexas.edu/.

The center provides a telephone counseling service that can be reached twenty-four hours a day every day, including holidays. The telephone number is (512) 471-CALL (471-2253).
CAREER CENTER

The Career Center assists students in making decisions about their academic majors and career goals through self-assessment, standardized career tests, and professional career counseling. The center is staffed by professional counselors who specialize in career services. The center has a comprehensive library with thousands of resources for major and career exploration, internship preparation, and graduate or professional school planning.

Services are free to currently enrolled students, but there is a nominal fee for tests. Graduates of the University are eligible for services at the center for one year after graduation. Graduates are charged a small fee for services.

The Career Center and resource library, located in Jester Center A115A, is open 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM Monday through Friday and until 7:00 PM on Tuesday. Students can make an appointment to see a counselor. The telephone number is (512) 471-1217. The Web site is http://www.utexas.edu/student/cec/.

LEARNING CENTER

The Learning Center provides academic support services to all University students. It offers both group and individual programs designed to help students increase their efficiency in college-level reading, writing, mathematics, and science. In addition, the center conducts classes in speed reading, study strategies, and selected calculus topics; final exam reviews for specific mathematics courses; and preparation for graduate school admission tests.

An integral part of the center, Tutorial Services offers tutoring by appointment for many University courses; drop-in tutoring for selected natural sciences and mathematics courses; writing consultations to assist graduate students with their writing projects; and developmental studies in mathematics, reading, and writing. The program is internationally certified by the College Reading and Learning Association at the regular, advanced, and master tutor levels.

A walk-in counseling service is available for students who want to speak privately with a learning specialist about study-related issues. Common topics include academic anxiety, note-taking, reading efficiency, test-taking, learning styles, memory, organization, academic motivation, goal-setting, and time management. Specialists are available Monday through Friday from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM, and sessions are about twenty minutes long. Follow-up support, as needed, may be a private appointment with a learning specialist, weekly meetings with a trained peer academic coach, or both.

The center’s campus outreach includes overviews of Learning Center services as well as presentations on study skills for University classes, groups, and organizations. The Supplemental Instruction Program trains teaching assistants and undergraduates to lead discussion sections in which they integrate effective learning strategies with course content to assist students in historically difficult entry-level courses. The Peer-led Undergraduate Studying Program trains undergraduate volunteers enrolled in large classes.
to function primarily as study group leaders through workshops in learning skills and weekly meetings with teaching assistants and faculty members.

Located in Jester Center A332A, the Learning Center is open Monday through Friday from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM. The telephone number is (512) 471-3614. The Web site is http://www.utexas.edu/student/utlc/.

THE UNIVERSITY UNIONS

The University Unions act as the community center for the University, offering activities, programs, services, and facilities that complement the academic mission and focus on student development. The unions offer a wide variety of food services and items in stores, restaurants, and mobile food carts located throughout the campus.

The University Unions serve the University as community centers, providing facilities, services, and programs for students, faculty members, staff members, alumni, and friends of the University.

Programs are offered for intellectual, cultural, social, and recreational development. The unions coordinate beneficial co-curricular activities, promote genuine democracy, help cultivate responsible citizenship, and facilitate an intelligent interest in and deeper affection for the University. Through the many opportunities provided by the University Unions, students can strengthen their leadership experience, self-expression, and management skills.

The Board of Directors recommends policy for the University Unions. The voting membership of the board includes six students and three faculty members. The executive director of the University Unions and the vice president for student affairs, or the vice president’s delegate, serve as ex officio members without vote.

DIVISION OF DIVERSITY AND COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

The Division of Diversity and Community Engagement (DDCE) works with a broad range of student, faculty, staff, and community constituents to help make the University a national model for diversity in higher education. The division strives to create an inclusive community on campus that fosters an open and robust learning environment that supports all students and faculty and staff members. The division includes the units and programs listed below. A complete list of DDCE programs is published by the division at http://www.utexas.edu/diversity/ddce/strategic_list.php.

The Community Engagement Center in East Austin serves as a center for community activities. It houses the Regional Foundation Library, which offers services that help students, faculty members, and the public find funding for research projects and nonprofit activities. It also houses the Institute for Community, University, and School Partnerships; the Free Minds program; the Community Engagement Incubator; and the Community Engagement Collaborative. Diversity Education Initiatives provides diversity training to departments on campus and organizations outside the University. Equal Opportunity Services aids the University in fulfilling the intent and spirit of equal opportunity laws by providing equitable resolutions to complaints and striving for an environment free of discrimination. The Gender and Sexuality Center provides resources for all members of the campus community to explore and organize around issues of gender and sexuality through education and outreach. The Hogg Foundation for Mental Health funds and advocates for programs in mental health service research and public policy analysis. The Institute for Community, University, and School Partnerships works in underserved high schools and middle schools, providing a youth leadership initiative designed to improve achievement and promote a college-going culture among the students who take part. Intellectual Entrepreneurship uses entrepreneurship as a method for promoting student success on campus, collaboration among disciplines, and student impact on community issues through internship and mentoring opportunities. The Longhorn Center for Academic Excellence offers a variety of programs and services to assist University students, including the Gateway Scholars Programs, the McNair Scholars Program, and the Longhorn Link program. The Multicultural Information Center develops and provides training to students for the multicultural and diverse society in which we live. Pre-College Youth Development helps students from underrepresented groups across the state prepare for college; it includes programs like Neighborhood Longhorns, SPURS, University Outreach, and ChemBridge. Services for Students with Disabilities works to ensure that all students have equal access to the University’s programs and services. Eligibility and specific accommodations are based on appropriate documentation and individual student needs. Through Thematic Initiatives, DDCE collaborates with colleges and departments across campus to identify underrepresented areas of scholarship and then to find faculty members to fill them. Thematic Initiatives also includes a faculty fellows program that provides funding to faculty members who are conducting research that is linked to the community. The University Interscholastic League, created by the University to provide leadership and guidance to public school debate and athletics teachers, has grown into the largest organization of its kind in the world. The Volunteer and Service Learning Center coordinates and supports volunteer and service learning opportunities for University students and faculty and staff members.

INTERNATIONAL OFFICE

The International Office coordinates and administers programs that serve international students, faculty members, staff members, and visitors to the University, as well as University students going abroad. The office is located in Wooldridge Hall, 600 West 24th Street, and is open 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM Monday through Friday. The telephone number is (512) 471-1211.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT AND SCHOLAR SERVICES

Advisers who are aware of the demands associated with studying in another country are available to assist international students with matters related to their immigration status, cross-cultural adjustment, orientation to the University, financial aid, health insurance, housing, legal issues, employment, income tax status, social security regulations, and personal problems or concerns. International Student and Scholar Services (ISSS) also assists in case of an emergency involving an international student or the student's family. More information about ISSS office hours and services is published by the International Office at http://www.utexas.edu/international/isss/.

Sponsored Student Program. International students and sponsors of international students are provided advisers, special financial arrangements, required certifications, and supervision while in academic status and under sponsorship.

SEVIS and immigration regulation compliance. Student immigration advisers are available to assist international students with issues regarding immigration status and the immigration service. For example, in accordance with immigration regulations, an international student who seeks to be enrolled for fewer than twelve hours as an undergraduate or fewer than nine hours as a graduate student is referred to the International Office. Withdrawal petitions for international students are referred to the International Office before final action is taken by the appropriate academic dean's office.

Special programs. The office administers special contract programs consistent with the academic objectives of the University and handles special arrangements for groups, including visiting representatives of other nations.

Mandatory health insurance. The Student Health Insurance Program is mandatory for international students, and the cost is included in the student’s tuition bill each semester. A student who has an acceptable level of coverage under another insurance plan may request a waiver of the mandatory plan through ISSS prior to the twelfth class day each semester. The minimum acceptable level of coverage is $50,000 per accident or illness, with a deductible that does not exceed $500 per accident or illness; $10,000 for medical evacuation to the home country; and $7,500 for repatriation. Dependents in J-2 (exchange visitor) status are also required to have an acceptable level of coverage.

English as a Second Language Services

Several kinds of classes in English for nonnative speakers are available through ESL Services. More information about ESL Services is published by the International Office at http://www.utexas.edu/student/esl/.

Classes for University graduate students. ESL Services offers several courses for graduate students who would like to improve their English or are required by their departments to do so. Each three-semester-hour course counts toward full-time enrollment, but the courses do not count toward degree requirements. Courses are available in oral communication, academic writing, communication for international teaching assistants, and basic speaking skills for potential international teaching assistants. More information about ESL classes for graduate students is published by the International Office at http://www.utexas.edu/student/esl/gradcourses.html.
Classes for everyone. ESL Services offers two intensive English programs that are open to adult nonnative speakers of English. The Academic English Program (AEP) is a full-time academic program for prospective graduate students who have completed their first university degree and plan to pursue a master’s or doctoral degree in the United States. English proficiency at the intermediate level or above is required for admission to the program. The English Language Program (ELP) provides both full-time and part-time instruction in general-purpose English for students at all levels of English proficiency, including prospective undergraduates and those interested in improving their communication skills. Both programs offer optional test preparation instruction for the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) and other admission tests. Discounts are available for part-time study by University students, staff members, and faculty members and University-affiliated family members.

Study Abroad

The Study Abroad Office provides information on educational opportunities in other countries, including study abroad, exchange, international internships, research abroad, and study abroad scholarships. Information sessions are offered each week; students must attend a session before seeking staff assistance in selecting the program most appropriate to their needs and interests. The sessions include University policies governing study abroad, program options, funding sources, and application and selection procedures. Information is also disseminated through publications, special events, group meetings, individual appointments, reference materials, and the office’s Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/student/abroad/.

University programs available to students include reciprocal exchanges with foreign universities; affiliated studies through other organizations and institutions; faculty-led programs, including Maymesters Abroad; and international study and research. Students pay a $50 fee to defray the cost of processing applications and of tracking study-abroad applicants and students who are abroad; the fee also encourages students to think carefully about the application to go abroad. The application fee is nonrefundable, regardless of whether the student is accepted by or enrolls in a program.

Exchange programs. Exchange programs allow UT Austin students to enroll at a partner university abroad while continuing to pay UT Austin tuition. These cost-effective programs integrate UT Austin students into the host university and provide access to courses applicable to UT Austin degree plans. Students in exchange programs register for a block of coursework in study abroad (SAB). Faculty members in the appropriate academic departments review the student’s work to identify equivalent University courses; the Study Abroad Office staff converts grades from the system used by the host institution into their University equivalents. Courses and grades are recorded as resident credit.

Affiliated programs. Students register for affiliated studies (A S) when they participate in study abroad programs offered by organizations and institutions with which the University has an affiliation agreement. Students enrolled in affiliated studies pay a fee of $400 per semester and are considered full-time students by the University.

After a student takes part in a program offered under an affiliation agreement, University faculty members in the appropriate academic units review the student’s work to identify the equivalent University courses. Courses and grades appear on the student’s academic record, but they are not included in the University grade point average. In some circumstances, affiliated studies credit is treated as resident credit; more information is given in the general requirements for graduation in chapter 1 of the undergraduate catalog.

Faculty-led programs. Academic units may offer courses taught abroad as a part of their regular curriculum. Students who take these courses follow normal registration procedures and are assessed normal tuition and fees. Additional fees are charged to cover program costs.

International study and research. Students may register for international study and research (ISR) if they are conducting research or studying independently abroad. Enrollment requires the approval of the student’s faculty sponsor, graduate adviser (for graduate students) or departmental undergraduate adviser (for undergraduates), and the Study Abroad Office. The approval may cover up to four consecutive long-session semesters and contiguous summer sessions.

Students enrolled in international study and research pay a fee of $400 and are considered full-time students by the University.

Students who register for international study and research are not guaranteed credit for work completed abroad. Students must consult with the departmental undergraduate adviser or the graduate adviser and with the Graduate and International Admissions Center to determine whether credit will be granted.

Financial assistance. Financial aid, including loans, scholarships, and grants, may be applied toward the cost of study abroad. If study abroad costs exceed the on-campus cost of attending the University, and if the student is eligible for additional aid, the Office of Student Financial Services will repackage the student’s aid award based on the budget submitted by the Study Abroad Office. Although students registered for international study and research abroad are not eligible to receive federal financial aid, they may use scholarships and grants awarded by the University and outside agencies.

Information about other funding opportunities for study abroad is available in the Study Abroad Office. The office administers the campus competition for a number of grants, including the National Security Education Program (NSEP) grants, the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) grants, regional IIE awards, and the University’s International Education Fee Scholarship (IEFS).

Mandatory health insurance. International health insurance is mandatory for all University students studying, conducting research, or representing the University abroad. The student’s level of coverage must meet standards set by the University. International students approved for international study and research must maintain student health insurance in addition to study abroad insurance. Information about student health insurance for overseas activities is available from the International Office.

Transfer Credit Policies for Coursework from International Institutions

Evaluation by the Office of Admissions of course credit earned at an international institution does not constitute approval of the credit for use toward a degree; such approval is solely within the jurisdiction of the student’s academic dean. Policies governing the evaluation of transfer credit from international institutions include the following.

1. Transfer credit is generally awarded for academic course credit earned from Ministry of Education–accredited institutions.
2. Rules governing the assignment of transfer credit from United States institutions also apply to transfer credit from international institutions. These rules are given on pages 24–26.
3. To receive credit, the student must earn a grade that is comparable to a C- on the grading scale used at the University. The Graduate and International Admissions Center establishes grading scale equivalencies for international institutions.
4. If the credit was not earned as part of a University-affiliated study abroad program, the symbol CR (credit) will appear on the student’s University record instead of a letter grade.
5. Transfer credit from a nonaffiliated study abroad (language and culture) program is not assigned a specific University course number. Instead, undesignated credit may be recorded, and the student’s academic dean will determine the specific credit to be allowed for degree purposes on a substitution basis. Both current and previously enrolled University students who attend a nonaffiliated study abroad program may be required, at the discretion of the appropriate language department, to take an examination to earn credit for specific language courses.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Established in 1902 (as the Students’ Association), Student Government serves as a recognized forum for student opinion. The membership includes every student enrolled at the University; official actions of the organization are carried out by the Executive Board, the Assembly, and the Judiciary.

Student Government was instrumental in establishing many student services, including University Health Services, the summer orientation program, the shuttle bus system, a walking escort service, a multicultural information center, childcare services, student cable television, and student radio. Student Government also provides input and initiatives to the University administration, the city council, and the state legislature on such matters as minority recruitment and retention, curriculum reform, tuition increases, faculty evaluations, class availability, and the quality of undergraduate education. Student Government appoints students to the Faculty Council, the University Unions Board of Directors, and the Student Services Budget Committee, and nominates students to the standing committees of the General Faculty.

Student Government projects cover a wide range of issues; any student may join a committee and work on a project. Elections for president, vice president, and members of the Assembly are held each spring. More information about Student Government is available at http://www.utexas.edu/studentgov/ and in the Student Government office, Student Services Building 4.206, (512) 471-3166.

SENATE OF COLLEGE COUNCILS

The Senate of College Councils is the coordinating body for the individual college councils, which are composed of student leaders enrolled in the University’s undergraduate colleges and schools. Since 1973, the Senate of College Councils has worked directly with the councils to promote academic programs, to encourage teaching excellence, and to provide student opinion on academic issues to the administration. The group’s major responsibilities include selecting the recipients of the Texas Excellence Teaching Awards and honoring students selected for Who’s Who in American Colleges and Universities. The Senate of College Councils reviews the budgetary policies and approves the annual budgets of each of the college councils funded by the Student Services Budget Committee. Two members serve on the Faculty Council, which is responsible for evaluating undergraduate curricular changes and degree programs for the University. The Senate of College Councils also works with Student Government to accomplish goals that benefit all University students. The Senate of College Councils office is located on the fourth floor of the Student Services Building; interested students should call (512) 471-3166 for additional information or visit the Senate of College Councils Web site, http://utsenate.org/.

GRADUATE STUDENT ASSEMBLY

The Graduate Student Assembly (GSA) has been the official representative body for graduate students since 1994. Other groups, including the Council of Graduate Students, represented graduate students between 1968 and 1994. GSA addresses issues that are important to its constituents, not only as students but also as teaching assistants, research assistants, and assistant instructors. GSA reports administratively to the vice provost and dean of graduate studies. Administrative expenses are funded through an allocation from students’ tuition.

The objectives of GSA are to represent the views of graduate students to the University community and the community at large; to facilitate graduate student communication and interaction; to gather and disseminate information pertinent to graduate students; to conduct activities that promote the general welfare of graduate students; and to provide a means of assisting in the selection of graduate student members of departmental, college, and University bodies.
More information about GSA, including contact information for officers, current representatives, meeting agendas and minutes, and current and past activities, is available at the GSA Web site, http://www.utgsa.org/.

STUDENT MEDIA

Student media at the University are governed by an eleven-member Board of Operating Trustees that includes students, faculty members, and practicing media professionals. Texas Student Media (TSM) is the largest student media enterprise in the country, with an annual budget of $3.3 million. It publishes the Cactus yearbook, the campus’s oldest student publication, as well as the Daily Texan, one of the most award-winning college daily newspapers in the United States. TSM also is responsible for the acclaimed student television and radio stations TSTV and KVRX, and for the popular campus humor magazine Texas Travesty. TSM publishes the campus phone directory and a University visitor guide and operates online media for all of its enterprises.

LEGAL SERVICES FOR STUDENTS

Legal Services for Students offers currently enrolled students advice, representation, access to mediation, free notary services, and referrals for legal issues. These services are available by appointment; appointments may be made either online or in person. No fees are charged for advice, referral, or general assistance, but payment of court costs and other trial related expenses may be required if the office agrees to handle a student’s case. The office reserves the right to accept or decline any individual case and to determine the type of legal representation that it will provide.

Representation may be provided in most civil legal matters. Representation may also be provided in misdemeanor criminal matters, unless the student is alleged to have committed the crime against another currently enrolled student, if the case involved a repeat offense, or if the detention or the detention and arrest involved the University of Texas at Austin Police Department. Cases normally accepted for representation include, but are not limited to, landlord-tenant disputes, consumer protection matters, minor claims resulting from automobile accidents, employment disputes, expunctions, credit card complaints, and auto repair matters. The office also prepares simple wills. The attorneys are also available to speak to University classes and organizations on request.

Legal Services for Students will not advise or represent students regarding disputes involving the University or any of its entities, student-owned businesses (including the student as a landlord), complex wills, immigration matters, medical malpractice, tax law, patent law, legal advice for a matter the student is not directly involved in, or if the adverse party is also a currently enrolled University student. Consultation, but not representation, is available in the following instances: felony criminal matters, family law, cases that may be litigated outside of Travis County, significant fee-generating cases, name changes, towing cases, and copyright issues.
OFFICE OF THE OMBUDSPERSON

The mission of the Office of the Ombudsperson is to provide a safe and confidential environment where students can voice concerns related to life at the University. Listening from a neutral and informal perspective, the office helps students discover pathways and options for effective conflict resolution. Through analysis, the office identifies and provides independent recommendations to the University regarding systemic issues.

The Office of the Ombudsperson adheres to the International Ombudsman Association Standards of Practice and Code of Ethics. The office serves as a neutral third party to provide assistance to students with academic and nonacademic concerns. The office is authorized to act independently and has access to all information and all individuals in the organization as permitted by law. The office can identify systemic trends and recommend solutions for the general improvement of the University.

The Office of the Ombudsperson is a voluntary, informal service and not a place to file a formal complaint. The office does not make binding decisions or become involved in formal or legal processes. The office is not an agent of notice. However, the office can refer a student to an appropriate official in order to request that the University take some action.

The office keeps confidentiality and anonymity to the extent permitted by law. Confidentiality will be breached if there is an imminent risk of serious harm. The office asserts privilege with regard to the identity of visitors and their concerns. The office follows the state records retention schedule and does not maintain identifying records.

Types of cases frequently handled by the ombudsperson include concerns about grades, registration, adds and drops, scholastic probation and dismissal, scholastic dishonesty or student misconduct, qualifying exams, dissertation or thesis committees, residency status, financial aid, refunds, conflicts between students, parking, and housing.

A case considered inappropriate for the office may be declined by the ombudsperson.

STUDENT GRIEVANCE PROCEDURES

Academic related grievances. Academic grievances involving grade disputes should be discussed with the course instructor. Grade disputes that are not resolved and all other academic grievances of undergraduate students should be submitted in writing to the department chair or other designated administrator of the academic program to which the grievance relates. Appeals may be directed to the appropriate academic dean, who will render the final decision. A grade will not be changed by the department chair (or other designated administrator) and/or the dean without first consulting with and considering fully the position of the course instructor. The course instructor will be advised by the department chair, other appropriate administrator, or dean of the resolution of the grievance.

Procedures for the resolution of grievances of graduate students are specified in the revised Handbook of Operating Procedures, Policy 1.C.2.
The dean of the college or school in which a student is enrolled has jurisdiction over the student’s program of study, degree requirements, and all other academic matters, including grievances, except as described below. A student pursuing simultaneous majors in two colleges is considered to be enrolled in both colleges and is under the jurisdiction of both deans. Students taking a course in a college or school other than the one(s) in which they are enrolled are subject, so far as the course and academic grievances regarding the course are concerned, to the dean of the college or school in which the course is offered. Procedures for cases of alleged academic dishonesty are given in Appendix C, chapter 11, pages 201–216.

Student program and student activity related grievances. Grievances related to nonacademic student programs and activities should be submitted in writing to the dean or director of the specific student affairs area. Appeals may be directed to the vice president for student affairs, and then to the president for final disposition.

Appendix C of this catalog, pages 161–239, describes the institutional rules on student services and activities and includes provisions for formal hearings. Additional information on these provisions is available from the Office of the Dean of Students.

Disability related grievances. No qualified disabled student shall, on the basis of disability, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or otherwise be subjected to discrimination under any academic program or activity at the University of Texas at Austin. Complaints alleging discrimination on the basis of disability should be submitted according to the procedures outlined in the Nondiscrimination Policy, Appendix I, pages 257–262. The policy is in accord with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA).

Sex discrimination and sexual conduct. The following policies address sex discrimination and sexual conduct:

- Policy on Sex Discrimination and Sexual Harassment, Appendix D, pages 239–245
- Policy on Sexual Misconduct, Appendix E, pages 246–247
- Policy on Consensual Relationships, Appendix F, pages 248–249
- Prohibition of Sexual Assault, Appendix H, pages 253–256

DISCIPLINE

Under the direction of the president, the dean of students has primary responsibility for the administration of student discipline.

General statement. Students at the University neither lose the rights nor escape the responsibilities of citizenship. They are expected to obey and conduct themselves in accordance with the penal and civil statutes of the local, state, and federal governments and the Rules and Regulations of the Board of Regents of The University of Texas System, University regu-tions, and administrative rules and to observe standards of conduct appropriate for an academic institution. They may be disciplined by the University for violating these standards of conduct on the campus or off of the campus when the incident occurs in connection with an institution-oriented activity, or when the incident has a substantial connection to the interests of the University, or when the behavior is prohibited by University policy regardless of where it occurs, even if they are or may be penalized by civil authorities for the same act. Institutional disciplinary sanctions will not, however, be used merely to duplicate the penalties imposed by civil authority.

Academic dishonesty. Since the value of a university degree depends on the absolute integrity of the work done by each student for that degree, a student should maintain a high standard of individual honor in his or her academic work.

Scholastic or academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, collusion, falsifying academic records, and misrepresenting facts. More information about academic dishonesty is given in Appendix C, section 11–402, pages 203–204.

Group responsibility. Any student organization is subject to disciplinary sanctions, including revocation of the group’s registration as a student organization, for violation of the penal or civil statutes of the local, state, or federal government or a rule or regulation of The University of Texas System or a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule. More information about discipline of student organizations is given in Appendix C, chapter 6, pages 177–189.

Disciplinary procedures. The University of Texas at Austin administers student discipline according to the established procedures of due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 50101, and in Appendix C, chapter 11, pages 201–216.

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS

State institutions are constitutionally restricted with regard to the establishment of religion; however, many sectarian activities are available to students through the sponsorship of various denominational organizations. Several places of worship are located in the University area. A number of student centers are maintained near campus, and many student religious organizations are registered with the University.

SHUTTLE BUS SERVICE

The University shuttle bus system is operated for the benefit of students, faculty and staff members, and retirees of the University. The system is funded through students’ tuition. Shuttle bus patrons should be prepared to show their IDs on request.
Shuttle service is provided on scheduled registration, class, and final examination days. On most routes, service is not provided on holidays or on Saturdays that are not final examination days. Shuttle bus maps and schedules are available at http://www.utexas.edu/parking/transportation/shuttle/. Questions about routes or policies should be sent by e-mail to shuttle@www.utexas.edu.

STUDENT PARKING

Students who drive or park a vehicle on campus must purchase a permit from Parking and Transportation Services (PTS). To park within the campus boundaries, a proper permit must be displayed as required. Purchase of a surface lot permit (A, C, D, M, N) does not assure a parking space in a specific lot. Purchase of a garage permit (R, S, N+) generally assures an unassigned parking space in the garage in which it is valid.

Policies, fees, and regulations are given below. For the most recent information, a student should visit the PTS Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/parking/, visit the PTS office on the first level of the Trinity Parking Garage (1815 Trinity Street), or call (512) 471-PARK (471-7275).

Students are eligible for the following types of parking permits:

1. Class C (surface student) parking permits are available to all students enrolled at the University. The fee is $115 for the year. This permit allows parking in C and Longhorn lots.

2. Class C+ (surface student plus night garage access) parking permits are available to all students enrolled at the University. The fee is $175 per year. This permit allows parking in C and Longhorn lots. It also allows parking in University garages, within the limits given for night garage access (N+) permits in item 9 below.

3. Class A (surface faculty/staff) parking permits are available to University graduate students who are also employed by the University for at least twenty hours a week. The student’s employment must be verified by a signed copy of the appointment or reappointment form or a letter from the dean, director, or department chair. The fee is $138 a year. This permit allows parking in A parking areas, in Longhorn lots, and in C lots after 2:00 PM.

4. Class D (student with disabilities) parking permits are available to University students with disabilities. The applicant must present a state-issued license plate or placard for the disabled and a copy of his or her Texas Department of Transportation VTR214 form with a doctor’s signature. The fee is $115 a year. Individuals whose vehicles display both a valid University permit for the disabled and the appropriate state-issued license plate or placard may park in any space with a D or handicap designation.

A student whose vehicle displays the disabled veteran license plate or Congressional Medal of Honor recipient’s license plate or placard is exempt from the payment of all parking fees on campus but must display the Class D parking permit.

Temporary permits are also available at the PTS office for people with temporary disabilities affecting mobility.
5. Class M (motorcycle/moped/motor scooter) parking permits are available to any University student or faculty or staff member. The fee is $69 a year, but there is no charge for a Class M permit with the purchase of another permit except an R, N, or N+ permit. The Class M permit allows parking in M parking areas; motorcycles, mopeds, and motor scooters may not be parked in automobile parking areas between 7:30 AM and 4:00 PM Monday through Friday.

6. Class R (garage resident student) parking permits are available to residents of University-owned housing located on the main campus. The fee is $376, $392, or $413 for a semester, or $677, $705, or $743 for nine months, depending on the garage. Nine-month Class R permits purchased in the fall are valid through May 31 of the following year. Students may purchase a permit for the summer session for an additional fee of $170. The Class R permit allows parking in R areas in the designated garage; it also allows parking in Longhorn lots.

7. Class S (garage commuting student) parking permits are available to University students who live off campus. The fee is $287 per semester, $131 for the summer session, or $602 for twelve months. Class S permits allow parking in the garage designated on the permit and in Longhorn lots.

8. Class N (night surface access) parking permits are available to anyone affiliated with the University. The fee is $36 for the year. Class N permits allow parking Monday through Thursday from 5:45 PM to 7:30 AM and from Friday at 5:45 PM until Monday at 7:30 AM in otherwise unrestricted spaces and in spaces that require any UT permit.

9. Class N+ (night garage access) parking permits are available to anyone affiliated with the University. The fee is $60 for the year. Class N+ permits allow surface parking within the limits described for the Class N permit. In addition, they allow parking when space is available in any University garage from 5:00 PM to 4:00 AM, Monday through Thursday, and from 5:00 PM Friday to 4:00 AM Monday. Class N+ permits are only valid in the evenings for surface lots.

Class C, C+, M, N, N+ and A permits purchased in the fall semester are valid through August 31 of the following year. Permits purchased after September 30 are prorated monthly. Permit refunds are offered during the add/drop period for the semester that the permit was purchased, and replacement permits are available for a nominal fee.

Parking may be restricted in any garage or surface lot for special events. The following charges for violation of parking and traffic regulations are in effect for 2010–2011. Parking and Transportation Services reserves the right to refer any violator to the Office of the Dean of Students or the appropriate academic dean or department director.

The Texas Exes, the alumni association for the University, was established in 1885 and is now one of the largest self-governed alumni organizations in the nation. The association provides news and information about the University to its ninety thousand members, raises money for scholarships, supports the student experience through teaching awards and campus programs, and offers benefits to members interested in specific University programs.

In 2010, the Texas Exes awarded $1.6 million in scholarships to nearly seven hundred students. Many of these students were freshmen who received scholarships from Texas Exes chapters across the United States. Fall 2011 will mark the beginning of a new scholarship program, the Texas Exes Forty Acres Scholarships. Each year, freshman scholars chosen from the top ranks of their high school classes bringing the highest academic achievements and standards to the University.

News of the University reaches members of the association through The Alcalde, a bimonthly magazine. The Texas Exes provide lifetime learning opportunities through Flying Longhorn tours to all parts of the world, Alumni Campus Abroad programs, Alumni College in June, and access to the University libraries. Discounts on services and merchandise and an online alumni directory are available to members. The association houses the Texas Exes Student Chapter, a member-based student organization and provides alumni networking and mentoring; Camp Texas for entering freshmen; and many opportunities for involvement. These activities help build students’ leadership skills and sense of loyalty to the University. The association also provides career services for alumni, including job listings, a résumé database, career workshops, individual consulting, webinars and other online resources, and a career network.

The Texas Exes’ home on campus is the Etter-Harbin Alumni Center, which stands on San Jacinto Boulevard across from Darrell K. Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium. Facilities include a banquet hall, offices, meeting rooms, outdoor pavilion, and parking. The building is named for Lila B. Etter and John P. Harbin. Etter, whose bequest to the University financed much of the original structure in 1965, was the daughter of the University’s first president, Leslie Waggener. Harbin is a distinguished alumnus and past president of the Texas Exes. His gift provided site preservation, development, and landscaping.

The University depends on the time and talents of Texas Exes members to support and carry out many of its programs. Membership is a charitable contribution. More information is available at the Texas Exes Web site, http://www.TexasExes.org/, by phone at (512) 471-8839, and by e-mail at alumni@alumni.utexas.edu.

Dolph Briscoe Center for American History

As an organized research unit of the University, the Dolph Briscoe Center for American History facilitates, sponsors, and supports teaching, research, and public education in United States history. In support of its mission, the center acquires, preserves, and makes available for research archival, artifact, and rare book collections and sponsors exhibitions, conferences, video documentaries, oral history projects, grant-funded research, and publications. The center’s resources and services support the University’s curriculum and University faculty, student, and staff research, as well as research by the general public. The center sponsors award-winning and critically acclaimed publications, including its Focus on American History series, published by the University of Texas Press.

The Office of the Director of the Briscoe Center is located in the Arno Nowotny Building, the oldest building on the Austin campus. The center has five additional divisions, located in four regions of Texas, each serving a unique purpose.

- The Research and Collections Division is located in Sid Richardson Hall Unit 2, on the main campus of the University. It is the center’s main research facility and the repository for most of the center’s book, manuscript, map, newspaper, photographic, sound, and ephemera collections.

- The Military History Institute, also located in Sid Richardson Hall, is an educational outreach and archival program. The institute’s portfolio includes research projects and publications, conferences and symposia, and international study trips related to the Second World War.
\[ \textbf{The Sam Rayburn Library and Museum} \text{ documents the life and career of former Texas congressman and Speaker of the US House of Representatives Sam Rayburn (1882–1961). It is located in Rayburn's hometown of Bonham in northeast Texas.} \]

\[ \textbf{The John Nance Garner Museum} \text{ in Uvalde documents the remarkable life and career of Texan John Nance “Cactus Jack” Garner (1868–1967), one of the most powerful vice presidents in US history.} \]

\[ \textbf{Winedale} \text{ is a complex of historical structures and modern facilities situated on 225 acres near Round Top. Winedale’s mission is to foster an understanding of Texas history, culture, and native plants and landscapes through research, teaching, and public service.} \]

The center’s Texas history archives have no peer in size, quality, and diversity. Within its collections, the center has primary sources—documents, records, newspapers, photographs, maps, and oral histories—of great breadth and depth on almost all subjects related to the story of Texas. The center’s Texana library of rare and scarce books on the history of Texas is the largest and most valuable collection of its kind. The center is also one of the nation’s leading research centers for Southern history. Its Southern history holdings include the Littlefield Southern History Collection, the Natchez Trace Collection, the Parsons Collection on the Louisiana Purchase, and the Pugh Plantation (Louisiana) Archive.

The center has the largest congressional and political history collection outside Washington DC, with a special focus on Texas congressional and gubernatorial papers.

The center’s photography holdings include the largest collection of photographs of the US presidency outside Washington DC, as well as the largest collection of photographs of Martin Luther King Jr. The center owns more than five million photographic images from the late 1840s to the present, including the Alamo daguerreotype, the oldest datable photograph taken in Texas. The collections place special emphasis on the archives of leading photojournalists. The center is also one of the leading institutions in the United States for the study of news media history. Collections include the papers of media professionals, the research archives of media industry leaders, and one of the largest newspaper collections in the United States, with original editions of some of the earliest known newspapers published in Texas. Another major research strength is the history of social justice movements in the United States, including the civil rights movement. Highlights include the papers of John Henry Faulk, James Farmer, and C. Wright Mills and the historical archives of the Texas Observer and the Field Foundation.

The center’s collections document more than three hundred years of US military history, including America’s involvement in foreign wars from Mexico to Iraq.

The American Energy History Collection provides a comprehensive view of the modern age and the influence of energy in business, society, politics, and culture. It includes the extensive ExxonMobil archives, perhaps the largest publicly available collection documenting a single energy company.
The center also has an extensive material culture collection made up of thousands of museum objects at the center’s four sites. The collection includes rare historical artifacts, clothing, textiles, furniture, and other decorative arts dating from the Anglo-American settlement of Texas in the early nineteenth century to the present.

The center presents a wide variety of permanent and temporary exhibits drawn from its collections. Exhibit topics have encompassed Texas and Southern history, news media history, civil rights, women’s history, decorative arts, the entertainment industry, and Texas music. The permanent exhibits at the John Nance Garner Museum and the Sam Rayburn Library and Museum have recently been refurbished. The center offers exhibits of photographs on tour to museums across the country.

The center’s Web site, http://www.cah.utexas.edu/, provides access to valuable resources to researchers worldwide. The site includes a digital media repository of more than twenty thousand photographs, maps, documents, and videos; finding aids to hundreds of major collections; online exhibits; and digital learning and curriculum-building resources for kindergarten through high school students and teachers.

Harry Ransom Humanities Research Center

The Harry Ransom Humanities Research Center is one of the world’s foremost institutions for literary and cultural research. It offers resources in a number of disciplines and periods, but its principal strength is in its collections of twentieth-century British, American, and French literature. These collections contain not only rare editions but also prepublication materials, including authors’ original notes, revised manuscripts, corrected galley proofs and page proofs, as well as letters and other personal and professional documents. Important collections exist also in photography, performing arts, and film. The center houses about a million books, thirty-five million manuscripts, five million photographs, and more than one hundred thousand works of art.

Book collections include the libraries of James Joyce and Evelyn Waugh, the Wolff Collection of Nineteenth-Century Fiction, the VanderPoel Collection of Charles Dickens, three Shakespeare First Folios, and the Pforzheimer Collection of English Literature, 1475–1700. The Ransom Center’s most valuable book is the Gutenberg Bible. Writers particularly well represented in the center’s manuscript collections include Graham Greene, Lillian Hellman, D. H. Lawrence, Norman Mailer, David Mamet, Carson McCullers, Anne Sexton, George Bernard Shaw, Isaac Bashevis Singer, Tom Stoppard, David Foster Wallace, and Tennessee Williams.

The Gernsheim History of Photography Collection includes the works of more than twelve hundred photographers and the first photograph ever taken. Large collections of theatrical designs, film manuscripts, and other materials are found in the Norman Bel Geddes collection, the David O. Selznick collection, and the Gloria Swanson archive.
Art collections include drawings, prints, and paintings of and by English, American, and French writers, including E.E. Cummings, D.H. Lawrence, and Jean Cocteau, as well as works of art by Frida Kahlo, Eric Gill, Georges Rouault, and others.

Music collections include opera librettos from 1600 to 1920; manuscript scores of French composers Ravel, Roussel, Dukas, and Debussy; the archives of American composer Paul Bowles; and the collection of jazz historian Ross Russell.

The Ransom Center invites use by scholars engaged in research in the humanities. University faculty members, staff members, and students are eligible to use the collections, as are other researchers. The Ransom Center is a noncirculating library. Researchers wishing to consult the collections must present a photo ID, complete an online application form, and agree to abide by the Ransom Center’s rules and regulations.

Ransom Center books and many archival materials are represented in the online catalog of the University Libraries. Access to manuscript collections is provided through the manuscripts catalog or online finding aids. Photography, film, performing arts, and art materials are partially represented in online finding aids, but users should also consult the appropriate curator to locate materials in these areas.

Patrons may access Ransom Center materials in the second-floor Reading and Viewing Rooms. The world’s first photograph, taken in 1826, and the Gutenberg Bible, the first book printed with movable type, are on display in the center’s lobby, and the first-floor galleries feature rotating exhibitions of items from the literary, photographic, and art collections.

Hours of operation are available through the Ransom Center’s Web site, http://www.hrc.utexas.edu/, or by calling (512) 471-8944.

Joseph D. Jamail Center for Legal Research:
Tarlton Law Library

The Tarlton Law Library supports the research and curricular needs of the faculty and students of the School of Law, as well as the research needs of the University community, members of the bar, and the public.

With more than a million volumes, the Tarlton library is one of the largest academic law libraries in the country. In addition to a comprehensive collection of primary and secondary legal materials, the library has a broad interdisciplinary collection from the social sciences and humanities. Special collections include extensive foreign and international law resources, more than a million pieces of microform materials in a media collection, the papers of former United States Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark, feature films and fiction related to law and popular culture, and, in the library’s Gavel Room, a special collection of recent winners of the American Bar Association’s prestigious Silver Gavel Award. The library is a depository for United States, European Union, and Canadian government documents. The library’s collection of rare and antiquarian law books exceeds eight thousand volumes and includes noted collections of early legal dictionaries, Texas law, and the works of John Selden.

In addition to printed matter, the library offers law students access to Lexis and Westlaw, the major online computer-assisted legal research services. Computing facilities are available for law student use, as are group study rooms. Students also have access to a wireless network for personal laptop computers. The Tarlton Law Library Web site, http://tarlton.law.utexas.edu/, offers a number of online legal research resources and finding aids, including a searchable database of the tables of contents of recent issues of law reviews.

As a member of the Online Computer Library Center (OCLC), the library contributes data to WorldCat. Through this network, the library has access to the collections of other major research libraries throughout the country. The library’s own online public access catalog, TALLONS, provides immediate access to the collection, both print and online, including information on location and circulation status. Links to thousands of online resources are available through the catalog.

More than six hundred paintings, other objets d’art, prints, documents, antique quilts, rugs, and pieces of furniture from the Elton M. Hyder Jr. and Martha Rowan Hyder Collection enhance the ambience of the library and create a culturally enriching environment for library patrons and staff members.

Because legal research can be technically demanding, members of the library’s public services staff provide individual and classroom instruction in the use of the library’s materials.

The library’s facilities and information services are open to the University community and to visitors. Non-University borrowers may purchase a guest borrower card valid for one year from date of issue. Fees are waived for visitors with valid TexShare cards. Primary source materials, digests, looseleaf binders, microforms, periodicals, and reference resources generally do not circulate outside the library.

OTHER LIBRARIES IN AUSTIN

The Lyndon Baines Johnson Library and Museum, located on the eastern edge of the campus, is operated by the National Archives and Records Administration. Not part of the University library system, this library is a rich resource for scholars studying the twentieth century. Faculty members and students also have access to other public and private libraries in the Austin area, including several that focus on special areas of interest.

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS MCDONALD OBSERVATORY AT FORT DAVIS

The McDonald Observatory, constructed from the proceeds of a bequest by W. J. McDonald in 1929, was originally operated jointly by the University of Texas and the University of Chicago. Today the observatory is maintained and administered by the University of Texas at Austin. Located on Mount Locke and Mount Fowlkes in the Davis Mountains at an altitude of 6,800 feet, the observatory sits on 650 acres of land, 400 acres donated by the owners of the Fowlkes and McIvor ranches and 250 purchased from the Eppenauer ranch.
The 2.1-meter reflector was installed in March 1939, and the observatory was formally dedicated on May 5, 1939. For some years the 2.1-meter reflector was the second largest telescope in the world, and it is still among the world’s major telescopes. A 0.9-meter reflector built primarily for stellar photoelectric photometry was installed in January 1957.

The development of the observatory and of the 2.1-meter reflector was largely the work of Otto Struve, the first director of Yerkes and McDonald Observatories, and one of the outstanding scientists of his generation. In recognition of his contributions, the 2.1-meter reflector was officially designated “The Otto Struve Reflector of the W. J. McDonald Observatory” in an international dedicatory symposium in May 1966.

Supported by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the University of Texas, and assisted by the National Science Foundation, a 2.7-meter telescope began operation in early 1969 as the third largest telescope in the world. That telescope has been named the Harlan J. Smith Telescope in honor of the first Texas director of McDonald Observatory. Improved supporting facilities and a 0.8-meter telescope were constructed in the 1970s. A partnership with the Caltech Submillimeter Observatory on Mauna Kea, Hawaii, provides access to the 10.4-meter parabolic reflector there.

In collaboration with the Pennsylvania State University, Stanford University, Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München, and Georg-August-Universität Göttingen, the University of Texas at Austin operates a 9.2-meter telescope on Mount Fowlkes at the McDonald Observatory. This telescope, the William P. Hobby–Robert E. Eberly Telescope, has one of the largest primary mirrors of any telescope in the world. The George T. Abell Gallery offers a view of the telescope to the public.

McDonald Observatory produces the daily astronomy radio program StarDate, which airs on more than 300 radio stations in the United States and Canada and is heard by three million people each week. The Spanish-language edition, Universo, is broadcast on more than 140 stations. The observatory also publishes StarDate magazine.

The Frank N. Bash Visitors Center at McDonald Observatory, located at the base of Mount Locke, includes a theatre, a science museum with interactive exhibits, StarDate Café, and a gift shop. The center is open from 10:00 AM to 5:30 PM daily except Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year’s Day. Solar viewing sessions are conducted daily at 11:00 AM and 2:00 PM with guided tours of the research areas immediately following. Daytime passes are $8 for adults, $7 for children, and $30 for families. Every Tuesday, Friday, and Saturday night, the Visitors Center hosts “Star Parties,” during which visitors have the opportunity to view the planets, moon, galaxies, and other celestial objects through large telescopes at the center’s Public Observatory. Star Party admission is $10 for adults, $8 for children, and $40 for families. A combined daytime and Star Party pass costs $15 for adults, $12 for children, and $60 for families. More information about visiting the observatory may be obtained from the Frank N. Bash Visitors Center at McDonald Observatory, HC 75 Box 1337-VC, Fort Davis TX 79734, (432) 426-3640, or at the McDonald Observatory Web site, http://mcdonaldobservatory.org/visitors/. A recorded message giving seasonal times is available at (877) 984-7827.
The Texas Natural Science Center is a research unit of the College of Natural Sciences and the home of the college’s ichthyology, herpetology, and paleontology collections. The center is dedicated to encouraging awareness and appreciation of the interplay of biological, geological, and environmental forces as they affect Earth.

The center’s exhibits and public programs are based on its world-renowned research collections of 5.7 million specimens in the disciplines of paleontology, geology, herpetology, ichthyology, entomology, and diatomology. Most specimens in the collections are from Texas, and many are unique and irreplaceable. The center’s four divisions are the Texas Memorial Museum, the Vertebrate Paleontology Laboratory, the Nonvertebrate Paleontology Laboratory, and the Texas Natural History Collections.

The public aspect of the center is the Texas Memorial Museum, located on the University campus at 2400 Trinity Street. All of the museum’s exhibits and public programs are based on the center’s research collections. The museum was constructed with state and federal funds, contributions, and proceeds from the sale of Texas Centennial coins sponsored by the American Legion. It was opened to the public January 15, 1939. In 1959, by legislative enactment, it became a division of the University of Texas.

The museum is open every day except major holidays, from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM weekdays, from 10:00 AM to 5:00 PM Saturday, and from 1:00 to 5:00 PM Sunday. Admission is free.

Known worldwide for its exhibits of fossil vertebrates, the museum displays examples of the world-famous dinosaur footprints originally from Glen Rose. Other fossils on display are a thirty-foot Cretaceous mosasaur, a pterosaur with a forty-foot wingspan, reptiles and amphibians from the Permian period of the Paleozoic era, and remains of Ice Age mammals.

The first-floor Hall of Geology and Paleontology features displays of dinosaurs and fossil animals, rocks, and minerals, as well as an on-site working paleontologist preparing fossil specimens and answering questions from visitors. The second floor showcases some of the museum’s most prized and unusual specimens. The third floor features the contemporary native fauna of Texas, including many of the state’s reptiles, birds, and mammals. The fourth floor currently displays the Explore Evolution exhibit, which features the work of scientists who are making leading discoveries about the evolution of life.

The center’s research facilities, located at the J. J. Pickle Research Campus, are the Vertebrate Paleontology Laboratory, which has a collection ranked ninth in the United States; the Nonvertebrate Paleontology Laboratory, with the sixth largest collection in the US; and the Texas Natural History Collections.

The Vertebrate Paleontology Laboratory supports one of the largest professional vertebrate paleontology instruction programs in the world. The laboratory contains approximately 250,000 cataloged specimens and perhaps three times that number of uncataloged specimens; the Nonvertebrate Paleontology Laboratory contains more than 4,000,000 specimens of non-vertebrate fossils, rocks, and minerals, including fossils from more than 95 percent of Texas counties; and the Texas Natural History Collections contain well over a million specimens comprising a diverse representation of living
Libraries and Other Academic Resources

These collections form the basis of some of the most significant research at the University, providing specimens for undergraduate and graduate courses and for research by faculty members and other professionals around the world.

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS PRESS

The University of Texas Press publishes twelve journals and about a hundred new books annually. The press specializes in a number of areas, including anthropology, Old and New World archaeology, art, architecture, classics, environmental studies, film and media studies, geography, language studies, literary modernism, Latin American/Latino/Mexican American/Middle Eastern/Native American studies, natural history and ornithology, regional books (Texas and the Southwest), and women's studies. Books have been published under the University of Texas imprint since 1922, though the press was not established as a publishing organization until 1950. The imprint is controlled by a faculty advisory committee appointed by the president and the Faculty Council.

KUT RADIO

Established in 1958, KUT 90.5 FM is a 100,000-watt National Public Radio (NPR) and Public Radio International (PRI) affiliate licensed to the University and a charter member of NPR. KUT's mission is to be the most trusted radio source for news and music in Central Texas. KUT provides public radio service to Central Texas via KUT 90.5 FM in Austin, and universally through streaming audio at http://www.kut.org/. It also broadcasts on three HD stations—KUT 1, a simulcast of KUT 90.5 FM; KUT 2, news and talk programming; and KUT 3, jazz programming.

KUT, which derives the majority of its operating budget from listeners and businesses, delivers local and national programming that mirrors the nature of its audience. KUT’s Studio 1-A serves as a production facility for live showcases of local, national, and international musical groups. In addition to providing news from NPR and PRI, KUT is home to award-winning news programming, special features series, and documentaries that have been broadcast nationally.

COMPUTING RESOURCES

Information Technology Services (ITS)

Information Technology Services (ITS) (http://www.utexas.edu/its/) provides the core computing, networking, telecommunication, and systems infrastructure at the University. ITS is committed to providing a diverse set of secure, high-quality products and services that support and enhance the academic mission of the institution.

More information: http://www.utexas.edu/its/network/.

Center for Teaching and Learning

As a unit of the Office of the Provost, the Center for Teaching and Learning (CTL) integrates pedagogy, instructional technology, and assessment to encourage effective and innovative practices in instruction and evaluation. CTL offers colloquia, workshops, training, consulting, and online resources to promote best practices in teaching and learning, educational measurement, educational evaluation, placement testing and credit by examination, emerging technologies, instructional assessment, and course assessment. The center is also a faculty resource for course management tools, including Blackboard and Ongoing Course Assessment (OCA), and supports faculty development in instructional technologies, instructional design, project management, multimedia tools, and media production techniques. The center administers the annual Innovative Instructional Technology Awards Program (IITAP) and the Faculty and Student Teams for Technology (~FAST Tex) Program, pairing faculty members and technology-savvy students to create project development teams. As a member of the New Media Consortium, CTL supports research initiatives to investigate promising emerging technologies. The center publishes complete information about its services and programs on its Web site at http://www.utexas.edu/academic/diia/.
Texas Advanced Computing Center

The Texas Advanced Computing Center (TACC) is one of the nation’s leading academic advanced computing centers. TACC provides high-performance computing, scientific visualization, and massive data storage/archival systems to enhance the capabilities of University faculty members, staff members, and students, and provides support services to assist researchers in using these systems most effectively. Through regional and national partnerships, including The University of Texas System and the National Science Foundation’s TeraGrid, these resources and services are made available to the national academic research community. TACC staff members also conduct research and development activities to produce new advanced computing technologies and techniques that enhance research and education using leading-edge computing systems. More information about TACC is published by the center at http://www.tacc.utexas.edu/.

Marine Science Institute

The Marine Science Institute has laboratories and boat facilities on the Gulf of Mexico at Port Aransas, Texas. The resident staff and faculty members conduct basic and applied research and provide undergraduate and graduate instruction in marine science in cooperation with the Department of Marine Science. Master’s and doctoral degree programs in marine science are available through the department; most thesis and dissertation research in Marine Science is conducted at the institute. An undergraduate program in marine and freshwater biology is offered through the School of Biological Sciences.

Founded in 1941, the institute is located in Port Aransas at the entrance of the main ship channel to Corpus Christi, with access to a wide variety of beach, bay, gulf shelf, and open gulf environments. These represent natural environments ranging from fresh to hypersaline waters, grass and mud flats, shell reefs, sand beaches, dune areas, and the surf zone. Facilities include a laboratory-classroom-office building, laboratory building with running seawater facilities, pier laboratory, physical plant building, dormitories and apartments, library/auditorium building, and dining hall. Special research facilities include the 57-foot trawler R/V Katy, an airboat, and inboard/outboard and outboard utility boats; vehicles; walk-in environmental chambers; concrete experimental ponds; isotope facilities; molecular biology laboratories; specialized laboratory equipment; shops; a 5.25-acre marina; and a unit of the University Libraries that contains more than thirty-thousand books and bound journal volumes in marine science and related fields.

The Marine Science Institute also operates a mariculture research center. This 22,000-square-foot facility was deeded to the University by the National Marine Fisheries Service in 1987. The mariculture program is focused on finfish reproduction and growth.
A visitors center, maintained and operated by Marine Education Services, offers a visiting-class program for elementary, secondary, and college science classes that hosts about ten thousand students a year. A series of teacher workshops designed to encourage the introduction of marine science topics and techniques into the curriculum for all subjects, from science to art and history, is organized to improve the proficiency of classroom teachers at all grade levels. The visitors center, open to the public Monday through Friday from 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM, also houses seven aquariums with typical Texas coastal habitats and numerous educational displays. Adjacent to the visitors center is the Wetlands Education Center, a 3½-acre tidal marsh built for educational use. Guided and self-guided tours are available. The center is toured by about thirty thousand visitors each year. Tours for groups of fewer than thirty are available by request in advance.

The Marine Science Institute manages the Mission-Aransas National Estuarine Research Reserve, a 185,708-acre area of wetland, terrestrial, and marine environments. On site, the reserve supports research, education, and stewardship. In the community, it brings together scientists, landowners, policy makers, and the public to ensure that coastal management decisions benefit flora and fauna, water quality, and people.

Additional information may be obtained from the director, Marine Science Institute, Port Aransas, and at the Marine Science Institute Web site, http://www.utmsi.utexas.edu/.

Hogg Foundation for Mental Health

As a young girl, Ima Hogg toured Texas state hospitals, schools, and prisons with her father, Governor James Hogg. Those experiences inspired her lifelong interest in psychology and mental health. After her older brother Will died in 1930, she and younger brother Mike used proceeds from Will’s estate to establish the Hogg Foundation for Mental Hygiene at the University in his memory. In 1964, “Miss Ima” created another endowment at the foundation in her name to fund mental health programs for children and families in Houston. Other benefactors have created endowments at the foundation to support its mission.

Since 1940, the foundation’s work has honored the Hogg family’s legacy of public service and dedication to improving mental health by dispersing millions of dollars from foundation funds to promote mental health services, policy, research, and education in Texas. Today the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health focuses its grant making in strategic areas and awards grants through a competitive proposal process. The foundation also awards scholarships and fellowships to graduate students in mental health–related fields.

The foundation is part of the University’s Division of Diversity and Community Engagement and is located three miles west of the main campus at 3001 Lake Austin Boulevard. Information about current initiatives is published by the foundation at http://www.hogg.utexas.edu/.
THE TERESA LOZANO LONG INSTITUTE OF LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES

Widely regarded as the best Latin American studies program in the country, the Teresa Lozano Long Institute of Latin American Studies (LLILAS) is the largest and oldest of the University’s interdisciplinary programs. Established in 1940, the institute coordinates an extensive instructional program dealing with Latin American civilization and development at both the undergraduate and graduate levels and supports research on Latin American topics by faculty members and graduate students. Courses related to Latin American studies are offered in several departments of the College of Liberal Arts. Graduate dual degree programs are available to combine Latin American studies with business administration, communication studies, community and regional planning, journalism, law, public affairs, and radio-television-film. Important work related to Latin America is also done by the Population Research Center, the Center for Mexican American Studies, and the Benson Latin American Collection. Latin American research occupies a significant place in several other colleges, particularly in the areas of fine arts, information studies, education, law, and architecture.

The institute has formal relationships with many institutions in Central and South America. Reciprocal exchanges or affiliated agreements are maintained with institutions in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Costa Rica, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, and Spain. The institute also has faculty-led agreements with Argentina, Belize, Brazil, Costa Rica, and Mexico. More information is provided by the University’s Study Abroad Office at http://www.utexas.edu/student/abroad/.

LLILAS has four visiting professorships: the Edward Larocque Tinker Chair in Latin American Studies, endowed by the Tinker Foundation, for distinguished Latin American scholars; the Joe R. and Teresa Lozano Long Visiting Professorship for distinguished professors on Latin American topics, endowed by Joe R. and Teresa Lozano Long; the Rio Branco Professorship, funded by the Brazilian government through the Brazil Center of LLILAS, for distinguished Brazilian scholars; and the Matías Romero Visiting Chair in Mexican Studies, under an agreement between the University and the Mexican Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Throughout the year, the institute sponsors symposia and lectures by visiting and resident specialists; maintains a substantial publications program, including a book series copublished with the University of Texas Press; coordinates outreach for kindergarten through grade twelve; and offers public service activities to foster greater knowledge of Latin America around the state and the nation.
LLILAS also includes two area centers. The Mexican Center is dedicated to developing and coordinating academic programs and activities focused on Mexico and carried out by University faculty members, students, and visiting Mexican scholars. The Mexican Center regularly organizes binational academic conferences on a variety of themes. Through its C. B. Smith Fellowship Program, the center offers travel scholarships for Mexican scholars to take advantage of the institute’s library resources. The Brazil Center coordinates the work of Brazilianist faculty members and students on campus and links the University to institutions of higher education in Brazil. The division sponsors visiting lecturers, film festivals, workshops, and symposia focusing on Brazil and sponsors an annual Brazil Week.

The institute also houses the Argentine Studies Program to facilitate scholarly exchange between Argentina and the University. The institute’s Center for Indigenous Languages of Latin America (CILLA) promotes research and training programs about indigenous languages, which form an important part of the society and culture of Latin America.

Also within LLILAS is the Latin American Network Information Center (LANIC) at http://lanic.utexas.edu/. LANIC’s objective is to facilitate access to Internet-based information to, from, and about Latin America. One of the primary functions of LANIC is the creation and maintenance of directories or guides to Internet-based resources in the field of Latin American studies. Since going online in 1992, LANIC has remained the most comprehensive and frequently used information system for Latin American studies on the Internet. Services include directories of resources, hosted databases and publications, joint projects, electronic publications, and special initiatives to develop digital content.

The institute is located in Sid Richardson Hall, near the Nettie Lee Benson Latin American Collection, one of the most comprehensive holdings of its kind in the world. Substantial demographic data pertaining to Latin America are found in the Population Research Center, while other supplementary information resources are located in the Perry-Castañeda Library and the Tarlton Law Library. The University’s holdings of modern Latin American art are outstanding, and the Photography Collection also contains photographic documentation of relevance to Latin Americanists. Additional information is available through the LLILAS Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/cola/insts/llilas/.
Appendix A
Emergency Notification Policy

A. Policy Statement
As safety and emergency notification practices are under greater scrutiny at institutions of higher education, it is the position of the University of Texas at Austin that at least one emergency contact person must be listed for each student enrolled at the University. A student’s cell phone number is also part of the emergency notification protocol in case the University should need to contact the student via text message about critical incidents on campus. Information gathered remains confidential to the extent allowed by law.

B. Scope
This policy applies to all admitted and enrolled students of the University. This policy provides for two distinctly different types of emergency notification. First, it details all the ways the University provides notification about emergencies to students, faculty members, and staff members. Second, it indicates the way the University will follow to notify a student’s designated emergency contact in the event of personal distress or missing person status.

C. University Communication of Emergency
Emergencies may range from inclement weather to building evacuations to campus closures, and the University has a variety of tools to communicate with the public in the event of these and other possible emergencies. Depending on the type of emergency, some or all of the following tools may be used to communicate with faculty members, staff members, and students:

1. Siren System
   This system is tested at about noon on the first Wednesday of every month. It delivers a siren warning and public address in the event of certain outdoor emergencies. More information about the siren system is available at http://www.utexas.edu/safety/sirens/.

2. Emergency Web Site
   The emergency Web site, http://www.utexas.edu/emergency/, is updated with information during actual emergencies or campus closures.

   Students and faculty and staff members may call this main number for information about campus closures.

4. Campus Television Emergency Announcement System
   Emergency announcements will override residence hall and campus cable television, instructing the viewer where to go for additional information.

5. Text Messaging Service
   The University contracts with a third-party vendor that provides the technological ability to send text messages to members of the campus community. Only text messages about emergencies and messages used periodically to test the system are sent. Any data provided to the vendor by the University is protected by contractual arrangements.

6. Pager System
   Campus first responders, resident advisers, and some building managers are part of the Austin Warning and Communication System paging system. Pagers send text messages about emergencies on campus and alert city responders like the Austin Police Department, the Austin Fire Department, Emergency Medical Services, and the Office of Emergency Management to campus crisis situations.
7. Fire Panel Systems
Residence halls are equipped with fire panel systems that have a public address capability. Resident advisers are trained to use these systems in emergencies in order to make announcements to the entire building regarding evacuation, shelter in place, or other responses.

8. University Group E-mail
During emergencies, UT Safety Alert sends an “urgent” group e-mail to every student and faculty and staff member. The message directs individuals to the emergency Web site for additional information and instructions.

9. Voice Mail to Office Telephones
This system leaves a voice message on every faculty and staff member's office phone on campus.

10. Local News Media
The Office of Public Affairs sends press releases and makes calls to contacts on a local media list. Because of the transient nature of its population, the University depends a great deal on broadcast media to notify students, faculty members, and staff members of emergencies before or during their commutes.

11. Public Safety Patrol Car Announcements
University of Texas Police Department patrol cars are equipped with public address systems that officers can use to provide instructions to pedestrians during emergencies.

12. Telephone Tree
The president’s office has a telephone tree of department contacts that is activated during an emergency.

D. Emergency Contact Information
Using the online update form in UT Direct (https://utdirect.utexas.edu/registrar/myinfo/index.WBX), every student must provide the University with the name and contact information of at least one individual who could be contacted in the event of an individual emergency or to report the student missing. Students under the age of eighteen (unless emancipated) must provide contact information for at least one custodial parent. Students over the age of eighteen may designate anyone of their choosing to be the emergency contact. If a student living in University housing is determined to have been missing for more than twenty-four hours, Housing and Food Services will notify law enforcement (the University of Texas Police Department) and the Student Emergency Services unit in the Office of the Dean of Students to initiate missing person procedures. Student Emergency Services will notify the designated emergency contact for a student identified as a missing person within twenty-four hours of receiving the report.

E. Updating Emergency Contact Information
Students are required to update their primary cell phone and emergency contact information annually in order to keep the information current. Students who fail to update their emergency contact information have bars placed on their records that keep them from registering for classes. The bar is removed when the student submits the required emergency contact information.

F. Privacy and Confidentiality
Official use of emergency contact information is subject to the same privacy and record retention requirements as other official University information.

G. Authoritative Source
The authoritative source of this policy and responsibility for its implementation rests with the vice president for student affairs. The University emergency protocols are managed by the associate vice president for University operations.

H. For Assistance
Questions about data security should be directed to the registrar at (512) 475-7575. Questions about acceptable use standards should be directed to the Office of the Dean of Students at (512) 471-5017.
Appendix B
Official Extracurricular Student Activities

ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES
The University is a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Big Twelve Conference and in matters involving intercollegiate athletics is bound by the provisions contained in the constitutions, bylaws, and rules of these organizations.

Intercollegiate athletics for men. The University has men's intercollegiate athletic teams in baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, swimming and diving, tennis, and indoor and outdoor track and field. These sports are administered by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics for Men, which reports to the president.

Intercollegiate athletics for women. The University has women's intercollegiate athletic teams in basketball, cross country, golf, rowing, soccer, softball, swimming and diving, tennis, indoor and outdoor track and field, and volleyball. These sports are administered by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women, which reports to the president.

The Intercollegiate Athletics Councils. The Intercollegiate Athletics Council for Men and the Intercollegiate Athletics Council for Women provide advice on relevant issues to the respective departments and the president of the University. Each council is composed of

In each sport club, the University reserves the right to adopt additional regulations.

Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities

There are in this printing of the Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities (known as the Institutional Rules) a number of footnotes that cite portions of the Rules and Regulations of the Board of Regents of The University of Texas System (known as the Regents’ Rules and Regulations). These footnotes are included because (1) all of the Regents’ Rules and Regulations have full force and effect as concerns the University of Texas at Austin; (2) certain aspects of student services and activities are treated only in the Regents’ Rules and Regulations; and (3) certain portions of the Institutional Rules have since their enactment been superseded or amended by the Regents’ Rules and Regulations.

Sec. 3–401. Procedure for Denial or Revocation
(a) If a recipient of or an applicant for a loan, grant, scholarship, or Federal College Work-Study job administered by the Office of Student Financial Services is not entitled to financial aid, the recipient or applicant will be notified in writing of the denial or revocation of aid and of the reason(s) therefor.

   (8) failure to meet federal, state, or institutional requirements for financial eligibility.

Sec. 3–402. Appeal
(a) A person whose aid has been denied or revoked under section 3–401, after exhausting all internal review processes through the Office of Student Financial Services, may appeal the decision to the Subcommittee for Appeals.
(b) The vice president may review decisions of the Subcommittee for Appeals.
Sec. 3–403. Appeal to Subcommittee for Appeals
(a) To appeal a denial or revocation of aid under section 3–401 and subsection 3–402(a) to the Subcommittee for Appeals, the student must submit a written appeal to the director and the chair of the Committee on Financial Aid to Students. The appeal must state the name of the student, the date the aid decision was issued by the director, and specific reasons for the appeal, including any related argument and all relevant documentation.
(b) The appeal must be submitted by letter or by e-mail within ten days from the date on which the student received the aid decision from the director. A letter or an e-mail message sent to an address listed in the registrar’s records will constitute full and adequate notice. A letter will be considered to have been received on the third day after the day of mailing. An e-mail message will be considered to have been received on the second day after the day of sending the message.

Sec. 3–404. Hearing Before the Subcommittee for Appeals
The Subcommittee for Appeals will preside over the hearing and will
(i) determine whether the Office of Student Financial Services has satisfactorily performed the requirements of section 3–401 and subsection 3–402(a);
(a) rule on the admissibility of evidence and on objections to the procedure; facilitate the hearing process, which includes the ability to excuse any party present at the hearing if he or she is disrupting the process; render a written decision, which will contain findings of fact; approve, reject, or modify the decision of the director; and
(j) certify the record of the hearing.

Sec. 3–405. Duties of the Director
The director, in consultation with the Subcommittee for Appeals, will
(i) set the date, time, and place for the hearing and notify the student of the date, time, and place;

(j) furnish a suitable room, necessary equipment, and clerical assistance for the hearing.

Sec. 3–406. Notice of Hearings
(a) The director will notify the student by letter or by e-mail of the date, time, and place for the hearing. The notice will be delivered in person or sent by e-mail or postal mail to the student at an address listed in the registrar’s records.
(b) The notice will specify a hearing date at least ten days after the date the letter or e-mail message is received, unless the student has requested an earlier date as allowed by subsection 3–406(c). A letter or an e-mail message sent to an address listed in the registrar’s records will constitute full and adequate notice. A letter will be considered to have been received on the third day after the day of mailing. An e-mail message will be considered to have been received on the second day after the day of sending the message.
(c) The student may request, in writing, that an earlier hearing date be set if feasible to arrange. The Subcommittee for Appeals for good cause may postpone the hearing and will notify the director and the student of the new hearing date. A student’s failure to provide and to maintain current addresses, refusal to accept delivery of a letter, or failure to receive an e-mail message because the mailbox is full or the message is inappropriately forwarded will not constitute good cause for failure to comply with the notice. (Policies on the use of e-mail for official correspondence are given in Appendix M, pages 271–272.)
(d) Notice sent under subsection 3–406(a) will
(i) direct the student to appear on the date and at the time and place specified;
(a) advise the student of his or her right
(B) to appear in person and to have an adviser at the hearing;
(C) to challenge a member of the subcommittee designated to hear the charges;
(D) to know the identity of each witness who will testify against the student;
(E) to present testimony of witnesses, to present documentary and other evidence, and to argue on the student’s behalf;
(F) to cross-examine each witness who testifies against the student;
(G) to be assisted by an adviser; and
(H) to appeal under section 3–413;

(3) contain the name of the persons appointed to serve on the Subcommittee for Appeals;
(4) contain the names of witnesses who may testify against the student, a brief summary of the testimony to be given by each, and a list of documentary and other evidence that will be offered against the student; the University may supplement the list of witnesses and documents for good cause, as determined by the Subcommittee for Appeals;
(5) contain a copy of the financial aid decision by the director; and
(6) notify the student that, if the student is advised by an attorney at the hearing, then the Subcommittee on Appeals may be advised by an attorney at the hearing. An adviser may confer with and advise the subcommittee or the student but will not be permitted to question witnesses, introduce evidence, make objections, or present arguments to the subcommittee.

(e) At least five days before the hearing, the director will make copies of documents to be introduced at the hearing available to the student.

(f) The Subcommittee for Appeals may proceed with the hearing in the absence of a student who fails without good cause to comply with a notice sent under this section. A student's failure to provide and to maintain current addresses, refusal to accept delivery of a letter, or failure to receive an e-mail message because the mailbox is full or the message is inappropriately forwarded will not constitute good cause for failure to comply with a notice sent under this section.

Sec. 3–407. Preliminary Matters in Hearings

(a) At least five days before the hearing date, the student will furnish the director with a list of any witnesses who may testify on behalf of the student, together with a summary of each witness's testimony and a copy of any documents and other evidence he or she may offer; the student may supplement the list of witnesses and documents for good cause, as determined by the Subcommittee for Appeals.

(b) At least five days before the hearing date, the student will furnish the Subcommittee for Appeals with

(i) any objection that, if sustained, would postpone the hearing; and
(ii) the name and relationship of the adviser to the student, if any, who will appear with the student.

Sec. 3–408. Challenges to Members of the Subcommittee for Appeals

The student may challenge a member of the subcommittee's alleged lack of fairness or objectivity but is not entitled to disqualify that person from serving. It will be up to the challenged person to determine whether he or she can serve with fairness and objectivity. If the challenged person disqualifies himself or herself, another eligible member from the Committee on Financial Aid to Students will be appointed by the chair.

Sec. 3–409. Hearing Procedure

(a) The Subcommittee for Appeals will review written arguments and then meet with both parties together to ask questions, seek clarification, and hear any final comments by the parties.

(b) The Subcommittee for Appeals' meeting with the parties is informal and is closed, except that, upon request of the student, the meeting may be open.

(c) Although the hearing will proceed generally as follows, the Subcommittee for Appeals may adjust the sequence of the hearing as necessary to ensure fairness:

(i) the director reads the aid decision;
(ii) the director and the student are each given the opportunity to make an opening statement; the student has the right to reserve his or her opening statement until after the director has presented the University's case;
(iii) the director is given the opportunity to present the University's witnesses and evidence and the student then has the opportunity to question any of the University's witnesses;
(iv) the student is given the opportunity to present his or her witnesses and evidence and the director then has the opportunity to question any of the student's witnesses;
(5) the director and the student are given the opportunity to present rebuttal evidence and argument;
(6) the director is given the opportunity to present a recommendation regarding the aid decision under review;
(7) the student is given the opportunity to present a rebuttal and recommended outcome;
(8) the director is given the opportunity to present a closing statement;
(9) the student is given the opportunity to present a closing statement;
(10) the Subcommittee for Appeals decides whether the aid decision made under section 3–401 and subsection 3–402(a) should be upheld, reversed, or modified; and
(11) the Subcommittee for Appeals informs the student of his or her right to appeal to the vice president.

(d) If, without good cause as determined by the Subcommittee for Appeals, the student fails to appear at the scheduled hearing after receiving the proper notice in accordance with subsection 3–406(a), the director may proceed with the hearing in the student’s absence and the student loses his or her right to appeal the decision of the Subcommittee for Appeals under section 3–413.

Sec. 3–410. Evidence in Hearings

(a) Legal rules of evidence do not apply to hearings under this subchapter; the Subcommittee for Appeals may admit and give effect to evidence, including testimony, that possesses probative value and is commonly accepted by reasonable people in the conduct of their affairs. The Subcommittee for Appeals will exclude irrelevant, immaterial, and unduly repetitious evidence. All evidence admitted during the hearing will be made a part of the record. The Subcommittee for Appeals will give effect to the rules of privilege recognized by law.

(b) Upon a hearing of the aid decision made under section 3–401 and subsection 3–402(a), the University has the burden of going forward with the evidence and the burden of proving the merits of the aid decision by the greater weight of credible evidence.

(c) A witness will testify unless the testimony is privileged as recognized by law or is excluded by the Subcommittee for Appeals.

(d) The Subcommittee for Appeals will review the aid decision made under section 3–401 and subsection 3–402(a) on the basis of admitted evidence. The Subcommittee for Appeals may consider the student’s financial aid record that was admitted into evidence at the hearing in determining an aid decision.

(e) A recording will be made of the hearing under supervision of the director. If either party appeals the decision, the vice president may request that the recording be transcribed and both parties will be furnished a copy of the transcript.

Sec. 3–411. Decision of the Subcommittee for Appeals

(a) Within fourteen days from the completion of the hearing, but not before the certification of the recording and of the transcript, if any, the Subcommittee for Appeals will render a written decision and will set forth findings of fact in support of the decision. The student and the director will each be given a copy of the decision. The Subcommittee for Appeals’ written decision is the official decision on the matter from which any appeal is taken.

(b) The criteria on which the Subcommittee for Appeals’ decision will be based are fairness; reasonableness; compliance with the Institutional Rules and federal and state law; and the student’s financial aid record, if any. The Subcommittee for Appeals may approve, reject, or modify the director’s decision.

Sec. 3–412. Hearing Record

The hearing record consists of

(1) a copy of the notice required under section 3–406;
(2) the recording of the hearing certified by the Subcommittee for Appeals and the transcript, if any, certified by the court reporter, together with all evidence admitted under section 3–410;
(3) written motions and pleas; and
(4) the decision of the Subcommittee for Appeals.
Sec. 3–413. Appeal of the Decision of the Subcommittee for Appeals to the Vice President
(a) Either the student or the director may appeal the decision of the Subcommittee for Appeals under section 3–411 by submitting a written appeal to the vice president. The appeal, if any, must be submitted within seven days from the date on which the appealing party was notified of the Subcommittee for Appeals' decision. If notice of the decision is sent by mail, the date the decision is mailed initiates the seven-day period. The written appeal must state the specific reasons for the appeal and must include any related argument.
(b) If the student is the appellant, the student must provide the director with a copy of the appeal on the same date the appeal is submitted to the vice president. If the director is the appellant, the director will give, e-mail, or mail a copy of the appeal to the student on the same day that the director submits the appeal to the vice president. If the copy of the appeal is mailed, the director will mail it to the student at an address listed in the registrar's records.
(c) The nonappealing party may submit a written response to the appeal to the vice president. The response, if any, must be submitted no later than five days after the vice president received the appeal. The nonappealing party must provide a copy of the response to the other party. The response must be limited to and specifically related to the arguments originally submitted by the appealing party. New or additional information not specifically related to the original arguments submitted will not be considered on appeal. The submission of a response to the appeal will not extend the thirty-day period within which the action of the vice president will be communicated as outlined in subsection 3–414(c).
(d) The appeal of the decision of the Subcommittee for Appeals will be reviewed solely on the basis of the hearing record, the student's financial aid record, the written arguments of the appealing party, and the written response of the nonappealing party. The director will submit the record from the hearing to the vice president as soon as it is available to the director.

Sec. 3–414. Vice President's Authority
(a) The vice president may approve, reject, or modify the decision in question or may require that the original decision be reopened for the presentation of additional evidence and reconsideration of the decision.
(b) At the discretion of the vice president, both parties may present oral arguments in an appeal of the decision of the Subcommittee for Appeals.
(c) The action of the vice president will be communicated in writing to the student and the director within thirty days after the appeal has been received by the vice president. The decision of the vice president will be final.

Subchapter 3–500. Disciplinary Offenses

Sec. 3–501. Procedures for Initiating Disciplinary Action

In addition, in accordance with federal and state law, the Office of Student Financial Services will report such actions to the United States Department of Education's Office of the Inspector General.

Sec. 3–502. Disciplinary Review
Disciplinary review for student aid disciplinary offenses will be handled by the Office of the Dean of Students and governed by subchapter 11–200 of the Institutional Rules, “Administration of Discipline.”

Sec. 4–202. The Associate Director for Clinical Services
The associate director for clinical services is responsible for all medical activities of University Health Services.

Subchapter 4–300. Medical Clearance Requirements for New and Returning Students, Fees, Payment for Services, Eligibility for University Health Services

Sec. 4–301. Medical Clearance Requirements
(a) There are no medical requirements for students who are citizens or permanent residents of the United States. There are medical clearance requirements for international students. International students must provide proof of the following, certified by a physician or nurse, before they will be allowed to register for classes:

(i) All international students born after January 1, 1957:
   (A) documentation of two doses of Measles/Mumps/Rubella (MMR) vaccine given after 1968 with the first dose administered on or after the first birthday and the second dose administered at least thirty days after the first dose, or
   (B) documentation of measles and mumps immunity (by either physician diagnosed history of the disease or protective antibody titer) and documentation of rubella (by protective antibody titer only; physician diagnosed history of rubella is not accepted).

(ii) All international students: A PPD skin test for tuberculosis administered and interpreted in the United States within the time frame noted on the current TB and Vaccination History for International Students form described in subsection 4–301(b), or a TB blood test documented on the same form.
Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities

(b) International students must complete and return a TB and Vaccination History for International Students form to University Health Services prior to registration. The form is available at the University Health Services Web site, http://healthyhorns.utexas.edu/internationalstudents.html. If a student’s health care provider cannot complete and sign the form, other types of official documentation of the medical clearance requirements can be submitted.

(c) Exclusion from the requirements in subsection 4–301(a) may be allowed on the basis of medical contraindications or religious conflict. Any student requesting a waiver of the requirements must provide either

(i) an affidavit signed by a physician duly licensed under the Medical Practice Act, stating that in his or her opinion as a physician the required immunization(s) could be injurious to the student’s health, or

(ii) an affidavit signed by the student, or the student’s parent or guardian if a minor, stating that the immunizations conflict with the tenets and practice of a recognized church or religious denomination of which the student is an adherent or member. During emergencies or epidemics declared by the commissioner of health of the State of Texas, exemption on the basis of religious conflict may be denied.

Sec. 4–302. Fees
University Health Services is funded entirely by tuition paid by students and by charges for certain supplies and services. University Health Services charges for most services provided, except for the many educational programs offered by the Health Promotion Resource Center. These charges are generally lower than the cost of comparable services in the community. Students who miss a clinical appointment without canceling at least two hours in advance and those who miss an appointment with a registered dietician without canceling at least twenty-four hours in advance will incur a no-show charge. General information about charges can be found at http://healthyhorns.utexas.edu/.

Sec. 4–303. Payment for Services
Any student who incurs a charge for services rendered by University Health Services must promptly pay the charges owed. Every possible effort will be made to assist the student in making arrangements for payment. If payment is not received and arrangements for payment are not made within a specified period of time, a financial bar will be placed on the student’s record, and transcripts, diploma, and/or continued registration will be withheld until the outstanding charges have been paid in full. Students decide at the end of each appointment whether they want University Health Services to file an insurance claim for them. However, University Health Services cannot guarantee that the student’s insurance company will pay for any charges incurred. Students are responsible for any co-pay, co-insurance, or deductible required by the insurance company. Any balance that an insurance company determines to be the responsibility of the student will be billed to the student. The University Health Services Pharmacy accepts most major prescription drug insurance plans.

Students will be billed for any damages to the premises and any other applicable charges. Students who cancel after the official cancellation date will be charged $300 in liquidated damages. Cancellations received after the residence halls open for the spring will be handled as withdrawals during the spring semester. Students who are released from a contract because of graduation will again become liable for the contract if they fail to graduate from the University during the original contract period.

Sec. 5–402. Voluntary Withdrawal from the University
Except as provided under section 5–405,

(i) Students who voluntarily withdraw from the University during a contract period are normally required to pay liquidated damages of $300 in addition to standard room and meals charges through the date of checkout. If a student unexpectedly must cancel his or her contract before it expires, there is no penalty if the student gives sixty days’ or more notice. If a student gives thirty-one to fifty-nine days’ notice, he or she will pay a penalty of 50 percent of one month’s rent. If the student gives one to thirty days’ notice, he or she will pay a penalty of 85 percent of one month’s rent.

(b) A resident who fails to maintain eligibility requirements must notify the Division of Housing and Food Service in writing within three days and pay rent for a minimum of thirty days or the number of days the apartment is occupied, whichever is greater, beyond the vacancy notice date. A resident suspended by the University, which includes enforced scholastic withdrawal, or required to move due to a change of family status or eligibility, must file a written vacancy notice no later than the third day after such a change. Documentation is required. The resident must move within fifteen days of suspension or change in status or by the last day of the semester, whichever comes first, and pay rent for a minimum of fifteen days or through the end of the semester. The deposit is refunded, less a $50 processing fee and any other money owed for damages, electricity, or other charges.

A resident will be released if all on-campus degree requirements are completed and confirmed by the dean of the college in writing, or if the resident graduates from the University. The resident must file a vacancy notice thirty days prior to vacancy. Failure to give required notice results in a $35 late fee. Failure to move out by the end of the month of graduation results in a charge of 85 percent of one month’s rent plus $25 per day for each day following the month of graduation or completion of degree requirements, to a maximum of $500.

CHAPTER 6. STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

2. “Adviser” means a single individual whom an accused student member of a registered student organization may elect to accompany him or her to a meeting with the dean of students or a hearing regarding an alleged violation of University policy. Because the accused student is solely responsible for presenting his or her case during the disciplinary process, an adviser may confer with and advise the accused student but may not advocate for the student in a meeting with the dean of students or in a hearing. If an adviser is directly related to a disciplinary case or if the adviser’s presence poses a conflict of interest, the dean of students or hearing officer may dismiss the adviser from the meeting or hearing. Advisers may be dismissed from any disciplinary proceedings if they disrupt the process. If an adviser is an attorney, then the dean of students may also be accompanied by an attorney.
3. “Authorized banking representative” means a person designated to represent a registered student organization in banking matters with the Student Organization Bank. An authorized banking representative must also be an authorized representative for the registered student organization as required in subsection 6–303(a).

6. “Dean of students” means the dean of students of the University of Texas at Austin or any delegate or representative of the dean of students.
7. “Disciplinary record” means an administrative record maintained by the dean of students in connection with a registered student organization’s violation or alleged violation of a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule. The disciplinary record may include hearing records, disciplinary decisions, and other documents required under this chapter or deemed relevant by the dean of students.
8. “Disciplinary decision” means a written decision as to whether an accused registered student organization has committed a violation of a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule. The disciplinary decision includes the findings of fact in support of the decision along with the assessed sanction or sanctions, if any.
"Hearing officer" means a person appointed by the president of the University to conduct hearings of alleged violations of a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule.

"Legislative student organization" means a student association as defined by the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 50203. Legislative student organizations include but are not limited to Student Government, the Senate of College Councils, and the Graduate Student Assembly.

"Officially sponsored," “sponsorship,” or “sponsored student organization” means a registered student organization whose purpose and activities are in accord with the mission of an academic or administrative unit, for whose actions and activities the sponsoring unit provides endorsement, support, supervision, and assumption of responsibility, and that has been officially approved by the vice president.

(A) “Endorsement” means that the sponsoring administrative or academic unit gives approval of the registered student organization’s status as an official extension of the unit and sanctions the mission, goals, and activities of the registered student organization.

(B) “Support” means to provide for or to maintain by contributing the necessary money, physical space, staff, advising, mentoring, and other resources that the registered student organization needs to carry out its mission, goals, and activities.

(C) “Supervision” means to monitor, oversee, and advise the registered student organization. Supervision includes sanctioning and approving all activities and events of the registered student organization; maintaining personal knowledge of the registered student organization’s structure, operations, and activities; and taking action as necessary to ensure that all affairs of the registered student organization are consistent with the mission and culture of the sponsoring administrative or academic unit and the University.

(D) “Assumption of responsibility” means to ensure endorsement, support, and supervision of all aspects of the registered student organization. Assumption of responsibility includes accepting financial accountability for all funds collected or spent; making sure the registered student organization conducts its affairs in accordance with all applicable University rules and regulations, Regents’ Rules, and local, state, and federal laws; and providing the necessary physical and personnel resources, including a dedicated adviser.

"Registered student organization” means a student organization holding a valid registration under this chapter.

"Student” means a person who is currently enrolled at the University, or who is accepted for admission or readmission to the University, or who has been enrolled at the University in a prior semester or summer session and is eligible to continue enrollment in the semester or summer session that immediately follows, or who is attending an educational program sponsored by the University while that person is on campus, or who engaged in prohibited conduct while he or she met the above criteria.

"Student organization adviser” means a person serving in an advisory capacity to a registered student organization to provide guidance to the registered student organization and its members. A person serving as an adviser to a registered student organization affected by section 51.9361 of the Texas Education Code must be someone who

   (1) a part-time or full-time employee of the University; or

2. it limits membership to students, faculty members, and staff members of the University;
3. it does not deny membership on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, gender, age, disability, citizenship, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression, except that
   A. a registered student organization created primarily for religious purposes may restrict the right to vote or hold office to persons who subscribe to the registered student organization’s statement of faith; and
   B. a registered student organization may restrict membership based on the provisions of Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972;
4. there are no financial bars against the registered student organization;

(c) Student governance organizations must be officially sponsored by the University.
(d) No student, unregistered group, or registered student, faculty, or staff organization may use the name of the University or an abbreviation of the name of the University as part of its name. A student, group, or organization may use terms such as “campus” or “Texas campus” as part of its name.
(e) No student, unregistered group, or registered student, faculty, or staff organization may advertise or promote any event or activity in a manner that falsely suggests that the event or activity is sponsored by the University.

Sec. 6–205. Action on Application
(a) In considering a completed application, the dean of students will not pass on the merits of the proposed registered student organization’s purpose, but will register the applicant unless it is ineligible under section 6–202.
(b) The dean of students approves the registration of a registered student organization by signing the application form and placing it on file.
(c) If a registered student organization is refused registration, the dean of students will provide the applicant with a copy of a written statement of the reasons for refusal, and the applicant may appeal in accordance with section 6–507.

The dean of students or the hearing officer may cancel the registered status of the organization or may impose other appropriate sanctions.

(c) Within thirty days after the beginning of each semester, each registered student organization will file with the dean of students a final report, signed by an authorized representative of the organization, fully disclosing the sources and amounts of money obtained from solicitations during the preceding semester or summer session, the purposes and amounts of the expenditures made during the preceding semester or summer session, and any other information required by the dean of students about solicitation activities during the preceding semester.

(d) No registered student organization may re-register or use the facilities of the University as long as it owes a monetary debt to the University and the debt is considered delinquent by the crediting University agency.

(e) A registered student organization may be subject to discipline by the University under subchapter 6–500 for violating a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule.

Subchapter 6–400. Fiscal and Accounting Procedures

Authorized representatives and authorized banking representatives must comply with all banking, fiscal, and accounting procedures published by the dean of students.

Subchapter 6–500. Discipline

Sec. 6–501. Initiation of Disciplinary Proceeding

(a) The dean of students has primary authority and responsibility for the administration of registered student organization discipline. The dean of students may delegate to University staff members the authority to dispose of designated student organization disciplinary matters as deemed appropriate. Any act by an academic or administrative unit that could reasonably be construed as a discipline against a registered student organization must afford sufficient process consistent with University policy; such decisions should be submitted to the dean of students and then will be kept in the official student organization files maintained by the dean of students. The dean of students retains the authority to modify any discipline issued by an academic or administrative unit; the authority to modify a discipline includes the authority to impose further sanctions.

(b) A registered student organization violates a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule when

(i) one or more of its officers or authorized representatives acting in the scope of their organizational capacities commit a violation;

(ii) one or more of its members commit a violation after the action that constitutes the violation was approved by majority vote of those members of the registered student organization present and voting;

(iii) one or more members of a committee of the registered student organization commit a violation while acting in the scope of the committee’s assignment;

(iv) a member of the registered student organization acting with apparent authority of the organization commits a violation;

(v) one or more members of the registered student organization or its officers permit, encourage, aid, or assist any of its members in committing a violation;

(vi) one or more members of the registered student organization or its officers, under circumstances where such persons knew or should have known that an action constituting a violation was occurring or about to occur, fails to prevent that action; or

(vii) one or more members of a registered student organization fail to report to appropriate University or civil authorities promptly their knowledge or any reasonable information about a violation.

(c) When the dean of students receives information that a registered student organization has allegedly violated a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule, city ordinance, or state or federal law, he or she will investigate the alleged violation. Upon completing the investigation, the dean of students will make a decision to

(i) dismiss the allegation as unfounded or otherwise conclude the investigation; or

(ii) pursue a conference resolution; or

(iii) pursue an administrative resolution as described in subsection 6–505(d).

(d) If the dean of students determines that there are reasonable grounds for proceeding with the disciplinary process, the dean of students may elect to proceed with the case through either a conference resolution or an administrative resolution. The decision to proceed under a conference or an administrative resolution is at the sole discretion of the dean of students and may be made at any point during the disciplinary process.
Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, the dean of students or the president of the University may take immediate disciplinary action against a registered student organization that violates a rule or regulation of the University or The University of Texas System when, in the opinion of the official, the interest of the University or The University of Texas System would be served by interim action. The dean of students will notify the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization by letter or by e-mail of the disciplinary decision. The dean of students may send the notice to any authorized representative of the registered student organization. A letter or an e-mail message sent to an authorized representative at an address listed in the registrar’s records will constitute full and adequate notice. A letter will be considered to have been received on the third day after the day of mailing. An e-mail message will be considered to have been received on the second day after the day of sending the message.

Sec. 6–502. Investigation

(a) An investigation is an administrative process by which the dean of students gathers information related to the allegation of a violation of a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule. In the course of the investigation, the dean of students may summon authorized representatives and members of the accused registered student organization; request documents from the registered student organization; review organizational records; review information received by off-campus persons or organizations, including law enforcement; review information received by an academic or administrative unit; and call witnesses.

(b) Searches of organization-occupied or organization-controlled premises or of an organization’s possessions will be conducted only as authorized by law.

(c) Registered student organizations that fail to respond to meeting requests from the dean of students may be subject to interim disciplinary action; interim disciplinary action includes but is not limited to restrictions of privileges.

(d) If the dean of students calls a meeting with a student during an investigation, the student may be accompanied by an adviser. The student must give the dean of students twenty-four hours’ notice that the adviser will attend the meeting.

Sec. 6–503. Conference Resolution

(a) Either during an investigation or afterwards, the dean of students may contact the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization for a conference at which the organization may respond to the charges. If the authorized representative(s) fail to respond, or if the dean of students determines that a conference resolution is not appropriate under the circumstances, then the administrative resolution process may be initiated.

(b) The dean of students retains the right to issue warning letters without a disciplinary conference.

(c) After hearing the response of the accused registered student organization to the allegation, the dean of students will either

1. dismiss the allegation; or
2. determine that the greater weight of credible evidence supports a finding that a violation has occurred and recommend a sanction as described in section 6–506.

(d) A registered student organization that receives a sanction in a conference resolution has the right to appeal the decision as described in section 6–507.

Sec. 6–504. Administrative Resolution: Summoning a Student

(a) The dean of students may summon a student to appear in connection with an alleged violation by sending a message to the student by letter or by e-mail at an address listed in the registrar’s records.

(b) The message will direct the student to appear at a specific time and place at least three weekdays after the date of the message if the message is sent by letter, or at least two weekdays after the date of the message if the message is sent by e-mail.

(c) The dean of students may impose one or more of the sanctions under section 6–506 against the accused registered student organization if a member, officer, or authorized representative of the registered student organization fails without good cause to comply with a summons sent under subsection 6–504(a). A letter sent to an address listed in the registrar’s records, a letter hand-delivered to the student, or an e-mail message sent... to the address listed in the registrar’s records will constitute full and adequate notice. The student's failure to provide and to maintain current addresses, refusal to accept delivery of a letter, or failure to receive an e-mail message because the mailbox is full or the message is inappropriately forwarded will not constitute good cause for failure to comply with the summons. (Policies on the use of e-mail for official correspondence are given in Appendix M, pages 271–272.)

(d) A student may also be subject to discipline under chapter 11 of the Institutional Rules for failure to respond to a summons issued under this section.

Sec. 6–505. Administrative Resolution: Notice of Findings and Disciplinary Decision

(a) Upon completion of the investigation under section 6–502, the dean of students will share the findings of the investigation with the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization.

(b) The authorized representative(s) will have fourteen days to respond to the findings by letter or by e-mail to the dean of students.

(c) After the authorized representative(s) have responded to the findings, the dean of students will notify the authorized representative(s) by letter or by e-mail of the specific time and place to discuss the disciplinary decision. The dean of students may send the notice to any authorized representative of the accused registered student organization. A letter or an e-mail message sent to an authorized representative at an address listed in the registrar's records will constitute full and adequate notice.

(d) The dean of students will inform the authorized representative(s) that there are two options to resolve the disciplinary matter:
   (1) the authorized representative(s) may enter into a written agreement with the dean of students to address registered student organization conduct in specific ways; or
   (2) the dean of students will render a disciplinary decision that includes a sanction or sanctions pursuant to section 6–506.

   The authorized representative(s) will have fourteen days to select one of the two options and to notify the dean of students by letter or by e-mail of their choice.

(e) If, without good cause as determined by the dean of students, the authorized representative(s) fail to choose an option for resolving the disciplinary matter in accordance with subsection 6–505(d), the registered student organization waives its right to enter into a written agreement to address registered student organization conduct.

(f) If the authorized representative(s) choose to enter into a written agreement with the dean of students as described in subsection 6–505(d)(1), the authorized representative(s) and the dean of students will have thirty days to develop and sign a mutually acceptable agreement. The thirty-day period will begin when the authorized representative(s) notify the dean of students that they choose to enter into a written agreement. At the discretion of the dean of students, the thirty-day deadline may be extended for a period not to exceed an additional thirty days.

(g) The dean of students will render a disciplinary decision as described in subsection 6–505(d)(2) if
   (1) the authorized representative(s) do not choose the option described in subsection 6–505(d)(1) of entering into a written agreement with the dean of students; or
   (2) the authorized representative(s) fail to choose either of the options described in subsection 6–505(d); or
   (3) the authorized representative(s) and the dean of students are unable to develop a written agreement as described in subsection 6–505(d)(1) that is acceptable to both parties.

(h) The disciplinary decision of the dean of students will include any sanction or sanctions pursuant to section 6–506 that are appropriate to the charges and to the accused registered student organization's disciplinary record, if any.

(i) The dean of students will share the disciplinary decision with the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization. The decision will
   (1) concisely describe the dean of students’ findings of fact regarding the allegation;
   (2) state the sanction or sanctions imposed, if any; and
   (3) if any violation is found or any sanction or sanctions imposed, advise the authorized representative(s) of their resolution options and right to appeal in accordance with section 6–507.
Sec. 6–506. Sanctions
(a) A student may be disciplined for a violation under chapter 11 of the Institutional Rules even though the registered student organization of which the student is a member is disciplined under subchapter 6–500 for the same violation or for a violation growing out of the same factual transaction.
(b) The dean of students, acting pursuant to section 6–501, or the hearing officer, after a hearing under subchapter 6–500, may impose one or more of the following sanctions on an accused registered student organization for violation of a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule:
(i) place the registered student organization on probation for not more than one calendar year;
(ii) suspend for not more than one calendar year the registered student organization’s right to do one or more of the following:
(A) publicly post signs;
(B) set up a table or exhibit;
(C) publicly assemble or demonstrate;
(D) publicly raise funds or make a solicitation;
(E) reserve the use of University facilities;
(F) participate in intramural sports tournaments and events;
(G) maintain a University Web site;
(H) present guest speakers;
(I) hang banners or distribute literature;
(J) set up A-frames; or
(K) use amplified sound.
(iii) require restitution, educational seminars, and community service;
(iv) suspend the registered student organization’s registration for not more than one calendar year;
(v) cancel the registered student organization’s registration for not less than one calendar year; or
(vi) impose another sanction or sanctions deemed appropriate under the circumstances.
(c) The dean of students or the hearing officer may impose conditions related to the offense, and failure to meet the conditions will be considered an additional violation.

Sec. 6–507. Right to Appeal
(a) A registered student organization that has not had its registration suspended or canceled may appeal the disciplinary decision assessed by the dean of students under subsection 6–506(b) to the vice president.
(b) A registered student organization that has had its registration suspended or canceled may appeal the disciplinary decision assessed by the dean of students under subsection 6–506(b) to the vice president or to a hearing officer.
(c) A registered student organization that has had its application for registration denied by the dean of students under subsection 6–205(c) may appeal to the vice president.
(d) Notice of appeal timely given suspends the imposition of the sanction or sanctions until the appeal is finally decided, but interim action may be taken as authorized under section 6–502.

Sec. 6–508. Appeal to a Hearing Officer
(a) To appeal a disciplinary decision of suspension or cancellation of registration issued under section 6–506 to a hearing officer, the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization must submit a written appeal to the dean of students. The appeal must be submitted by letter or by e-mail within fourteen days from the date on which the dean of students discussed the disciplinary decision with the authorized representative(s). The appeal must state the name of the registered student organization, the date the decision was shared, and specific reasons for the appeal, including any related argument.
(b) The authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization must file all relevant documentation from the disciplinary decision, including written arguments when appropriate, with the hearing officer within thirty days after the appeal is submitted.
Sec. 6–509. Hearing Officer
(a) The hearing officer will preside over the hearing and will
(1) determine whether the dean of students has satisfactorily performed the requirements of section 6–510;
(2) determine whether hearing observers may be present; hearing observers will be limited to people attending the hearing for University training purposes;
(3) rule on the admissibility of evidence and on objections to the procedure; facilitate the hearing process, which includes removing from the hearing anyone who is disrupting the process; render a written decision, which will contain findings of fact and conclusions as to whether or not a violation has occurred; assess a sanction or sanctions; provide the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization and the dean of students with a copy of the decision; and
(4) certify the hearing record.
(b) The authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization may challenge the hearing officer on the basis of an alleged lack of fairness or objectivity, but they are not entitled to disqualify that person from serving. It will be up to the challenged person to determine whether he or she can serve with fairness and objectivity. If the challenged person disqualifies himself or herself, another hearing officer will be appointed.

Sec. 6–510. Notice of Hearing
(a) The dean of students will
(1) set the date, time, and place for the hearing and notify the accused registered student organization of the date, time, and place;
(2) arrange for recording the hearing as provided in subsection 6–513(e); and
(3) furnish a suitable room, necessary equipment, and clerical assistance for the hearing.
(b) The dean of students will notify the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization by letter or by e-mail of the date, time, and place for the hearing. The notice will be delivered in person or sent by e-mail or postal mail to each authorized representative at an address listed in the registrar’s records.
(c) The notice will specify a hearing date at least ten days after the date the letter or e-mail message is received, unless the accused registered student organization has requested an earlier date as allowed by subsection 6–510(d). A letter or an e-mail message sent to an address listed in the registrar’s records will constitute full and adequate notice. A letter will be considered to have been received on the third day after the day of mailing.
An e-mail message will be considered to have been received on the second day after the day of sending the message.
(d) The authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization may request, in writing, that an earlier hearing date be set if feasible to arrange. The hearing officer for good cause may postpone the hearing, and he or she will notify the dean of students and the authorized representative(s) of the new hearing date. An authorized representative’s failure to provide and to maintain current addresses, refusal to accept delivery of a letter, or failure to receive an e-mail message because the mailbox is full or the message is inappropriately forwarded will not constitute good cause for failure to comply with the notice. (Policies on the use of e-mail for official correspondence are given in Appendix M, pages 271–272.)
(e) Notice sent under subsection 6–510(a) will
(i) direct the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization to appear on the date and at the time and place specified;
(ii) advise the authorized representative(s) of their rights
   (A) to request a private hearing;
   (B) to appear in person and to have an adviser at the hearing;
   (C) to challenge the person designated to hear the charges;
   (D) to know the identity of each witness who will testify against the registered student organization;
   (E) to present testimony of witnesses, to present documentary and other evidence, and to argue on the registered student organization’s behalf;
   (F) to cross-examine each witness who testifies against the registered student organization;
   (G) to appeal under section 6–517;
contain the name of the person appointed to act as hearing officer;
(4) contain the names of witnesses who may testify against the accused registered student organization, a brief summary of the testimony to be given by each, and a list of documentary and other evidence that will be offered against the registered student organization; the University may supplement the list of witnesses and documents for good cause, as determined by the hearing officer;
(5) contain a copy of the disciplinary decision by the dean of students; and
(6) notify the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization that, if the registered student organization is advised by an attorney at the hearing, then the dean of students may be advised by an attorney at the hearing. An adviser may confer with and advise the dean of students or the authorized representative(s) but will not be permitted to question witnesses, introduce evidence, make objections, or present arguments to the hearing officer.

(g) The dean of students may suspend or otherwise alter the status of an accused registered student organization or its authorized representative(s) who fail without good cause to comply with a notice sent under this section, or the dean of students may proceed with the hearing in the absence of the authorized representative(s). An authorized representative’s failure to provide and to maintain current addresses, refusal to accept delivery of a letter, or failure to receive an e-mail message because the mailbox is full or the message is inappropriately forwarded will not constitute good cause for failure to comply with a notice sent under this section.

Sec. 6–511. Preliminary Matters for a Hearing
(a) At least five days before the hearing date, the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization will furnish the dean of students with a list of any witnesses who may testify on behalf of the registered student organization, together with a summary of each witness’s testimony and a copy of any documents and other evidence he or she may offer; the authorized representative(s) may supplement the list of witnesses and documents for good cause, as determined by the hearing officer.
(b) At least five days before the hearing date, the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization will furnish the hearing officer with
(i) any objection that, if sustained, would postpone the hearing; and
(ii) the name of the adviser(s), if any, who will appear with the authorized representative(s), and the relationship of the adviser(s) to the authorized representative(s).
(c) At least five days before the hearing date, the dean of students will make copies of documents to be introduced at the hearing available to the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization.

Sec. 6–512. Hearing Procedure
(a) The hearing is informal and closed, except that, with the consent of the hearing officer, the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization, and the dean of students, the hearing may be open.
(b) Although the hearing will proceed generally as follows, the hearing officer may adjust the sequence of the hearing as necessary to ensure fairness:
(i) the dean of students reads the disciplinary decision;
(ii) the hearing officer informs the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization of their rights listed in subsection 6–510(e)(2);
(iii) the dean of students and the authorized representative(s) are each given the opportunity to make an opening statement; the authorized representative(s) have the right to reserve the registered student organization’s opening statement until after the dean of students has presented the University’s case;
(iv) the dean of students is given the opportunity to present the University’s witnesses and evidence; during this time, the authorized representative(s) may question any of the dean of students’ witnesses;
(v) the authorized representative(s) are given the opportunity to present the registered student organization’s witnesses and evidence; during this time, the dean of students may question any of the organization’s witnesses;
(vi) the dean of students and the authorized representative(s) are given the opportunity to present rebuttal evidence and argument;
(vii) the dean of students is given the opportunity to present a recommendation on a sanction or sanctions;
(8) the authorized representative(s) are given the opportunity to present a rebuttal and recommended outcome or sanction(s);

(9) the dean of students is given the opportunity to present a closing statement;

(10) the authorized representative(s) are given the opportunity to present a closing statement;

(11) the hearing officer decides whether a violation has occurred and assesses a sanction or sanctions in accordance with section 6–506; and

(12) the hearing officer informs the authorized representative(s) of the registered student organization’s right to appeal to the vice president.

(d) If, without good cause as determined by the hearing officer, none of the authorized representatives of the accused registered student organization appears at the scheduled hearing after receiving the proper notice in accordance with subsection 6–510(a), the dean of students may proceed with the hearing in the authorized representative(s) absence and the registered student organization loses its right to appeal the disciplinary decision of the hearing officer under section 6–517.

Sec. 6–513. Evidence in Hearings

(a) Legal rules of evidence do not apply to hearings under this subchapter; the hearing officer may admit and give effect to evidence, including testimony, that possesses probative value and is commonly accepted by reasonable people in the conduct of their affairs. The hearing officer will exclude irrelevant, immaterial, and unduly repetitious evidence. All evidence admitted during the hearing will be made a part of the record. The hearing officer will give effect to the rules of privilege recognized by law.

(b) Upon a hearing of the charges, the University has the burden of going forward with the evidence and the burden of proving the charges by the greater weight of credible evidence.

(c) A witness will testify unless the testimony is privileged as recognized by law or is excluded by the hearing officer.

(d) The hearing officer will decide whether a violation has occurred and assess an appropriate sanction or sanctions solely on the basis of admitted evidence. The accused registered student organization’s disciplinary record is admitted into evidence during a hearing only to help the hearing officer assess an appropriate sanction or sanctions.

(e) A recording will be made of the hearing, under supervision of the dean of students. At the discretion of the dean of students, a court recorder may also be present to prepare a written transcript of the hearing.

Sec. 6–514. Disciplinary Decision of the Hearing Officer

Before issuing his or her decision, the hearing officer will certify the hearing record as defined in section 6–515. If a court reporter is present during the hearing and prepares a written transcript of the hearing, the transcript is considered part of the hearing record, and the hearing officer should wait to receive it before certifying the hearing record. The hearing officer will then render a written decision as to whether the accused registered student organization has committed a violation and will set forth findings of fact in support of the decision. The sanction or sanctions will also be stated in the decision. The authorized representative(s) of the registered student organization and the dean of students will each be given a copy of the decision. The hearing officer’s written decision is the official decision on the matter from which any appeal is taken. The hearing officer should make every effort to complete the written decision within thirty days of the hearing. If the hearing officer is unable to issue the written decision within thirty days, he or she will contact both the authorized representative(s) and the dean of students to provide a date for completion of the written decision.

Sec. 6–515. Hearing Record

The hearing record consists of

(1) a copy of the notice required under section 6–510;

(2) the recording of the hearing certified by the hearing officer and the transcript, if any, certified by the court reporter, together with all evidence admitted under section 6–513;

(3) written motions and pleas; and

(4) the disciplinary decision of the hearing officer.
Sec. 6–516. Appeal of the Decision of the Dean of Students to the Vice President

(a) The authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization may appeal the disciplinary decision of the dean of students under section 6–506 directly to the vice president. The appeal, if any, must be submitted in writing to the vice president within fourteen days from the date on which the authorized representative(s) were notified of the disciplinary decision. If notice of the decision is sent by mail, the date the notice is mailed initiates the fourteen-day period. The written appeal must state the specific reasons for the appeal and must include any related argument. The authorized representative(s) must provide the dean of students with a copy of the appeal submitted to the vice president.

(b) The dean of students may submit a written response to the appeal to the vice president. The response, if any, must be submitted no later than five days after the vice president received the accused registered student organization’s appeal. The dean of students must provide a copy of the response to the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization. The response must be limited to and specifically related to the arguments originally submitted by the appealing party. New or additional information not specifically related to the original arguments submitted will not be considered on appeal. The dean of students’ submission of a response to the appeal will not extend the thirty-day period within which the action of the vice president will be communicated as outlined in subsection 6–518(c).

(c) The accused registered student organization’s appeal will be reviewed solely on the basis of the registered student organization’s disciplinary record, the written arguments of the authorized representative(s) of the registered student organization, and the written response to the appeal submitted by the dean of students.

Sec. 6–517. Appeal of the Decision of the Hearing Officer to the Vice President

(a) Either the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization or the dean of students may appeal the disciplinary decision of the hearing officer under section 6–514 by submitting a written appeal to the vice president. The appeal, if any, must be submitted within fourteen days from the date on which the appealing party was notified of the disciplinary decision. If notice of the disciplinary decision is sent by mail, the date the disciplinary decision is mailed initiates the fourteen-day period. The written appeal must state the specific reasons for the appeal and must include any related argument. If either party appeals the disciplinary decision, the vice president may request that the recording be transcribed; the transcript will be made available to both parties. If a court reporter was present during the hearing and prepares a written transcript immediately thereafter, the transcript is considered part of the hearing record and is made available to both parties.

(b) If the accused registered student organization is the appellant, the authorized representative(s) of the registered student organization must provide the dean of students with a copy of the appeal submitted to the vice president on the same date that the appeal is submitted to the vice president. If the dean of students is the appellant, the dean of students will give, e-mail, or mail a copy of the appeal to the authorized representative(s) of the registered student organization on the same day that the dean of students submits the appeal to the vice president. If the copy of the appeal is mailed or e-mailed, the dean of students will send it to the authorized representative(s) at an address listed in the registrar’s records.

(c) Following the submission of the appeal to the vice president, the non-appealing party may submit a written response to the vice president. The response, if any, must be submitted no later than five days after the vice president received the appeal. The non-appealing party must provide a copy of the response to the other party. The response must be limited to and specifically related to the arguments originally submitted by the appealing party. New or additional information not specifically related to the original arguments submitted will not be considered on appeal. The submission of a response to the appeal will not extend the thirty-day period within which the action of the vice president will be communicated as outlined in subsection 6–518(c).

(d) The appeal of the disciplinary decision of the hearing officer will be reviewed solely on the basis of the hearing record, the accused registered student organization’s disciplinary record, the written arguments of the appealing party, and the written response of the non-appealing party. The dean of students will submit the record from the hearing to the vice president as soon as it is available to the dean of students.
(e) If, without good cause as determined by the hearing officer, none of the authorized representatives of the accused registered student organization appears at the scheduled hearing after receiving the proper notice in accordance with subsection 6–510(a), the dean of students may proceed with the hearing in their absence, and the registered student organization loses its right to appeal the disciplinary decision of the hearing officer under section 6–517.

Sec. 6–518. Vice President’s Authority
(a) The vice president may approve, reject, or modify the disciplinary decision in question or may require that the original decision be reopened for the presentation of additional evidence and reconsideration of the decision.
(b) At the discretion of the vice president, both parties may present oral arguments in an appeal of the disciplinary decision of the dean of students or the hearing officer.
(c) The action of the vice president will be communicated in writing to the authorized representative(s) of the accused registered student organization and the dean of students within thirty days after the appeal has been received by the vice president. The decision of the vice president will be final.

CHAPTER 9. EDUCATIONAL RECORDS

Subchapter 9–100. General Provisions

Sec. 9–101. Purpose
The student educational records maintained by the University fall into two general categories: directory information and student records. The purpose of this chapter is to describe various kinds of educational records and to state the permissible uses of these records. These policies and procedures are in full accord with the final regulations implementing the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA).

Sec. 9–102. Confidentiality of Records
(a) Directory information: That part of a student’s educational record defined as directory information in section 9–201 is public information. It will be made available to the public unless the student has restricted it as described in subsection 9–201(c).
(b) Student records: Student records include all educational records except for directory information and are not public records. The University will maintain the confidentiality of these student records as indicated in section 9–202.
(c) Information in a student’s educational record may be released by the University as directed by the president in an emergency if the information is necessary to protect the health or safety of the student or other persons.

Sec. 9–103. Information Not Recorded
No record will be kept that reflects a student’s political attitudes, beliefs, or activities.

Sec. 9–104. Definitions
In this chapter, unless the context requires a different meaning,
(i) “educational record” means the official record of a student that is maintained by the University for use by the University and includes directory information and student records. “Educational record” does not include the personal records of University personnel that are maintained in the sole possession of and for the sole use of the maker thereof or of a temporary substitute for the maker; the records of law enforcement units that are maintained solely for law enforcement purposes; employment records related exclusively to an individual’s employment capacity (except as indicated in subsection 9–201(a)); medical and psychological records; thesis or research papers; or records that contain information about an individual only after the individual is no longer a student at the University.
Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities

Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities

1. “student” means a person enrolled on or after the first class day of the initial semester of attendance or a person formerly enrolled at the University;

2. “president” means the president of the University of Texas at Austin; and

3. “University” means the University of Texas at Austin.

Subchapter 9–200. Directory Information and Student Records

Sec. 9–201. Directory Information

(a) “Directory information” is defined as a student’s name, local and permanent addresses, electronic mail addresses, public username, telephone listing, date and place of birth, major field(s) of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height if a member of an athletic team, dates of attendance, enrollment status, degrees, awards and honors received (including selection criteria), the most recent previous educational institution attended, job title and dates of employment when employed by the University in a position that requires student status, and other similar information. Other similar information includes a student’s classification and expected date of graduation and student parking permit information.

(b) Directory information is public information and will be made available to the public unless the student has restricted it as described in subsection 9–201(c).

(c) A currently enrolled student may request that all or some directory information not be made public by completing an appropriate request online or in the Office of the Registrar during the first twelve class days of any semester or the first four class days of any summer term. This request will remain in effect until revoked by the student. In the event of such a request, this restricted information will be treated as student records information as defined in subsection 9–202(a). In response to public inquiries, the University will state that the student has requested that the University not release part of the student’s information; if the student has requested that all information be kept confidential, the University will state that the University has no information to provide regarding the person about whom the inquiry has been made.

Sec. 9–202. Student Records

(a) Student records include educational records maintained by the University except for directory information. Student records include official University academic and personal records relating to scholastic, disciplinary, and fiscal matters, as well as records maintained by University offices and agencies that provide services sought voluntarily by individual students. The University will not permit access to or the release of personally identifiable information contained in these records without the written consent of the student to any party other than the following:

1. appropriate University administrators, faculty members, or staff members, appropriate administrators or staff members of the Texas Exes, and contractors or others acting on behalf of the University who require access to educational records in order to perform their legitimate educational duties, when such records are needed in furtherance of the educational or business purposes of the student or the University;

2. officials of other schools in which the student seeks or intends to enroll, upon request of these officials, and upon the condition that the student be notified and receive a copy of the record if desired;

3. federal, state, or local officials or agencies authorized by law;

4. in connection with a student’s application for, or receipt of, financial aid;

5. accrediting organizations or organizations conducting educational studies, provided these organizations do not release personally identifiable data and provided they destroy such data when it is no longer needed for the purpose for which it was obtained;

6. the parents of a dependent student as defined in section 152 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, provided a reasonable effort is made to notify the student in advance;

7. in compliance with a judicial order or subpoena, provided a reasonable effort is made to notify the student in advance unless the subpoena specifically directs the institution not to disclose the existence of a subpoena; or

8. to an alleged victim of any crime of violence or a nonforcible sexual offense, the results of the alleged perpetrator’s disciplinary proceeding may be released.

(b) Upon written request, the University will provide a student access to his or her records described in subsection 9–202(a), except for
(i) financial records of the student’s parent or guardian; and
(ii) confidential letters of recommendation placed in the student’s educational record prior to January 1, 1975, and confidential letters of recommendation placed in the student’s educational record after January 1, 1975, if the student has signed a waiver of the right of access to letters of recommendation.

(c) The official custodian of records at the University is the vice president and chief financial officer. Since the University does not maintain a central repository for student records, inquiries for access to specific student records should be made to the University office or agency concerned with the particular record. Requests for assistance in locating individual student records should be directed in writing to the custodian of records.

(d) A student may obtain copies of his or her records described in subsection 9–202(a) at a cost of ten cents per page, except for an official transcript of academic record, $10, and an unofficial copy of the permanent academic record, $10. Educational records covered by the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA) normally will be made available within forty-five days of the request.

(e) A student may challenge the contents of his or her educational record on the grounds that the record is inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of his or her privacy rights. The student submits such a challenge by writing to the custodian of records. If the dispute cannot be resolved by informal proceedings, the student may request a formal hearing. The request for a hearing must be made in writing to the custodian of records. Within a reasonable period of time after receiving the request, the custodian of records will inform the student of the date, place, and time of the hearing. The student may present evidence relevant to the issues raised and may be assisted or represented at the hearing by one or more persons of the student’s choice, including attorneys, at the student’s expense. The hearing officer who will adjudicate the challenge will be appointed by the president. Decisions of the hearing officer will be based solely on the evidence presented at the hearing, will consist of written statements summarizing the evidence and stating the reasons for the decision, will be delivered to all parties concerned, and will be final. The educational record will be corrected or amended in accordance with the decision of the hearing officer, if the decision is in favor of the student. If the decision is unsatisfactory to the student, the student may place with the educational record statements commenting on the information in the record, statements setting forth any reasons for disagreeing with the decision of the hearing officer, or both. The statements will be maintained as part of the student’s records and released whenever the record in question is disclosed. A student who believes that the adjudication of the challenge was unfair or was not in keeping with the provisions of FERPA may request, in writing, assistance from the president.

(f) Complaints about alleged failure to comply with the provisions of FERPA may be submitted in writing to the Family Policy Compliance Office, US Department of Education, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW, Washington DC 20202.

(g) In addition to the procedures described in subsection 9–202(e), general categories of educational records are periodically reviewed and obsolete information is removed and destroyed in accordance with an established record retention schedule.

Sec. 9–203. Official Transcripts of Records

(a) The Office of the Registrar will send, issue, or release a student’s official transcript of record only
(i) at the student’s written request;
(ii) after formal authentication of the student’s identity; or
(iii) in accordance with subsection 9–202(a).

(b) A transcript of record will contain only the information described in section 9–402 and will not be furnished either in part or with information omitted or deleted.

(c) The registrar will maintain a “Register of Requests for Official Transcripts.” The register of requests is part of the student record.

(d) The sanction of withholding an official transcript or degree may be imposed upon a student who fails to pay a debt owed to the University. The sanction is lifted when the student has paid the debt.

(e) The dean of students, the president, or the Office of the Chancellor may withhold the issuance of a transcript or a degree pending a hearing against a student who violates a rule or regulation of The University of Texas System or the University when, in the opinion of the official, the interest of The University of Texas System or the University would be served by interim action.
Subchapter 9–300. Disciplinary Records

Sec. 9–301. Disciplinary Record
(a) The University will maintain a permanent written disciplinary record for every student assessed the sanction of suspension, expulsion, denial or revocation of a degree, or withdrawal of a diploma. A written record of any other sanction assessed will be maintained for at least five years. The disciplinary record will reflect the nature of the charge, the sanction assessed, and any other pertinent information.
(b) The contents of a student’s disciplinary record may be made available by the president or the president’s delegate to appropriate University officials who have a legitimate educational interest.
(c) The contents of a student’s disciplinary record may be made available to persons outside the University only upon written request of the student, or in accordance with state and federal law.

(c) Reservations are not required but are strongly encouraged. A University organization or faculty member, staff member, or student planning to use a room or space without a reservation may find the facility locked or in use by another University organization.
Sec. 10-202. Application

(a) (1) All University organizations wishing to reserve an outdoor space will apply to the dean of students on a form prescribed by the dean of students.

(2) Registered student organizations wishing to reserve a general purpose classroom will apply to the dean of students on a form prescribed by the dean of students. Faculty and staff members, registered faculty and staff organizations, and academic and administrative units wishing to reserve a general purpose classroom will apply to the registrar on a form prescribed by the registrar.

(3) Reservations for rooms and spaces controlled by academic or administrative units other than the registrar and the dean of students will be made through the unit that controls the room or space. Rooms and spaces controlled by other units include special use facilities, athletic facilities, classrooms that are not general purpose classrooms, many conference rooms, reception areas, and other specialized rooms and spaces. Some of these rooms and spaces are dedicated to special purposes and are subject to special rules. Academic and administrative units are encouraged to make the rules and procedures for reserving rooms and spaces, and a list of the rooms and spaces that may be reserved, readily available on a Web site or on a flyer or pamphlet available at the unit’s office.

(b) The dean of students will maintain, on a Web site or on a flyer or pamphlet available at the dean of students’ office,

(i) the procedures for reserving outdoor spaces, or for registered student organizations reserving general purpose classrooms, and any additional rules applicable to such reservations; and

(ii) a list of general purpose classrooms.

Sec. 10-203. Consideration of Application

(a) The dean of students will approve a properly completed application to reserve an outdoor space and will facilitate a properly completed application to reserve a general purpose classroom, unless the dean of students finds that

(i) the proposed use of the room or space would violate a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule;

(ii) another event or exhibit has been scheduled for the proposed time and location, or so near that there is a practical conflict;

(iii) the room or space requested is inadequate to accommodate the proposed use;

(iv) the proposed use of the room or space would violate reasonable and nondiscriminatory fire, health, or safety standards;

(v) the proposed use of the room or space would constitute an immediate and actual danger to students, faculty members, or staff members or to the peace or security of the University that available law enforcement officials could not control with reasonable effort;

(vi) the applicant is under a disciplinary sanction that prohibits reserving the use of a University room or space or that prohibits the proposed use of the room or space; or

(vii) the applicant owes a monetary debt to the University and the debt is considered delinquent by the crediting agency.

(b) If the dean of students does not approve an application under subsection 10–203(a), upon request he or she will give the applicant a written statement of the grounds for refusal within three weekdays.

Subchapter 10–300. Regulations Applicable to University Property

Sec. 10–301. Identification

(a) Any person will identify himself or herself when asked to do so by an institutional representative while on any property or in any building owned or controlled by the University or The University of Texas System. A person identifies himself or herself by

(i) giving his or her name and complete address, substantiated by a current driver’s license, voter registration card, or other official documentation; and

(ii) stating truthfully whether he or she is a student or employee of the University or The University of Texas System.

(b) An “institutional representative” is any regent, executive officer, administrative officer, attorney, peace officer, or security officer of the University or The University of Texas System.
Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities

Sec. 10–302. Use of Alcoholic Beverages
The use of alcoholic beverages is prohibited on property and in buildings and facilities owned or controlled by the University or The University of Texas System. However, the chief administrative officer of the University or The University of Texas System may waive this prohibition with respect to any specific event sponsored by the University or The University of Texas System. Meetings or events sponsored by registered faculty, staff, or student organizations are not events sponsored by the University or The University of Texas System. State laws related to alcoholic beverages will be strictly enforced at all times on property controlled by The University of Texas System and its component institutions.

Subchapter 10–400. Enforcement and Appeals

Sec. 10–401. Response to Violations
A student who violates a prohibition in this chapter may be disciplined under the procedures in chapter 11 of the Institutional Rules. A registered student organization that violates a prohibition in this chapter may be disciplined under chapter 6 of the Institutional Rules.

Sec. 10–402. Appeals
(a) A University organization aggrieved by a decision under this chapter may appeal to the vice president by letter or by e-mail, sending a copy to the dean of students, within fourteen days after the day the decision is announced. The appeal must contain the University organization's name and mailing address, a concise description of the decision complained of, the University organization’s reasons for disagreeing with the decision, and the date the decision was announced.
(b) When timely notice of appeal is received, the dean of students will prepare and send to the vice president a copy of the written statement of the reason given for the dean of students’ decision. At the discretion of the vice president, both parties may present oral arguments to an appeal of the dean of students’ decision under this chapter.
(c) The action of the vice president will be communicated by letter or by e-mail to the University organization and the dean of students within five days after the appeal and related documents have been received.

Sec. 10–403. Further Review by Petition
The dean of students or the organization may petition by letter or by e-mail through the vice president to the president of the University to review the decision being appealed. The president may establish an ad hoc committee to review the appeal and make recommendations regarding it. The president reviews appeals solely at his or her discretion.

CHAPTER 11. STUDENT DISCIPLINE AND CONDUCT

Sec. 11–101. Preamble
(a) The University’s expectations for student conduct are grounded in the University Honor Code: “The core values of The University of Texas at Austin are learning, discovery, freedom, leadership, individual opportunity, and responsibility. Each member of the University is expected to uphold these values through integrity, honesty, trust, fairness, and respect towards peers and community.” University students are expected to abide by all city, state, and federal laws and statutes and all regulations of the University and The University of Texas System. However, as a community of scholars, the University expects from its students a higher standard of conduct than that required simply to avoid discipline. The principles of the University Honor Code both govern and direct student conduct, to promote a safe environment that is conducive to academic success.
and to ensure that each student who matriculates at the University graduates ready to contribute to society as an ethical citizen.

(b) This chapter contains regulations for dealing with alleged student violations of University standards of conduct in a manner consistent with the requirements of procedural due process. In addition to the general expectations for conduct set forth in subsection 11–101(a), subchapter 11–400 contains a description of prohibited conduct.

Sec. 11–102. Application and Jurisdiction

(a) This chapter applies to individual students and states the function of faculty members and administrative staff members of the University in disciplinary proceedings.

(b) A student is subject to discipline for prohibited conduct that occurs while the student is participating in off-campus activities sponsored by or affiliated with the University, including field trips, internships, rotations, and clinical assignments.

(c) Students may be disciplined by the University for violating any standards of conduct on the campus or off of the campus when the incident occurs in connection with an institution-oriented activity, or when the incident has a substantial connection to the interests of the University, or when the behavior is prohibited by University policy regardless of where it occurs, even if they are or may be penalized by civil authorities for the same act.

(d) University disciplinary action may be instituted against a student charged with conduct that potentially violates both the criminal law and University policy without regard to the pendency of civil or criminal litigation in court or criminal arrest and prosecution. At the discretion of the dean of students, proceedings under this chapter may be carried out prior to, simultaneously with, or following criminal proceedings off campus. Determinations made and sanctions imposed under this chapter will not be subject to change because criminal charges arising out of the same facts that give rise to the violations of University rules were dismissed, reduced, or resolved in favor of or against the criminal law defendant.

Subchapter 11–200. Administration of Discipline

Sec. 11–201. Administration by Dean of Students

The dean of students has primary authority and responsibility for the administration of student discipline. The dean of students works cooperatively with faculty members in the disposition of academic violations, with appropriate staff members in the Division of Housing and Food Service in the disposition of residence halls violations, and with other appropriate staff members in the disposition of other types of violations. The dean of students may delegate to faculty members the authority to dispose of academic discipline cases and may delegate to University staff members the authority to dispose of designated student disciplinary matters as deemed appropriate.

Sec. 11–202. Hearing Officer

The hearing officer(s) will be appointed in accordance with procedures established by the president. The president may appoint an individual or an office to coordinate the work of the hearing officer(s). To preclude any appearance of impropriety on the part of the dean of students, the selection and training of hearing officers is under the authority of the president’s office and facilitated by the Vice President for Student Affairs.

Subchapter 11–300. Definitions

In this chapter, unless the context requires a different meaning, the following definitions apply.

(i) “Adviser” means a single individual whom an accused student may elect to accompany him or her to a meeting with the dean of students or a hearing regarding an alleged violation of University policy. Because the accused student is solely responsible for presenting his or her case during the disciplinary process, an adviser may confer with and advise the accused student but may not advocate for the student in a meeting with the dean of students or in a hearing. If an adviser is directly related to a disciplinary case or if the adviser’s presence poses a conflict of interest, the dean of students or hearing officer may dismiss the adviser from the meeting or hearing. Advisers may be dismissed from any disciplinary proceedings if they disrupt the process. If an adviser is an attorney, then the dean of students may also be accompanied by an attorney.

(a) “Complaint” means a written statement of the essential facts constituting a violation of a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule.

(b) “Day” means calendar day, except University holidays and days on which regularly scheduled classes are suspended due to emergent situations; “weekday” means Monday through Friday, except University holidays and days on which regularly scheduled classes are suspended due to emergent situations; “University holiday” means a staff holiday identified in the holiday schedule published by the Office of Human Resource Services. If a deadline defined in this chapter falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or University holiday, that deadline will be moved to the next weekday; Saturdays and Sundays that are contiguous with University holidays are not considered “days” as defined here.

(c) “Dean of students” means the dean of students of the University of Texas at Austin or the dean of students’ delegate or representative.

(d) “Disciplinary decision” means a written decision as to whether an accused student has committed a violation of a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule. It includes the findings of fact in support of the decision along with the assessed sanction or sanctions, if any.

(e) “Disciplinary record” or “student disciplinary record” means a student record as defined in section 9–202 of the Institutional Rules maintained by the dean of students in connection with a violation or an alleged violation of a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule. The disciplinary record may include complaints, notices, hearing records, disciplinary decisions, and other documents required under this chapter or deemed relevant by the dean of students. Disciplinary records may be disclosed to outside parties as dictated by section 9–300 of the Institutional Rules.

(f) “Faculty member” means a person who is employed by the University for the purpose of teaching a class, and who has authority to assign grades for the class.

(g) “Hearing officer” means a person appointed by the president to conduct hearings of alleged violations of a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, or administrative rule; whenever a case involves a student in the School of Law, the hearing officer will be a faculty member in the School of Law.

(h) “President” means the president of the University of Texas at Austin.

(i) “Student” means a person who is currently enrolled at the University, or who is accepted for admission or readmission to the University, or who has been enrolled at the University in a prior semester or summer session and is eligible to continue enrollment in the semester or summer session that immediately follows, or who is attending an educational program sponsored by the University while that person is on campus, or who engaged in prohibited conduct at a time when he or she met the above criteria. For the purposes of this chapter, individuals who are not currently enrolled at the University remain subject to the disciplinary process for conduct that occurred while they were enrolled.

(j) “University” means the University of Texas at Austin.

(k) “University holiday”—see “day” above.

(l) “Weekday”—see “day” above.

Subchapter 11–400. Prohibited Conduct

Sec. 11–401. Conduct Expected of Students

As stated in subsection 11–101(a), the University’s expectations for conduct are grounded in the University Honor Code. While subchapter 11–400 outlines specific examples of prohibited conduct, the University expects from its students a higher standard of conduct than the minimum needed to avoid discipline.

Sec. 11–402. Academic Dishonesty

(a) The dean of students or a faculty member may initiate disciplinary proceedings under subchapter 11–500 against a student accused of academic dishonesty.

(b) “Academic dishonesty” or “scholastic dishonesty” includes, but is not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, collusion, falsifying academic records, misrepresenting facts, and any act designed to give unfair academic advantage to the student (such as, but not limited to, submission of essentially the same written assignment for two classes without the prior permission of the instructor), or the attempt to commit such an act.

c) “Cheating” includes, but is not limited to,

(1) copying from another student’s test paper, project, or other assignment;
(2) failing to comply with instructions given by the person administering a test, project, or other assignment, or given in conjunction with the completion of course requirements;
(3) use or possession of materials that are not authorized by the person giving the test, project, or other assignment, including but not limited to class notes, calculators, electronic devices, and specifically designed “crib notes”; the presence of textbooks constitutes a violation only if they have been specifically prohibited by the person administering the test;
(4) providing aid or assistance to or receiving aid or assistance from another student or individual, without authority, in conjunction with a test, project, or other assignment;
(5) discussing the contents of a test with another student who will take the test;
(6) divulging the contents of a test, for the purpose of preserving questions for future use, when the instructor has designated that the test is not to be removed from the examination room or is not to be returned to or kept by the student;
(7) substituting for another person or permitting another person to substitute for oneself to take a class, a test, or any class-related assignment;
(8) using, buying, stealing, transporting, soliciting, or coercing another person to obtain answers to or information about an unadministered test, project, or other assignment;
(9) falsifying research data, laboratory reports, other academic work offered for credit, or work done in conjunction with the completion of course requirements;
(10) taking, keeping, misplacing, or damaging the property of the University, or of another, if the student knows or reasonably should know that an unfair academic advantage would be gained by such conduct; and
(11) altering a test paper, project, or other assignment to gain an academic advantage.

d) “Plagiarism” includes, but is not limited to, the appropriation of, buying, receiving as a gift, or obtaining by any means material that is attributable in whole or in part to another source, including words, ideas, illustrations, structure, computer code, and other expression or media, and presenting that material as one’s own academic work being offered for credit.

e) “Collusion” includes, but is not limited to, unauthorized collaboration with another person in preparing academic assignments offered for credit, and collaboration with another person to commit a violation of any section of the rules on academic dishonesty.

(f) “Misrepresenting facts for academic advantage” to the University or an agent of the University or The University of Texas System includes, but is not limited to, providing false grades or résumés; providing false or misleading information in an effort to receive a postponement or an extension on a test, quiz, or other assignment for the purpose of obtaining an academic or financial benefit for oneself or another individual; and providing false or misleading information in an effort to injure another student academically or financially.

Sec. 11–403. Financial Transactions with the University

Students who owe debts to the University may be denied admission or readmission to the University and may have official transcripts, grades, diplomas, and degrees to which they would otherwise be entitled withheld until the debt is paid. Students who write bad checks to the University for tuition and fees will have their registration canceled. Bad checks written to the University for other purposes will subject the student to legal and/or disciplinary action. Matters relating to student financial transactions will be directed by the appropriate administrative office to the Office of Accounting.7

Sec. 11–404. General Misconduct8

(a) Notwithstanding any action taken on account of the violation by civil authorities or agencies charged with the enforcement of criminal laws, the dean of students may initiate disciplinary proceedings under subchapter 11–500 against a student who

(i) engages in conduct that violates any provision of federal, state, or local laws, whether or not the violation occurs on University property or in connection with any University-oriented activity;
(2) possesses, uses, or displays firearms, facsimile firearms, ammunition, explosives, or other weapons on property owned or controlled by the University, without written permission from the dean of students;

(3) conducts himself or herself in a manner that impedes, interferes with, or disrupts any University teaching, research, administrative, disciplinary, public service, learning, or other authorized activity;

(4) conducts himself or herself in a manner that threatens or endangers the health or safety of any student or employee of the University, or of visitors on the campus;

(5) violates the University’s prohibition of sexual assault as contained in Appendix H of the Institutional Rules;

(6) damages, defaces, destroys, tampers with, or takes without authorization property of the University, property belonging to any student or employee of the University, or property of a visitor on the campus;

(7) is in possession of or makes use of University keys for unauthorized purposes;

(8) engages in activities that subject a probationary member of a group to dangerous, harmful, or degrading acts (Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 50101, Number 2, Section 2.8, state that such acts are a violation with or without the consent of the probationary member);

(9) engages in unauthorized use or possession of alcoholic beverages in a University classroom building, laboratory, auditorium, library building, museum, faculty or administrative office, intercollegiate or intramural athletic facility, residence hall, or any other campus area; or engages in the improper use, possession, or consumption of alcoholic beverages, including but not limited to underage possession of alcohol, underage consumption of alcohol, providing alcohol to a minor, public intoxication, minor driving under the influence of alcohol, driving while intoxicated;

(10) engages in illegal use, possession, or sale of a drug or narcotic, or possession of drug paraphernalia;

(11) engages in speech, either orally or in writing, that is directed to inciting or producing imminent lawless action and is likely to incite or produce such action;

(12) enters, walks, runs, lies, plays, remains, or is in the water of any fountain or other artificial body of water on the University campus that is not designed and maintained for recreational or therapeutic purposes; dumps, throws, places, or causes to be placed any material, object, trash, person, animal, waste, or debris in the water of any fountain or other artificial body of water located on the University campus; or damages, defaces, or removes any portion of any fountain, monument, building, statue, structure, facility, tree, shrub, or memorial located on the University campus;

(13) engages in harassment; harassment is defined as conduct that is sufficiently severe, pervasive, or persistent to create an objectively hostile environment that interferes with or diminishes the ability of an individual to participate in or benefit from the services, activities, or privileges provided by the University; for a complete set of cross-references to all harassment policies on the campus, see subsection 13–204(c) of the Institutional Rules;

(14) engages in unauthorized use of property, equipment, resources, supplies, buildings, or facilities owned or controlled by the University or the University of Texas System, including unauthorized entry into property, buildings, or facilities owned or controlled by the University or the University of Texas System;

(16) refuses to identify himself or herself to a University official, faculty member, or staff member acting in his or her official capacity;

(17) alters or assists in the alteration of any official nonacademic record or document (including parking permits) of any University office or of the University of Texas System;

(18) engages in an inappropriate or disproportionate use of an information technology resource owned or controlled by the University or the University of Texas System or uses an information technology resource for an illegal, threatening, or intentionally destructive purpose; prohibited conduct includes but is not limited to circumventing system or network security, committing copyright infringement, transmitting unsolicited e-mail, sharing a University-issued password, falsifying an e-mail header, and using resources for personal financial gain or profit;
engages in stalking; stalking is defined as repeated conduct directed specifically at another person that reasonably causes that person, or a member of that person’s family or household, to fear for his or her safety or that person’s property; such conduct may include but is not limited to repeated, close physical or visual contact, watching, following, and making direct or implied threats by phone calls, e-mail messages, letters, or messages;

engages in gambling, including in the residence halls;

engages in the falsification of academic records, including but not limited to altering or assisting in the alteration of any official record of the University or The University of Texas System and submitting false information or omitting requested information that is required for or related to any academic record of the University or The University of Texas System. Academic records include, but are not limited to, applications for admission, the awarding of a degree, registration materials, grade change forms, and reporting forms used by the Office of the Registrar. A former student who engages in such conduct is subject to a bar against readmission, revocation of a degree, and withdrawal of a diploma; or otherwise engages in the following acts of inappropriate conduct that hold the potential to interfere or disrupt the teaching function of the University: pranks, repeated contact of a harassing nature through a personal or electronic medium, and berating or otherwise abusive behavior.

In the case of disruptive activity on the campus of the University, neither the dean of students nor the president nor any representative of them will negotiate or attempt to negotiate with any person or persons so engaged. When such a situation arises, the dean of students or the president, or their representative, will take immediate action to utilize all lawful measures to halt and eliminate any and all such disruptive activities that come to their attention, and may initiate disciplinary proceedings under subchapter 11–500.

It is unlawful for any person on any property of the University to refuse to identify himself or herself to an institutional representative in response to a request. A person identifies himself or herself by giving his or her name and complete address, substantiated by a current driver’s license, voter registration card, or other official documentation, and by stating truthfully whether or not he or she is a student or employee of the University. An institutional representative includes any member of the Board of Regents; any executive officer or administrative officer of the system; any administrative officer of the University; and any attorney, peace officer, or security officer of the System or the University acting pursuant to the authority of Texas law.

Any person who violates any provision of the Regents’ Rules and Regulations of The University of Texas System, the rules and regulations of the University (including but not limited to administrative rules of campus offices), or specific instructions issued by an administrative official acting in the course of his or her authorized duties, is subject to disciplinary sanction.

It is a violation for a student to attempt to commit any violation of University rules or regulations, or to assist another person or persons in committing any violation of University rules or regulations.

It is a violation to engage in action that interferes with or obstructs the student disciplinary process. This includes, but is not limited to, failing to appear for a meeting when summoned by letter or e-mail to do so, failing to appear at or testify at a hearing, attempting to intimidate, harass, or unduly influence a potential witness or complainant, and failing to complete judicial sanctions.

Subchapter 11–500. Disciplinary Procedures

Sec. 11–501. Investigation

When the dean of students receives information that a student has allegedly violated a Regents’ Rule, University regulation, administrative rule, city ordinance, or state or federal law, he or she will investigate the alleged violation. Upon completing the preliminary investigation, the dean of students may

(i) dismiss the allegation as unfounded; or

(ii) summon the student for a conference and, after conferring with the student,

(A) dismiss the allegation;

(B) proceed administratively under section 11–504; or

(C) prepare a complaint based on the allegation and proceed under subchapter 11–600.
Sec. 11–502. Interim Disciplinary Action

(a) Pending a hearing or other disposition of the allegations against a student, if the continuing presence of the student poses a potential danger to persons or property or a potential threat of disrupting the academic process or any activity authorized by the University, the dean of students may take such immediate interim disciplinary action as is appropriate to the circumstances. Appropriate actions include but are not limited to suspending the right of the student to be present on the campus (including to live in campus residence halls) and to attend classes, and otherwise altering the status of the student.14

(b) A student who is suspended or whose status is altered under subsection 11–502(a) is entitled to a hearing at his or her request by a hearing officer under subchapter 11–600. A request for a hearing under this subsection must be made within five days after the interim disciplinary action was taken, if requested by the student, such a hearing generally will be conducted within ten days after the interim disciplinary action was taken, unless the student agrees in writing to a hearing at a later time or waives a hearing and accepts the decision of the dean of students under section 11–504. At the discretion of the dean of students, the ten-day period may be extended for a period not to exceed an additional ten days. Prior to a hearing as described in this section, a student whose status is altered under subsection 11–502(a) may request a meeting with the dean of students to discuss the interim disciplinary action taken by the University. If the student chooses, he or she may seek to have the matter resolved by proceeding under the provisions of section 11–504. If a student chooses to proceed under section 11–504 after interim disciplinary action has been taken, the dean of students may determine that the deadlines contained in this section for the scheduling and initiation of a hearing do not apply.

Sec. 11–503. Summoning a Student

(a) The dean of students may summon a student to appear in connection with an alleged violation by sending a message to the student by letter or by e-mail at an address listed in the registrar’s records.

(b) The message will direct the student to appear at a specific time and place at least three weekdays after the date of the message if the message is sent by letter, or at least two weekdays after the date of the message if the message is sent by e-mail.

(c) The dean of students may bar or cancel the enrollment or otherwise alter the status of a student (or of a former student as described in subsection 11–300[10]) who fails without good cause to comply with a summons sent under subsection 11–503(a). A letter sent to an address listed in the registrar’s records, a letter hand-delivered to the student, or an e-mail message sent to the address listed in the registrar’s records will constitute full and adequate notice. The student’s failure to provide and to maintain current addresses, refusal to accept delivery of a letter, or failure to receive an e-mail message because the mailbox is full or the message is inappropriately forwarded will not constitute good cause for failure to comply with the summons. (Policies on the use of e-mail for official correspondence are given in Appendix M, pages 271–272.)

Sec. 11–504. Disposition by the Dean of Students of Disciplinary Violations

(a) An accused student has the right to resolve a disciplinary case through an administrative disposition with the dean of students. Administrative dispositions are used in situations where the accused student does not dispute the facts upon which the charges are based and provides a signed written waiver of the hearing procedures. The dean of students will review all evidence, including the student’s response to the allegation, and determine whether the greater weight of credible evidence supports a finding that a violation occurred. If a violation is deemed to have occurred, the dean of students will assess a sanction or sanctions pursuant to subchapter 11–700 that is appropriate given the allegation and the student’s disciplinary record, if any.

(b) A student who resolves his or her disciplinary case through an administrative disposition with the dean of students may appeal only the assessed sanction or sanctions to the president in accordance with section 11–803.15

(c) A student who does not wish to sign the administrative disposition developed as described in subsection 11–504(a) may resolve the disciplinary case through a hearing in accordance with subchapter 11–600.

(d) If the student fails to complete the assigned sanction or sanctions, the dean of students may place a bar on the student’s registration until he or she completes the sanction.

14. See Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 50101, Number 2, Section 4.2.

15. See Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 50101, Number 2, Section 4.4.
Sec. 11–505. Disposition by Faculty Members of Academic Violations

(a) When a faculty member has reason to suspect that a student has violated University regulations concerning academic dishonesty as defined in section 11–402, the faculty member may

(1) refer the case to the dean of students, who will proceed under section 11–501. The faculty member is not required to notify the accused student that the disciplinary referral has been made; or

(2) meet with the student(s) involved and discuss the alleged violation(s), the documentation and/or information that supports the charge, and the rights of the student(s) in the disciplinary process. After conferring with the student, the faculty member may dismiss the allegation or proceed under subsection 11–505(b) or subsection 11–505(c).

(b) In any case where a student accused of academic dishonesty disputes the facts upon which the charges are based, chooses not to waive the right to a hearing before a hearing officer, or chooses to have the case resolved by the dean of students, the faculty member will refer the matter to the dean of students, who will then proceed under section 11–501.

(c) With the agreement of both the accused student and the faculty member, a case of academic dishonesty may be resolved through a faculty disposition. Faculty dispositions are used in situations where the accused student does not dispute the facts upon which the charges are based and provides a signed written waiver of the hearing procedures. If, after hearing the accused student’s response to the allegation, the faculty member determines that the greater weight of credible evidence supports a finding that a violation has occurred, the faculty member will assess a sanction or sanctions pursuant to section 11–702. After the student signs the faculty disposition, the faculty member sends the signed form and all relevant documentation (including copies of the academic assignment and course syllabus) to the dean of students. The dean of students may summon the student for consideration of an additional disciplinary sanction or sanctions in accordance with subsection 11–702(b). In extraordinary circumstances, if the sanction issued in a faculty disposition falls well outside the general scope of sanctions issued in similar cases, the dean of students may communicate with the faculty member to discuss a different sanction.

(1) A student who resolves his or her disciplinary case through a faculty disposition may appeal only the assessed sanction or sanctions to the president in accordance with section 11–802.

(2) If the student fails to complete the assigned sanction or sanctions, the dean of students may place a bar on the student’s registration until he or she completes the sanction.

Subchapter 11–600. Hearing

Sec. 11–601. Duties of the Hearing Officer

In cases in which the accused student disputes the facts upon which the charges are based, or chooses not to waive the hearing procedure, the charges will be heard and determined by a hearing officer. The hearing officer will preside over the hearing and will

(1) determine whether the dean of students has satisfactorily performed the requirements of section 11–602;

(2) determine whether hearing observers may be present; hearing observers will be limited to people attending the hearing for University training purposes;

(3) rule on the admissibility of evidence and on objections to the procedure; facilitate the hearing process, which includes removing from the hearing anyone who is disrupting the process; render a written decision, which will contain findings of fact and conclusions as to whether or not a violation has occurred; assess a sanction or sanctions; and provide the student and the dean of students with a copy of the decision; and

(4) certify the hearing record.

Sec. 11–602. Duties of the Dean of Students

The dean of students will

(1) set the date, time, and place for the hearing and notify the accused student of the date, time, and place;
(a) arrange for recording the hearing as provided in subsection 11–607(e); and
(j) furnish a suitable room, necessary equipment, and clerical assistance for the hearing.

Sec. 11–603. Notice of Hearing
(a) The dean of students will notify the accused student by letter or by e-mail of the date, time, and place for the hearing. The notice will be delivered in person or sent by e-mail or postal mail to the student at an address listed in the registrar's records.
(b) The notice will specify a hearing date at least ten days after the date of the letter or e-mail message, unless the hearing is being held under the conditions required in section 11–502. A letter or an e-mail message sent to an address listed in the registrar’s records will constitute full and adequate notice. A letter will be considered to have been received on the third day after the day of mailing, excluding any intervening Sunday. An e-mail message will be considered to have been received on the second day after the day of sending the message. A student may request, in writing, that an earlier hearing date be set if feasible to arrange. The hearing officer for good cause may postpone the hearing and will notify the dean of students and the accused student of the new hearing date. The student’s failure to provide and to maintain current addresses, refusal to accept delivery of a letter, or failure to receive an e-mail message because the mailbox is full or the message is inappropriately forwarded will not constitute good cause for failure to comply with the notice. (Policies on the use of e-mail for official correspondence are given in Appendix M, pages 271–272.)
(c) Notice sent under subsection 11–603(a) will
(i) direct the accused student to appear on the date and at the time and place specified;
(ii) advise the accused student of his or her rights
(A) to a private hearing;
(B) to appear in person and to have an adviser at the hearing;
(C) to challenge the person designated to hear the charges;
(D) to know the identity of each witness who will testify against him or her;
(E) to present testimony of witnesses, to present documentary and other evidence, and to argue in his or her own behalf;
(F) to cross-examine each witness who testifies against him or her; and
(G) to appeal under section 11–804;
(iii) contain the name of the person appointed to act as hearing officer;
(iv) contain the names of witnesses who may testify against the accused student, a brief summary of the testimony to be given by each, and a list of documentary and other evidence that will be offered against the accused student; the University may supplement the list of witnesses and documents for good cause, as determined by the hearing officer;
(v) contain a copy of the complaint, which entails a written statement of the charges; and
(vi) notify the accused student that if he or she is advised by an attorney at the hearing, then the dean of students may be advised by an attorney at the hearing. An adviser may confer with and advise the dean of students or the accused student but may not question witnesses, introduce evidence, make objections, or present arguments to the hearing officer.17
(d) The dean of students may suspend or otherwise alter the status of an accused student who fails without good cause to comply with a notice sent under this section, or the dean of students may proceed with the hearing in the student’s absence. The student’s failure to provide and to maintain current addresses, refusal to accept delivery of a letter, or failure to receive an e-mail message because the mailbox is full or the message is inappropriately forwarded will not constitute good cause for failure to comply with a notice sent under this section.

Sec. 11–604. Preliminary Matters for a Hearing
(a) Charges against more than one student that arise out of a single transaction or occurrence may, in extraordinary circumstances and at the discretion of the dean of students, be heard together, but the hearing officer for good cause shown may subsequently grant a separate hearing.
(b) At least five days before the hearing date, the student will furnish the dean of students with a list of any witnesses who may testify on behalf of the student, together with a summary of each witness’s testimony and a copy of any documents and other evidence the witness may offer; the student may supplement the list of witnesses and documents for good cause, as determined by the hearing officer.

17. See Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 5001, Number 2, Section 55(6).

(c) At least five days before the hearing date, the student will furnish the hearing officer with

(1) any objection that, if sustained, would postpone the hearing;
(2) the name of the adviser, if any, who will appear with the student, and the adviser’s relationship to the student; and
(3) a request for a separate hearing, if desired, and the grounds for such a hearing (if the dean of students has designated that the hearing will be held in accordance with subsection 11–604(a)).

(d) At least five days before the hearing date, the dean of students will make copies of documents to be introduced at the hearing available to the accused student.

Sec. 11–605. Challenges to the Hearing Officer
The accused student may challenge the hearing officer’s alleged lack of fairness or objectivity but is not entitled to disqualify that person from serving. The challenge must be in writing, must state the reasons for the challenge, and must be submitted to the hearing officer through the Office of the Dean of Students at least three days prior to the hearing. It will be up to the challenged person to determine whether he or she can serve with fairness and objectivity. If the challenged person disqualifies himself or herself, another hearing officer will be appointed.

Sec. 11–606. Hearing Procedure
(a) The hearing is informal and closed, except that, with the consent of the accused student and the dean of students, the hearing may be open.
(b) Although the hearing will proceed generally as follows, the hearing officer may adjust the sequence of the hearing as necessary to ensure fairness:

(1) the dean of students reads the complaint;
(2) the hearing officer informs the accused student of his or her rights listed in subsection 11–603(c)(2);
(3) the dean of students and the accused student are each given the opportunity to make an opening statement; the accused student has the right to reserve his or her opening statement until after the dean of students has presented the University’s case;
(4) the dean of students is given the opportunity to present the University’s witnesses and evidence; during this time, the accused student may question any of the dean of students’ witnesses;
(5) the accused student is given the opportunity to present his or her witnesses and evidence; during this time, the dean of students may question any of the accused student’s witnesses;
(6) the dean of students and the accused student are each given the opportunity to present rebuttal evidence and argument;
(7) the dean of students is given the opportunity to present a recommendation on a sanction or sanctions;18
(8) the accused student is given the opportunity to present a rebuttal and recommended outcome or sanctions;19
(9) the dean of students is given the opportunity to present a closing statement;
(10) the accused student is given the opportunity to present a closing statement;
(11) the hearing officer decides whether a violation has occurred and assesses a sanction or sanctions in accordance with subchapter 11–700.

(c) If the student fails without good cause as determined by the hearing officer to appear at the scheduled hearing after receiving the proper notice in accordance with section 11–603, the dean of students may proceed with the hearing in the student’s absence and the student loses his or her right to appeal the disciplinary decision of the hearing officer under section 11–804.

Sec. 11–607. Evidence in Hearings
(a) Legal rules of evidence do not apply to hearings under this subchapter; the hearing officer may admit and give effect to evidence, including testimony, that possesses probative value and is commonly accepted by reasonable people in the conduct of their affairs. The hearing officer will exclude irrelevant, immaterial, and unduly repetitious evidence. All evidence admitted during the hearing will be made a part of the record. The hearing officer will give effect to the rules of privilege recognized by law.

(b) Upon a hearing of the charges, the University has the burden of going forward with the evidence and the burden of proving the charges by the greater weight of credible evidence. 20

(c) A witness will testify unless the testimony is privileged as recognized by law or is excluded by the hearing officer.

(d) The hearing officer will decide whether a violation has occurred and assess an appropriate sanction or sanctions solely on the basis of admitted evidence. The accused student’s disciplinary record is deemed admitted into evidence during a hearing to help the hearing officer assess an appropriate sanction or sanctions. The hearing officer’s decision as to the accused student’s responsibility for the violation at issue will be based solely on the evidence that pertains to that particular violation.

(e) A recording will be made of the hearing, under supervision of the dean of students. At the discretion of the dean of students, a court reporter may also be present to prepare a written transcript of the hearing.

Sec. 11–608. Disciplinary Decision of the Hearing Officer
Before issuing his or her decision, the hearing officer will certify the hearing record as defined in section 11–609. If a court reporter is present during the hearing and prepares a written transcript of the hearing, the transcript is considered part of the hearing record, and the hearing officer should wait to receive it before certifying the hearing record. The hearing officer will then render a written decision as to whether the accused student has committed a violation and will set forth findings of fact in support of the decision. The sanction or sanctions will also be stated in the decision. The accused student and the dean of students will each be given a copy of the decision. The hearing officer’s written decision is the official decision on the matter from which any appeal is taken. The hearing officer should make every effort to complete the written decision within thirty days of the hearing. If the hearing officer is unable to issue the written decision within thirty days, he or she should contact both the accused student and the dean of students to provide a date for completion of the written decision.

Sec. 11–609. Hearing Record
The hearing record consists of

(i) a copy of the notice required under section 11–603;
(ii) the recording of the hearing certified by the hearing officer and the transcript, if any, certified by the court reporter, together with all evidence admitted under section 11–607;
(iii) written motions and pleas; and
(iv) the disciplinary decision of the hearing officer.

Subchapter 11–700. Sanctions

Sec. 11–701. Authorized Disciplinary Sanctions
(a) The dean of students, under subchapter 11–500, or the hearing officer after a hearing under subchapter 11–600, may impose one or more of the following sanctions for violation of the University’s expectations of conduct:

(i) written warning;
(ii) disciplinary probation;
(iii) withholding of grades, official transcript, and/or degree;
(iv) bar against readmission, bar against enrollment, withdrawal from the University or from a period of enrollment, and/or drop from one or more classes;
(v) restitution;
(vi) suspension of rights and privileges, including, but not limited to, participation in athletic or extracurricular activities and residing in or entering University housing;
(vii) a failing grade for a test, an assignment, or a class, cancellation of all or part of previously earned course credit, and other academic sanction or sanctions;
(viii) denial of degree;
(ix) deferred suspension;
(10) suspension from the University for a specified period of time;
(11) expulsion (permanent separation from the University);
(12) revocation of degree or withdrawal of diploma;
(13) other sanction or sanctions as deemed appropriate under the circumstances.

(b) If a violation of the University’s expectations of conduct, other than subsection 11–404(a) (13) of this chapter or section 13–204 of the Institutional Rules, is committed because of the race, color, religion, national origin, gender, age, disability, citizenship, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression of a student or students directly harmed by the violation, such a discriminatory purpose will be treated as an aggravating factor for the purpose of determining the appropriate sanction or sanctions under subsection 11–701(a). For a complete set of cross-references to all regulation of harassment on the campus, see subsection 13–204(c) of the Institutional Rules.

Sec. 11–702. Authorized Academic Sanctions

(a) When a student signs a faculty disposition under section 11–505 for conduct constituting academic dishonesty as defined in section 11–402, the faculty member or the academic dean responsible for the class may impose one or more of the following grade-related sanctions:
(1) no credit or reduced credit for the paper, assignment, or test in question;
(2) retaking of examination or resubmission of assignment;
(3) failing grade or reduced final grade for the class;
(b) When a student signs an administrative disposition with the dean of students under section 11–504 or is found by a hearing under subchapter 11–600 to have committed academic dishonesty as defined in section 11–402, the dean of students or the hearing officer may both impose any of the grade-related sanctions listed in subsection 11–702(a) and impose any of the general sanctions listed in section 11–701.
(c) The dean of students, with approval of the student’s academic dean, may assign an academic sanction for a violation of a University regulation concerning academic dishonesty to a student who fails without a showing of good cause to the dean of students to comply with subsection 11–503(c) or subsection 11–603(d). A disciplinary decision issued under this subsection is not eligible for appeal under subchapter 11–800.

Sec. 11–703. Definition of Disciplinary Sanctions

(a) “Written warning” means that the student has been notified that he or she has engaged in behavior that violated a rule or regulation of The University of Texas System or the University and that a further violation or violations of the regulations may result in more severe disciplinary action. The dean of students or the hearing officer may impose conditions related to the offense, such as counseling, educational seminars, or unpaid work assignments. Failure to meet the condition(s) will be considered an additional violation.
(b) “Disciplinary probation” means that the student has engaged in behavior that violated a rule or regulation of The University of Texas System or the University and may be required to report to the dean of students on a regular basis during the probationary period. A further violation or violations will result in consideration of suspension. The dean of students or the hearing officer may impose conditions related to the offense, such as counseling, educational seminars, or unpaid work assignments. Failure to meet the condition(s) will be considered an additional violation.
(c) The dean of students or the hearing officer may withhold an official transcript, grade, diploma, or degree of a student alleged to have committed a violation of a rule or regulation of The University of Texas System or the University that would reasonably allow the imposition of such sanction. The dean of students may take such action pending a hearing, resolution by administrative disposition, and/or exhaustion of appellate rights when, in the opinion of the dean of students, the best interests of The University of Texas System or the University would be served by this action.
(d) As appropriate under the circumstances, the dean of students or the hearing officer may impose a bar against the student’s readmission or enrollment, may drop the student from one or more classes, or may withdraw the student from the University or from a period of enrollment. One or more of these sanctions may also be imposed on a student who fails to respond to a summons by the dean of students to discuss an alleged violation of the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, University regulations, administrative rules, or the University’s expectations of conduct. If imposed for failure to respond to a summons, the sanction or sanctions may be reversed when the student responds to the summons as requested.

(e) “Restitution” is reimbursement for damage to or misappropriation of property. Reimbursement may take the form of appropriate service to repair or otherwise compensate for damages.

(f) Suspension of rights and privileges is an elastic sanction. The dean of students or the hearing officer may impose limitations to fit the particular case, as in the suspension of rights and privileges to enter or reside in University housing facilities. Suspension of eligibility for official athletic and nonathletic extracurricular activities prohibits the student on whom it is imposed, during the period of suspension, from joining a registered student organization; from taking part in a registered student organization’s activities or attending its meetings or functions; and from participating in an official athletic or nonathletic extracurricular activity.

(g) A failing grade or other academic sanction may be assigned to a student for a class in which he or she is found to have violated the University’s regulations regarding academic dishonesty.

(h) A student found to have violated the University’s regulations regarding academic dishonesty may be denied his or her degree. If the disciplinary process under this chapter is initiated while the accused student is completing required work for a degree but will not be resolved until after the completion of all required work for a degree, the accused student may be denied his or her degree until the completion of the disciplinary process.

(i) Deferred suspension permits the sanction of suspension to be deferred for a student for whom there are mitigating circumstances as determined by the dean of students or the hearing officer. If a student is found to have violated any rule of the University or the University of Texas System while the sanction of deferred suspension is in effect, the sanction for such a violation will be immediate suspension. The facts of the case may be decided by a University hearing officer and/or appealed to the president, but the sanction may not. The dean of students or the hearing officer may impose conditions related to the offense, and failure to meet such conditions will be considered an additional violation.

(j) Suspension from the University prohibits the student on whom it is imposed, during the period of suspension, from entering the University campus without prior written approval of the vice president for student affairs, from being initiated into an honorary or service organization, and from receiving credit for academic work done during the period of the suspension. Suspension may also prohibit the student from being admitted to, enrolling at, or entering the campus of another component institution of The University of Texas System without prior written approval of the chief student affairs officer of the institution at which the student wishes to be present. The dean of students or the hearing officer may, however, permit the student to receive credit for academic work completed at another institution during the period of suspension, except when suspension is imposed for academic dishonesty. The dean of students or the hearing officer may impose conditions related to the offense, and failure to meet such conditions or terms of the sanction will be considered an additional violation.

(k) Suspension from the institution and/or suspension of rights and privileges is the sanction that will be assessed for violation of the rules against illegal use, possession, and/or sale of a drug or narcotic on campus.23

(l) Expulsion is a permanent separation from the University and prohibits the student on whom it is imposed from entering the University campus without prior written approval of the vice president for student affairs. Expulsion may prohibit the student from being admitted to, enrolling at, or entering the campus of another component institution of The University of Texas System without prior written approval of the chief student affairs officer of the institution at which the student wishes to be present.24

(m) Revocation of the degree and withdrawal of the diploma may be imposed when the violation involves academic dishonesty or otherwise calls into question the integrity of the work required for the degree.

(n) Other sanctions may be imposed when, in the opinion of the dean of students or the hearing officer, the best interests of The University of Texas System or the University would be served.

Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities

Subchapter 11–800. Appeal

Sec. 11–801. Right to Appeal
(a) The accused student may appeal a sanction assessed by a faculty member under subsection 11–505(c) to the president.
(b) The accused student may appeal a sanction assessed by the dean of students under section 11–504 or subsection 11–505(b) to the president.
(c) Either the dean of students or the accused student may appeal a disciplinary decision issued by a hearing officer under section 11–608 to the president.

Sec. 11–802. Appeal of Academic Sanctions Assessed by a Faculty Member
(a) The accused student may appeal the sanction or sanctions assessed by a faculty member under subsection 11–505(c) by submitting a written appeal to the president within fourteen days from the date on which the student signed the disciplinary decision. The written appeal must state the specific reasons for the appeal and must include any related argument.
(b) The appeal is restricted to the assessed sanction or sanctions.
(c) The student must provide a copy of the written appeal to the dean of students on the same date the appeal is submitted to the president.
(d) The dean of students may submit to the president a written response to the appeal and a copy of the disciplinary decision. These documents, if submitted, must be submitted no later than five days after the president received the appeal. The dean of students must provide a copy of the documents to the accused student. The dean of students’ submission of a response to the appeal will not extend the thirty-day period within which the action of the president will be communicated as outlined in subsection 11–802(f).
(e) The appeal of the sanction or sanctions assessed by the faculty member will be reviewed solely on the basis of the disciplinary decision, the written argument of the student, and the response to the appeal submitted by the dean of students. Oral arguments will not be considered.
(f) The action of the president will be communicated in writing to the accused student and the dean of students within thirty days after the appeal has been received by the president. The decision of the president will be final.

Sec. 11–803. Appeal of Sanctions Assessed by the Dean of Students
(a) The accused student may appeal the sanction or sanctions assessed by the dean of students under section 11–504 or subsection 11–505(b) by submitting a written appeal to the president within fourteen days from the date on which the student signed the disciplinary decision. The written appeal must state the specific reasons for the appeal and must include any related argument.
(b) The appeal is restricted to the assessed sanction or sanctions.
(c) The student must provide a copy of the written appeal to the dean of students on the same date the appeal is submitted to the president.
(d) The dean of students may submit to the president a written response to the appeal and the response to the appeal submitted by the dean of students. The dean of students’ submission of a response to the appeal will not extend the thirty-day period within which the action of the president will be communicated as outlined in subsection 11–803(f).
(e) The appeal of the sanction or sanctions assessed by the dean of students will be reviewed solely on the basis of the disciplinary decision, the written argument of the student, and the response to the appeal submitted by the dean of students. Oral arguments will not be considered.
(f) The action of the president will be communicated in writing to the accused student and the dean of students within thirty days after the appeal has been received by the president. The decision of the president will be final.
Sec. 11–804. Appeal of the Decision of the Hearing Officer

(a) Either the accused student or the dean of students may appeal the disciplinary decision of the hearing officer issued under section 11–608 by submitting a written appeal to the president within fourteen days from the date the appealing party was notified of the disciplinary decision. If notice of the disciplinary decision is sent by mail, the date the disciplinary decision is mailed initiates the fourteen-day period. The written appeal must state the specific reasons for the appeal and must include any related argument. If either party appeals the disciplinary decision, the president may request that the hearing recording be transcribed; the transcript will be made available to both parties. If a court reporter was present during the hearing and prepares a written transcript immediately thereafter, the transcript is considered part of the hearing record and is made available to both parties.

(b) If the accused student is the appellant, the student must provide the dean of students with a copy of the appeal submitted to the president on the same date the appeal is submitted to the president. If the dean of students is the appellant, the dean of students will give, e-mail, or mail a copy of the appeal to the accused student on the same day that the dean of students submits the appeal to the president. If the copy of the appeal is mailed or e-mailed, the dean of students will send it to an address listed in the registrar’s records.

(c) Following submission of the appeal to the president, the non-appealing party may submit a written response to the president. The response, if any, must be submitted no later than five days after the president received the appeal. The non-appealing party must provide a copy of the response to the other party. The response must be limited to and specifically related to the arguments originally submitted by the appealing party. New or additional information not specifically related to the original arguments submitted will not be considered on appeal. Submission of a response to the appeal will not extend the thirty-day period within which the action of the president will be communicated as outlined in subsection 11–804(f).

(d) At the discretion of the president, both parties may present oral arguments in an appeal of the disciplinary decision of the hearing officer. Should oral arguments be granted, the deadline described in subsection 11–804(f) may be extended at the discretion of the president.

(e) The appeal of the disciplinary decision of the hearing officer will be reviewed solely on the basis of the hearing record. The dean of students will submit the record from the hearing to the president as soon as it is available to the dean of students.

(f) The action of the president will be communicated in writing to the accused student and the dean of students within thirty days after the appeal has been received by the president. The decision of the president will be final.

(g) If a student fails without good cause as determined by the hearing officer to appear at a scheduled hearing after receiving the proper notice in accordance with section 11–603, the dean of students may proceed with the hearing in the student’s absence and the student loses his or her right to appeal the disciplinary decision of the hearing officer under section 11–804.

Sec. 11–805. President’s Authority

The president may approve, reject, or modify the disciplinary decision or sanction(s) in question or may require that the original hearing be reopened for the presentation of additional evidence and reconsideration of the disciplinary decision. It is provided, however, that upon a finding of responsibility in a case involving the illegal use, possession, and/or sale of a drug or narcotic on campus, the sanction is prescribed by subsection 11–703(k).

Sec. 11–806. Effect of Appeal Upon Disciplinary Action

A timely appeal suspends the imposition of the sanction or sanctions until the appeal is finally decided, but interim action may be taken as authorized under section 11–502. Official transcripts, diplomas, grades, or degrees may also be withheld pending conclusion of the appeal as permitted by subsection 11–703(c).
Subchapter 11–900. Disciplinary Records

Sec. 11–901. Access to Disciplinary Records

(a) Disciplinary records are confidential and may not be disclosed in whole or part except as provided in subchapter 9–300 of the Institutional Rules. Invasion of the accused student’s privacy will be avoided to the greatest extent possible.

(b) A permanent written disciplinary record will be kept for every student assessed a sanction of suspension, expulsion, denial or revocation of a degree, and/or withdrawal of a diploma. A written record of any other sanction assessed will be maintained for at least six years.

(c) The disciplinary record will be separate from the student’s academic record, will be confidential, and will not be revealed except on request of the student or in accordance with applicable state and federal law.

Sec. 11–902. Notice to Administrative Offices

(a) The dean of students will notify the Office of the Registrar and other appropriate administrative offices if a disciplinary sanction restricts a student from being enrolled at the University during the period of the sanction. A bar may be imposed by the dean of students if one of the following sanctions has been assessed because of violation of a Regents’ Rule or University rule or regulation:

(i) bar against readmission;
(ii) suspension from the University; or
(iii) expulsion from the University.

(b) The dean of students will notify the Office of the Registrar and other appropriate administrative offices if any of the sanctions of withholding grades, withholding official transcript or degree, denial of degree, or revocation of degree and withdrawal of diploma are imposed.

CHAPTER 13. SPEECH, EXPRESSION, AND ASSEMBLY

Subchapter 13–100. Governing Principles

Sec. 13–101. Freedom of Speech, Expression, and Assembly
(a) The freedoms of speech, expression, and assembly are fundamental rights of all persons and are central to the mission of the University. Students, faculty members, and staff members have the right to assemble, to speak, and to attempt to attract the attention of others, and corresponding rights to hear the speech of others when they choose to listen, and to ignore the speech of others when they choose not to listen.
(b) Students, faculty members, and staff members are free to express their views, individually or in organized groups, orally or in writing or by other symbols, on any topic, in all parts of the campus, subject only to rules necessary to preserve the equal rights of others and the other functions of the University. Teaching, research, and other official functions of the University will have priority in allocating the use of space on campus.
(c) Except as expressly authorized by subchapter 13–200, the University will not discriminate on the basis of the political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic viewpoint expressed by any person, either in the enforcement and administration of these rules or otherwise.

Sec. 13–102. Scope of This Chapter and Related Provisions
(a) This chapter protects and regulates speech, expression, and assembly of students, faculty members, and staff members that is not part of the teaching, research, or other official functions of the University, not otherwise sponsored by the University or any academic or administrative unit, and not submitted for academic credit.
(b) This chapter also regulates certain speech that is part of the teaching, research, or other official functions of the University;
(f) Section 13–204 on harassment applies to all speech on campus.
Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities

(2) This entire chapter applies to speech by academic and administrative units, and speech that is submitted for academic credit, in outdoor locations on the campus. The dean of students administers and schedules outdoor signs, tables, exhibits, public assemblies, and amplified sound, even for faculty members, staff members, and administrative and academic units, because scheduling through a single office is necessary to avoid conflicts.

(c) Any program or event sponsored by an academic or administrative unit of the University will have priority in the use of space and facilities over any speech, expression, and assembly that is not sponsored by an academic or administrative unit, except that programs or events sponsored by an academic or administrative unit will not have priority in the use of weekday amplified sound areas defined in section 13–802. This chapter does not limit other existing authority of University officials to authorize programs and events sponsored by an academic or administrative unit and not provided for in this chapter.

(d) Additional rules concerning free speech and academic freedom of faculty members are found in the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 30104, Number 2, Sections 1 and 2.

(e) Underlying rules concerning free speech of students are found in the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 40501, Rule 80103, Rule 80103, and Rule 80104. Chapter 13 of the Institutional Rules implements those provisions and applies them to the Austin campus.

(f) Rules restricting access to the campus and restricting speech on the campus by persons who are not students, faculty members, or staff members are found in the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 40501.

(g) Rules protecting and regulating speech on University computer networks are promulgated by Information Technology Services (ITS), and are currently found in ITS Policies, Acceptable Use Policy, http://www.utexas.edu/cio/policies/aup/.

(h) Rules requiring University employees to make clear that controversial statements are made in their personal capacity are found in the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 10403, Number 2, Section 10. Rules restricting use of University equipment, supplies, services, and working hours for political activities are found in the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 30103, Number 2, Section 15.

Sec 13–103. General Definitions—Categories of Speakers and Users

In this chapter, unless the context requires a different meaning, the following definitions apply:

(1) “Academic or administrative unit” means any office or department of the University.

(a) “Event” means something that occurs in a certain place during a particular interval of time; events include but are not limited to guest speakers, exhibits, tables, distribution of literature, signs, and public assemblies.

(3) “Faculty member and staff member” includes any person who is employed by the University.

(4) “Off-campus person or organization” means any person, organization, or business that is not an academic or administrative unit, a registered student, faculty, or staff organization, or a student, faculty member, or staff member.

(5) “Registered student, faculty, or staff organization” includes a registered student organization under subchapter 6–200 of the Institutional Rules, a faculty or staff organization under the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 40201, and Student Government and any unit or subdivision thereof.

(6) “Student” means a person who is currently enrolled at the University, or who is accepted for admission or readmission to the University, or who has been enrolled at the University in a prior semester or summer session and is eligible to continue enrollment in the semester or summer session that immediately follows, or who is attending an educational program sponsored by the University while that person is on campus.

(7) “University person or organization” includes academic and administrative units, registered student, faculty, and staff organizations, and individual students, faculty members, and staff members; this phrase describes the most inclusive category of potential speakers on campus; every person and organization of any kind is either an “off-campus person or organization” or a “University person or organization.”
Sec. 13–104. Other General Definitions

In this chapter, unless the context requires a different meaning, the following definitions apply.

(a) “Amplified sound” means sound whose volume is increased by any electric, electronic, mechanical, or motor-powered means. Shouting, group chanting, and acoustic musical instruments are exempt from this definition and are not subject to the special rules on amplified sound, but are subject to general rules on disruption.

(b) “Day” means calendar day, except University holidays and days on which regularly scheduled classes are suspended due to emergent situations; “weekday” means Monday through Friday, except University holidays and days on which regularly scheduled classes are suspended due to emergent situations; “University holiday” means a staff holiday identified in the holiday schedule published by the Office of Human Resource Services. If a deadline defined in this chapter falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or University holiday, the deadline will be moved to the next weekday. Saturdays and Sundays that are contiguous with University holidays are not counted as “days” as defined here.

(c) “Dean of students” means the dean of students of the University of Texas at Austin or any delegate or representative of the dean of students;

(d) “Main Plaza” means the area bounded by the south wall of the Tower, the line of the first north-south hedge immediately west of Garrison Hall, the north edge of Inner Campus Drive, and the line of the first north-south hedge immediately east of Battle Hall. The Main Plaza includes the south steps and south porches of the Tower.

(e) “Room or space” includes any room or space, indoors or outdoors, owned or controlled by the University.

(f) “University” means the University of Texas at Austin.

(g) “University holiday”—see “day” above.

(h) “Vice president” means the vice president for student affairs at the University of Texas at Austin.

(i) “Weekday”—see “day” above.

Subchapter 13–200. Prohibited Expression

Sec. 13–201. Obscenity

No person or organization will distribute or display on the campus any writing or visual image, or engage in any public performance, that is obscene. A writing, image, or performance is “obscene” if it is obscene as defined in Texas Penal Code, Section 21.08 or successor provisions, and is within the constitutional definition of obscenity as set forth in decisions of the United States Supreme Court.

Sec. 13–202. Defamation

(a) No person will make, distribute, or display on the campus any statement that unlawfully defames any other person.

(b) A statement unlawfully defames another person if it is false, if the false portion of the statement injures the reputation of the other person, and if the speaker has the constitutionally required state of mind as set forth in decisions of the United States Supreme Court.

Sec. 13–203. Incitement to Imminent Violations of Law

No person will make, distribute, or display on the campus any statements directed to inciting or producing imminent violations of law under circumstances such that the statements are likely to actually and imminently incite or produce violations of law.

Sec. 13–204. Harassment

(a) No person will make, distribute, or display on the campus any statement that constitutes verbal harassment of any other person. This section applies to all speech on the campus, including speech that is part of teaching, research, or other official functions of the University.

(b) (i) “Verbal harassment” means hostile or offensive speech, oral, written, or symbolic, that

(A) personally describes or is personally directed to one or more specific individuals; and
(B) is sufficiently severe, pervasive, or persistent to create an objectively hostile environment that interferes with or diminishes the victim’s ability to participate in or benefit from the services, activities, or privileges provided by the University; and

(C) is not necessary to the expression of any idea described in subsection 13–204(b) (2).

(2) To make an argument for or against the substance of any political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic idea is not verbal harassment, even if some listeners are offended by the argument or idea. The categories of sexually harassing speech set forth in Policy 4.B.2 of the Revised Handbook of Operating Procedures are rarely, if ever, necessary to argue for or against the substance of any political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic idea.

(3) Verbal harassment may consist of threats, insults, epithets, ridicule, personal attacks, or the categories of harassing sexual speech set forth in Policy 4.B.2 of the Revised Handbook of Operating Procedures. Verbal harassment is often based on the victim’s appearance, personal characteristics, or group membership, including but not limited to race, color, religion, national origin, gender, age, disability, citizenship, veteran status, sexual orientation, ideology, political views, or political affiliation.

(c) Harassment can also consist of nonverbal conduct, such as hazing, practical jokes, damage to property, and physical assault. In the case of sexual harassment and sexual misconduct, sexual conduct is often central to the offense. These forms of harassment are prohibited by subsection 11–404(a)(3) of the Institutional Rules, by Policy 4.A.3 and Policy 4.B.2 of the Revised Handbook of Operating Procedures, and by the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, 30105. Some forms of harassment violate the Prohibition of Campus Violence, Policy 2.A.3 in the Revised Handbook of Operating Procedures. For enhanced sanctions for disciplinary offenses motivated by the race, color, or national origin of a student harmed by the offense, see subsection 11–701(b) of the Institutional Rules. To the extent of any conflict in the definition of verbal harassment, the more detailed definition in this section controls.

(d) The harassment that this section prohibits does not exhaust the category of speech that is unnecessary and inappropriate to vigorous debate in a diverse community of educated people. An essential part of higher education is to learn to separate substantive argument from personal offense, and to express even the deepest disagreements within standards of civility that reflect mutual respect, understanding, and sensitivity among the diverse population within the University and in the larger society. These are community norms, even though they cannot be enforced by disciplinary rules.

(e) Verbal harassment has been interpreted very narrowly by the federal courts. Policies on verbal harassment or hate speech at many universities have been held unconstitutional, either because they prohibited harassment only when it was based on race, sex, and similar categories, or because they failed to protect the expression of potentially offensive ideas. This policy should be interpreted as narrowly as need be to preserve its constitutionality.

(f) A student who believes he or she has been harassed should report the alleged violation to the dean of students.

(2) A faculty member or staff member who believes he or she has been harassed should report the alleged violation to the Office of Equal Opportunity Services.

(3) Alternatively, any person who believes he or she has been harassed may report the alleged violation to the Office of Equal Opportunity Services or to any University official, administrator, or supervisor. A faculty member is not an “official, administrator, or supervisor” for this purpose unless that faculty member holds an administrative position.

(4) Any University official, administrator, or supervisor who receives a report of alleged harassment will promptly refer that report and the complainant to the Office of Equal Opportunity Services, or to the dean of students, as appropriate. A complainant whose report is not forwarded to the Office of Equal Opportunity Services, or to the dean of students, has not initiated proceedings for providing a remedy to the complainant or for imposing discipline on the alleged harasser.

(5) Investigation of the information provided, and any remedial or disciplinary proceedings, will proceed under the procedures set out in the harassment policies cross-referenced in subsection 13–204(c).
Sec. 13–205. Solicitation

(a) (1) No person or registered student, faculty, or staff organization will make, distribute, or display on the campus any statement that offers or advertises any product or service for sale or lease that includes commercial identifiers, such as for-profit logos, trademarks, and service marks, or that requests any gift or contribution, except as authorized by subsection 13–205(b), by section 13–403, or by the Regents’ Rules and Regulations.

(2) Words or symbols on personal apparel, or on decals or bumper stickers affixed to a vehicle by an owner of that vehicle, are not solicitation within this definition.

(3) Unadorned acknowledgments or thanks to donors are not solicitation within this definition.

(b) (1) A registered student, faculty, or staff organization may advertise or sell merchandise, publications, food, or nonalcoholic beverages, or request contributions, for the benefit of the organization, for the benefit of another registered student, faculty, or staff organization, or for the benefit of an organization that is tax-exempt under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. No organization may sell items obtained on consignment. No organization may request contributions for an off-campus tax-exempt organization for more than fourteen days in any fiscal year.

(2) Registered student, faculty, and staff organizations, and academic and administrative units, may sell, distribute, or display literature that contains advertising, subject to the limits in section 13–403. Individual students, faculty members, and staff members may distribute or display such literature, but may not sell it.

(3) Individual students, faculty members, and staff members may post advertisements for roommates, subleases, and sales of used goods that the seller has personally owned and used, but only on a bulletin board designated for that purpose by an academic or administrative unit in space that the unit occupies or controls. Any unit that designates a bulletin board for this purpose may regulate that bulletin board under the procedures set forth in section 13–506.

(4) A resident of a University residence hall or apartment building may occasionally invite one or more salespersons to come to the resident’s room or apartment, and in that room or apartment, the salesperson may offer products or services for sale to other residents of that residence hall or apartment building.

(5) A registered student, faculty, or staff organization may collect admission fees for programs scheduled in advance in accordance with subchapter 10–200 of the Institutional Rules, provided that neither University persons nor organizations may collect admission fees for the exhibition of movies on the campus.

(6) A registered student, faculty, or staff organization may collect membership fees or dues at meetings of the organization scheduled in advance under subchapter 10–200 of the Institutional Rules.

(7) A registered student organization may sell charitable raffle tickets on behalf of an organization that is authorized to conduct a charitable raffle under the Texas Charitable Raffle Enabling Act, Texas Occupations Code, Chapter 2002, or successor provisions.

(c) More detailed regulation of solicitation appears in the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 80103.

Subchapter 13–300. General Rules on Means of Expression

Sec. 13–301. Disruption

(a) Except as expressly authorized in section 13–802, or by an authorized University official responsible for a program or event sponsored by an academic or administrative unit, no speech, expression, or assembly may be conducted in a way that disrupts or interferes with any

(i) teaching, research, administration, or other authorized activities on the campus;

(ii) free and unimpeded flow of pedestrian and vehicular traffic on the campus; or

(iii) signs, tables, exhibits, public assemblies, distribution of literature, guest speakers, or use of amplified sound by another person or organization acting under the rules in this chapter.
Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities

(b) (1) The term “disruption” and its variants, as used in this rule, are distinct from and broader than the phrase “disruption of activities,” as used in the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 30103, Number 2, Section 2, and the phrase “disruptive activities,” as used in the Regents’ Rules and Regulations, Rule 40502. This rule is concerned not only with deliberate disruption, but also with scheduling and coordination of events to manage or minimize the inevitable conflicts between legitimate events conducted in close proximity.

(2) Except in the most extreme cases, interference and disruption are unavoidably contextual. Intentional physical interference with other persons is nearly always disruptive in any context. Interfering with traffic depends on the relation between the volume of traffic and the size of the passageway left open. Disruptive noise is the most contextual of all, because it depends on the activity disrupted. Any distracting sound may disrupt a memorial service. Any sound sufficiently loud or persistent to make concentration difficult may disrupt a class or library. Occasional heckling in the speaker’s pauses may not disrupt a political speech, but persistent heckling that prevents listeners from hearing the speaker does disrupt a political speech. These illustrations may be helpful, but none of them includes enough context to be taken as a rule. We cannot escape relying on the judgment and fairness of University authorities in particular cases. In this context where difficult enforcement judgments are unavoidable, it is especially important to remind administrators and law enforcement officials that their judgments should not be influenced by the viewpoint of those claiming disruption or of those allegedly disrupting.

(c) Potentially disruptive events can often proceed without disruption if participants, administrators, and law enforcement officials cooperate to avoid disruption without stopping the event. In cases of marginal or unintentional disruption, administrators and law enforcement officials should clearly state what they consider disruptive and seek voluntary compliance before stopping the event or resorting to disciplinary charges or arrest.

Sec. 13–302. Damage to Property

(a) No speech, expression, or assembly may be conducted in a way that damages, defaces, marks, discolors, or alters in any way property of the University or of any person who has not authorized the speaker to damage or deface his or her property.

(b) No person may damage, deface, mark, discolor, alter, or interfere with any sign, table, or exhibit posted or displayed by another person or organization acting under the rules in this chapter.

Sec. 13–303. Coercing Attention

(a) No person may attempt to coerce, intimidate, or badger any other person into viewing, listening to, or accepting a copy of any communication.

(b) No person may persist in requesting or demanding the attention of any other person after that other person has attempted to walk away or has clearly refused to attend to the speaker’s communication.

Sec. 13–304. Cosponsorship

(a) Neither registered student, faculty, or staff organizations, nor individual students, faculty members, or staff members, may cosponsor any event on campus with an off-campus person or organization. Only academic or administrative units with authority delegated from the president of the University may cosponsor events with an off-campus person or organization.

(b) An event is a prohibited cosponsorship if an individual or a student, faculty, or staff organization

(1) depends on an off-campus person or organization for planning, staffing, or management of the event; or

(2) advertises the event as cosponsored by an off-campus person or organization; or

(3) operates the event as agent of, or for the benefit of, an off-campus person or organization, except for solicitation of charitable contributions under the authority of subsection 13–205(b)(1); or

(4) distributes any proceeds of the event to an off-campus person or organization, except for
Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities

Speech, Expression, and Assembly

(A) the proceeds of charitable contributions solicited under the authority of subsection 13–205(b)(1); or

(B) payment of a fair market price for goods or services provided to the University person or organization; or

(5) reserves a room or space for the use of an off-campus person or organization; or

(6) engages in any other behavior that persuades the dean of students that an off-campus person or organization is in fact responsible for the event, in full or in substantial part.

(c) The following facts do not, in and of themselves, indicate a prohibited cosponsorship:

(i) that a University person or organization endorses an off-campus person or organization or its message;

(ii) that a University person or organization sells, distributes, or displays literature prepared by an off-campus person or organization or containing contact information for an off-campus person or organization (subject to the rules in section 13–205);

(iii) that a University person or organization has purchased goods or services from an off-campus provider;

(iv) that a registered student, faculty, or staff organization has invited a guest speaker under subchapter 13–1000;

(v) that a registered student, faculty, or staff organization has received financial contributions to support the event from an off-campus donor.

(d) The purpose of this rule is to preserve the limited space on campus for the use of students, faculty members, and staff members, and the rule will be interpreted to serve that purpose.

Sec. 13–305. Other Rules with Incidental Effects on Speech

(a) Other generally applicable or narrowly localized rules, written and unwritten, incidentally limit the time, place, and manner of speech, but are too numerous to compile or cross-reference here. For example, libraries typically have highly restrictive rules concerning noise; laboratories and rooms containing the electrical and mechanical infrastructure of the University typically have safety rules and rules excluding persons without specific business there; fire and safety codes prohibit the obstruction of exits and limit the constriction of hallways. Speech within classrooms is generally confined to the subject matter of the class; the right to attend a class at all is subject to registration and payment of tuition; individual professors may have rules of decorum in their classrooms. These kinds of rules limit the right of students, faculty members, and staff members to enter and speak in the places to which these rules apply.

(b) Reasonable and nondiscriminatory rules of this kind generally control over the rights of free speech guaranteed in this chapter. But even these kinds of rules are subject to the constitutional right of free speech. Such rules must be viewpoint neutral. Such rules cannot regulate speech more restrictively than they regulate other activities that cause the problems to be avoided by the rule. Such rules should not restrict speech more than is reasonably necessary to serve their purpose. Such rules cannot ban unobtrusive forms of communication with no potential for disruption even in the specialized environment subject to the localized rule. Thus, for example, means of silent expression or protest confined to the speaker’s immediate person, such as armbands, buttons, and T-shirts, are nearly always protected because they are rarely disruptive in any environment.

Subchapter 13–400. Distribution of Literature

Sec. 13–401. General Rule on Distribution of Literature

(a) Registered student, faculty, and staff organizations and academic and administrative units may sell, distribute, or display literature on campus, subject to the rules in this subchapter and to the general rules in subchapter 13–200 and subchapter 13–300. Individual students, faculty members, and staff members may distribute or display literature, subject to the rules in this subchapter and to the general rules in subchapter 13–200 and subchapter 13–300, but may not sell it. In either case, no advance permission is required.
(b) “Literature” means any printed material, including any newspaper, magazine, or other publication, and any leaflet, flyer, or other informal matter, that is produced in multiple copies for distribution to potential readers.

(c) Literature may be distributed only by University persons or organizations.

Sec. 13–402. Not-for-Profit Literature Only

(a) Except as expressly authorized by the Regents’ Rules and Regulations or by contract with the University, no person or organization may sell, distribute, or display on campus any publication operated for profit. A registered student, faculty, or staff organization may sell publications operated for profit as part of a fund-raiser authorized by, and subject to the limits of, subsection 13–205(b)(i).

(b) A publication is operated for profit if any part of the net earnings of the publication, or of its distribution, inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

Sec. 13–403. Limits on Advertising

Literature distributed on campus may contain the following advertising:

(1) advertising for a registered student, faculty, or staff organization, or an academic or administrative unit;

(2) advertising for an organization that is tax exempt under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code;

(3) paid advertising in a publication primarily devoted to promoting the views of a not-for-profit organization or to other bona fide editorial content distinct from the paid advertising; and

(4) other advertising expressly authorized by the Regents’ Rules and Regulations or by contract with the University.

All other advertising in literature distributed on campus is prohibited.

Sec. 13–404. Clean Up of Abandoned Literature

Any person or organization distributing literature on campus will pick up all copies dropped on the ground in the area where the literature was distributed.

Sec. 13–405. Registered Student Organization Literature Disclaimer

Literature distributed by registered student organizations on campus must contain a disclaimer that indicates that registered student organization literature is not official University literature and does not represent the views of the University or its officers.

Subchapter 13–500. Signs, Banners, and A-Frames

Sec. 13–501. General Rule on Signs

(a) “Sign” means any method of displaying a visual message to others, except that transferring possession of a copy of the message is distribution of literature and not a sign.

(b) Subject to the rules in this subchapter and to the general rules in subchapter 13–200 and subchapter 13–300, a University person or organization may display a sign by holding or carrying it, by displaying it at a table (see subchapter 13–600), or by posting it on a kiosk, bulletin board, or other designated location. Signs may not be posted in any other location. Subject to viewpoint-neutral size requirements, the Division of Housing and Food Service has designated the window and door of a residence hall room as locations where the resident(s) of that room may post signs. Section 13–506 lists other designated locations.

Sec. 13–502. Hand-Held Signs

(a) Students, faculty members, and staff members may display a sign on campus by holding or carrying it by hand or otherwise attaching it to their person. No advance permission is required.

(b) Any person holding or carrying a sign will exercise due care to avoid bumping, hitting, or injuring any other person.

(c) Any person holding or carrying a sign at a speech, performance, or other event will exercise due care to avoid blocking the view of any other person observing the speech, performance, or event. Depending on the venue, this may mean that signs may be displayed only around the perimeter of a room or an audience.
(d) A law enforcement officer or the dean of students, or an usher or other University employee if authorized by officials responsible for managing the venue, may warn any person that his or her sign is being handled in violation of subsection 13–502(b) or subsection 13–502(c). If the violation persists after a clear warning, the law enforcement officer, dean of students, authorized usher, or other authorized employee may confiscate the sign.

Sec. 13–503. Signs on Kiosks
(a) A kiosk is an outdoor structure, attached to the ground in a fixed location, designed for the posting of signs.
(b) Academic and administrative units and registered student, faculty, and staff organizations may post signs on kiosks. No advance permission is required. Individuals may not post on kiosks.
(c) No sign posted on a kiosk may be larger than 11 inches by 17 inches.
(d) Each sign posted on a kiosk must identify the academic or administrative unit or registered student, faculty, or staff organization that posted the sign, and must state the date the sign was posted or the date of the event being advertised. No sign advertising an event may be posted on a kiosk more than fourteen days before the date of the event.
(e) An academic or administrative unit or a registered student, faculty, or staff organization that posts a sign on a kiosk must remove that sign not later than fourteen days after it was posted, or twenty-four hours after the event it advertised, whichever is earlier.
(f) No sign may be posted on a kiosk on top of another properly posted sign.
(g) Academic and administrative units and registered student, faculty, and staff organizations may post no more than two signs on the same kiosk at the same time.
(h) No sign may be posted on a kiosk using tacks or staples. Signs must be attached to the kiosks using the provided bungee cords.
(i) The dean of students may remove any sign that violates any of the rules in this section.

Sec. 13–504. Banners
(a) “Banner” means a sign hung from a structure, or between two buildings, structures, or poles.
(b) (1) The dean of students will designate places where banners may be hung in outdoor locations not occupied or controlled by any other academic or administrative unit.
(2) Other academic and administrative units may designate one or more places where banners may be hung in indoor or outdoor locations that the unit occupies or controls.
(c) (1) Academic and administrative units and registered student, faculty, and staff organizations may hang banners in locations designated under subsection 13–504(b). Individuals may not hang banners.
(2) Advance permission is required from the unit administering the location; usually, advance reservations are required. Academic and administrative units advertising official University events or programs may be given priority. In locations administered by academic or administrative units other than the dean of students, organizations affiliated with the unit administering the location may be given priority.
(d) (1) In locations administered by the dean of students, each banner may be hung for one week. The banner may be renewed from week to week if space is available.
(2) Other units administering a location for banners may limit the time each banner may hang. Any such time limit will be applied without discrimination to all organizations, except that academic and administrative units may be given preference.
(e) The dean of students will maintain, on a Web site or on a flyer or pamphlet available at the dean of students’ office,
(1) a list of outdoor locations where banners may be hung;
(2) the academic or administrative unit that administers banners at each outdoor location; and
(3) a current description of the rules and procedures for reserving the right to hang a banner in locations administered by the dean of students.
(f) The unit administering a banner location may require that the physical work of hanging the banners be performed only by Department of Facilities Services employees or other appropriate University personnel.
Sec. 13–505. A-Frames
(a) “A-frame” means a movable and self-supporting sign board designed to stand on the ground. A-frames may not exceed five feet in height or width. Structures that do not meet this criteria will be considered exhibits and will be subject to the rules in subchapter 13–700.
(b) The dean of students will designate outdoor locations where A-frames may be placed. If an academic or administrative unit or a registered student, faculty, or staff organization wishes to place an A-frame in a different location, then the structure will be considered an exhibit and will be subject to the rules in subchapter 13–700.
(c) Academic and administrative units and registered student, faculty, and staff organizations may place A-frames in locations designated under subsection 13–505(b).
Individuals may not place A-frames.
(d) Each A-frame may be placed for fourteen days. The A-frame may be renewed for an additional fourteen days if space is available. If the A-frame is left on campus for longer than the reservation, the A-frame may be removed by the Department of Facilities Services, at the expense of the academic or administrative unit or registered student, faculty, or staff organization.
(e) The dean of students will maintain, on a Web site or on a flyer or pamphlet available at the dean of students’ office, a current description of the rules and procedures for reserving the right to place an A-frame on campus.
(f) Any registered student, faculty, or staff organization sponsoring an A-frame assumes full responsibility for the A-frame, including all injuries or hazards that may arise from the A-frame. The University will not be liable for any damage that may occur to the A-frame, and any registered student, faculty, or staff organization sponsoring the A-frame will indemnify the University for any claims arising from the A-frame’s presence on campus.

Sec. 13–506. Signs in Other Designated Locations (Including Departmental Bulletin Boards)
(a) Each academic or administrative unit may authorize the posting of signs in spaces that unit occupies and controls. Such authorization may be granted by general rule, by stamping or initialing individual signs, or by long-standing tradition.
(b) Signs in spaces occupied by academic or administrative units may be
(1) confined to bulletin boards or other designated locations;
(2) subjected to viewpoint-neutral rules limiting the size of signs, limiting how long they may be posted, requiring each sign to show the date it was posted and the name of the person or organization who posted it, and similar rules designed to facilitate fair and equal opportunities to post signs;
(3) confined to official statements or business of the unit, or to certain subject matters interest within the unit, or to signs posted by persons or organizations affiliated with the unit.
(c) Each academic or administrative unit will post on or near each bulletin board or other designated location that it administers
(1) either the rules applicable to that bulletin board or location, or a particular office or Web site where the rules applicable to that bulletin board or location may be found; and
(2) if a stamp or initials are required on signs before they are posted on that bulletin board or location, the name and office location of the person whose stamp or initials are required.
This notice will be posted in the upper left corner of each bulletin board or other designated location for posting signs, or conspicuously in another nearby location. If no such notice is posted, then the only applicable rules are those contained in subchapter 13–200 and sections 13–301 to 13–304.
(d) Within the scope of the subject matters permitted on a particular bulletin board or other designated location, no academic or administrative unit will discriminate on the basis of the political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic viewpoint expressed on a sign.
(e) This section does not apply to any enclosed bulletin board or display case that is accessible only to authorized personnel for official University business.
Subchapter 13–600. Tables

Sec. 13–601. General Rule on Tables
University persons and organizations may set up tables from which to display literature, disseminate information and opinions, and raise funds, subject to the rules in this subchapter and to the general rules in subchapter 13–200, subchapter 13–300, and subchapter 13–1000. No advance permission is required.

Sec. 13–602. Locations
(a) Subject to the restrictions in subsection 13–602(b) and subject to the rules on disruption of other functions and interference with vehicular and pedestrian traffic (see section 13–301), University persons and organizations may set up tables in any outdoor location on the campus and in any large, open, indoor location.

(b) (1) Tables may not be set up on the Main Plaza.
(2) Tables may not be set up inside any library, classroom, laboratory, performance hall, stadium, or office, or in any hallway less than ten feet wide, without permission from the academic or administrative unit that controls the space, or from the faculty member or staff member who controls the space at a particular time.
(3) An academic or administrative unit may further specify these rules by restricting tables to reasonable locations in spaces occupied by that unit. Academic and administrative units are encouraged to state any such rules clearly in writing and to publish those rules on a Web site or on a flyer or pamphlet available at the chief administrative office of the unit.
(4) If any table is set up in a prohibited or disruptive location, any University employee pointing out the violation will also point out other locations, as nearby as is reasonably possible, where the table is permitted.

Sec. 13–603. Identification
Each table must have a sign or literature that identifies the University person or organization sponsoring the table.

Sec. 13–604. Clean Up around Tables
University persons and organizations sponsoring a table will remove litter from the area around the table before vacating the space.

Sec. 13–605. Sources of Tables
University persons and organizations may supply their own tables. In addition, the dean of students maintains a supply of tables for registered student organizations that may be reserved and checked out for use on campus. The dean of students will maintain, on a Web site or on a flyer or pamphlet available at the dean of students’ office, a current description of the rules and procedures for reserving and checking out tables.

Subchapter 13–700. Exhibits

Sec. 13–701. General Rule on Exhibits
(a) “Exhibit” means an object or collection of related objects, designed to stand on the ground or on a raised surface, which is not a table, is designed for temporary display, and is not permanently attached to the ground.

(b) Academic or administrative units and registered student, faculty, or staff organizations may erect exhibits, subject to the rules in this subchapter and to the general rules in subchapter 13–200, subchapter 13–300, and subchapter 13–1000. Advance permission is required from the dean of students, except that an academic unit may authorize indoor exhibits in a space that it occupies and controls. Outdoor exhibits may not be erected on the Main Plaza between 8:00 AM and 5:00 PM.

Sec. 13–702. Application Process
An academic or administrative unit or a registered student, faculty, or staff organization desiring to erect an outdoor exhibit will apply on a form prescribed by the dean of students.
Sec. 13–703. Approval Process
(a) The dean of students will authorize an exhibit described in a completed application under section 13–702 unless the dean of students finds that use of the proposed space for the proposed exhibit must be disapproved under the criteria in section 10–203 of the Institutional Rules. The dean of students will advise the applicant how to correct, if possible, any conditions that preclude approval of the application.

(b) The dean of students will consider the totality of the circumstances, including safety concerns, as part of the approval process.

Sec. 13–704. Time Limits
(a) In locations administered by the dean of students, each exhibit may be displayed for fourteen days. The exhibit may be renewed for an additional fourteen days if space is available.

(b) The exhibit must be removed at the end of each day and may be re-erected each morning. Overnight exhibit applications will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

Sec. 13–705. Clean Up around Exhibits
Any academic or administrative unit or registered student, faculty, or staff organization sponsoring an exhibit will remove litter from the area around the exhibit before vacating the space.

Sec. 13–706. Liability
Any registered student, faculty, or staff organization sponsoring an exhibit assumes full responsibility for the exhibit, including all injuries or hazards that may arise from the exhibit. The University will not be liable for any damage that may occur to the exhibit, and any registered student, faculty, or staff organization sponsoring the exhibit will indemnify the University for any claims arising from the exhibit’s presence on campus.

Subchapter 13–800. Amplified Sound

Sec. 13–801. General Rule on Amplified Sound
University academic or administrative units and registered student, faculty, or staff organizations may use amplified sound on campus at designated times and locations, subject to the rules in this subchapter and to the general rules in subchapter 13–200 and subchapter 13–300. Advance permission is required. This subchapter creates limited exceptions to the general rule on disruption in section 13–301.

Sec. 13–802. Location and Times of Weekday Amplified Sound Areas
(a) (1) The West Mall Amplified Sound Area is the extreme east end of the West Mall, adjacent to the west steps of the Tower.

(2) Registered student, faculty, or staff organizations and academic or administrative units may use amplified sound in this area from 11:30 AM to 1:30 PM Monday through Friday.

(3) All academic and administrative units and registered student, faculty, and staff organizations must use sound equipment owned or controlled by the dean of students’ office.

(b) (1) The Union Patio Amplified Sound Area is the flagstone area between the Texas Union and the Flawn Academic Center.

(2) Registered student, faculty, or staff organizations and academic or administrative units may use amplified sound in this area from 11:30 AM to 1:30 PM Monday through Friday.

(c) (1) The East Bus Circle Amplified Sound Area is the grassy area south of the East Mall Fountain and east of Steindam Hall.

(2) Registered student, faculty, or staff organizations and academic or administrative units may use amplified sound in this area from 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM Monday through Friday.

(d) (1) The Battle Oaks Amplified Sound Area is the area bounded by the north wall of Hogg Auditorium, by an extension drawn northward from the east wall of the Texas Union, by the south edge of the sidewalk on the south side of 24th Street, and by the west edge of the sidewalk on the west side of Inner Campus Drive.
(a) Registered student, faculty, or staff organizations and academic or administrative units may use amplified sound in this area from 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM Monday through Friday.

(c) (i) The Mustangs Amplified Sound Area is the area bounded by the sidewalk on the east side of San Jacinto Boulevard, by the west wall of the Texas Memorial Museum, and by the outer edge of the two stairways on either side of the lawn.

(c) (ii) Registered student, faculty, or staff organizations and academic or administrative units may use amplified sound in this area from 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM Monday through Friday.

(e) (i) The San Jacinto Amplified Sound Area is the area bounded by the south wall of the Art Building, by the east edge of the sidewalk on the east side of San Jacinto Boulevard, by the north edge of the sidewalk on the north side of 23rd Street, and by the west edge of the sidewalk on the west side of Trinity Avenue.

(f) (i) Registered student, faculty, or staff organizations and academic or administrative units may use amplified sound in this area from 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM Monday through Friday.

(g) (i) The LBJ Fountain Amplified Sound Area is the area bounded by the east edge of Robert Dedman Drive, by the first sidewalk north of the LBJ Fountain, by a line drawn tangent to the west side of the LBJ Fountain and parallel to Robert Dedman Drive, and by the base of the hill on the south side of the LBJ Fountain.

(h) The vice president may designate additional areas for weekday use of amplified sound.

Sec. 13–803. Regulation and Scheduling of Weekday Amplified Sound

(a) The dean of students may prescribe rules concerning scheduling, sound levels, the location of speakers and the direction in which they are pointed, and other rules to facilitate the use of weekday amplified sound areas, to mediate any conflict with University functions and other nearby activities, and to manage environmental impact. All such rules will be reasonable and nondiscriminatory.

(b) (i) Registered student, faculty, or staff organizations or academic or administrative units wishing to use a weekday amplified sound area must reserve a particular area at a particular time. Reservations must be made with the dean of students on a form prescribed by the dean of students. The dean of students will approve a properly completed application to reserve an amplified sound area, unless the application must be disapproved under the criteria in section 10–203 of the Institutional Rules or under rules promulgated by the dean of students under the authority of this section.

(b) (ii) The dean of students may limit the number or frequency of reservations for each registered student, faculty, or staff organization or academic or administrative unit to ensure reasonable access for all persons and organizations desiring to use amplified sound on weekdays.

(c) Amplified sound in the West Mall and Union Patio Amplified Sound Areas is in fact disruptive of teaching, administration, and research in the Tower, in the Flawn Academic Center, in Parlin Hall, in the West Mall Office Building, and in Battle Hall. The disruption inherent in this use of amplified sound is expressly authorized, but no other disruption is authorized. Disruption is permitted to this extent because otherwise, it would be necessary to ban all use of amplified sound in and near the center of campus during working hours.

(d) University persons and organizations using amplified sound are responsible for maintaining a passageway for pedestrians that is adequate to the volume of pedestrian traffic passing through the area.

(e) The dean of students will maintain a list on a Web site, flyer, or pamphlet of the designated amplified sound locations. Any designations of additional areas, any additional rules regulating the designated areas, and the rules and procedures for reserving the right to use a designated area, will be clearly stated on a Web site, flyer, or pamphlet available at the dean of students' office.
Sec. 13–804. Amplified Sound on Evenings and Weekends

(a) With advance permission, University organizations may use amplified sound in any outdoor location on campus, including the weekday amplified sound areas designated in section 13–802, after 5:00 PM Monday through Friday, and after 8:00 AM Saturday and Sunday, except for the early morning hours excluded in subsection 13–804(b).

(b) If amplified sound is authorized for an event on a Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday evening, the sound must be turned off by 1:00 AM on the following day. If amplified sound is authorized for an event on a Friday or Saturday evening, the sound must be turned off by 2:00 AM on the following day.

(c) The dean of students may prescribe reasonable and nondiscriminatory rules concerning scheduling, sound levels, the location of speakers and the direction in which they are pointed, and other rules to facilitate the use of amplified sound on evenings and weekends, to mediate any conflict with University functions and other nearby activities, and to manage environmental impact.

(d) Use of amplified sound on evenings and weekends requires advance permission from the dean of students. Registered student, faculty, or staff organizations and academic or administrative units will apply on a form prescribed by the dean of students. The dean of students will authorize amplified sound as described in a completed application unless the dean of students finds that the application must be disapproved under the criteria in section 10–203 of the Institutional Rules or under rules promulgated by the dean of students under the authority of this section. The dean of students will advise each applicant how to correct, if possible, any conditions that preclude approval of its application.

Sec. 13–805. Amplified Sound Indoors

Amplified sound sufficient to be heard throughout the room may be used in any room in any building, but the dean of students may limit or prohibit sound that would be disruptive outside the room. Reservations may be required. Rules concerning use of University buildings are contained in chapter 10 of the Institutional Rules.

Subchapter 13–900. Public Assemblies without Amplified Sound

Sec. 13–901. General Rule on Public Assemblies

(a) “Publicly assemble” and “public assembly” include any gathering of persons, including discussions, rallies, and demonstrations. The rules in subchapter 13–800 apply to any use of amplified sound at a public assembly.

(b) University persons and organizations may publicly assemble on campus in any place where, at the time of the assembly, the persons assembling are permitted to be. This right to assemble is subject to the rules in this subchapter, to the general rules in subchapter 13–200 and subchapter 13–300, and to the rules on use of University property in chapter 10 of the Institutional Rules. No advance permission is required.

Sec. 13–902. Reservation of Space

(a) Registered student, faculty, or staff organizations and academic or administrative units who wish to publicly assemble in a particular room or space at a particular time may reserve the room or space under the provisions in subchapter 10–200 of the Institutional Rules.

(b) An organization with a reservation has the right to the reserved room or space for the time covered by the reservation. Any person or organization using or occupying the room or space without a reservation must yield control of the room or space in time to permit any organization with a reservation to begin using the room or space promptly at the beginning of its reserved time.

(c) Reservations are not required but are strongly encouraged. An academic or administrative unit or registered student, faculty, or staff organization planning to use a room or space without a reservation may find the facility locked or in use by another person or organization. A large group without a reservation is likely to attract the courteous but inquiring attention of the University of Texas Police Department.
Notice and Consultation
Registered student, faculty, or staff organizations that are planning a public assembly with more than fifty participants are strongly encouraged to notify and consult with the dean of students as soon as practicable after the point at which the planners anticipate or plan for more than fifty participants. Registered student, faculty, or staff organizations planning smaller assemblies are encouraged to consult the dean of students if there is uncertainty about applicable University rules, the appropriateness of the planned location, or possible conflict with other events. The dean of students can help the planners avoid unintended disruption or other violations that may result in subsequent discipline or subsequent interference with the assembly by campus authorities.

Guest Speakers

Definitions
“Guest speaker” means a speaker or performer who is not a student, faculty member, or staff member.

Who May Present
Registered student, faculty, and staff organizations and academic and administrative units may present guest speakers on University property. In the case of registered student organizations, advance permission from the dean of students is required. Individuals may not present a guest speaker.

Location and Form of Presentation
(a) A guest speaker may present a speech or performance, or lead a discussion of specified duration, at a time announced in advance, in a fixed indoor location or in a fixed outdoor location approved by the dean of students. A guest speaker may distribute literature only immediately before, during, and immediately after the normal course of his or her speech, presentation, or performance, and only to persons in attendance. Only literature that complies with subchapter 13–400 may be distributed.

(b) A guest speaker may not
(i) accost potential listeners who have not chosen to attend the speech, performance, or discussion; or
(ii) distribute literature to persons who have not chosen to attend the speech, performance, or discussion; or
(iii) help staff a table or exhibit set up under subchapter 13–600 or subchapter 13–700.

(c) A registered student, faculty, or staff organization may not present a guest speaker in violation of the prohibitions against solicitation in section 13–205 or cosponsorship in section 13–304.

Application
(a) A registered student organization that wishes to present a guest speaker will apply to the dean of students, on a form prescribed by the dean of students, at least forty-eight hours before the scheduled event or any planned advertising for the event, whichever is earlier. The application will be combined with an application under section 10–202 of the Institutional Rules to reserve the use of a University room or space for the event.

(b) The dean of students will approve an application properly made under subsection 13–1004(a) unless it must be disapproved under the criteria in section 10–203 of the Institutional Rules.

Obligations of Presenting Organization
A registered student, faculty, or staff organization that presents a guest speaker must make clear that

(i) the organization, and not the University, invited the speaker; and
(ii) the views expressed by the speaker are his or her own and do not necessarily represent the views of the University, The University of Texas System, or any component institution.
Subchapter 13–1100. Responding to Speech, Expression, and Assembly

Sec. 13–1101. General Rule on Responding
University persons and organizations may respond to the speech, expression, or assembly of others, subject to all the rules in this chapter.

Sec. 13–1102. Applications of Section 13–1101
(a) Responders may not damage or deface signs or exhibits, disrupt public assemblies, block the view of participants, or prevent speakers from being heard.
(b) Means of response that are permitted in many locations and without advance permission or reservation, such as signs, tables, distribution of literature, and public assembly without amplified sound, may be used immediately and in any location authorized in this policy.
(c) Means of response that require advance permission or reservation, such as banners, A-frames, exhibits, and amplified sound, may be used as soon as the needed permission or reservation may be arranged. Banner space and some amplified sound areas may be unavailable on short notice because of earlier reservations, but the dean of students will expedite approval of A-frames, exhibits, and available banner space and amplified sound areas where necessary to permit appropriate response to other speech, assembly, or expression.
(d) Means of response that are confined to authorized locations, such as banners and amplified sound, may be used only in those locations. It is not possible to respond to amplified sound with amplified sound in the same location; similarly, if an exhibit or public assembly is in a location where amplified sound is not permitted, it is not possible to respond with amplified sound in that location. In either case, it is possible to respond with amplified sound in another location and to use signs or distribution of literature to advertise the response at the other location.

Subchapter 13–1200. Enforcement and Appeals

Sec. 13–1201. Police Protection
(a) It is the responsibility of the University to protect the safety of all persons on campus and to provide police protection for speakers, public assemblies, persons staffing or viewing exhibits, and other events. The normal patrolling of officers during regular duty areas in the area of such events will be at the cost of the University. When the magnitude, timing, or nature of an event requires overtime hours from police officers (including contract hours for officers hired from other departments or private security agencies), the University will, to the extent specified in subsection 13–1201(b) and subsection 13–1201(c), charge the cost of overtime or contract officers to the person or organization sponsoring the event or exhibit that requires overtime police protection. The purpose of subsection 13–1201(b) and subsection 13–1201(c) is to charge for police overtime where reasonably possible, but not to charge for police overtime made necessary by the content of speech at the event or by the controversy associated with any event.
(b) A reasonable and nondiscriminatory fee for overtime police work will be charged to the registered student, faculty, or staff organization for events that require overtime police protection, and
   (1) charge a price for admission; or
   (2) have a paid speaker, band, or other off-campus person or organization for services at the event.
Persons or organizations planning such events should budget for the cost of police protection.
(c) The University will have the sole power to decide, after reasonable consultation with the person or organization planning the event, whether and to what extent overtime police protection is required. No fee will be charged for officers assigned because of political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic controversy anticipated or actually experienced at the event. All fees will be based on the number of officers required for an uncontroversial event of the same size and kind, in the same place and at the same time of day, handling the same amount of cash.
(d) Nothing in this section applies to any interdepartmental charge or transfer among units or accounts funded by the University.
Sec. 13–1202. Response to Violations
(a) A student who violates a prohibition in this chapter may be disciplined under the procedures in chapter 11 of the Institutional Rules. A registered student organization that violates a prohibition in this chapter may be disciplined under the procedures in chapter 6 of the Institutional Rules.
(b) A faculty member who violates a prohibition in this chapter may be disciplined under applicable procedures provided by other rules. If no such procedures exist, violations by faculty members will be referred to the Office of the Executive Vice President and Provost.
(c) A staff member who violates a prohibition in this chapter may be disciplined under applicable procedures provided by other rules. If no such procedures exist, violations by staff members will be referred to Human Resource Services.
(d) Authorized University personnel may prevent imminently threatened violations, or end ongoing violations, of a prohibition in this chapter, by explanation and persuasion, by reasonable physical intervention, by arrest of violators, or by any other lawful measures. Alternatively or additionally, they may initiate disciplinary proceedings under subsection 13–1202(a), subsection 13–1202(b), or subsection 13–1202(c). Discretion regarding the means and necessity of enforcement will be vested in the chief of police, or in University personnel designated by the president, as appropriate, but such discretion will be exercised without regard to the viewpoint of any speaker.
(e) Persons and organizations on the campus will comply with instructions from University administrators and law enforcement officials at the scene. A person or organization that complies with an on-the-scene order limiting speech, expression, or assembly may test the propriety of that order in an appeal under section 13–1203.

Sec. 13–1203. Appeals
(a) A person or organization that is denied permission for an activity requiring advance permission under this chapter may appeal the denial of permission.
(b) A person or organization that complies with an on-the-scene order limiting speech, expression, or assembly may, on or before the fifth weekday after complying with the order, file an appeal to determine the propriety of the order limiting the speech, expression, or assembly. The question on appeal will be whether, under the circumstances as they reasonably appeared at the time of the order, the appellant’s speech, expression, or assembly should have been permitted to continue. Such an appeal may be useful to clarify the meaning of a rule, or to resolve a factual dispute that may recur if the appellant desires to resume the speech, expression, or assembly that was limited by the order.
(c) An appeal authorized by this section will be heard under the procedures set out in subchapter 10–400 of the Institutional Rules.

Subchapter 16–300. Reporting Hazing

Sec. 16–301. Obligation to Report
(a) A person who believes that he or she has been subjected to hazing in violation of this chapter or a person who has knowledge of hazing activities should report the incident(s) to the dean of students or another University official, administrator, or supervisor. A faculty member is not an “official, administrator, or supervisor” for this purpose unless that faculty member holds an administrative position.
(b) All supervisors, administrators, and University officials are responsible for promptly reporting incidents of hazing that come to their attention to the dean of students.
(c) No person is required to report hazing to the alleged offender.

Sec. 16–302. Immunity from Institutional Discipline
(a) In an effort to encourage reporting of hazing incidents, the dean of students through written agreement may grant immunity from discipline under section 16–401 to a person who voluntarily reports a specific hazing event under section 16–301 if the person
(i) reports the incident(s) before being contacted by the dean of students concerning the incident(s) or otherwise being included in the institution’s investigation of the incident(s); and
(ii) cooperates in good faith by providing a complete and factual account of the incident(s) throughout the disciplinary process.
(b) A person will not be granted immunity under subsection 16–302(a) if the person
(i) reports the person’s own act of hazing;
(ii) reports an incident of hazing in bad faith or with malice as determined by the dean of students; or
(iii) reports the incident after being contacted by the dean of students concerning the incident or otherwise being included in the institution’s investigation of the incident.
(c) The dean of students may revoke the immunity granted under subsection 16–302(a) and initiate disciplinary proceedings under section 16–401 if the person

(i) is found to have engaged in the hazing activity under investigation;

(ii) fails to cooperate fully and in good faith, as determined by the dean of students, by providing a complete and factual account of the incident(s) throughout the disciplinary process regarding the incident(s); or

(iii) otherwise acts in bad faith or with malice as determined by the dean of students.

(d) The dean of students will notify a person regarding a grant or revocation of immunity under this section by letter or by e-mail.

Sec. 16–303. Immunity from Criminal and Civil Liability

(a) The law grants immunity from criminal or civil liability to any person who in good faith and without malice reports a specific hazing event to the dean of students or other appropriate official under section 16–301 and immunizes that person for participation in any judicial proceeding resulting from that report.43

(b) A doctor or other medical practitioner who treats a student who may have been subjected to hazing may make a good faith report of the hazing activities to police or other law enforcement officials and is immune from civil or other liability that might otherwise be imposed or incurred as a result of the report.44

Sec. 16–401. Individual Discipline

Notwithstanding any action taken on account of the violation by civil authorities or agencies charged with the enforcement of criminal or civil laws, the dean of students may initiate disciplinary proceedings under subchapter 11–500 of the Institutional Rules against a student accused of violating section 16–201.

Sec. 16–402. Organizational Discipline

Notwithstanding any action taken on account of the violation by civil authorities or agencies charged with the enforcement of criminal or civil laws, the dean of students may initiate disciplinary proceedings under subchapter 6–500 of the Institutional Rules against an organization accused of violating section 16–202.

Sec. 16–403. Interim Disciplinary Action

Pending a hearing or other disposition of the allegations, the dean of students or the president of the University may take such immediate interim disciplinary action against a student under subchapter 11–500 or an organization under subchapter 6–500 of the Institutional Rules as is appropriate to the circumstances. Failure to comply may result in additional disciplinary action under subchapter 6–500 and/or subchapter 11–500 of the Institutional Rules.

Sec. 16–404. Potential Criminal Liability

Under state law, individuals or organizations engaging in hazing may be subject to fines and charged with a criminal offense. The penalty for failure to report hazing is a fine of up to $1,000, up to 180 days in jail, or both. Penalties for other hazing offenses vary according to the severity of the injury that results and include fines from $500 to $10,000 and/or confinement for up to two years.45

Appendix D
Policy on Sex Discrimination and Sexual Harassment

I. GENERAL POLICY GUIDELINES

A. Policy Statement

It is the policy of the University of Texas at Austin to provide an educational and working environment for its students, faculty, and staff that is free from sex discrimination and sexual harassment. In accordance with federal and state law, the University prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex, including sexual harassment. Sex discrimination and sexual harassment will not be tolerated, and individuals who engage in such conduct will be subject to disciplinary action. The University encourages students, faculty members, staff members, and visitors to promptly report sex discrimination and sexual harassment.

B. Scope

This policy applies to visitors, applicants for admission to or employment with the University, and students and employees of the University who allege sex discrimination, including sexual harassment, by University employees, students, visitors, or contractors.

C. Definitions

1. Sex discrimination, including sexual harassment, is defined as conduct directed at a specific individual or a group of identifiable individuals that subjects the individual or group to treatment that adversely affects their employment or education on account of sex.

2. Sexual harassment is a form of sex discrimination that can occur when
   a. the submission to unwelcome physical conduct of a sexual nature, or to unwelcome requests for sexual favors or other verbal conduct of a sexual nature, is made an implicit or explicit term or condition of employment or education; or
   b. the submission to or rejection of unwelcome physical conduct of a sexual nature, or unwelcome requests for sexual favors or other verbal conduct of a sexual nature, is used as a basis for academic or employment decisions or evaluations; or
   c. unwelcome physical acts of a sexual nature, or unwelcome requests for sexual favors or other verbal conduct of a sexual nature, have the effect of creating an objectively hostile environment that interferes with employment or education on account of sex.

Physical conduct that, depending on the totality of circumstances present, including frequency and severity, may constitute sexual harassment includes, but is not limited to,
   ▶ unwelcome intentional touching; or ▶ deliberate physical interference with or restriction of movement.

Verbal conduct is defined as oral, written, or symbolic expressions that ▶ personally describe or are personally directed at a specific individual or group of identifiable individuals; and
   ▶ are not necessary to an argument for or against the substance of any political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic idea.

Policy on Sex Discrimination and Sexual Harassment

Verbal conduct that, depending on the totality of circumstances present, may constitute sexual harassment includes, but is not limited to,

- explicit or implicit propositions to engage in sexual activity;
- gratuitous comments, jokes, questions, anecdotes, or remarks of a sexual nature about clothing or bodies;
- gratuitous remarks about sexual activities or speculation about sexual experiences;
- persistent, unwanted sexual or romantic attention;
- subtle or overt pressure for sexual favors;
- exposure to sexually suggestive visual displays such as photographs, graffiti, posters, calendars, or other materials;
- deliberate, repeated humiliation or intimidation based upon sex.

The examples on this list are rarely, if ever, necessary to an argument for or against the substance of any political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic idea. Constitutionally protected expression cannot be considered harassment under this policy.

II. GENERAL PROCEDURES

A. Reporting
A person who believes that he or she has been subjected to sex discrimination or sexual harassment should report the incident to any University official, administrator, or supervisor. Students are encouraged to report such incidents to the Office of the Dean of Students; employees and campus visitors are encouraged to report to Equal Opportunity Services. Incidents should be reported as soon as possible after the time of their occurrence.

No person is required to report sex discrimination or sexual harassment to the alleged offender.

B. Referral Responsibility
Every supervisor, administrator, and University official is responsible for promptly reporting incidents of sex discrimination and sexual harassment that come to his or her attention to either the Office of the Dean of Students or Equal Opportunity Services.

C. Resolution Options
A person who believes that he or she has been subjected to sex discrimination or sexual harassment and seeks to take action may use either the informal resolution process or the formal complaint process, or both. The informal resolution and formal complaint resolution processes described in this policy are not mutually exclusive, and neither is required as a precondition for choosing the other; however, they cannot both be used at the same time.

III. INFORMAL RESOLUTION PROCEDURE
Informal resolution may be an appropriate choice when the conduct involved is not of a serious or repetitive nature and disciplinary action is not required to remedy the situation. No formal investigation is involved in the informal resolution process.

A request for informal resolution must be made within ninety days of the date of the alleged incident to either the Office of the Dean of Students or the Office of the Director of Equal Opportunity Services, who shall determine whether the nature of the problem is such that it can be resolved by agreement on an informal basis, and if so, which office will do so. A request for informal resolution will not extend the ninety-day time limit for filing a formal complaint.

Methods for informal resolution may include, but are not limited to, coaching the person on how to directly address a situation which is causing a problem; mediating the dispute with the parties; aiding in the modification of a situation in which the offensive conduct occurred; assisting a department or division with the resolution of a real or perceived problem; or arranging a documented meeting with the alleged offender that involves a discussion of the requirements of the sex discrimination and sexual harassment policy.

The University shall document any informal resolution. Such documentation shall be retained by the Office of the Dean of Students or Equal Opportunity Services as appropriate.
and will be kept confidential to the extent permitted by law. An informal resolution meeting shall not be considered a precondition for the filing of a written complaint.

IV. COMPLAINT RESOLUTION PROCEDURE

A. Definitions
1. Complaint means a signed document alleging sex discrimination, including sexual harassment under this policy.
2. Complainant means a person who submits a written complaint alleging sex discrimination, including sexual harassment under this policy.
3. Respondent means the person designated to respond to a complaint. Generally the respondent would be the person alleged to be responsible for the prohibited discrimination or sexual harassment alleged in a complaint. The term “respondent” may be used to designate persons with direct responsibility for a particular action or those persons with administrative responsibility for procedures and policies in those areas covered in a complaint.
4. Notification takes place two days after the date of posting of any document in the United States mail, properly addressed, or upon the date of receipt of any document, when placed in the campus mail, properly addressed. Written communications to a complainant are properly addressed when sent to the address given in the complaint or the last address given since the filing of the complaint.

B. Complaint Procedure
1. Complaint
   A complaint alleging sex discrimination or sexual harassment must be submitted in writing to Equal Opportunity Services or the Office of the Dean of Students. The complaint must contain the following information:
   - Name and UT identification number of the complainant(s)
   - Contact information, including address, telephone number, e-mail address
   - Name of person(s) directly responsible for alleged violation(s)
   - Date(s) and place(s) of alleged violation(s)
   - Nature of alleged violation(s) as defined in this policy
   - Detailed description of the specific conduct that is the basis of alleged violation(s)
   - Copies of documents pertaining to the alleged violation(s)
   - Names of any witnesses to alleged violation(s)
   - Action requested to resolve the situation
   - Complainant’s signature and date of filing
   - Any other relevant information
   The following communications do not constitute a complaint and will not be investigated or resolved pursuant to the complaint resolution process:
   - Oral allegations
   - E-mail correspondence
   - Anonymous communications
   - Courtesy copies of correspondence or a complaint filed with others
   - Inquiries that seek advice or information only
   - Precomplaint consultations and informal resolution activities

2. Time Limit
   A written complaint must be filed within ninety calendar days of the occurrence of the alleged violation. In the case of a currently enrolled student, if the last day for filing a complaint falls prior to the end of the academic semester in which the alleged violation occurred, then the complaint may be filed within thirty calendar days after the end of that semester.

3. Acknowledgment
   Within five working days after receipt of a written complaint, Equal Opportunity Services or the Office of the Dean of Students, as appropriate, will send the complainant(s) a brief acknowledgment of the complaint, stating that the complaint will be evaluated, and advising the complainant(s) that he or she will be contacted within a given time. The acknowledgment letter will include a copy of these complaint procedures.
4. Complaint Evaluation
A formal investigation will be initiated if a complaint is complete, timely, within the scope of this policy, and articulates sufficient specific facts, which, if determined to be true, would support a finding that this policy was violated. The University may not proceed with a complaint investigation under a variety of circumstances, if for instance,
- a person fails to provide a written, signed complaint;
- a complaint fails to describe in sufficient detail the conduct that is the basis of the complaint;
- the conduct described in the complaint is not covered by this policy;
- the complaint is not timely;
- the complainant(s) declines to cooperate in the University’s investigation;
- the complaint has been withdrawn; or
- an appropriate resolution or remedy has already been achieved, or has been offered and rejected.

If it is determined that the University will not proceed with a complaint investigation, Equal Opportunity Services or the Office of the Dean of Students, as appropriate, will send a notification letter explaining the reason(s) to the complainant(s), with a copy to the alleged offender(s). The notification letter will also include a statement informing the complainant(s) that, within ten working days of the notification, he or she may appeal the determination not to proceed with a complaint investigation to the vice president for employee and campus services or the vice president for student affairs, as appropriate. The request for appeal must be a signed, written document articulating why the decision to dismiss the complaint was in error. The appropriate vice president will respond within twenty working days of receipt of the appeal. If the decision to dismiss is upheld, that decision is final. If the decision is overturned, the complaint is sent back to Equal Opportunity Services or the Office of the Dean of Students, as appropriate, for investigation in accordance with the procedures outlined below.

5. Notification of Respondent
If it is determined that the University will proceed with a complaint investigation, Equal Opportunity Services or the Office of the Dean of Students will give the respondent(s) written notification of the complaint investigation. The notification letter will include a copy of the written complaint. The notification letter will provide the respondent(s) an opportunity to submit a written response to the allegations within ten working days, unless unusual circumstances warrant additional time. The notification letter will include a statement advising the respondent(s) that retaliation against the complainant(s) is prohibited and will subject the respondent(s) to appropriate disciplinary action.

6. Investigation Responsibility
The Office of the Dean of Students is responsible for conducting formal investigations of complaints against students alleging sex discrimination and sexual harassment. Equal Opportunity Services is responsible for conducting formal investigations of complaints against nonstudents alleging sex discrimination and sexual harassment. If a complaint is directed against an individual who would otherwise play a role in investigating and attempting to resolve the complaint, the function assigned to that person by these procedures will be delegated to another person.

7. Investigative Process and Findings
The investigator will interview both the complainant(s) and the respondent(s) and persons who are considered to have pertinent factual information related to the complaint. The investigator shall also gather and examine documents relevant to the complaint. Facts will be considered on the basis of what is reasonable to persons of ordinary sensitivity and not on the particular sensitivity or reaction of an individual. Findings will be based on the totality of circumstances surrounding the conduct complained of, including but not limited to the context of that conduct, its severity, frequency, whether it was physically threatening, humiliating, or was simply offensive in nature.
8. Representation
   During the complaint process, the complainant(s) and the respondent(s) may designate and thereafter be accompanied by an adviser of his or her choosing at meetings and interviews at which he or she is present; however, no representative may examine witnesses or otherwise actively participate in a meeting or interview.

9. Submission of Evidence
   During the complaint investigation process, the complainant(s) and the respondent(s) will provide Equal Opportunity Services or the Office of the Dean of Students, as appropriate, with all documents relied upon regarding the issues raised in the complaint.

    a. The investigator will provide a proposed statement of findings, copies of relevant documents, and any physical evidence considered to the appropriate vice president within thirty working days of receipt of the respondent’s statement, unless unusual circumstances require more time. The appropriate vice president to act on complaints against faculty and staff members will be the vice president over the area where the respondent is employed. The appropriate vice president to act on complaints against contractors and visitors will be the vice president for employee and campus services. If a complaint is directed against a vice president who would otherwise act on a complaint, the function assigned to that vice president will be delegated to another person.
    b. The appropriate vice president will promptly notify the complainant(s) and the respondent(s) that the investigation has been completed and attach a copy of the proposed statement of findings. Student identifiable information, if any, which is confidential by law, will be redacted. Within ten working days from the date of notification, the complainant(s) and respondent(s) may each submit, for consideration by the appropriate vice president, such comments and corrections as they may have.
    c. Within fifteen days of the notification to the complainant(s) and the respondent(s) that the investigation has been completed, the appropriate vice president and the investigator shall meet to discuss the findings and review the record, along with any comments and proposed corrections submitted by the complainant(s) and respondent(s).
    d. Within fifteen working days from that meeting, the vice president shall take one of the following actions: (1) request further investigation into the complaint; (2) dismiss the complaint if the results of the completed investigation are inconclusive or there is insufficient reasonable, credible evidence to support the allegation(s); or (3) find that this policy was violated.
    e. If the vice president determines that this policy was violated, he or she, following consultation with the investigator or other knowledgeable persons as appropriate, shall determine a disciplinary action that is appropriate for the severity of the conduct. Disciplinary actions can include, but are not limited to, written reprimands, the imposition of conditions, reassignment, suspension without pay, and termination.
    f. The vice president shall inform the complainant(s) and the accused individual(s) and the appropriate unit head in writing of his or her decision, and shall attach a copy of the final statement of findings. Copies of the vice president’s letter, the attached statement of findings, and relevant documents shall also be sent to the Office of the Dean of Students or Equal Opportunity Services as appropriate.

11. Report of Findings and Recommendation—Complaints against Students
    a. The investigator will provide a proposed statement of findings, copies of relevant documents, and any physical evidence considered to the dean of students within thirty working days of receipt of the respondent’s statement, unless unusual circumstances require more time.
    b. The dean of students and the investigator shall meet within fifteen working days to discuss the findings, and review the record.
    c. Within fifteen working days from that meeting, the dean of students shall take one of the following actions: (1) request further investigation into the complaint; (2) dismiss the complaint if the results of the completed investigation are inconclusive or there is insufficient reasonable, credible evidence to support the allegation(s); or (3) find that this policy was violated.
d. If the dean of students determines that this policy was violated, the dean of students, following consultation with the investigator or other knowledgeable person(s) as appropriate, shall determine whether to initiate a disciplinary action appropriate for the severity of the conduct pursuant to Appendix C, chapter 11, pages 201–216. Disciplinary actions can include, but are not limited to, documented warning, the imposition of conditions, probation, suspension, and dismissal.

e. As required by federal law, any disclosure of the findings and decision of the Office of the Dean of Students will be governed by the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act.

V. MISCELLANEOUS

A. Employee Grievance of a Disciplinary Action
Any employee disciplined pursuant to this policy, except faculty members, teaching assistants, assistant instructors, or members of The University of Texas at Austin Police Department (each of whom are subject to separate procedures), may grieve that action by submitting a written grievance, within ten working days of the imposition of the disciplinary action, to the president's office. Ordinarily, the president will assign responsibility for review and action on the appeal of the vice president's action to another vice president; however, when required by unusual circumstances, the president may review and handle a grievance pursuant to this policy.

If the disciplinary action that is being grieved does not involve termination, demotion, or suspension without pay, the vice president shall thoroughly review and finally decide the matter within thirty calendar days of its receipt unless unusual circumstances require more time.

If the disciplinary action that is being grieved involves termination, demotion, or suspension without pay of an employee who is covered by section 9.49 of the Handbook of Operating Procedures, the vice president who is assigned to review the grievance shall follow the procedures for appealing such actions contained in that section. Complainants will be required to appear and testify at hearings that may be a part of such proceedings.

B. Retaliation Prohibited
A student, faculty member, or staff member who retaliates in any way against an individual who has brought a complaint pursuant to this policy or participated in an investigation of such a complaint, is subject to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal from the University.

C. Filing of False Complaints
Any person who knowingly and intentionally files a false complaint under this policy is subject to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal from the University.

D. Effect on Pending Personnel Actions
The filing of a sex discrimination, sexual harassment, or retaliation complaint will not stop or delay any evaluation or disciplinary action related to the complainant who is not performing up to acceptable standards or who has violated University rules or policies.

E. Relationship of Complaint Process to Outside Agency Time Limits
The filing of a sex discrimination or sexual harassment complaint under this policy does not excuse the complainant from meeting the time limits of outside agencies.

F. Title IX Grievance Procedure

G. Time Frames
Time frames mentioned in these procedures may be extended for good cause, such as holidays or when classes are not in session, or when it is necessary to complete an investigation due to difficulties reaching witnesses or parties to the complaint.

H. Documentation and Confidentiality
The University shall maintain documents related to complaints under this policy as required by law. The Office of the Dean of Students shall be primarily responsible for records related to complaints against students. The Office of Equal Opportunity Services shall be primarily responsible for records related to complaints against nonstudents. The confidentiality of a complaint under this policy and all documents, correspondence, interviews, and discussions relating to the investigation of the information contained in a complaint will be maintained on a need-to-know basis to the extent permitted by law. Any person who knowingly and intentionally makes an unauthorized disclosure of confidential information contained in a complaint or otherwise relating to the investigation of a complaint under this policy is subject to disciplinary action.

I. Consensual Relationships
Participation of a supervisor, teacher, adviser, or coach in a consensual romantic or sexual relationship with a subordinate employee or student in all cases creates a prohibited conflict of interest that must be addressed under the policy on consensual relationships (Revised Handbook of Operating Procedures, Policy 4.A.2).

J. Sexual Misconduct
Employee conduct of a sexual nature that, although not so serious or pervasive that it rises to the level of sexual harassment, is unprofessional and/or inappropriate for worksites and teaching locations, may constitute prohibited sexual misconduct under the policy on sexual misconduct (Appendix E, pages 246–247).

For assistance: Questions regarding this policy should be directed to the Office of the Dean of Students or Equal Opportunity Services.
Appendix E
Policy on Sexual Misconduct

I. GENERAL POLICY GUIDELINES
A. Policy Statement
   It is the policy of the University of Texas at Austin to provide an educational and working environment for students, faculty members, staff members, and visitors that is free from sexual misconduct. The University encourages students, faculty members, staff members, and visitors to promptly report incidents of sexual misconduct and will respond appropriately, including taking disciplinary action when warranted, in response to sexual misconduct by its students, faculty members, staff members, visitors, and contractors.

B. Definitions
   Sexual misconduct is behavior or conduct of a sexual nature that is unprofessional and/or inappropriate for the educational and working environment. Behaviors that may constitute sexual misconduct include but are not limited to:
   - Repeatedly engaging in sexually oriented conversations, comments, or horseplay, including the use of language or the telling of jokes or anecdotes of a sexual nature in the workplace, office, or classroom, even if such conduct is not objected to by those present
   - Gratuitous use of sexually oriented materials not directly related to the subject matter of a class, course, or meeting, even if not objected to by those present
   - Failure to observe the appropriate boundaries of the supervisor/subordinate or faculty member/student relationship, including the participation of a supervisor, teacher, adviser, or coach in an unreported consensual romantic or sexual relationship with a subordinate employee or student

II. PROCEDURES FOR REPORTING AND RESPONDING TO SEXUAL MISCONDUCT
   There are a number of ways in which concerns or complaints related to sexual misconduct can be addressed; however, no student, faculty member, staff member, or visitor is required to report or allege a violation of the sexual misconduct policy to the person who is the subject of the complaint. Concerns will be kept confidential to the extent permitted under the law.

A. Reporting to Equal Opportunity Services
   Faculty members, staff members, students, and visitors who wish to complain about sexual misconduct may raise their concerns directly with Equal Opportunity Services (EOS). Incidents should be reported as soon as possible after the time of their occurrence, preferably within ninety days. EOS will work with affected University units to resolve the concern. If the complainant is a student, EOS will work with the dean of students’ office to determine how the complaint will be handled.

B. Reporting to the Office of the Dean of Students
   Students may also complain of sexual misconduct directly to the Office of the Dean of Students, which will work with Equal Opportunity Services to determine how the complaint will be handled. Incidents should be reported as soon as possible after the time of their occurrence, preferably within ninety days. Allegations of sexual misconduct that concern another student will be handled through Student Judicial Services, in accordance with chapter 11 of the Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities (Appendix C, pages 201–216).
C. Reporting to a Supervisor, Administrator, or University Official

University faculty and staff members may also bring an allegation of sexual misconduct to their immediate supervisor or to another University administrator or official in their supervisory chain. The reports should be made as soon after the incident as possible, preferably within ninety days. Supervisors, administrators, and University officials are responsible for promptly contacting Equal Opportunity Services to discuss incidents of sexual misconduct prior to taking action in response to them.

Supervisors, administrators, and University officials who become aware of possible sexual misconduct on the part of faculty members, staff members, or students do not need to wait for a complaint to respond to it; however, they need to consult with the Office of Equal Opportunity Services about the matter before taking action.

III. MISCELLANEOUS

A. Documentation

Equal Opportunity Services will document the existence and resolution of incidents of sexual misconduct. It will maintain the confidentiality of those documents to the extent permitted by law.

B. Grievance of a Disciplinary Action

A faculty or staff member receiving discipline as a result of this policy may file a grievance/appeal through the use of the appropriate grievance/appeal procedure.

Any student receiving discipline as a result of this policy may file an appeal through the use of the appeal process outlined in subchapter 11–800 of the Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities (Appendix C, pages 214–216).

For assistance: Students with questions regarding this policy are directed to the Office of the Dean of Students. All other questions may be addressed to Equal Opportunity Services.
A. POLICY STATEMENT
It is the policy of the University that employees with direct teaching, supervisory, advisory, or evaluative responsibility over other employees, students, or student employees recognize and respect the ethical and professional boundaries that must exist in such situations. Consensual relationships, as defined in this policy, create conflicts of interest or appearances of impropriety that impair the integrity of academic and employment decisions. Such relationships also contain the potential for exploitation of the subordinate employee, student, or student employee and the possible professional or academic disadvantage of third parties, and can subject both the University and individuals to the risk of liability. Therefore the University strongly discourages consensual relationships between supervisors and subordinates, teachers and students, and advisers and students. Should such a relationship develop, the teacher, supervisor, or adviser has the obligation to disclose its existence to an immediate supervisor and cooperate in making alternative arrangements for the supervision, evaluation, teaching, grading, or advising of the employee, student, or student employee.

B. SCOPE
This policy applies to all faculty members, staff members, and students of the University of Texas at Austin.

C. DEFINITIONS
A consensual relationship is a mutually acceptable romantic or sexual relationship between a University employee with supervisory, teaching, evaluation, or advisory authority and an employee, student, or student employee who is directly supervised, taught, evaluated, or advised by that employee.

A conflict of interest or an appearance of impropriety arises when an individual with the authority and the responsibility to evaluate the work or performance of an employee, student, or student employee initiates, acquiesces in, or engages in an intimate romantic or sexual relationship with that employee, student, or student employee.

D. REPORTING RESPONSIBILITY
In the event that a consensual relationship exists or begins to develop, the individual in the supervisory, teaching, or advisory position shall immediately notify his or her immediate supervisor of the relationship and cooperate with that supervisor in making the arrangements necessary to resolve the conflict of interest.

E. IMMEDIATE SUPERVISOR RESPONSIBILITY
A supervisor who is notified or becomes aware of a consensual relationship shall take immediate steps to alter the conditions that create the conflict of interest or the appearance of impropriety caused by the relationship. In most instances, that will be accomplished by providing an alternative means for the supervision, teaching, advising, or evaluation of the subordinate employee, student, or student employee.
F. FAILURE TO REPORT OR COOPERATE
Employees in positions of authority who enter into or persist in consensual romantic or sexual relationships without reporting them, or who fail to cooperate in efforts to eliminate the conflict of interest or appearance of impropriety they present, will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination. In the event that a complaint of sexual harassment or sexual misconduct is brought by the subordinate party regarding an unreported relationship, there will be no presumption that the relationship was consensual in nature.

G. GRIEVANCE OF DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS
Disciplinary actions imposed for violations of this policy may be grieved or appealed by the individual who is disciplined pursuant to existing University policies and procedures.

For assistance: Questions regarding this policy should be directed to the Office of the Dean of Students or the Office of Equal Opportunity Services.
Appendix G
Policy on AIDS and HIV Infection

BACKGROUND
The University of Texas at Austin recognizes human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) as a serious public health threat and is committed to encouraging an informed and educated response to questions raised by faculty members, staff members, and students. Guidelines in this policy have been developed to address the medical, educational, legal, administrative, and ethical issues involved.

The purpose of this policy is to provide guidelines for the University for compliance with section 51.919, Texas Education Code, and for responding to specific situations involving persons with AIDS (acquired immune deficiency syndrome) or HIV infections in the areas of administrative policy, residence life, health education, testing for HIV infection, confidentiality of information related to persons with AIDS or HIV infection, and patient care. The policy is applicable to students and employees of the University.

Throughout this appendix, “HIV infection” denotes the total spectrum of the disease, from HIV seropositive but asymptomatic infection to fully developed AIDS.

GENERAL POLICIES
1. Institutional committee. The University committee to oversee educational programs related to AIDS and HIV and to advise the administration on the implementation of these policies will include, as a minimum, representation from the faculty, the student body, and administrative areas such as housing services, health services, counseling services, and food services.

2. Admissions. The existence of HIV infection will not be considered in admissions decisions unless current scientific information indicates required academic activities may expose others to risk of transmission.

3. Employment. The existence of HIV infection will not be used to determine suitability of applicants for employment by the University. An HIV-infected employee will remain employed as long as he or she meets job performance standards and does not engage in job-related activities that current scientific information indicates may expose others to risk of transmission.

4. Class attendance. A student with HIV infection will be allowed to attend all classes without restrictions, as long as the student is physically and mentally able to participate and perform assigned work, and poses no health risk to others.

5. Access to facilities. A person with HIV infection will not be denied access to any University facility on the basis of HIV-positive status.

6. Residential housing. The University residential housing staff will not exclude HIV-positive students from University housing, and will not inform other students that a person with HIV infection lives in University housing.

7. Testing for HIV infection.
   A. Mandatory testing. No program for mandatory HIV testing of employees, students, or patients will be undertaken without that person’s consent unless required by law or court order, or as specified by section 7G below.

   B. Voluntary testing and counseling. University Health Services will offer or refer students, faculty members, and staff members for confidential or anonymous HIV counseling and testing services. All testing conducted by the University will include counseling before and after the test. Unless required by law, test results will be revealed to the person tested only when the opportunity is provided for immediate, individual, face-to-face counseling about
      1. the meaning of the test result;
      2. the possible need for additional testing;
      3. measures to prevent transmission of HIV;
4. the availability of appropriate health care services, including mental health care, and appropriate social and support services in the geographic area of the person’s residence;
5. the benefits of partner notification; and
6. the availability of partner notification programs.

C. Informed consent.
   1. Unless otherwise authorized or required by law, no HIV test will be performed without informed consent of the person to be tested.
   2. Consent will be written on a separate form, or the medical record will document that the test has been explained and consent has been obtained. The consent form will state that post-test counseling will be offered or the medical record will note that the patient has been informed that post-test counseling will be offered.

D. Reporting of test results. HIV test results will be reported in compliance with all applicable statutory requirements, including Texas Health and Safety Code, Chapter 81, Communicable Diseases.

E. Conditions of HIV testing of employees at University’s expense. Employees will be informed that they may request HIV testing and counseling at the University’s expense if
   1. the employee documents possible exposure to HIV while performing duties of employment; and
   2. the employee was exposed to HIV in a manner that is capable of transmitting HIV as determined by guidelines developed in accordance with statements of the Texas Department of State Health Services and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

F. Qualifying for workers’ compensation benefits. State law requires that an employee must provide a written statement of the date and circumstances of the exposure to HIV infection and document that within ten days after the exposure, the employee had a test result that indicated absence of HIV infection. An employee who may have been exposed to HIV while performing duties of employment may not be required to be tested, but refusal to be tested may jeopardize workers’ compensation benefits.

G. Testing following potential exposure to HIV. The University will develop guidelines and protocols for employees and students who have been exposed to material that has a potential for transmitting HIV as a result of employment or educational assignments. Testing of employees or students exposed to such material will be done within seven days after exposure and will be repeated after one, three, and six months. These guidelines follow Texas Department of State Health Services, United States Public Health Service, and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention guidelines.

   In cases of exposure of an employee or student to another individual’s (“Individual” in this paragraph) blood or body fluid, the University, at University expense, may test that Individual for HIV infection with or without the Individual’s consent, provided that the test is performed under approved institutional guidelines and procedures that provide criteria for testing and that respect the rights of the person being tested. This includes post-test counseling as specified in section B. If the test is done without the Individual’s consent, the guidelines must ensure that any identifying information concerning the Individual’s test will be destroyed as soon as the testing is complete and the person who may have been exposed is notified of the result. Test results will be reported in compliance with all applicable statutory requirements, as specified in section 7D.

8. Confidentiality of records. Except where release is required or authorized by law, information concerning the HIV status of students, employees, or patients and any portion of a medical record will be kept confidential and will not be released without written consent. HIV status in personnel files and workers’ compensation files is to remain confidential and have the confidentiality status of medical records.

9. Safety precautions. The University will develop guidelines for health care workers and students in the health professions concerning prevention of transmission of HIV and concerning health care workers who have HIV infection. Each University health care worker who is involved in hands-on patient care should complete an educational course about HIV infection based on the model education program and workplace guidelines developed by the Texas Department of State Health Services and the guidelines of this policy.
10. Education.
   A. Employee education pamphlet. The University will provide each employee an educational pamphlet about methods of transmission and prevention of HIV infection. The pamphlet will be the Texas Department of State Health Services educational pamphlet or a pamphlet based on the model developed by the Texas Department of State Health Services. The pamphlet will be provided to new employees on the first day of employment and to all employees annually.
   B. Information on prevention provided to students.
      1. The University will routinely offer students education based on the model HIV education and prevention program developed by the Texas Department of State Health Services and tailored to students’ cultural, educational, language, and developmental needs.
      2. University Health Services will provide information on prevention of HIV infection, including a. the value of abstinence and long-term mutual monogamy;
         b. information on the efficacy and use of condoms; and
         c. state laws relating to the transmission and to conduct that may result in the transmission of HIV.
      3. The employee educational pamphlet will be available to students on request.
   C. Guidelines for laboratory courses. Departments offering laboratory courses requiring exposure to material that has potential for transmitting HIV will adopt safety guidelines for handling such material and distribute these guidelines to students and staff members prior to such exposure.
   D. Distribution of policy. The University will make this policy on HIV infection available to students, faculty members, and staff members by including the policy in the student, faculty, and personnel guides if practicable, or by any other method.
   E. Education of students entering health professions. Each college or school offering medical, dental, nursing, allied health, counseling, and/or social work degree programs should include within the program curricula information about
      1. methods of transmission and methods of prevention of HIV infection;
      2. federal and state laws, rules, and regulations concerning HIV infection and AIDS; and
      3. the physical, emotional, and psychological stress associated with the care of patients with terminal illnesses.

11. Unemployment compensation benefits. The University will inform employees via employee or faculty guides that state law provides that an individual will be disqualified for unemployment compensation benefits
   A. if the Texas Workforce Commission finds that the employee left work voluntarily rather than provide services included within the course and scope of employment to an individual infected with a communicable disease, including HIV. This disqualification applies if the University provided facilities, equipment, training, and supplies necessary to take reasonable precautions against infection.
   B. if the Texas Workforce Commission finds that the employee has been discharged from employment based on a refusal to provide services included within the course and scope of employment to an individual infected with a communicable disease, including HIV. This disqualification applies if the University provided facilities, equipment, training, and supplies necessary to take reasonable precautions against infection.

12. Health benefits. No University student or employee will be subjected to impermissible discrimination under a health benefits plan endorsed by the University on the basis of a positive HIV test result.
Appendix H
Prohibition of Sexual Assault

It is the policy of the University of Texas at Austin to strive to maintain an environment that is free from intimidation and one in which students may be educated to their fullest potential. The University should foster an understanding of difference and cultivate the ethical and moral issues that are the basis of a humane social order. Therefore, the University will not tolerate physical abuse, threats of violence, physical assault, or any form of sexual assault, including but not limited to acquaintance or date rape.

A student who individually, or in concert with others, participates or attempts to participate in a sexual offense, including but not limited to sexual assault or abuse of, threats against, or the unwanted touching of an intimate area of any other student, is subject to disciplinary action by the University, notwithstanding any action that may or may not be taken by the civil authorities. In addition to incidents that occur on the University campus, the University may take disciplinary action in response to incidents that take place during official functions of the University, or those sponsored by registered student organizations, or incidents that have a substantial connection to the interests of the University of Texas at Austin regardless of the location in which they occur.

OPTIONS FOR SURVIVORS OF SEXUAL ASSAULT

Police and Medical

A student who experiences any form of sexual assault is encouraged to call the police (911) immediately. Reporting an assault to law enforcement does not mean that the case will automatically go to criminal trial or a University disciplinary hearing. If the police are called, a uniformed officer will be sent to the scene to take a detailed statement.

In the hours and days immediately following a sexual assault, a survivor has the option to have a forensic medical examination performed by a Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE).
It is important to note that this exam is voluntary. The evidence collected during this exam is admissible in court. The evidence is preserved and can be used should the survivor choose to cooperate with law enforcement regarding any possible charges against the assailant in the future. The SANE exam must be performed within the first ninety-six hours following a sexual assault. If police are called and the survivor elects to participate in this exam, the police will provide transportation to the closest hospital that offers it. If the survivor declines the exam, information regarding options in the Austin area will be provided for possible future action at the discretion of the survivor.

The survivor is strongly encouraged to seek medical care and to be treated for any injuries, both internal and external, and to be tested for sexually transmitted infections, regardless of whether the police were contacted or a SANE exam was performed. This medical care can be done on campus at University Health Services, at a local emergency room, or by a private physician off-campus.

Advocacy and Counseling

The Voices Against Violence Program (VAV) in the University Counseling and Mental Health Center (512-471-3515) is available to provide support services for any student who has been affected by sexual assault. VAV can provide help to survivors regarding safety, legal, medical, academic, and housing options. The program also offers individual and group counseling. For assistance after 5:00 PM and on weekends, there is a telephone counseling service that can be reach twenty-four hours a day every day, including holidays. The telephone number is (512) 471-CALL (471-2255). Callers may remain anonymous. The nonprofit organization SafePlace also offers a twenty-four-hour hotline for survivors of sexual assault and domestic violence. The phone number is (512) 267-SAFE (267-7233). Students who may have been assaulted by someone who is not affiliated with the University may contact any of the available University support services listed below under Programs and Support Services.

Administrative Complaint and Investigation

A student may file a complaint against another student by contacting the Student Judicial Services area of the Office of the Dean of Students directly at (512) 471-2841. Students may choose to file a complaint with the Student Judicial Services staff whether or not they choose to cooperate with law enforcement in a criminal investigation. Students who wish to file a complaint against a faculty or staff member may contact the associate dean of students at (512) 471-5017; however, this policy does not apply to cases involving an assault by a faculty or staff member. See Appendix D, Policy on Sex Discrimination and Sexual Harassment, pages 239–245; and Appendix J, Prohibition of Campus Violence, pages 263–264.

When a student reports that the campus regulations prohibiting sexual assault have been violated, informal procedures that provide for the protection of the emotional health and physical safety of the complainant may be invoked. For example, a student who lives on campus may be moved to another campus living environment if he or she chooses or may be allowed to drop a class. Such arrangements will be facilitated through the Office of the Dean of Students. If the complainant provides credible evidence that the accused student presents a continuing danger to person or property or poses an ongoing threat of disrupting the academic process, the Office of the Dean of Students may take interim disciplinary action against the accused student as appropriate.

Students who wish to file a complaint that will be addressed by the University disciplinary system will work with Student Judicial Services. The details of the University conduct rules, as well as possible sanctions that may be imposed against a student found guilty of a violation of University rules and regulations, may be found in Appendix C, chapter 11, pages 201–216.

Notwithstanding the rights of the accused student, a complainant under this policy is entitled to the following rights:

- The right to be present during the entire hearing, notwithstanding the fact that the complainant is to be called as a witness. (The accused student has the same right.)
- The right to have a support person present during the hearing. This person is not entitled to represent the complainant nor to assist him or her with his or her testimony. If the support person is to act as a witness, the hearing officer may require him or her to testify prior to the complainant.
- The right not to have evidence of his or her past sexual history with third parties admitted as evidence.
- The right to have the hearing closed to spectators unless both the accused and the complainant consent in writing to have the hearing open to the public.
- The right to know the outcome of the hearing as defined by federal law.

Appendix I
Nondiscrimination Policy

I. GENERAL POLICY GUIDELINES

A. Policy Statement
It is the policy of the University of Texas at Austin to provide an educational and working environment that provides equal opportunity to all members of the University community. In accordance with federal and state law, the University prohibits unlawful discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, gender, including sexual harassment, age, disability, citizenship, and veteran status. Procedures for filing discrimination complaints on the basis of gender, including sexual harassment, are addressed by the Revised Handbook of Operating Procedures, Policy 4.B.1 (Appendix D, pages 239–245). Pursuant to University policy, this policy also prohibits discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity, and gender expression.

B. Scope
This policy applies to visitors, applicants for admission to or employment with the University, and students and employees of the University who allege discrimination by University employees, students, visitors, or contractors.

C. Definitions
1. Discrimination is defined as conduct directed at a specific individual or a group of identifiable individuals that subjects the individual or group to treatment that adversely affects their employment or education because of their race, color, religion, national origin, age, disability, citizenship, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression.

2. Harassment as a form of discrimination is defined as verbal or physical conduct that is directed at an individual or group because of race, color, religion, national origin, age, disability, citizenship, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression when such conduct is sufficiently severe, pervasive, or persistent so as to have the purpose or effect of interfering with an individual’s or group’s academic or work performance; or of creating a hostile academic or work environment.

3. Verbal conduct is defined as oral, written, or symbolic expressions that
   - personally describe or are personally directed at a specific individual or group of identifiable individuals; and
   - are not necessary to an argument for or against the substance of any political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic idea.

Constitutionally protected expression cannot be considered harassment under this policy.

II. GENERAL PROCEDURES

A. Reporting
A person who believes that he or she has been subjected to discrimination or harassment in violation of this policy should report the incident to any University official, administrator, or supervisor. A faculty member is not an “official, administrator, or supervisor” for this purpose unless that faculty member holds an administrative position. Students are encouraged to report such incidents to the Office of the Dean of Students; employees and campus visitors are encouraged to report to Equal Opportunity Services. Incidents should be reported as soon as possible after the time of their occurrence. No person is required to report discrimination or harassment to the alleged offender.
B. Reporting Responsibility
Every supervisor, administrator, and University official is responsible for promptly reporting incidents of discrimination and harassment in violation of this policy that come to their attention to either the Office of the Dean of Students or Equal Opportunity Services.

C. Resolution Options
A person who believes that he or she has been subjected to discrimination or harassment in violation of this policy and seeks to take action may use either the informal resolution process or the formal complaint process, or both. The informal resolution process and the formal complaint resolution process described in this policy are not mutually exclusive, and neither is required as a precondition for choosing the other; however, they cannot both be used at the same time.

III. INFORMAL RESOLUTION PROCEDURE
Informal resolution may be an appropriate choice when the conduct involved is not of a serious or repetitive nature and disciplinary action is not required to remedy the situation. No formal investigation is involved in the informal resolution process.

A request for informal resolution must be made within ninety calendar days of the date of the alleged incident to either the Office of the Dean of Students or the Office of the Director of Equal Opportunity Services, who shall determine whether the nature of the problem is such that it can be resolved by agreement on an informal basis, and if so, which office will do so. A request for informal resolution will not extend the ninety-day time limit for filing a formal complaint.

Methods for informal resolution may include, but are not limited to, coaching the person on how to directly address a situation which is causing a problem; mediating the dispute with the parties; aiding in the modification of a situation in which the offensive conduct occurred; assisting a department or division with the resolution of a real or perceived problem; or arranging a documented meeting with the alleged offender that involves a discussion of the requirements of the nondiscrimination policy.

The University shall document any informal resolution. Such documentation shall be retained by the Office of the Dean of Students or Equal Opportunity Services as appropriate and will be kept confidential to the extent permitted by law. An informal resolution meeting shall not be considered a precondition for the filing of a written complaint.

IV. COMPLAINT RESOLUTION PROCEDURE
A. Definitions
- Complaint. Complaint means a signed document alleging discrimination, including harassment under this policy.
- Complainant. Complainant means a person who submits a written complaint alleging discrimination, including harassment under this policy.
- Respondent. Respondent means the person designated to respond to a complaint. Generally the respondent would be the person alleged to be responsible for the prohibited discrimination or harassment alleged in a complaint. The term “respondent” may be used to designate persons with direct responsibility for a particular action or those persons with administrative responsibility for procedures and policies in those areas covered in a complaint.
- Notification. Notification takes place two days after the date of posting of any document in the United States mail, properly addressed, or upon the date of receipt of any document, when placed in the campus mail, properly addressed. Written communications to a complainant are properly addressed when sent to the address given in the complaint or the last address given since the filing of the complaint.

B. Complaint Procedure
1. Complaint. A complaint alleging discrimination or harassment must be submitted in writing to Equal Opportunity Services or the Office of the Dean of Students. The complaint must contain the following information:
   - Name and UT identification number of the complainant(s)
   - Contact information, including address, telephone number, e-mail address
   - Name of person(s) directly responsible for alleged violation(s)
   - Date(s) and place(s) of alleged violation(s)
   - Nature of alleged violation(s) as defined in this policy
1. Detailed description of the specific conduct that is the basis of alleged violation(s)
2. Copies of documents pertaining to the alleged violation(s)
3. Names of any witnesses to alleged violation(s)
4. Action requested to resolve the situation
5. Complainant’s signature and date of filing
6. Any other relevant information

The following communications do not constitute a complaint and will not be investigated or resolved pursuant to the complaint resolution process:
- Oral allegations
- E-mail correspondence
- Anonymous communications
- Courtesy copies of correspondence or a complaint filed with others
- Inquiries that seek advice or information only
- Precomplaint consultations and informal resolution activities

2. Time Limit. A written complaint must be filed within ninety calendar days of the occurrence of the alleged violation. In the case of a currently enrolled student, if the last day for filing a complaint falls prior to the end of the academic semester in which the alleged violation occurred, then the complaint may be filed within thirty calendar days after the end of that semester.

3. Acknowledgment. Within five working days after receipt of a written complaint, Equal Opportunity Services or the Office of the Dean of Students, as appropriate, will send the complainant(s) a brief acknowledgment of the complaint, stating that the complaint will be evaluated, and advising the complainant(s) that they will be contacted within a given time. The acknowledgment letter will include a copy of these complaint procedures.

4. Complaint Evaluation. A formal investigation will be initiated if a complaint is complete, timely, and within the scope of this policy and articulates sufficient specific facts, which, if determined to be true, would support a finding that this policy was violated. The University may not proceed with a complaint investigation under a variety of circumstances—if, for instance,
- a person fails to provide a written, signed complaint;
- a complaint fails to describe in sufficient detail the conduct that is the basis of the complaint;
- the conduct described in the complaint is not covered by this policy;
- a complaint is not timely;
- the complainant(s) decline to cooperate in the University’s investigation;
- the complaint has been withdrawn; or
- an appropriate resolution or remedy has already been achieved, or has been offered and rejected.

If it is determined that the University will not proceed with a complaint investigation, Equal Opportunity Services or the Office of the Dean of Students, as appropriate, will send a notification letter explaining the reason(s) to the complainant(s), with a copy to the alleged offender(s). The notification letter will also include a statement informing the complainant(s) that, within ten working days of the notification, they may appeal the determination not to proceed with a complaint investigation to the vice president for employee and campus services or the vice president for student affairs, as appropriate. The request for appeal must be a signed, written document articulating why the decision to dismiss the complaint was in error. The appropriate vice president will respond within twenty working days of receipt of the appeal. If the decision to dismiss is upheld, that decision is final. If the decision to dismiss is overturned, the complaint is sent back to Equal Opportunity Services or the Office of the Dean of Students, as appropriate, for investigation in accordance with the procedures outlined below.

5. Notification of Respondent. If it is determined that the University will proceed with a complaint investigation, Equal Opportunity Services or the Office of the Dean of Students will give the respondent(s) written notification of the complaint investigation. The notification letter will include a copy of the written complaint. The notification letter will provide the respondent(s) an opportunity to submit a written response to the allegations within ten working days, unless unusual circumstances warrant additional time. The notification letter will include a statement advising the respondent(s) that retaliation against the complainant(s) is prohibited and will subject the respondent(s) to appropriate disciplinary action.

6. Investigation Responsibility. The Office of the Dean of Students is responsible for conducting formal investigations of complaints against students alleging discrimination and harassment in violation of this policy. Equal Opportunity Services is responsible for conducting formal investigations of complaints against nonstudents alleging discrimination and harassment in violation of this policy. If a complaint is directed against an individual who would otherwise play a role in investigating and attempting to resolve the complaint, the function assigned to that person by these procedures will be delegated to another person.

7. Investigative Process and Findings. The investigator will interview both the complainant(s) and the respondent(s) and persons who are considered to have pertinent factual information related to the complaint. The investigator shall also gather and examine documents relevant to the complaint. Facts will be considered on the basis of what is reasonable to persons of ordinary sensitivity and not on the particular sensitivity or reaction of an individual. Findings will be based on the totality of circumstances surrounding the conduct complained of, including, but not limited to, the context of that conduct, its severity, its frequency, and whether it was physically threatening, humiliating, or simply offensive in nature.

8. Representation. During the complaint process, the complainant(s) and the respondent(s) may designate and thereafter be accompanied by an adviser of their choosing at meetings and interviews at which they are present; however, no representative may examine witnesses or otherwise actively participate in a meeting or interview.

9. Submission of Evidence. During the complaint investigation process, the complainant(s) and the respondent(s) will provide Equal Opportunity Services or the Office of the Dean of Students, as appropriate, with all documents relied upon regarding the issues raised in the complaint.

    a. The investigator will provide a proposed statement of findings, copies of relevant documents, and any physical evidence considered to the appropriate vice president within thirty working days of receipt of the respondent’s statement, unless unusual circumstances require more time. The appropriate vice president to act on complaints against faculty and staff members will be the vice president for the area where the respondent is employed. The appropriate vice president to act on complaints against contractors and visitors will be the vice president for University operations. If a complaint is directed against a vice president who would otherwise act on a complaint, the function assigned to that vice president will be delegated to another person.

    b. The appropriate vice president will promptly notify the complainant(s) and the respondent(s) that the investigation has been completed and attach a copy of the proposed statement of findings. Student identifiable information, if any, which is confidential by law, will be redacted. Within ten working days from the date of notification, the complainant(s) and respondent(s) may each submit, for consideration by the appropriate vice president, such comments and corrections as they may have.

    c. Within fifteen working days of the notification to the complainant(s) and respondent(s) that the investigation has been completed, the appropriate vice president and the investigator shall meet to discuss the findings, and review the record, along with any comments and proposed corrections submitted by the complainant(s) and respondent(s).

    d. Within fifteen working days from that meeting, the vice president shall take one of the following actions: (a) request further investigation into the complaint; (b) dismiss the complaint if the results of the completed investigation are inconclusive or there is insufficient reasonable, credible evidence to support the allegation(s); or (c) find that this policy was violated.

    e. If the vice president determines that this policy was violated, he or she, following consultation with the investigator or other knowledgeable persons as appropriate, shall determine a disciplinary action that is appropriate for the severity of the conduct. Disciplinary actions can include, but are not limited to, written reprimands, the imposition of conditions, reassignment, suspension without pay, and termination.

f. The vice president shall inform the complainant(s) and the accused individual(s) and the appropriate unit head in writing of his or her decision, and shall attach a copy of the final statement of findings. Copies of the vice president’s letter, the attached statement of findings, and relevant documents shall also be sent to the Office of the Dean of Students or Equal Opportunity Services as appropriate.

a. The investigator will provide a proposed statement of findings, copies of relevant documents, and any physical evidence considered to the dean of students within thirty working days of receipt of the respondent’s statement, unless unusual circumstances require more time.

   The dean of students and the investigator shall meet within fifteen working days to discuss the findings, and review the record.

b. Within fifteen working days from that meeting, the dean of students shall take one of the following actions: (a) request further investigation into the complaint; (b) dismiss the complaint if the results of the completed investigation are inconclusive or there is insufficient reasonable, credible evidence to support the allegation(s); or (c) find that this policy was violated.

c. If the dean of students determines that this policy was violated, the dean of students, following consultation with the investigator or other knowledgeable persons as appropriate, shall determine whether to initiate a disciplinary action appropriate to the severity of the conduct pursuant to chapter 11 of the Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities (Appendix C, pages 201–216). Disciplinary actions can include, but are not limited to, a documented warning, the imposition of conditions, probation, suspension, and dismissal.

d. As required by federal law, any disclosure of the findings and decision of the Office of the Dean of Students will be governed by the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act.

V. MISCELLANEOUS

A. Grievance of a Disciplinary Action

1. Any employee disciplined pursuant to this policy, except faculty members, teaching assistants, assistant instructors, and members of the University of Texas Police Department (each of whom are subject to separate procedures), may grieve that action by submitting a written grievance, within ten working days of the imposition of the disciplinary action, to the president’s office. Ordinarily, the president will assign responsibility for review and action on the appeal of the vice president’s action to another vice president; however, when required by unusual circumstances, the president may review and handle a grievance pursuant to this policy.

2. If the disciplinary action that is being grieved does not involve termination, demotion, or suspension without pay, the vice president shall thoroughly review and finally decide the matter within thirty calendar days of its receipt unless unusual circumstances require more time.

3. If the disciplinary action that is being grieved involves the termination, demotion, or suspension without pay of an employee who is covered by section 9.49 of the Handbook of Operating Procedures, the vice president who is assigned to review the grievance shall follow the procedures for appealing such actions contained in that section. Complainants will be required to appear and testify at hearings that may be a part of such proceedings.

4. Any student disciplined under this policy has the right to appeal as provided in subchapter 11–800 of the Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities (Appendix C, pages 214–216). The student must give written notice of appeal to the president within fourteen calendar days after all parties are notified of the decision. A timely notice of appeal suspends the imposition of the sanction until the appeal is finally decided. Interim action may be taken as authorized under section 11–502 of the Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities (Appendix C, page 207).
B. Retaliation Prohibited
   A student, faculty member, or staff member who retaliates in any way against an individual who has brought a complaint pursuant to this policy or participated in good faith in an investigation of such a complaint, is subject to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal from the University.

C. Filing of False Complaints
   Any person who knowingly and intentionally files a false complaint under this policy is subject to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal from the University.

D. Effect on Pending Personnel Actions
   The filing of a nondiscrimination or retaliation complaint will not stop or delay any evaluation or disciplinary action related to the complainant who is not performing up to acceptable standards or who has violated University rules or policies.

E. Relationship of Complaint Process to Outside Agency Time Limits
   The filing of a discrimination or harassment complaint under this policy does not excuse the complainant from meeting the time limits of outside agencies.

F. Relationship to Grievance Procedure
   This complaint procedure shall also constitute the grievance procedure for complaints alleging unlawful discrimination. As used herein, “complaint” is synonymous with “grievance.”

G. Time Frames
   Time frames mentioned in these procedures may be extended for good cause, such as holidays or when classes are not in session, or when it is necessary to complete an investigation due to difficulties reaching witnesses or parties to the complaint.

H. Documentation and Confidentiality
   The University shall maintain documents related to complaints under this policy as required by law. The Office of the Dean of Students shall be primarily responsible for records related to complaints against students. The Office of Equal Opportunity Services shall be primarily responsible for records related to complaints against nonstudents. The confidentiality of a complaint under this policy and all documents, correspondence, interviews, and discussions relating to the investigation of the information contained in a complaint will be maintained on a need-to-know basis to the extent permitted by law. Any person who knowingly and intentionally makes an unauthorized disclosure of confidential information contained in a complaint or otherwise relating to the investigation of a complaint under this policy is subject to disciplinary action.

For assistance: Questions regarding this policy should be directed to the Office of the Dean of Students or Equal Opportunity Services.

For assistance, the incident may also be reported directly to the Behavior Concerns Advice Line (BCAL) at (512) 232-5050. The caller will be advised how to proceed and/or will be routed to the appropriate resources.

D. Sanctions

Individuals who violate this policy may be removed from campus, arrested, and be subject to legal action. University employees and students who violate this policy may also be subject to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal.

E. Filing of False Reports

Any person who knowingly and intentionally files a false report shall be subject to disciplinary action that may include dismissal, expulsion, and/or legal action.

Subject to the provisions of the Texas Public Information Act, Chapter 552, Texas Government Code, the University will maintain the confidentiality of the report and the identity of the reporting person during the investigation. The identity of the reporter and perpetrator may become apparent, or disclosed, as a result of the actions taken to resolve the investigation.

G. Retaliation Prohibited

A faculty member, student, or staff member who retaliates in any way against an individual who has brought a complaint in good faith pursuant to this policy or participated in good faith in an investigation of such a complaint, is subject to disciplinary action, including dismissal.

Appendix K
Student Travel Policy for University-Organized or Sponsored Events

A. Policy Statement
It is the policy of the University of Texas at Austin to promote safe travel by students to and from events and activities covered by this policy.

B. Scope
This policy applies to the travel of enrolled undergraduate or graduate students to attend activities or events that are organized and/or sponsored by the University of Texas at Austin; and occur more than twenty-five miles from the University campus.

The types of activities and events covered by this policy include course-related field trips, Recreational Sports club trips, the activities of sponsored student organizations, and meetings of academic organizations where a student is officially representing the University.

The policy does not apply to travel undertaken by students to attend out-of-town athletic events, or to engage in student teaching, internships, practicums, observations, or research, unless the research is organized by a member of the faculty.

C. Definitions
1. An organized event is one that is initiated, planned, and arranged by a member of the University's faculty or staff, or by the members of a sponsored student organization, and is approved by an appropriate administrator.
2. A sponsored event or activity is one that the University endorses by supporting it financially, or by sending students to participate in it as official representatives of the University.
3. An enrolled student is one who has been admitted to and is attending classes at the University.
4. An appropriate administrator is a dean, department chair, or director of an administrative unit, or their delegate.

D. Travel Authorization
In order to assure that the events or activities that involve student travel are within the course and scope of the University’s mission, and that student safety issues have been addressed, travel undertaken pursuant to this policy must be authorized in advance by an appropriate administrator.

1. To request authorization, members of the faculty, staff, or sponsored student organizations who organize activities covered by this policy must submit a completed Request for Authorization for Student Travel form, along with the required documents and information, to the appropriate administrator for approval. Whenever possible, the request should be submitted at least five working days in advance of travel to the activity or event.

2. The following information/documents must be submitted along with the Request for Authorization for Student Travel form:
   a. A list of participants including their names, local addresses and phone numbers, and the names and phone numbers of persons to contact in case of an emergency.
   b. The name and phone number for the responsible University employee(s) who will be available to the students at all times during the travel and activity.

Source: Revised Handbook of Operating Procedures, Policy 12.B.2
d. Copies of current medical insurance certificates, or both sides of a current group insurance membership card, for each person who wishes to participate in the activity or event. The purchase of a reasonably priced, short-term special events policy can be arranged by academic and administrative units on behalf of students who do not have, or cannot verify, current medical coverage. Information concerning this coverage is available from the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs, (512) 471-1133.

e. Completed and signed Release and Indemnification Agreements for each participant.

f. Completed and signed Authorization for Emergency Medical Treatment forms for each participant.

3. When leading group trips, faculty or staff members should carry emergency contact information, proof of medical insurance coverage, and the authorization for emergency medical treatment for each participant.

4. Faculty members who teach courses that involve frequent field trips can collect the following information from students at the beginning of each semester and keep it on file with the appropriate administrator for use throughout a semester:
   ▶ Proof of current medical insurance
   ▶ Completed and signed medical authorization forms
   ▶ Completed and signed release and indemnification agreements (a single release and indemnification agreement may be used if a single description fits all the proposed trips)
   ▶ Proof of a valid vehicle operator’s license for students who will operate vehicles

5. Onetime approval can be provided for multiple trips led by faculty or staff members that involve the same locations and the same participants.

6. The Request for Authorization for Student Travel, the Authorization for Emergency Medical Treatment, and the Release and Indemnification Agreement forms are available from the Office of the Vice President of Student Affairs and at http://www.utexas.edu/student/vpsa/travel/.

E. Travel by Motor Vehicle

1. Compliance with Laws and Policies
   a. Motor vehicles used for travel covered by this policy shall have a current proof of liability insurance card and a state inspection certification.
   b. Travel undertaken by means of fifteen-passenger vans must comply with the requirements of The University of Texas System policy on automobile insurance and the use of vehicles, UTS157 (http://www.utsystem.edu/policy/policies/uts157.html).

2. Vehicle Operator Requirements
   a. All students who will operate vehicles while engaged in travel covered by this policy must have a valid operator’s license and be trained as required by law to drive the vehicle that will be used.
   b. Operators shall comply with all laws, regulations, and posted signs or directions regarding speed and traffic control.
   c. Operators shall take a mandatory thirty-minute rest break every four hours.
   d. Operators shall drive no more than ten hours in any twenty-four-hour period.
   e. Trips requiring more than ten hours driving time to reach a point of destination shall require overnight lodging.
   f. A navigator shall be assigned for all trips scheduled to take more than two hours. The navigator must stay awake while on duty.

3. Safety Requirements for Both Operators and Passengers
   a. Seat Belts. Occupants of motor vehicles shall use seat belts or other approved safety restraint devices required by law or regulation at all times when the vehicle is in operation.
   b. Alcohol and Illegal Substances. Occupants of motor vehicles shall not possess, consume, or transport any alcoholic beverages or illegal substances.
   c. Passenger Capacity. The total number of passengers in any vehicle at any time it is in operation shall not exceed the manufacturer’s recommended capacity, or the number specified by University policy, or federal or state law or regulations, whichever is lowest.
4. Travel by Rental Vehicle
Rentals of vehicles to use for travel to activities or events covered by this policy are governed by the following guidelines.

a. Vehicle Reservations
The University is a participant in the State Travel Management Program, which has negotiated favorable vehicle rental rates with a number of car rental companies. While use of one of the University’s travel agencies is not required, doing so will help assure (1) that vehicles are rented pursuant to the State Travel Management plan whenever possible; (2) that vehicle rental agreements are valid; and (3) that necessary insurance coverage has been purchased. Information concerning those agencies is available from the University’s Travel Management Services at http://www.utexas.edu/travel/.

b. Payment of Costs for Rental Vehicles
1. Vehicle rental charges can be (a) billed centrally to Travel Management Services; or (b) billed directly to those departments or divisions that have uniquely numbered accounts with state contract car rental companies. If the rental costs are to be centrally billed, it will be necessary for the driver to obtain a voucher from Travel Management Services prior to picking up the rental vehicle.
2. If necessary, personal credit cards may be used to rent vehicles for travel covered by this policy, and cardholders will be reimbursed for appropriate and approved costs. If rentals are from companies that are not under the state contract, the reimbursement amount will be limited to that which would have been incurred for equivalent state contract rentals.

c. Insurance Coverage
1. Rentals from Companies Participating in State Travel Management Program. Loss/damage waiver and primary liability insurance coverage are automatically included in the rates charged by companies participating in the State Travel Management Program. That protection does not cover injuries to persons or possessions inside a rental vehicle. Therefore, it is suggested that the personal injury insurance protection and the personal effects insurance protection offered by rental companies be purchased for student travel covered by this policy, particularly if there will be numerous passengers in the vehicle. The cost of the extended coverage is reimbursable only from funds held in 18, 19, 26, 29, and 30 accounts.
2. Rentals from Non–State Contract Rental Companies. If no state contract cars are available and it is necessary to rent vehicles from noncontract companies, then both the loss/damage waiver and primary liability coverage must be purchased, unless the rental is charged to a University-issued Diner’s Club card. It is suggested that the personal injury insurance protection and the personal effects insurance protection offered by rental companies be purchased for student travel covered by this policy, particularly if there will be numerous passengers in the vehicle. The cost of the extended coverage is reimbursable only from funds held in 18, 19, 26, 29, and 30 accounts.

5. Travel by Means of a Vehicle Owned or Leased Long-Term by the University
In addition to complying with the general rules set out above, travel by means of a vehicle that is owned or leased long-term (for a period of more than one year) by the University must comply with the following requirements.

a. Proof of Insurance, Inspection, and Safety Devices Vehicles used for travel activity covered by this policy must
1. Have a current proof of liability insurance card;
2. Have a valid state inspection sticker;
3. Have all devices or equipment required by federal or state law or regulation; and
4. Comply with any other applicable federal or state law or regulation.
b. Service and Maintenance
   A University-owned or long-term–leased vehicle used for student travel under this policy must be subject to scheduled periodic service and maintenance by qualified persons and must be in compliance with all relevant University of Texas System policies.

c. Employee Operators
   All operators of vehicles described in this section shall be on the payroll of the University of Texas at Austin. All operators must have a valid license for the operation of a particular vehicle; and have a current BMDRV rating on file. Human Resource Services or the Office of the Controller can be contacted for information on how employees may obtain a rating.

6. Travel by Privately Owned Vehicles
   The use of personal vehicles by students for travel to events covered by this policy is strongly discouraged.
   a. When requesting authorization for travel that involves the use of personally owned vehicles, the requestor, in addition to submitting the information described in part D.2 above, shall also submit a copy of a current liability insurance certificate for any vehicle to be used for the proposed travel.
   b. The persons responsible for the proposed activity and travel shall inform students who will drive their privately owned vehicles that their personal liability insurance policy will be looked to first to cover any liability that may result from the use of the vehicle for the proposed travel.

7. Volunteer Drivers and Passengers
   Nonstudent/nonemployee drivers and passengers who accompany students on travel covered by this policy must sign the Release and Indemnification Agreement and the Authorization for Emergency Medical Treatment forms prior to the trip. Forms are available at http://www.utexas.edu/student/vpsa/travel/.

For assistance: Questions regarding this policy should be directed to the Office of the Dean of Students.

Appendix M
Use of E-mail for Official Correspondence to Students

A. POLICY STATEMENT
Electronic mail (e-mail), like postal mail, is a mechanism for official University communication to students. The University will exercise the right to send e-mail communications to all students, and the University will expect that e-mail communications will be received and read in a timely manner.

B. SCOPE
This policy applies to all admitted and enrolled students of the University of Texas at Austin. Official communications using e-mail can include e-mail to a group, such as all admitted students, or an e-mail message to only one student.

C. E-MAIL ADDRESSES
Every student must provide the University with his or her official e-mail address using the address update form in UT Direct, https://utdirect.utexas.edu/utdirect/bio/address_change. It is the responsibility of every student to keep the University informed of changes in his or her official e-mail address. Consequently, e-mail returned to the University with “User Unknown” is not an acceptable excuse for missed communication.

All admitted and enrolled students may claim an e-mail address at no additional cost as provided by Information Technology Services (ITS). Information on obtaining an e-mail address is given at http://www.utexas.edu/its/umbs/. ITS is responsible for providing centrally supported e-mail servers and addresses that assist the University in sending official communications.

The University cannot be responsible for the handling of e-mail by outside vendors (e.g., @aol.com, @hotmail.com) or by University departmental servers. A student may provide an official e-mail address resident on, or that forwards to, such a server at his or her own risk.

D. EXPECTATIONS REGARDING FREQUENCY OF READING E-MAIL
Students are expected to check e-mail on a frequent and regular basis in order to stay current with University-related communications, recognizing that certain communications may be time-critical. It is recommended that e-mail be checked daily, but at a minimum, twice per week. Regular e-mail management will also minimize the risk that the in-box will be full, causing the e-mail to be returned to the sender with an error. Undeliverable messages returned because of either a full in-box or use of a spam filter will be considered delivered without further action required of the University.

E. PRIVACY AND CONFIDENTIALITY
Official University communications sent by e-mail are subject to the same public information, privacy, and records retention requirements and policies as other official University communications.
F. INSTRUCTIONAL USES OF E-MAIL
Faculty members retain autonomy in determining how e-mail or other forms of electronic communication will be used in their classes, but they must specify the requirements in the course syllabus. Faculty members may expect that students are checking e-mail regularly, and faculty members may use e-mail for their courses accordingly.

G. AUTHORITATIVE SOURCE
The authoritative source on this policy and responsibility for its implementation rest with the vice president for information technology.

H. FOR ASSISTANCE
Contact the ITS Help Desk for technical support at (512) 475-9400, or send e-mail using the E-Mail Help Request Form at http://www.utexas.edu/its/help/emailform.php.

The catalog of the University comprises four issues: General Information, the Undergraduate Catalog, the Graduate Catalog, and the Law School Catalog. Each issue is available from the Office of the Registrar.

The Undergraduate Catalog is published in August of even-numbered years; the Graduate Catalog is published in August of odd-numbered years; the Law School Catalog is published in February of even-numbered years. These issues contain regulations and degree requirements that apply to undergraduates, graduate students, and students in the School of Law. Regulations are valid only for the period given on the title page; for an explanation of the period for which degree requirements are valid, see "Graduation under a Particular Catalog" in each issue. The list of courses to be offered in the following sessions is preliminary and is superseded by the Course Schedule, published online each semester and summer session.

General Information, published every August, contains current and historical information about the University and regulations that apply to all students during the academic year given on the title page. General Information is meant to be used along with each of the other issues; each student must be familiar with the regulations given there and with those given in the issue that covers his or her degree program. The catalog of the University is the document of authority for all students. Any academic unit may issue additional or more specific information that is consistent with approved policy. The information in the catalog supersedes that issued by any other unit if there is a conflict between the two. The University reserves the right to change the requirements given in the catalog at any time.

Catalogs are published both in print and online at http://registrar.utexas.edu/catalogs/. The information in the online catalog may reflect changes to policy approved after the printed catalog is published, and supersedes the information in the printed catalog if there is a conflict between the two. Printed catalogs may be ordered by visiting the Office of the Registrar Catalog Store at TXShop, http://utdirect.utexas.edu/txshop/; by calling (512) 475-7555; or by writing to The University of Texas at Austin, Office of the Registrar, Catalogs, P O Box 7216, Austin TX 78713-7216. Assistance in obtaining information about the University, including costs, refund policies, withdrawal, academic programs, the faculty, accreditation, and facilities and services for disabled persons, is available from V. Shelby Stanfield, Registrar, at (512) 475-7510 and at The University of Texas at Austin, Office of the Registrar, P O Box 7216, Austin TX 78713-7216.
